Milford Redskins

David Barber

The Wolves inability to cash in on free throws Friday night cost them their first league game of the season to the Milford "Redskins" 63-58. It was the Wolves second loss of the season.

"Jim Baker of the "Redskins" and Tom Bullen of the "Wolves' each collected 21 points while Ronald Schebor was runnerup for the losers with 19 points.

It was pretty much anyone's game during the first half even though the "Wolves" trailed at half time 32-31. At the beginning of the 3rd period a basket by Schebor and two baskets by Bullen put the "Wolves" in the lead 37-32, But Milford cut the lead to 45-43 by the end of the 3rd period. During the last period the score was tied three different times and the "Wolves" made a couple of costly fouls on Jim Faust as he made four of his 9 free throws during the last two minutes of the game, Milford pulled away 61-56 which was the final score

Gordon Campbell collected 13 points and Vern Carmean 12 as the Junior Wolves started off with flying colors and were leading 33-25 at half time. But too many fouls by the Junior Wolves enabled the Junior Redskins to Win 59-50.

Being that Brighton, Milford and Northville won their league games, there is a four way tie for first place. The Wolves next league game is with Northville this Friday night and should turn out to be quite a game.

County Agricultural Agent ANNUAL DAIRY DAY PROGRAM PLANNED

The Oakland County Annual Dairy Day Program will be held in Clarkston at the Community Center on February 9, this year. Better Milking Clinic" is the title of this year's program sponsored by the Michigan State College Dairy Department and the Extension Service.

The entire program is devoted to better milking practices to get the most from the cows with the least trouble from mastitis and other udder troubles. Present will Williams, historian. be representatives of eight milking machine companies to demonequipment. There will be no sell-ng allowed at this meeting.

In addition, Dr. Glen Reed, Veterinarian Science specialist at Michigan State College; Larry Johnson and George Parsons of the Dairy Department, will lead a discussion on proper milking methods, prevention of mastitis and physiology of the milking processes. It all sounds very deep and complicated, but actually it will be presented in such a form that every dairy farmer attending will be able to go home and do something about his milking program that will mean dollars and cents in his pocket. So, - - put the date FEBRUARY on your calendar for the "Better Milking Clinic" to be held at the Clarkston Community Center on M-15, two blocks north of the red light in Clarkston. It is an all-day

Phone Co. Gives To School Fund

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company again in 1952 was the largest single contributor to the state Primary School Fund with a payment totaling $7,178,184. According to figures released today by Jack L. Shipman, manager here for Michigan Bell, $6,429 of the total was allocated to the public school system of Clarkston Schools throughout Oakland County, including the village of Clarkston, received a total of $509,762 from the company's tax payment.

Shipman said the payments were based on a school census of 1,361 in Clarkston and 107,909 in Oakland County, as compiled by the State Department of Public Instruction.

The company's tax payment this year, largest in its history, amounted to $4,72 for each of the 1,519,514 youngsters in the state between the ages of 5 and 19 who are on the census rolls.

Michigan Bell, in common with railroads, Pullman, railway exress, telegraph, and other telephone companies, pays a state property tax earmarked for the Primary Fund in lieu of other entificipally taxes.

Band Members In League Band

Last Saturday League Band tryouts were held in Milford. The following students from the Clarkston Senior Band are members of the band: John Bennett and Janet Sue Willoughby, clarinets; Glenna Webster, flute; Ann Barrows, alto sax; Bill Sutton, trumpet; Earl Graunstadt, euphonium; Jeanette Norton, marimba; and George Gleason, peroussion. These students were in competition with students from Holly Milford, Brighton, Northville and Clarenceville. Two concerts will be presented by the League Band, one in Brighton on February 9th and one here in Clarkston on Wednesday, February 25th.

This band represents the bes musicians from each of the League schools and the concerts will be well worth hearing."

Senior Play At School Tonight

Tonight the curtain will rise on the senior play "Melody Jones" at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium. The cast has been exceptionally busy preparing this comedy for your enjoyment.

There is so much serious business going on in this old world today that the seniors chose a play that would afford a few laughs and perhaps make you forget your troubles for an evening.

In the cast will be Rose Sarvis Judy O'Dell, Bill Sutton, Terry Brown, Martha Masters, Carolyn Honchell, 'Danny Curry, "Chuck" Robertson, Jim Gardiner, Tom Bullen, Glenna Webster, Sawyer and Sue Shanks.

