Scouts Present P. T. A. Program

A large crowd attended the Clarkston P. T. A. meeting last Thursday evening. It was Scout Night and every branch of scouting was represented.

The meeting opened with the call to the colors by bugler Larry Ruggles. The Cubs, Brownies, Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts presented their troop flags and the Explorers presented the American flag. After the Pledge of Allegiance the P. T. A. president, Mrs. Walton Robbins, conducted the business meeting at which time a check for $20 was given to the Cub Scouts.

A nominating committee was appointed as follows: Richard Carlson, faculty representative, and Mrs. L. V. Cushman and Mrs. Robert Osgood, representing the parents. Election will take place at the March meeting.

The program presented by the scouts was thoroughly enjoyed. The Brownies were very graceful in a series of folk dancing; the Cubs favored the audience with several group songs; the Girl Scouts did some folk dancing and also had a chorus and the Boy Scouts created a lot of laughs when they displayed and demonstrated a "Growing Machine". This machine could make anything grow. It even made a small child grow into a good prospect for the local scout troop.

After the program refreshments were served from tables attractively arranged. The children's table was decorated in the Valentine motif and the table for the grown-ups was centered with red sweet peas and white chrysanthemums. Miss Bachand, teacher at the main Clarkston School, and Mrs. Rawley of Bailey Lake presided at the adults' table and the room mothers of the 3rd and 4th grades at the main school, the Bailey Lake school and the Andersonville school took charge of the children's table.

The Pomrit Dairy furnished the milk for the children.

Instructors Needed By Red Cross

The American Red Cross office in Pontiac announces that first aid instructors are urgently needed to conduct classes throughout the county.

In order that more persons may be qualified to teach first aid, an instructor's course is being offered beginning February 25 through 29 at Pontiac High School.

Ernie Goetz, safety service chairman for the midwest office in St. Louis, will conduct the course in room 119 from 7:30 p.m. until 10:30 p.m. each of the five evenings.

Anyone having passed the advanced first aid course in the past three years and over the age of 19 years is eligible to enroll.

Brotherhood Of Man

My brother's trouble troubles me, It fills my heart with sorrow, I mourn until his heart is free And comes a bright tomorrow.

My brother's problems all are mine,

I hurt when he is aching, His life and mine are so entwined, I share his undertaking.

My brother's needs I can't dismiss Or call them too much bother, Because we're both involved in this

As sons of one Great Father.

When brother needs a helping hand,

How can I keep refusing, If I can pull him from the sand By little effort using?

I can't forget that time might come When I may need his power To help me ere my life is run, If comes a darkened hour.

So we are brothers, you and I, It matters not our station, We laugh together and we cry, All sons of God's creation.

Rotary Club News

An interesting program was presented to the members of the Clarkston Rotary Club on Monday consisting of motion pictures taken by Dearborn Motors. One picture was the news coverage of a rattlesnake round-up in which a number of brave souls went hunting for rattlesnakes, which after being captured alive were sold to ready purchasers. The second picture was a news story of farming by a lady 74 years old. The pictures were shown by Stan Evans, manager of the Dearborn Motors farm near Clarkston.

Guests included Jack Hamilton of the Ortonville Club, Harold Doremus and Erwin Greer of the Waterford-Drayton Club, Rolfe Smith of the Pontiac Club and Earl Hoyt, for many years a member of the local club. The dinner was prepared by club members.

Forum To Be Held Tuesday Afternoon

"TAXATION" will be the theme when Arthur Mauch and Dale Brice, of the Agricultural Economics Department of Michigan State College present the second annual forum for 1951-52 of a series of meetings on public policy. This meeting will be held in the Community Activities Building on Tuesday, Feb. 26, from 1:30 to 4:00 P. M.

Such questions will be considered as: 1. "How high can taxes go?" 2. "How can the deficit in State financing be overcome?" 3. "How much tax do we really pay?" 4. "Do we get our money's worth?"

The purpose of these meetings is to inform the public of the facts concerning the above questions and to discuss some of the possible solutions to current problems of public interest.

To be a leader and a good citizen, it is necessary to be armed with facts concerning matters of public policy. The non-political presentation of the above question will afford an excellent opportunity for obtaining facts about the tax situation. Opportunity will be afforded to discuss these questions and present ideas in small groups during the meeting.

