CLARKSTON, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1950

PRIMARY ELECTION NEXT TUESDAY, SEPT. 12

By Donald A. Deeter

Next week on Tuesday, September 12th the voters of the State of Michigan will go to the polls to elect the candidates in the primary election whose names will appear on the final ballot in November.

These are troubled times. Our country is in grave peril both here at home and across the seas. Yet, how many of our citizens will go to the polls and register their choice for the officials who will govern them. Very few of us, I imagine, say us because we have all been guilty. But now is the time that we should all begin to take our country seriously. The boys in Korea do.

Lets not gripe any more about the changes we want in politics. If the people wanted changes there would be changes, but as long as the politician knows that the voter really doesn't care about the situation even enough to vote then he will go on in his old ways. This is not written to condemn any one. I desarey that most of our politicians are very able men, but, if we have men who are not so able then let's make a change.

The primary election is important, it is vital. VOTE. Voting will be done in the Township Hall, Clarkston. Candidates from the Political Parties will be nominated for the following offices:

STATE AND DISTRICT
Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Representative in Congress, State Senator, Representative in State Legislature.

COUNTY
Prosecuting Attorney, Sheriff, County Clerk, County Treasurer, Register of Deeds, Circuit Court Commissioner, Drain Commissioner and Surveyor.

DELEGATES TO COUNTY CONVENTIONS

There shall also be elected as many DELEGATES to the County Convention of the several political parties as said ward, precinct or district is entitled to under the call of the county committees of said political parties, which number will be indicated by the number of blank lines printed on the official primary ballots used at said election, under the heading "Delegates to County Conventions".

Shall We Keep It Or Throw It Away

We moved our home ten years ago. And thought we had our trouble. Our family had begun to grow. And there were piles of rubble. We moved a heap of things back then. We thought we would be needin'. We stored and piled them all again. And didn't do much weedin'. We gathered up from time to time Cheap gadgets by the dozens. What we acquired seemed like a crime.

From uncles, aunts and cousins. Each time some one cleaned out his house. He found he must be givin'. Our home some traps to catch a mouse. Or things for better livin'. Well, now we've moved it all again. Great truck loads of this plunder. The mystery's where it all has been. And we are full of wonder, Which should we keep or throw away.

Which heap will we be usin', Will we need it some distant day. And take it from seclusion? We hold some gem in either hand. And wonder when to dunk it. If saved we will not understand. Why we did not just junk it.

Speaking of achievements we believe there is one worthy of mention. While the Reverend Robert Atkins was enjoying the month of August at his summer home near Bracebridge, Ontario, he busied himself by piling 12 single cords of wood, mostly birch, underneath the house which is on the side of a hill overlooking the lake. Some of the wood had to be carried about 200 feet.

Rotary Pet and Costume Parade Colorful Affair

As was anticipated the Labor Day Parade sponsored by the Clarkston Rotary Club was bigger and better than ever.

The parade was headed by the colors and the Clarkston American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps. The stirring music added much to the event.

The young folks in costume drew much praise from the on-lookers. Their costumes were such that you could see that the parents had spent many hours getting them ready. Some of the ideas were novel and all helped to make the parade more interesting. Space will not allow the describing of every costume. However, special mention should be made of the Old Gold cigarette package worn by Betsy Osgood and followed closely by her brother, Bob, as a box of matches; the little bride, Penny Lee Muma and bridegroom Debbie Stackable at a wishing well drawn by Mary Lynn Muma and Stullen O'Dell in footmen's livery; Janet Sue Willoughby made a very appetizing looking hot dog and she was accompanied by her brother, Johnnie, as a bottle of catsup; Patience Thayer added glamour to the line-up in her harem costume, she was quite brave to walk the entire distance barefooted.

Other young people appeared as cowboys, Indians, and farmers, while others exhibited pets including little pigs, goats, dogs, cats, rabbits and dolls.

Harmony Valley Completes Season

Harmony Valley completed its fourth season on Labor Day. From January 1st to this date, records showed a total attendance of 4,150. Letters and comments of appreciation from guests and directors of organizations whom the Valley has served during this period is heartening friends of this social service project.

At a meeting of members of the staff and board of directors on Labor Day, plans were considered to more effectively serve in our Country's present troubled situation. The meeting was given over to an analysis of a survey made by the Valley's staff according to S. B. Siddall, chairman of the program committee.

