Random Thoughts

PROGRESS - We Americans wery fond of the word "progress". It is evident in the frequent use we make of it in speeches, articles, advertising and everyday talk. And it is true progress is there for us to see: in agriculture, in medicine, in efficiency, in material comfort. It makes us feel good, too, this praise of our progress, this seemingly endless display of man's ingenuity to cope with technical problems. One discovery in the field of physical science follows another; a new "wonderdrug" succeeds another; inventions find immediate applications and are followed by improvements. Material progress has been astounding during the last fifty years, and the acceleration makes us gasp "What next".

What about progress in human relationships, in our appreciation we are inclined to reach the verdict: no progress has been made in that direction at all. We would have to go back many centuries to point out certain practices which we now regard as inhuman although they then were commonly accepted; notably the treatment of criminals and the insane. And then with a shock we think of such recent acts as the discrimination directed against the Jews in Germany with monstrous results; discrimination directed against negroes in our country; modern warfare with the atom bomb used against civilians. corruption as prevalent now as in Roman times. Not much to be proud of - being a human being, if we ponder these things.

Does this mean that this kind of progress is out of our reach? Not at all. We have progressed some; progress is not a steady forward movement; it zigzags back and forth; we gain some, then lose ground, only to gain once more. Backsliding is in human nature, but to know an ideal is numan also.

What can we, what can I do about it? As I see it, progress starts at home - literally. No high sounding phrases, impressive speeches or lofty promises will do the job. We have to work at it ourselves: start with our personal relationships, develop in our children consideration for others as one of the most important values, have courage to speak un'in defense of our ideals. The past weeks we have talked a little about some of the jobs that farmers could do in farm management during the coming year. Least of all is certainly not filling out the income tax. That is a job that you must do right away. Instructive bulletins can be obtained from our office.

In going on with suggestions for farm management during the winter months — so far, we have mentioned getting the farm machinery and ordering parts, planning the crops rotation program, and ordering fertilizer, seed, and lime. In addition, farmers shouldcertainly consider the soil fertility program on their farms as far as the inclusion in the rotation, where they are going to put the manure on the fields, and what fields need special treatment as far as leaving waterways in sod. Also, there may be other special treatments such as ploughing in To those to come, while he's alive diversions to hold water up on slopes rather than letting it wash from the top, Now, too, is a good time to plan your weed control program for next summer.

has plagued the nation for the last four years has resulted in threequarters of all March of Dimes funds being spent on the patient care requirements of the boys and girls, and the men and women, who have fallen victim to the only epidemic disease still on the increase in America.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will continue to pay for patient care of this kind because it realizes the nation must live with polio until it is conquered. But this year it has set out to resemble the policy to the parallel of the par out to raise sufficient funds to do the whole job.

That job includes pushing forward on the research front as well as in the field of patient care. Othas in the neid of patient care. From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

It's Slim's For An "Honest" Meal

Most people thought Slim Benson would probably go broke when he first started his system of letting customers figure out their own checks over at his big diner on the highway. Slim trusts them to pay for as much as they eat—you simply tell Sally, his cashier, the amount of your bill. It works, too. Take the other day when Buck Harris told Sally his bill was 35¢. Now I was right-there with Buck and I knew all he had was coffee and pie which comes to a quarter. "How come thirty-five cents?" Pasked Buck. "Had an extra cup of java the other day, Joe, and forgot all about it-'til now,' he says.

From where I sit, most people are basically honest - and that goes for their opinions, too, even though they may be different than our own. I like a glass of beer with my dinner; you may prefer something else . . . but we all ought to be allowed to "figure it out" our-

Why should the homemaker walk miles carrying the small supplies needed for baking, cleaning or sewing when a table on wheels can do it all in one easy trip? That's what Miss Olevia C. Meyer, extension specialist in home management at Michigan State College asked. So she designed a handy table that can be put to dozens of uses. The So she designed a handy table that can be put to dozens of uses. The table, shown above in use in the home management practice home at Michigan State College, can be made from plans available in MSC Extension Folder F 163, "Utility Table," The folder is available without charge from county extension offices or from the Bulletin Office, Department of Information Services, Michigan State College, East Lansing. Homemakers can see the table in the Home Economics bullding during Farmers Week, January 28 to February 1, on the MSC campus.