Discussion pamphlets and other material will be available at the meeting.

Admission is free and the public is invited to attend. Remember the place: C. A. I. building on Williams Lake Rd., just west of the Dixie Highway; the date: Tuesday, Feb. 26; the time: 1:30 to 4:00 p. m.

By The Way . . .

Having served three terms as President of the Village of Clarkston, Robert Waters believed that he had served long enough and Charles Rockwell was named as a candidate for the office. . . . The Township of Independence has purchased three voting machines which should speed up the counting of ballots and save those long hours of counting at any time and especially the all night job that is coming up in a presidential year. . . . It's time to buy that license for your dog if you do not want to pay a penalty. . . . The August Antillas are leaving this community and going to the sunshine of Florida, to make their home. August has already resigned from the Board of Education of the Clarkston Community Schools and will soon resign office of Justice of the Peace for the township. We regret that his health makes this move necessary. His civic minded program was of great benefit to the community. . . . Well into his eighties William E. Simpson attended his church (the Methodist) regularly and was well known to the members. Wednesday morning, and ninety years of age, he entered into the world where a mansion has been prepared for him. . . . Comes a card from J. Thompson Miller telling of the sun in Miami, the good swimming in that part of the Atlantic Ocean warmed by the Gulf stream from the south, and inviting us down. But this is not for us this year. This week G. Harvey Craft who started working for The News during the vacation preceding his senior year in High School and who has been with us on a vacation which will terminate Friday, Next Thursday, a week from today, he will enter the armed forces of the United States of America. . . . Ann Aldous wishes us to call attention to the fact that his company, Northern Television, is still selling television and is still maintaining a service department. . . . Experience is what you get while looking for something else.

Random Thoughts

SECURITY - It seems to me that more and more people are laying stress on the importance of security. Is this a sign of immaturity, degeneration, or simply the result of being conscious of the lack of security?

We all know, instinctively, as do animals, that the very young must feel secure. Psychology agrees with this and emphasizes the importance of the feeling of security for children. We protect them from outward dangers, calm their fears, hide unpleasant facts from them so as not to disturb their emotional equilibrium. But as they grow older we realize that they can stand some uncertainty, have to make their own decisions, face some disturbing experiences. The need for security is still there but it changes its character. Instead of unthinking acceptance of the good life under our protection, our children begin to set themselves free of our management and only depend on the knowledge of our love and support to them as a sustaining foundation. Why, then, should grown men and women feel that they have to have material security for their happiness?

Or have we, as civilized people, wandered too far from the natural life; have we become soft? Are we spoiled by the easy manipulation of mechanical appliances, the thermostatically controlled atmosphere in which muscular effort is reduced to a minimum? Do we want to sit in comfort and have even our pleasures presented to us on a platter, so to speak, without any participation or toil on our part; and do we demand that this existence is to be guaranteed to last? Are we helping along the decline of Western civilization by looking on instead of taking part in, by existing instead of living, by demanding instead of earning.

Or is the third question the clue to the solution? Is there a genuine lack of security and do we demand it because we have become aware of the situation? It all depends on what security means. If it means freedom from danger to our life, the threat of the atom bomb is not any more serious than the danger of riding in an automobile; we are only more familiar with the latter. If we harbor the thought that now is especially a dangerous time to live in, we should study history and compare our security of life and limb with that of primitive man, of man in the Middle Ages, of man of only a century ago. Primitive man had to defend himself personally against all creatures and forces of nature. The common man in the Middle Ages could not call his life his own, and had to seek protection of the nobles and their fortifications, whereas the nobles themselves had to stand ready to do battle at any moment. Pestilences swept thousands of people to an early death before the progress of medicine had developed cures and measures of prevention.

If security means freedom of worry or anxiety, maybe we think now that life has become so complex that we feel unable to cope with everything. That certainly is true; nobody is able to even know of all the specialized sciences and their applications, to comprehend all the problems that arise and their relationships to each other. But is it necessary that we understand them all, cope with them all, worry over them all? Can't we leave the special sciences, the special technologies to the specialists and take notice only of their conclusions?