Some new cars were in the line-up. The pick-up truck was loaned by Don Pringle Chevrolet, Inc. to American Legion Auxiliary. Chrysler exhibited a couple and a unique feature was the Ford of yester-years driven by Robert C. Beattie and followed by the new Ford Crestliner driven by his son, Bob.

The Dearborn Motors added considerably to the parade by having several pieces of equipment in line. The machines were all in working motion as they moved along and were interesting to town folks as well as the farmers.

Also in line were the Clarkston school buses, the Clarkston Fire Equipment, and last, but by no means least, were the horse-back riders from the Dixie Saddle Club. The horses were so well groomed and so spirited that the on-lookers got a new thrill as each rider came along.

As the parade participants came to the end of the line on W. Washington St., they each received an automatic pencil inscribed with "Rotary Club Labor Day Parade". Rudy Schwarz and Earl Terry were kept busy passing out ice-cream.

All-in-all Monday's parade will be remembered as the best and longest parade ever to be held here until next Labor Day rolls around when hopes will be high for something really colossal.

Rotarian George Lang was the general chairman and is to be congratulated on the success of the whole affair.

Hide of Champion Bull Is Presented To Univ. of Ill. College of Agri.

CARY, ILL.—Homage is paid to Netherhall Swanky Dan, champion Ayshire bull, as Otto Schaefer (left), president of Curtiss Candy Company, presents the animal's hide to Prof. W. W. Yapp (right), acting for the head of the Department of Dairy Science of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture. The college requested the bull's hide for exhibition after he died March 14 at the Curtiss Candy Farms near Cary. Winner of 84 grand championships, he was said to be the greatest of all show bulls and his skeleton has been presented to the Smithsonian Institution for research purposes. Looking on are Delbert H. Kingston, superintendent of livestock for the Curtiss farms; Elmer Hansen, field director of the farms' improved breeding program and former head of the dairy department of Iowa State College; and William E. Hunter, farms manager. Prof. Yapp, Mr. Kingston and Mr. Hansen all served as judges on various occasions when championships were awarded to Netherhall Swanky Dan prior to his purchase by the farms.

of Michigan. But we just face the facts, Michigan, as well as the entire nation, will need determined and aggressive leadership. I am ready, and I believe I am prepared, to undertake the job of being Governor of Michigan in the interests of all the people and freedom."

ANNUAL RAM DAY AND TRUCK TOUR SET FOR OCTOBER

The old adage that "a good ram is half the flock while a poor one is all of the flock" is very true when you stop to consider the ram has an influence on every lamb raised in the flock.

Michigan State College sheep specialists figure that a carefully selected purebred ram will increase the weight of market lambs from 2 to 10 pounds per head.

If this ram was used for the breeding of 40 ewes, on the basis of 50 lambs raised, you can estimate the purebred ram will bring an increase of about $25 to $125 a year more than a poorly selected ram.

Michigan sheep raisers will have an opportunity to select a registered ram from the leading purebred flocks in the state when they attend Ram Day at the Michigan State College sheep barn on Monday, October 2nd.

For the benefit of sheep raisers in northern Michigan, a series of six Ram Truck stops will be made in that section of the state the first week of October. Sheep raisers who wish to purchase a ram from the ram truck should place their order now with their county agricultural agent.

A ram will be selected for them and they may pick it up when the truck makes a stop nearest them. If the ram does not meet the requirements of the flock raiser he is not obligated to buy. The reason for having sheep raisers place their order with their county agricultural agent is so those in charge of the Ram Truck will have a better idea of the number and breeds of rams wanted by buyers.

MSC PLANS FOOD SERVICE SCHOOLS

Meeting current problems of higher prices and decreasing patronage, how to figure prices for a menu, and how to merchandise your hotel, restaurant or resort operation, will be considered at events sponsored by Michigan State College this month.

Two quantity food service schools will be held in the upper peninsula for any Michigan food service operator interested, announces Gladys Knight of the MMSO Tourist and Resort Service. Planned for September 18-19 and September 21-22, the schools will run from noon of the first day through noon of the next day, beginning and closing with a luncheon. The first one will be held at Phil De Graff's Lodge, Trout Lake, and the second at Webber's Resort on Lake Gogebic.