Missionary At Waterford Church

Dr. Paul Brown, medical missonary to Africa's Belgian Congo will be the guest speaker at all services of the Waterford Community Church, Sunday, January 25. Having completed a six year term on the mission field, Dr. Brown will tell of his experiences in presenting the Gospel of salvation through faith in Jesus Christ while ministering to the bodily needs of the African people.

He will speak at all Sunday School sessions at 8:45 A. M., and to the Junior and Adult worship services at 11:00 A. M. In the evening combined groups will hear him at the 6:15 youth hour, following which he will present motion pictures of the work at the 7:30 evening service. Curios from the field will be on display.

Dr. Brown is serving under the auspices of the Africa Inland Mission. The program at the Watenford Church is under the direction of the Missionary Board of the church, with Mrs. Carl Hulett as chairman.

The public is invited to attend all services.

CLARKSTON DEBATERS WIN THREE

School News

Last week Clarkston's debaters participated in four debates, and won three of them. On Monday the contests were held at Swartz Creek. Clarkston's affirmative team, John Bennett and Terry Brown were victorious, while the negative team, Pat Tisch and Ann Barrows lost. Judges in these debates were Mr. Harold Hawley, debate coach from Flint Central High School and Mrs. Grace Watson, speech teacher at Flint Central. On Wednesday the students participated in a League Debate Tournament at Milford High School. In the first round of contests Clarkston's affirmative team. John Bennett and Terry Brown, defeated Holly's negative team. In the second round, Clarkston's negative team, Pat Tisch and Carol Kuklaw defeated Milford's affirmative team.

Judges for the debates were Dr. Bowman of Wayne University's Speech Department. Clarkston's record in the League now stands at two wins and two losses. The next debate tournament will be held at Clarkston on Monday, January 26. The first ound of debates will begin at 1:00, and the second round will last from 4:30 to 5:30. Everyone is invited. The topic for debate will be: "Resolved - That the Atlantic Pact Nations Should Form A Federal Union".

Dixie Saddle Club Starts New Year

NUMBER 21

The Dixie Saddle Club held its first meeting of the year at the Independence Township Community Center on Saturday evening, January 10th. Of the fortyfive members present twentyeight were adults and seventeen were children.

At this meeting the newly-elected officers took their respective offices. Many plans are already in motion for 1953. Several appointments were made by Harry Waggener, the new president. Joyce Spooner was named historian; Mrs. Glen Ellis, flower chairman; Mrs. Paul Weber, refreshment chairman. Other appointments will be made at the next meeting on February 8th.

The evening was not entirely devoted to business. Following the meeting four movies were shown. The first two were colored movies of the third and fourth annual Dixie Saddle Club horse shows. These films were taken for the club by Harold Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Medlyn of Clarkston were kind enough to show a film they had taken. Parts of it were taken at horse shows and parades in Clarkston, and other parts were of their family and friends with horses and a burro around their home.

A wonderful sound movie "The Miracle of Paradise Valley" was then shown by Harry Waggener. This picture had a very important message on safety which reminded young and old of the importance of safety around farm machinery and animals. Other safety films will be shown to the club in the future. This particular film was Sinclair Refining production.

The evening was topped off with delicious refreshments prepared by the new vice-presidents, Harold Vance and Paul Weber. They were assisted by Mrs. Weber and Mr. Vance's daughter, Janet, who baked the cakes.

The Dixie Saddle Club is a family club and there is no age limit. When this club began in May, 1949, there were eighteen charter members. At the close of 1952 the membership had grown to ninety-four. Each year activities are planned to interest everyone. Pot-luck suppers, trail rides. practice meets, square dances on horseback and many other recreational features will be on the itinerary for the year. The club also has an annual horse show in September. Anyone interested in joining the club please get in touch with a member and for any further information contact the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ardie Grubaugh, 9054 Ortonville Rd., Clark-