I am quite convinced that all my worrying over strategic problems, for instance, would not help our war efforts one bit! We have to use intelligence, common sense and human understanding in digesting the news we receive, in choosing the men who have the say-so in matters of policy, and in judging the actions of our lives, the powers that influence our lives. But beyond that we should not try to carry the burden ourselves.

Fathers' Night At Waterford P. T. A.

The P. T. A. of the Waterford Village School will observe its annual Fathers' Night on Thursday evening, Feb. 28, at 8 o'clock. The program of the evening will be under the direction of W. Mr. Rehland and the organization which he directs has operated for several years in cooperation with Detroit and other police departments to help problem youth and their parents in a program explained by a slogan "A strong meeting. If you know of any others who may be interested in this meeting please invite them to attend. The meeting is open to the public and there is no admission charge.

RICHARD REHLAND

Included in the rehabilitation of youth is "follow up" work in police department assistance, court trials, and home visitation. Wherever possible, employment is provided upon return from prison, and assistance given to parole and probation officers. The unusual success of this work acclaimed by many police officials and social workers is attributed to the element of spiritual guidance which is provided in each instance.

In addition to the description of this important activity the program of the evening will include songs with guitar accompaniment by Don Hetchler.

A special award will be given to the room having the largest number of fathers present.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the program, by a committee of fathers with Tom Peterson in charge.

All parents are cordially invited to attend this important meeting of parents and teachers.

If security means certainty - yes, there have been times that people seemed to have a greater measure of security; the certainty based on religion, even the certainty based on the conviction that rational intelligence could solve all problems. We now have the certainty of science, but it is by its very nature only limited to its own predictions, its own field; it is not all pervading, not applicable to values. There still is religion, and faith, and emphasis on values in people's lives, but it is individual in character; it is not universally accepted and uniform in its manifestations.

Maybe here lies the crux of the matter of insecurity. Man now has to think for himself as to what constitutes certainty for him. We have to grow up a little more yet to stand on our own feet and find the security we all crave.

Her finger-tip veil was held in place by a tangle of seed pearls. She carried a white orchid on a white tulle which was a wedding gift. Lenore Shook, her sister's only attendant. Her dress was of yellow taffeta and she also carried an orchid on a white tulle. Little Teddy Hollis, 4 years old, was ring bearer and he carried the ring on a white satin pillow. Debbie Lou Jelle, also 4 years old, and dressed in pink organza, carried a bouquet of white and pink flowers. Allen Coventry attended his brother as best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. A lovely wedding cake, candies and flowers centered the serving table. The young couple is making their home on Evee Rd. in Clarkston.

FRUIT AND GARDEN NOTES

by Willard E. Bosserman Assistant County Agr'l Agent (from last week)

RETAIL SELLING

For the next few weeks I would like to discuss marketing farm produce directly to the consumer. First, let's talk about packaging: CONTAINERS - It is a good practice to have fruits and vegetables available in peck, half-bushel containers as well as in small sized packages or in bulk displays from which small sales can be made. Many people stop at a roadside stand or visit a retail market when they plan to buy larger amounts than they usually do at a retail store. Frequently they want enough for canning, jelly making or to lay in a convenient supply at home. Grocers find that apple sales are greatest when part of their apples are packed in mesh or plastic bags in addition to apples displayed in bulk. Why not try these 5 or 8 pound bags for Fancy or No. 1 apples in addition to the peck, half-bushel and bushel baskets? Some grape growers have increased grape sales by using 2 quart baskets as well as the 4 quart, 8 quart and peck containers. UNIFORM PACK - Customers want a dependable pack, whatever its grade or quality may be. They want a uniform quality and reasonably uniform sizes throughout any package they buy. No one likes to find that he has bought a "topped" package. There is no better way to increase the number of regular customers and to expand your business through repeat sales than to maintain a reputation for a dependable pack. Next week: "What Makes a Good Display?"