Tripes of the sessions will be discussed by successful food service operators and MSC staff members, including Russell Horwood, district extension supervisor for the U. P., L. R. Schoenmann, director of the MSC Conservation Institute, Miss Knight and home demonstration and county agricultural agents.

Panel discussions, demonstrations and actually working in a kitchen will be included in the program. Program theme is, "Good Food Is Essential to Good Business."

Reservations are necessary and should be sent immediately to: Tourist and Resort Service, Agricultural Hall, Michigan State College, East Lansing. Further information can be obtained from your county agricultural agent.

VINEYARD WEEDS CONTROLLED BY CHEMICAL SPRAYS

Though you may have had success in using 24-D to kill some weeds — keep it out of the vineyard because it's harmful to most varieties of grapes. This advice comes from R. F. Carlson, horticulturist at Michigan State College.

Chemical weed control in vineyards is possible, however, the horticulturist points out. A water emulsion spray of "dinitro" and diesel oil has proved successful. Proportion recommended is: one gallon of dinitro, twenty gallons of diesel oil and eighty gallons of water. Fifty to sixty gallons of the solution per acre is considered sufficient for covering the weeds in the row. Spray should be directed toward the base of the canes; in the row or below the trellis, where weed growth is most persistent. For best results, spray should be applied on a warm day. Spray should not contact leaves and new shoots of the grapes because this results in burning of parts contacted. Unless the canes can be protected, young vineyards should not be sprayed with the "dinitro" spray. Carlson says that two to three applications of the water emulsion of the dinitro-oil spray will temporarily control all weed growth in the row. Weeds between the rows are best controlled by regular cultivation. Power weed sprayers are easily adapted for row spraying by adjustment in nozzles and rate of travel.

The first application should be in May or when the weeds first appear and are small, and then, as needed during the summer. For now, Carlson advises that a late dormant spray in the fall (October or November) will reduce the growth of chickweed and other weeds that usually are a problem in vineyards in the fall in Michigan.

Squint's Drumming For Fair Play!

Squint Miller's mighty proud of the lot he owns that fronts on River Road—one of the prettiest spots around here.

He's been in a stew about it lately, though. Seems that trash-dumpers take one look at his property, stop their car or truck, and out goes a load of rubbish, spilling all over his place and the roadside, too. Wouldn't that make you mad?

Last night Squint dropped by the house. Over a friendly glass of beer, he tells me what he's done. "I put a couple of empty oil drums out there," he says, "with a big sign reading: 'If you must dump trash—use these—I like to keep my property clean!'"

From where I sit, Squint's sign should make any would-be roadside trash-dumpers pretty darned ashamed of themselves. Now and then some folks just have to be reminded that they ought to have as much regard for their neighbors' rights as they do for their own.

FALL PASTURING CALLED BAD FOR ALFALFA SEEDING

A little premature pasturing can ruin what is now a fine stand of new alfalfa, Carter M. Harrison, Michigan State College farm crops authority warns Michigan farmers.

Seedings of the legumes with spring grain crops this year in general brought very good stands, Harrison pointed out. But with good growth, some farmers may be eager to use the crop for pasture this late summer or fall. This, the crops authority says, will weaken the plants so they may winter kill.

If in combining the small grain, the straw was left high and tends to smother out the alfalfa seeding, Harrison advises mowing the straw just above the tops of the alfalfa plants. Mowing would also kill off any weeds before they go to seed. If the straw and weeds are raked and taken off, the alfalfa will have a better opportunity to gain strength before the winter months. The straw can be used for livestock bedding.

Mowing should not be done after August, the crops authority advises.

September is the month during which any alfalfa that will be used for hay or pasture should not be grazed or cut. It is this month that the plants store up food in the roots to carry them through the winter months. Harrison says legume fields to be plowed under next spring may be grazed or cut, but strongly advises against cutting or pasturing any alfalfa fields to be used another year for hay or pasture.

PROMPT COOLING BEST FOR EGGS

If you expect to market high grade eggs during the summer, you should observe several important practices according to L. E. Dawson, poultry specialist at Michigan State College.

Dawson points out that placing warm eggs in a paper case is just the same as putting them in a fireless cooker. The eggs will lose freshness and quality rapidly. The quickest means of cooling eggs is to use a fan to blow cool, moist air through a tray or wire basket.