Ten members of the Waterford Moms met last week at the home of Mrs. James Saylor. Many do not realize the wonderful work of this organization and this report is printed to show what they did in the one month of December when $121,04 was spent for aid to the service boys. Bibles were sent to two veterans' hospitals: 44 boxes of stationery went to boys in service; magazine subscriptions were sent to three veterans hospitals and 42 boys at the Qakland County TB Hospital received fruit, candy, nuts and cookies. In addition to all of this a donation was made to the polio fund. The Moms voted to have a bake sale on the afternoon of Feb. 10th at the Dixie Recreation. Mrs. Lawrence Giddings, Mrs. James Saylor and Mrs. Anna Gesch are on the committee. Any contributions for the bake sale will be gladly accepted. Any mother of service boys and girls in or out of

"Do you know that the light from a window is cut by one third when both side draperies and glass cuntains are used?" asks Mary Shipley of the textiles, clothing and related ants department at Michigan State College.

Miss Shipley goes on to point out that most rooms can ill afford to lose that much light. As a solution, she suggests using draperies that extend out over the wall, which allows more light to enter and also makes the window look larger and gives a more spacious feeling to the room.

A new trend today is to combine the glass curtain and drapery panels into one by using a sheer printed fabric, says Miss Shipley The new curtain fabrics on the market today must be made into curtains full enough to provide privacy and yet sheer enough to allow light to enter. She suggests that these patterned, sheer fabrics sould have a fullness at least twice the width of the window; three times the width would be preferable.

Valances, cascades and other decorative treatment of a window are light-stealers, too. Be sure to put such material high above the window so all the light can enter, or to the side so that only the wall is covered, not the lightgiving window.

Cottage style curtains are back in style, Miss Shipley reports, and they are as attractive as many traverse type curtains. These cottage curtains will provide both privacy and light because the bottom panels can be left closed while the top portion can be pulled back to admit the light. She suggests using non-transparent material for cottage type curtains in rooms where privacy is

by Willard E. Bosserman Assistant County Agr'l Agent

PRUNING PEACHES: It is too early to orune peaches mainly because of the danger of canker which grows during the wintertime. Canker enters pruning wounds or any other wounds which may be from other causes; such as, winter injury, bruising by stepping on a limb or insect wounds. GRAPES are another fruit which should be pruned in the spring rather than in the winter. The main reason for this is that they are pruned so severely that if we have some really cold weather which will kill part of the buds, it would be an additional severe pruning. By waiting until spring and although many of the buds have been frozen earlier, you can still select enough healthy buds to give you a good crop of APPLES: Probably it would be better to prune apples in the spring, however, the spring is so short that you would never get over the entire orchard. In fact, it is impossible to get over the entire area on larger orchards as it is by pruning all winter. Because it is such a long job, we do prune apples in the winter. Apples are less a risk in that regard than other fruit.

Along this line there will be an apple tree pruning demonstration held at 10:00 A. M., Saturday, January 24th, at the Pontiac State Hospital, Karl D. Bailey, district horticultural agent, will demonstrate pruning of one-year old trees up through mature trees.

The following article appears in the current issue of "Instrumentalist", a national music magazine. The subject is quite controversial, and Mr. Janton's aim is to simplify the matter, especially for students.

The problem which is discussed in the article is important because until it is clarified the quality of penformances of any musical organization is greatly jeopardized. This is the first article Mr. Janton has ever written for such a magazine, therefore it was a pleasant surpsise to see it published so soon. May we wish as much success in the future.

"BEATS vs UNITS"

In teaching the fundamentals of music to students in elementary and high schools, one of the most difficult problems confronting the natures". The term "time signature" is often substituted, but in my opinion this only adds to the confusion of the student.

Actually a meter signature tells us nothing about time-how long a particular note is held or just how a particular piece of music

Snowshoe hares are tough to see in their white coats, but Vern Perry, Roscommon, had no trouble. After work one evening recently, he stepped across the road from his home on Higgins Lake and bagged this three-pounder. The conservation department has reported hunters taking some good bags in meeks.

what it does tell us. In 34 meter, the top number tells the number of "units" in a playing at that time. measure, and the bottom number tells what the "unit" note is, Thus, in 34 meter there are three units half note does.

In a slow 6/8, such as "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes" or "Silent Night" we usually have six beats in a measure, the eighth note getting one beat. However, in a 6/8 march, a director would not conduct in six, but rather in two to a measure with the dotted quarter note getting one beat.