HAVE A GOOD DISPLAY

An attractive display creates that important "first impression". An effective display causes people to stop, and stimulates their impulse to buy. A good fresh fruit and vegetable display (1) shows freshness, (2) emphasizes color contrasts, (3) gives appropriate space to each commodity, (4) is uniform in height, (5) is arranged so that customers can select produce conveniently and (6) supports "rolling" items in bulk display.

plays with "stay-put" commodities. 1. FRESHNESS is very important in selling foods directly to consumers because freshness is the outstanding advantage that growers can offer. Particular care is needed to retain the freshness the outstanding advantage that growers can offer. Particular care is needed to retain the freshness of asparagus, sweet corn, leafy greens and bunched root crops.

2. COLOR CONTRAST increases eye appeal, and eye appeal stimulates impulse sales. Grocers find that about half their produce sales are items that were not on their customers' shopping lists, and growers are likely to find that their customers buy similarly. Whenever possible, it is good practice to alternate green items with commodities of another color. Some effective color contrasts are:

Red next to yellow or dark green; Orange with light or dark green, brown or purple; Yellow with red, light or dark green, brown or purple; Light green with yellow, purple or brown; Dark green with red, orange, yellow or brown; White contrasts with all other colors.

3. GIVE SPACE to each commodity in the display as the sales of that commodity warrants. This makes it unnecessary to constantly replenish the display of a fast selling item. Make the display as large as possible, because a mass display is much more effective than a small display. Additional containers can sometimes be displayed in front of the counter or on the tailgate of the truck backed up to the stall.

4. UNIFORM height along the length of the display lets customer see the entire display and emphasizes the variety of commodities. Items like tomatoes, which should not be piled more than two layers high, can be put on top of an empty box or on boards resting on blocks of wood so that the top of this display is level with the other items.

5. ACCESSIBILITY for the customer is secured by arranging each item in a ribbon or band running from the front to the rear of the display. 6. "ROLLING" items like apples, plums, peppers, potatoes and rutabagas, when displayed in bulk rather than in containers, can be held in place by such "stay-put" commodities as bunched carrots, dry onions in mesh bags; celery, crook-neck squash or small baskets of other items. More and more growers are using band or ribbon displays instead of putting everything in a variety of small baskets.

By gluing corks removed from bottle caps on the bottom of chair legs, you can protect uncarpeted floors from being scratched.

The Hilltopper

Clarkston public schools, in February and March, are going to teach children how to use a telephone properly. The techniques and teaching aids point to quite a modern trend in a practical application of lessons to the children's daily living.

The course will be given to approximately 245 pupils from the 4th to 6th grades in several classroom sessions. When the project is finished, the youngsters will know how to look up a number in the directory, then to dial it correctly. They will learn to recognize dial tones and busy signals — and the importance of courteous telephone manners in the use of party lines.

An illustrated text-book outlines good telephone habits and is combined with a colored film-strip, two real telephones and local telephone books for a series of lessons. A color movie introduces the teaching. Marionettes and humans act out the story of a boy who loses his dog and finds it by using his telephone properly.

Lessons in spelling, reading, arithmetic, good speech habits, and the good citizenship of cooperation, responsibility, and courtesy are tied in with the telephone instruction.

Educators have pointed out that the child learns how to make calls in emergency situations, whether at home or away from home. In the latter case, a cardinal rule is stressed to the little folks. "If you are in trouble, always call home first."

Research by teaching experts and much classroom experimentation preceded the actual release of the instruction aids used. The telephone instruments used in demonstrations, and other materials, are provided by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

Michigan Bell's experience has shown fewer dialing mistakes in test cities where school children have received the lessons.

Mrs. Clark's Kindergarten

The kindergarten enjoyed the Valentine party given by the room mothers. We are working in our reading readiness work books and enjoying them very much.

The kindergarten children and Mrs. Clark extend their sympathy to Ronald Fusilier in the loss of his mother.

Mrs. Anderson's 1st & 2nd grades

We are making books in phonics from pictures found in magazines. The second grade made pictures about stories they read in their reading book. The stories they made pictures of were: The Boy and His Goat; The Three Pigs; The Wonderful Porridge Pot and The Gingerbread Boy.

Miss Boyd's 3rd & 4th Grades

We have been studying Young Citizens of Other Lands in our reading books. It has been interesting to see the different objects from other places that the children brought.

We are looking forward to our vacation on Friday.