NATIONAL PRESS BUILDING WASHINGTON, D. C. By Anne Goode

Well, Christmas is over. Nothing but the bills linger on — unless it's a few spots here and there on the table linen and on the livership with the on the table linen and of the hying room table. Along about now a colorful new hat is good for the ego and if the budget can't see it—freshen up an old one with a pretty veil, a fresh feather or attractive flower

Speaking of spots—holiday parties usually leave some depressing stains on your Sunday-best table linen To take out coffee or teature the spots with glycerine, let stand a few minutes and wash. Fruit stains may be removed by pouring boiling water, over the spot from a height of two feet. All fruit stains must be removed before washing the linen or soap may set the stain set the stain repellent you will know just what Hannah and Cowden kind of weather protection you are buying in a raincoat, according to Miss Carolyn Middleton of the Michigan State College textiles and clothing department. Water repellents are chemicals applied to fabrics to make them esistant to wetting.

The difference between waterproof and water-repellent is this: Waterproof fabrics are coated close to the "pores" of the cloth to prevent water going through. This treatment also shuts out the air and often makes the garment hot and uncomfortable. Water repellents penetrate only the fibers, leaving the pores open. This permits the free circulation of air.

Does a garment treated with water repellent look different from an ordinary garment? It looks and feels the same except in some cases when the water repellents give a smoother and softer finish. The only way you can identify a water-repellent garment is to read the tags or labels carefully, Miss Middleton cautions. Notice that the label will also tell you whether the finish is durable or nondurable. This means whether you will have to renew the waterrepellent treatment after each cleaning or laundering, Also the tag should tell you whether the garment can be washed at home.

Take time to read the labels they fell you what you actually

Are Main Speakers For Farmers' Week

Pres. John A. Hannah and Dr. Thomas K. Cowden have been announced as two of the three general program speakers for Michigan State College's 1952 Farmers' Week late in January.

It will be the first time since resumption of Farmers' Week following World War 11 that campus speakers have been asked to fill major speaking assignments for the afternoon general sessions in the MSC college auditorium.

Dr. Cowden, head of the department of agricultural economics and former director of reasearch for the American Farm Bureau Federation, will speak on Tuesday, January 29.

President Hannah will fill the afternoon program assignment on Wednesday, January 30.

Another feature at the general session programs following the addresses will be a television production demonstration. Visitors will be able to see television shows produced on the stage and the demonstration through receiving sets which will be located throughout the auditorium This will be made possible through the use of the new television equipment Michigan State College has installed.

Glorified Gingerbread

Here's Gingerbread in party dress. This two-layer affair is filled with fresh applesauce and topped with whipped cream cheese.

Who cannot remember his delight as a child with munching a fat Who cannot remember his delight as a child with munching a fat Gingerbread man? An old-fashioned dessert, Gingerbread still finds a popular place on the modern menu as "cake" or muffins.

Bakers offer a number of molasses-and-spice desserts in the Gingerbread class. But Gingerbread is easily made at home too, as this recipe proves. Though it can stand alone with its mellow molasses flavor and exhilarating spices. Gingerbread looks pretty with a whipped cream cheese icing. You may give it an applesance filling, if you're making the two-laver kind.

If you're making the two-layer kind.

A hot lemon sauce makes a good topping for Gingerbread Muffins served as dessert. In any of these roles, Gingerbread provides dessert enjoyment at a minimum of cost, yet proffers excellent nutritional value. It is especially high in the food mineral iron provided by enriched flour, eggs and molasses, plus the B-vitamins of enriched flour. if you're making the two-layer kind.

cups sifted enriched flour cup sugar teaspoons baking powder

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, salt, soda, ginger, cinna-mon and cloves. Combine eggs, sour milk and shortening. Add to flour mixture stirring until smooth. Pour into greased muffin pans or 2 8-inch layer pans. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) about 20 minutes for muffins or 30 minutes for layers. Makes about 16 2-inch muffins or or 2 8-inch layers.