Eggs should be gathered at least three times a day during warm weather, and should be taken into a cool room immediately, the poultryman advises. Most farm basements are too warm for storing eggs. To guard against the heat, farmers can partition off and insulate a corner of the basement to help maintain lower temperatures and higher humidity.

ECONOMISTS LIST CUSTOM RATES FOR CORN PICKING JOB

Farmers planning to pay for custom work in their corn harvest or do custom harvesting for others can get a pretty good idea of average rates for this year from rates charged in the past two years. Michigan State College agricultural economists expect only slight changes from rates reported in an extensive survey in 1948.

Custom rates for picking corn were reported for both 1 and 2 row pickers. The 2-row pickers were used chiefly in the southern part of the state.

The most common rates for 1-row pickers were $5 per acre or per hour. Farmers reported lower rates for 2-row pickers but only on an acre basis. The most common rate was $4. Some farmers reported furnishing one or two wagons with the picker, but the custom rates were about the same with or without wagons.

Custom rates for field choppings of corn were given only on an hourly basis. Most common rates were listed as $8 an hour for chopper and blower with one or two men, two wagons and one tractor; and $9 an hour for two tractors were used. Rate for two or three men with wagons or trucks and two tractors was $10 an hour.

The MMSC economists emphasize that these charges are those most commonly reported. Rates will vary according to such working factors as field conditions, going wage rates in the area, and type of equipment used.

AIDS RURAL TV

 CHICAGO—"How are you gonna keep 'em down on the farm after they've seen TV?"
 That question has been raised by one of America's leading manufacturers of television receivers, John S. Meek. The head of John Meek Industries and Scott Radio Laboratories has started a campaign to speed up television for rural areas.

"Of all the attractions that have come up to lure rural people to the cities, television is one of the most potent. Unlike movies and radio, under present conditions this new source of entertainment and culture cannot be brought within reach of most farm areas. With television quickly gaining a dominant place in the leisure activity of city people, it is bound to exert a strong pull on farm people who can't receive it."
 Meek is urging farm groups to call on the Federal Communications commission, television stations and manufacturers to take immediate steps to bring television to rural families.

Health Director Stresses Safety
 This is back-to-school month when any child on a curb or parkway must be a Go Slow sign to any driver, Dr. Albert Heustis, State Health Commissioner, said today.
 Give a child a "brake," he said. Be especially watchful for youngsters in the vicinity of schools, playgrounds, bus stops and crossings just before and after school. The first days of school are so exciting that a child just forgets to be careful.

 Cautious speed and watchful drivers can save many lives this month. But the driver is not always at fault when a child is injured or killed by a car, the doctor said.

Parents must teach their children by example, as well as by word of mouth, how to cross a street, not to take risks, and not to play in or near the street. They must make sure that their children can safely operate any wheeled vehicles they may use — roller skates, tricycles, bicycles, motor scooters or automobiles. They must warn their children to be alert for the driver who may swing around a corner, start up quickly after a stop light or pull around another car.

Careful drivers plus careful children can save many young lives in Michigan this fall, the Commissioner concluded.

ful as they will be in a few months, many homemakers turn to canned citrus fruit juices, but wonder whether they are getting the same amount of vitamin C.

Roberta Hershhey, extension nutrition specialist at Michigan State College, answers the question of whether vitamin C is destroyed by heating the juices for canning.
 Modern methods of commercial canning have greatly increased the percentage of vitamin C that may be saved. Experiments show that almost all of the precious vitamin is retained in canned juice. However, there may be some loss during storage if the temperature of freight cars, warehouses, or groceries is too high. This applies to your own home storage. Canned goods should be stored in a cool cupboard.

Many homemakers also ask Miss Hershhey about the loss of vitamin after the can is opened. Here again, the temperature as well as the air are the enemies of vitamin C. It is best to open the cans with a small three-cornered opening and keep this opening tightly plugged. If possible, keep it at a temperature below 50 degrees Fahrenheit and there will be a minimum amount of loss of the vitamin C.

Don't be afraid to store the juice in the tin can in which it is purchased. It is quite all right to leave foods in the original can after they have been opened. They should, however, be kept very cold to prevent spoilage.