Miss Bachand's 3rd & 4th Grades

Fred Longacre has moved away. The fourth grade has been reading stories about Mexico. In geography we are studying about wheat farms.

Miss Myers' 5th & 6th Grades

In 5th grade arithmetic we are finishing up our work in division problems and we will begin the chapter on adding and subtracting fractions.

In 6th grade arithmetic we are doing problems with fractions, adding, and Tuesday we will start subtraction of fractions from whole numbers.

Everyone enjoyed the Valentine party which we had last Thursday. Everyone received many valentines and we enjoyed refreshments of cup-cakes, kool-aid, and toothie rolls served by Mrs. Anspaugh, Mrs. Weaver and Mrs. Whipple.

Mrs. Donay's 5th & 6th Grades

The room mothers, Mrs. Harold Bauer, Mrs. Leslie Greene and Mrs. Harold Weston, served ice-cream and homemade cookies at the Valentine Day party on Thursday, Feb. 14. Games, contests with candy awards and the exchange of valentines occupied most of the afternoon.

Robert Leston spent the week-end visiting relatives in the northern part of the state.

Robert Medlyn is the proud owner of a new colt. The animal is cream colored with a black mane and tail and is of mixed Palamino and Arab extraction.

Henry Stelmach and his parents visited Hale, Mich., over the week-end and saw the Lumberman's Monument, erected in memory of all Michigan's "lumberjacks". Several Cub Scouts from our room will attend the annual Blue and Gold banquet in the school gymnasium on Thursday, Feb. 21. Parents and friends will accompany the members.

Seventh Grade News

Last Wednesday night the seventh graders, dressed in their best blue and tuckers, had a Valentine party at school. For entertainment the guests danced and played games, and then there was an exchange of Valentines. Thanks to mothers and our own culinary artists we had many delicious cakes to serve with the ice cream. Everyone including Mr. and Mrs. Miller, Miss Donnelly, and Miss Croft, had a wonderful time.

In English class the students have been reviewing past work by doing check-up tests. Presently they are studying intransitive verbs and verb agreement. This will be a busy week in all classes, as we will want to accomplish as much as possible to compensate for no school on Friday.

Eighth Grade News

We were very shocked at the sudden death of Mrs. Fusilier. We extend our deepest sympathy to the family.

Life at school has settled down again to the normal procedures. Valentine's Day did occasion a slight break. This year everyone will be given a holiday on George Washington's birthday, (Teachers' Institute in Pontiac).

In American history the war of 1812 has just been fought and the class armchair generals are reviewing the results. The Mississippi River Valley is becoming settled; Madison is beginning his second term as President. The Erie Canal is being dug and the age of canal boats and steam boats is beginning a very interesting phase of our development as a nation.

The 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grades are preparing for the Annual Detroit Times Spelling Contest. Lists of words are being compiled to study in each class. Each class will be given the combined lists of all classes to study. The grade champion will be chosen on March 14th. The school champion will be chosen on April 4th. Good luck to everyone. A dictionary will be given to the champion of each grade. The school champion will also receive a dictionary, a medal, and the chance to compete for bigger prizes in the district spelling bee. Come on, eighth grade, let's win this one!

A dance, "The Hobo Hop" has been planned, the tentative date is February 29th. The Sashabaw 8th grade has been invited to attend.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Wednesday, Feb. 6, 1952
The council met to take care of several matters of which, the most imperative is the question of the annual student council sponsored School Carnival. At a prior meeting it was decided that the project for the year was to be to support the band uniform fund. A controversy arose due to the fact that some representatives reported that their classes had decided that the band project was to get 40% of the overall receipts, 10% to the student council, and 50% to be divided among the classes. On this question the opinion was as follows: one class was in favor of the high percentage plan, two classes were in favor of a low percentage plan, two classes were in favor of a no class profit plan, and one class offered no comment. The next meeting will be to decide the issue.

A delegation from the varsity club was present to request that they be allowed to supervise gym activities during noon hours. The council delegated this power to them. A suggestion was made that milk for lunches be sold in the upper hall to reduce congestion in the lower hall. It was brought up that in previous years a plan by which students with high marks were exempt from some exams. A plan is being drawn up in consideration of this suggestion which also dropped into the suggestion box in the hall.

