HUNTERS ASKED TO TURN IN REPORT CARDS

Michigan hunters are not turning in their hunting report cards according to the first sampling of returns made by the conservation department. Deadline is February 15. Only about 35,000 license report stubs have been sent in including 27,000 by deer riflemen and 6,000 by small game hunters. Last year at this time 38,000 deer cards and 4,900 small game stubs had been received by the department's game division.

Regulation requires that all stubs be returned. . . whether the hunter was successful or not.

ON CAPITOL HILL COMMENT

FROM CONGRESSMAN GEORGE A.DONDERO

Ordinarily it would seem that purely local benefit — and which the Truman Administration's efforts toward socializing, through government ownership, the means of creating electric power is subject only remotely related to the financial welfare - the pocketbooks — of Michigan citizens.

Nevertheless, Michigan people and Michigan industrial concerns, who reap no benefits from these projects, are paying heavily for them. A substantial portion of payments by farmers would make their federal taxes go to help in providing cheap, governmentsubsidized electric power for people in other states and for injustrial concerns directly in competition with Michigan industries

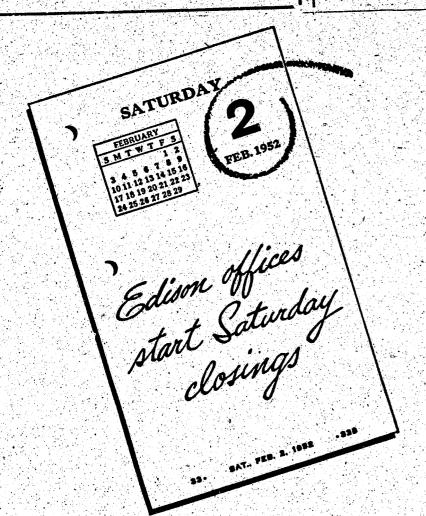

The whole subject of progressive of all the states to build steam socialization of electric power plants. He wants to do this for utilities in the United States was brought forcibly once more to the attention of Congress by the proposals in this connection contained in the President's budget for the coming fiscal year.

President Truman demanded that Congress appropriate a total of approximately $1.3 billion for new and expanded federal power projects in the Far West and in the South. Of this total nearly $100 million was for eleven new steam plants to be built by the Tennessee Valley Authority and four entirely new hydro-electric power and irrigation dams in western states.

In addition the budget would provide for new fuel-fired generat- and makes up the deficits out of ing plants in the Pacific North- taxes paid by Michigan people west, in connection with power dams in that area. FRUIT SALADS ADD CHEER AND HEALTH

Why does the average homemaker not serve more fruit salad? During this winter season, orange: and tangerines are plentiful, Raisins and prunes and dates are in plentiful supply. Check with your local markets. Then use your own good judgment in combining these with Michigan apples and vegetables to add color and good food value to your meals, suggest wichigan State Coilege home economists.

Fruit salads to many women seem to mean a combination of pieces of fruit blended together with whipped cream. This is a nourishing dessert but is heavy when used, as a salad, with a dinner course. Molded fruit salads or fresh fruit salads are a happier choice when served with a meat or fish dinner.

Did you ever try the red apple salad stuffed with cottage cheese It is simply a cored apple, peeled them self-liquidating. But it turns out that for a good part of and cooked in a syrup in which cinnamon candies are added. There is a trick to this apple each year there is insufficient water in the streams to operate cooking here, too - use firm apples.

> Here are the proportions for good results: Three cups water, 1½ cups sugar, ½ teaspoon salt and ½ cup cinnamon candies. When the sugar is well dissolved add the apples and cook them slowly in a covered pan until they are just tender. . . . you wil want to turn them occasionally while they are cooking to color them evenly. Then drain and chill the apples before you stuff them with cheese. Serve this gay salad on lettuce or cabbage leaves.

Grapefruit or orange sections alternated with unpared apple slices make a treat — a quick salad - with a tang! Those who are watching their calories will appreciate this salad high in vitamin C — served WITHOUT too much dressing — a small amount of French dressing.

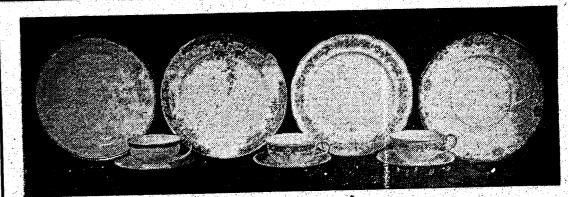

For the children's party, why not penguins made of prunes stuffed with cottage cheese. Almonds or pecans will make the feet. Make the "vest" as wide as you wish.

Raisins and diced apples are still a good, reliable and inexpensive combination. Add shredded carrots - if you prefer. This
