Big Crowd At Community Party

With Christmas Carols being played over the public address system a crowd assembled at the Independence Township Communmas Eve to welcome Santa Claus. L. Jones. From time to time the usual reports of the annual visitor's progress were given. Finally the gentlemen in the red suit with white, flowing whiskers appeared, mounted the front steps and the Rotary Community Christmas Panty was under way.

Santa was met by Ed Rummins. president of the club who welcomed him and invited the youngsters to come up and see him. Each child received a small box of Sanders candy. The line filed Floyd Andrews, secretary; Harold through the front door and right Doebler, P. M., treasurer; Howard through the building to exit by the rear of the building.

It would possibly be of interest to note that over 300 boxes of candy were given by Santa, so the party can be classed as well attended

A committee of Rotarians assisted where possible to help make the annual party a success.

Vivian is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Rummins of Clarkston and Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Mackinder of Drayton Plains.

The double ring rites were read in front of the fireplace at the Rummins' home, At each side of the fireplace stood small, gaily decorated Christmas trees and the mantel was beautiful with decorations which bespoke spirit of the season.

The bride was lovely in ballerina length gown of pink taffeta. At her neck was a treasured heirloom, an antique locket which belonged to her grandmother.

In the evening from 8 until 10 o'clock "open house" was held at the Rummins home for about 100 guests.

The refreshment table was centered with a 3-tiered cake with pink decorations. This was flanked with white candles trimmed with green. Presiding at the silver services were Mrs. Donald Frick of Ontonville and Mrs. Lloyd Lake Jr., of Pontiac.

Christmas decorations were used in profusion throughout the house. There were several pink poinsettias and in the hallway was an especially pretty arrangement consisting of pink carnations in a white Madonna vase empha sized by a gold background.

Random Thoughts

NEW YEAR - Christmas is over. But the tree still stands in all its glory and fragrance, brightening the corner of the room; there are bits of tinsel on the floor and a red ribbon trails down from one of the branches. The bright and gay, the beautiful and original Christmas cards are still on display, and we can identify each one with the sender.

Before Christmas our thoughts turn serious and contemplative; we feel the yearning towards the Lane and enjoyed a tree and a ideal, the high-minded, the lofty, and we give account to ourselves of our creed, our belief, our faith. our hope.

But after Christmas it is the people we think of most; we have felt the warmth of the love of those dearest to us; we have seen and received evidences of their affection for us: we have written our friends and received news from them, strengthened ties and renewed acquaintances. We feel good because we have been able to please and make happy those whom we love, and have been able to do something, in small measure for those who needed help, and whom we do not even know.

We are not alone; we belong and are part of a family, a circle, a society, the human race. strengthens us. "Carelessness often brings tragedy to the ending of the old year and the beginning of the new," Childs said: "A year ago the four-day New Year's weekend accounted for 20 traffic deaths The highest toll ever recorded was 39 in 1948 and the lowest was 15 in 1949.

"We should try to establish new low record this year and this can be done if drivers take it easy and use good common sense.

"Whether you walk or drive take no chances. Adverse weather, visibility and road conditions together with heavy traffic accomp anying the holiday festivity increase hazards. Remember, too that drinking and driving do not mix.

JANUARY VOTE TN 65 OF 68 SOIL DISTRICTS

Farmers will go to churches township halls, schools and other polls in 63 of Michigan's 83 counties soon to express themselves on problems concerning their closest possessions, their lands. Annual meetings and director elections are scheduled in 65 of Michigan's 68 soil conservation districts for January; Otsego, Emmet and Leelanau soil dis tricts will have sessions in March

Soil conservation districts are locally controlled and operated, points out W. S. Harrison, Michigan State College extension specialist in soil conservation. Harrison, also assistant secretary of the State Soil Conservation Committee, notes that these districts are legal units of government. They are required by law to conduct annual meetings and year to serve three-year "staggered" terms on the five-man boards

Success of the districts' conservation effonts depends on these local men, elected by their neighbors, stresses Harrison. Any district owner or farmer of three or more acres can vote. Nominating committees select candidates in most counties but others can be

These annual meetings - some all day with potlucks or banquets, some afternoon, some evening give directors a chance to report the years's activities and plans In many cases, there will be speakers from industry, civic organizations and Michigan State College. Contests, movies and other activity and educational programs will help bring out an estimated 10,000 people compared to more than 8,000 in 1952.

Oncoming bright headlights can momentarily blind the best of drivers. It requires seven seconds after passing glaring lights for your eyes to dilate again to the darkened road. Even in this brief space of time you may not see the dim figure in the road ahead of you until it is too late.

It's the early hours of darkness, especially in the Fall and Winter when traffic is still heavy, that produce the heaviest fatalities in driver-pedestrian accidents. The three hours after sunset are three times more dangerous than daylight hours.

A safe driver reduces his average speed at night. He looks away from glaring lights, watching the edge of the road on his side. He never "overdrives" his lights and can stop at any time within his headlight range. He is especially careful at intersections and is on the watch for unlighted vehicles, and motorists changing tires at the side of the road.

Pedestrians, for your own safety, walk to the left facing traffic, carry something white. Be extra cautious, at night. Never forget, the life you save may be your own.