In explaining meter signatures usually follow three steps:

(1) The top number represents the number of units in a measure; (2) The bottom note is the unit to have four full quarter notes should be played. Let us break note; and (3) The note that will down a typical signature and see get one beat is designated, depending upon the particular piece of music we are concerned with

In a number of beginning method books, I have come across the word "counts" used synonymously in a measure and the quarter note with "beats". In our everyday is the unit. If we should use the Hiving we use a system of counting word "beats" instead of "units", that starts from zero. For example a common practice, we have com- if I hold out my hand and show mitted ourselves to a quarter note that it is empty, I would say that getting one heat. However, in a I have nothing in my hand. Then, fast 34 waltz the quanter note I place a quarter in my hand, and does not get one beat; the dotted I would say that I have one quarter, By adding 3 more, I would then have four quarters. The count would be 0 - 1 - 2 - 3 - 4; when I say the numbers I would indicate how many quarters were in my hand at that time.

In music, however, there is no zero; therefore we have to start with 1. Transferring the illustration of the quarters to quarter notes, we would not have a full quarter note until we had reached the count of 2. Therefore, in order successively, we should have to What a good little sister - come verses achieved an lend count five times: Counts: 1 - 2 - 3 - 4 - 1.

Beats: 1 - 2 - 3 - 4.

I do not stress the differentiation between "counts" and "beats" to my students. I explain the difference between the two words in the beginning and then eliminate the word "counts" entirely. If any questions arise, the above procedure is repeated as often as necessary. MICHIGAN'S ENTRY INTO UNION IN '37 RECALLED BY POEM

Michigan's admission to the Union on January -26, 1837, prompted one of the most popular writers of sentimental verses of that time to pen a poem about the event;

Here are the first three verses of Lydia Sigourney's "On the Admission of Michigan into the Union" from a copy of the poem in the files of the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan:

"Come in, little sister, so healthful and fair,

Come take in our father's best parlor a share, You've been kept long enough at

Bobcat Hunting for Sport

A rugged but enjoyable sport is what Harold Reinke, Alpena, calls bobcat hunting. This 'cat weighed 38½ pounds and provided plenty of excitement before being shot. For several years, bounties have been raid as a more of controlling these productions. bounties have been paid as a means of controlling these predators, but recently the conservation commission voted an end to 'cat bounties, a method of control said to be costly and inadequate. Hunters like Reinke will help keep cat populations down, but main conservation department control efforts will be directed against those individual animals that do most damage those individual animals that do most damage.

ELECTRIC SILO UNLOADER

saves one hour's hard work a day

Every farmer knows that it's hard, disagreeable work to climb into a silo every day and throw down silage. Charles Hubble, Lapeer County farmer, has done something about it with a new electric silo unloader that does the job for him and saves at least an hour of work every day.

MAKE SURE NIGHT BANKING DEPOSITS SLIDE DOWN CHUTE

as restaurant patrons should observe "please watch your hat and coat" signs, so bank customers should exercise caution in using night deposit facilities.

That's what Gerald O. Dykstra U. of M. professor of business law, warns in an article for the Schoo of Business Administration's Michigan Business Review.

Sometimes a deposit will become lodged inside the depository door at the top of the chute leading to the vault. For this reason, Professor Dykstra urges users to be sure that their money safely slides down the chute into the vault. To avoid having it remain on the shelf, he advises customers "to employ the skeptic's mail-box shaking procedure when making a night deposit".

If something should happen to lodge the money, the question of-ten arises as to who would be responsible in case of loss. Professor Dykstra explains that a relationship of bailment must have been created between the depositor and the bank before the latter can be held responsible. This bailment requires custody of another's possessions, he points out, with intention of physical control over

Thus, it is clear that when bank employees remove night deposits from the vault there is possession making the bank the "bailee". But, Professor Dykstra continues, "what is the relationship from the time the customer places the sack on the shelf (of the deposit chute) until a bank employee does physically possess it?"

Court cases have stated that banks with agreements for night deposits have assumed responsibility in accepting the bailor-bailee relationship. Yet Professor Dyk-stra explains, contracts can be drawn up in which this liability could be excused, such as having no bailment relationship entered until the bank's employees obtain physical possession of the deposit.

But even in cases where there is no such agreement, Professor Dykstra says, the bank is still not easily held responsible. With sufficient evidence to retute changes of negligence, it can be released from responsibility for the loss.