OAKLAND COUNTY EXTENSION SERVICE NEWS

by Mrs. Josephine Lawyer
Home Demonstration Agent

MAKE MEALTIME A HAPPY TIME

With all the emphasis on proper diet these days, we sometimes neglect the meals themselves. Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, home demonstration agent, commented today. She urged homemakers to think about the meal hour as a pleasant family time beginning with grace and ending with a serene, happy atmosphere. Homemakers should not reserve fine tableware for guests, Mrs. Lawyer advises, but use the nice things for the family too. Nagging, grumbling, and sulking must be taboo at meals, especially.

If family meals are pleasant, then company dinners will go smoothly as a matter of course. But do not undertake more than you can do when guests are coming. Plan menus composed of foods you are accustomed to making to avoid last-minute failures. Organization of your work after the menu has been decided is the real secret. You should plan so you can be with your guests as much as possible. If there is no one to help with the last-minute details, Mrs. Lawyer suggests you serve the appetizer to guests in the living room before dinner.

In meal planning it is well to give attention to variety. Avoid all hot or all cold foods and try to include as many colors as possible. Do not serve foods of one texture. An all-soft meal requires a crisp salad, for instance.

Finally, do not repeat a food in the same meal such as tomato soup and tomato salad.

A new bulletin published by Michigan State College called "Planning Everyday Meals" is available free of charge by writing Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, 1260 West Boulevard, Pontiac. This includes helpful ideas in planning adequate meals as well as interesting recipes which homemakers will want to try.

Plans Submitted for Mackinac Bridge

The Michigan Legislature now has under consideration a bill to prepare final plans, "the next logical step" for the ultimate construction of a bridge across the Straits of Mackinac, as pictured above by the designers. They are (l. to r.) David B. Stenman, Olthar H. Ammann and Glenn B. Woodruff, who have a hand in practically every long span bridge in the world since the early '20's. They are the Board of Consulting Engineers retained by the Mackinac Bridge Authority as ordered by the Legislature to determine the physical and economic feasibility of the Straits Bridge. The Authority has reported to the Legislature that such a bridge could be built for $87,000,000 (including finances) and would be paid for out of toll charges the same as now paid for ferry crossings. Public hearings on a bill to loan the Authority $2,000,000 will be held on February 19, in Lansing. Interested citizens are urged to attend and question the engineers who are expected to be present.

corn silage, early cut hay and young pasture all contain this factor. The lesson: Put up good quality roughage from early cut hay. Shant the hay so that no hay gets into full bloom before it is cut. Ketosis can be controlled or at least arrested by the use of Cobalt in the ration. He recommended a veterinarian be consulted about this matter. By all means, for the difference in price, Jim recommended the use of mineralized salt containing Cobalt and iodine.

FEEDING GRASS SILAGE: The advantage in grass silage is being able to harvest hay and store it during the early summer weeks of bad weather. Early cut grass silage does have these lactation factors which we mentioned before. Such hay would be higher in protein and would offer an opportunity to cut the costs of feeding dairy cattle by as much as $40 a year.

GETTING SEEDINGS: The farmer panel on getting seedings boiled down to three points: good fertilization and plenty of it (300 to 400 lbs of high analysis); good seed and proper seed bed. No matted seed when the seeding was made; fall spring or early summer; those were the factors that counted.

THE COST OF MEDICAL CARE

★ That the cost of medical care has risen, no one can deny. But the rise has not been out of proportion to the general advance in the cost of living. At the same time the quality of medical service has been immeasurably improved.

Consider that today your physician has invested from eight to ten years and about ten thousand dollars in his education alone. He has no chance to earn until he is twenty-six or twenty-seven years old. He must have an office in a good neighborhood, good equipment, a car, good clothes.

Pharmacy, too, has stepped up its standards. Almost every state now requires four years of college and a year or two of practice before registration. All this adds up to better medical service for you.

Booster feeding through plant leaves shows promise

Many plants and trees absorb food through their leaves. This discovery opens up possibilities of larger, faster-growing crops by applying additional fertilizer as a spray. Michigan State College Agricultural Experiment Station is studying ways of making leaf feeding practical to the average grower. Among plants which respond readily to nutrition through their leaves are tomato, celery and corn, as well as apple trees. Best results have been obtained by spraying relatively low concentrations of plant food during the spring and early summer. As more information is obtained, it will be available to you by calling, writing or visiting your County Agricultural Agent.

New life for old grasshoppers

To you, a grasshopper can cause damage. But, to your telephone service, a "grasshopper" prevents damage. For this is the name of a tiny fuse, so called because it looks like a grasshopper. If there's too much current, the fuse blows and saves other equipment from damage. A new "grasshopper" costs 9 cents. After it has blown, we have it repaired for 5 cents, saving 4 cents over buying a new fuse. On the millions of grasshopper fuses we use, that's a real saving... and another way telephone efficiency helps keep down the cost of your service.

That there is one infinite Mind and that this Mind is God is the teaching of Christian Science. The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mind" which will be read in all Christian Science churches, Sunday, February 24, will reveal the reason for this teaching.
The Golden Text is from Romans (12:2): "Be not conformed to this world; but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God."
Among the Bible citations in this passage, (Ps. 133:1): "Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!"
Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "When we realize that there is one Mind, the divine law of loving our neighbor as ourselves is unfolded." (p. 205)

Motion seconded by Stewart. Motion carried.
Moved by Rockwell, "That the village purchase one used Ford tractor together with the necessary equipment for the maintenance of village streets and sidewalks, said purchase to be made from the Dearborn Motors Inc. at cost at $2,056.77." DID RITA FAIL THE ALY KHAN?

NEW SPRING SUIT STYLES PREDICTED
In these late-winter days when most women have begun to weary of the boots-and-heavy-coat routine it is pleasant to think about a new spring suit. And it is not too soon to give attention to that matter; says Lola Belle Green, clothing specialist at Michigan State College. With stores already showing spring clothes, now is the time to begin thinking about fit and fashion for the coming season — especially in a suit that amounts to a major investment sometimes.
A quick preview of suit fashions for the coming season, indicates that both snug short and hip-hugging long jackets will be popular. Skirts will be either softly flared for the short jacket or straight with a kick pleat for walking ease to go with long jackets. Skirt lengths remain stable at mid-calf.
The trend is toward distinctly feminine styles and the use of light-weight fabrics for year-round wear. But as yet no single color has been heralded as THE thing for spring Miss Green added.
"Since 80% of American women are 5' 4" or under, we should be on the lookout for the new "brief" sizes designed to give a smooth, well proportioned line to the shorter figure. Here are some pointers Miss Green suggests to make sure of fit: Does the jacket fasten easily without strain or pull? Does the jacket hang evenly? Are the shoulder and neck lines smooth? Is the waistline in accordance with yours? She reminds you that finely tailored garments such as suits are not good alteration risks, so best be properly fitted at the outset.

OVERHEATED IRON HARMFUL TO RAYON
There are times in life when we do not strike when the iron is hot. One of those times is when we iron rayons, says a Michigan State College clothing specialist.
On a rayon blouse or slip the fusing together of two thicknesses, or the shiny patches around buttons and shoulder seams are sure indications that the iron was too hot, reports Josephine Martin of the textiles, clothing and related arts department at MSC.
All rayons must be given cool-iron treatment, she says, but special care should be taken with acetate rayon that tends to wilt and shine more readily than another common rayon, viscose. The trouble is, there is no real means of identifying acetate or viscose from the fabric itself unless the garment is labeled.
So best be safe with a cool iron for all rayons. By "cool" she means 300 degrees or less.

Card Of Thanks

I wish to say "thankyou" to my neighbors on Holcomb Street and friends who have been so kind to remember me while I have been ill. I greatly appreciated the lovely basket of fruit.

Frank Atkins

Card Of Thanks

My sincere thanks are extended to all who have been so thoughtful since I have been confined to my room following a fall on the stairs. I certainly appreciate the kindness of the men at the Inn, the many get-well cards, the lovely flowers and the basket of delicious fruit from the friends at the Methodist Church.

Joseph Amman

A piece of white chalk carried in your purse will work wonders in touching up dirty smudges on white gloves.
