Plan For Safety On Our Lakes

Representative Howard R. Estes of Oakland County today announced that despite the present state of the thermometer, this was the time to plan for safety on our lakes during the approaching summer. He called the attention of all city and township authorities to Public Act No. 66 enacted by the Michigan Legislature at its 1952 session. Under this statute any local unit of government may enact rules, regulations or ordinances designed in any way to safeguard the public upon our waterways. They may also employ any necessary police or guards to enforce these rules, and may designate a special officer or may create a special body" to take charge of this program.

Where more than one unit of government borders on any single body of water, the several political subdivisions could do these same things jointly.

Concluding his statement, Representative Estes said: "There is now no reason why we cannot make our waters as safe as humanly possible. The thoughtless few who choose to ignore common sense rules of safety and decency can and must be curbed." This statute was passed to permit local governments to curb the reckless "hot rod" motorboat operator and to protect our vacationing public from the heedless acts of the negligent and careless few:

Criticism

There's many things to understand About the life of every man, For each of us are agents free Who think and act so differently.

The type of service that we give Depends a lot on how we live. Each thought and action and in

Is influenced by environment.

If we be short or thin or tall. God made us individuals all That we might think just as we please And bear responsibilities.

No man should use his mental force To throw another off his course That he has chosen to pursue, Or initiative subdue.

No one can tell what giant rests Within a backward person's breast Just waiting for the day to break

When it will rise and come awake, It's not the gift of earthly man

His comrades thoughts to understand, So it seems we'd be kind and wise To think before we criticize.

PRACTICE FIRE SAFETY

Home fire drills was the strong recommendation of State Fire Marshal Arnold F. Renner when he talked to Michigan women at the 38th annual Farmers'. Week at Michigan State College.

Renner/pointed out that twothirds of the fire deaths in this country are in homes and in nearly three-fourths of the cases the victims were trapped in upper floors. He concluded that there is a need for every member of the family to be trained to act promptly and wisely in case of fire.

"The best fire prevention that any homemaker can practice is good housekeeping", the marshal said. Keep flammable liquids in safe places and follow strict rules in their use. Practice safe removal of waste paper and other combustible waste materials and make sure that rubbish is removed regularly, he urged.

Paint, rags and household cleaning and polishing liquids containing oxidizing oils should never be kept in the house. Rags contaminated with these oils may heat spontaneously and ignite under certain circumstances, he advised.

Children left without competent supervision have unwittingly caused many tragic fires, Marshal Renner remarked. He urged that baby sitters be instructed in fire safety including knowing where and how to turn in a fire alarm and how to get children out of the building. Keep matches out of sight and reach of small children, he instructed.

As a result of the civil service competitive examination for designation to these outstanding Service Academies, Congressman George A. Dondero announces the following nominations.

Wrong "Train" of Thought

Most of us knew the streamliner stopped about four miles from town last Thursday - but we didn't know why . . .

Seems the train was hurrying along, then came the screeching of brakes - some fellow had pulled the Emergency Stop cord.

When the conductor asked him why he did it, he said, "The train was just going too fast-I wanted to get you to slow down."

From where I sit, that streamliner has been going at that speed for the past seven years with a perfect safety record and the passengers have always been pleased. Now-along comes a fellow who wants the train to go at his speed. Some people are like that. Some still would begrudge another person's right to a temperate glass of beer even though that person wouldn't dream of flashing a "Stop" sign on their preference for, say, milk, coffee or tea. Respecting the rights of others is the only way we can keep "on the right track." .

FRUIT AND GARDEN NOTES by Willard E. Bosserman Assistant County Agr'l Agent

Although grapes may be pruned any time while they are dormant, It is usually felt that it is better to wait until February or March and even as late as April before the buds begin to swell. Therefore it is time now to start pruning grapes if you have not already started.

The annual pruning of a bearing vine when trained to a two-wire trellis is as follows:

1. Select 4 straight unbranched one-year-old canes about 1/4 inch in diameter. These should originate near the main trunk of the vine and should be trained one each way on each wire.

2. Remove all other wood from the vine, being careful not to break or injure the canes retained for fruiting.

3. Shorten the canes which are left to 6 to 10 buds (or nodes) each. If the vines are very vigorous leave 10 buds, but if they seem to be weak, leave only 6 or 8 buds on each cane.

4. Tie the canes firmly to the trellis with a soft pliable twine.

PRUNING OLD AND NEGLECT-ED VINES

A young vigorous vine which has been neglected for one or more seasons may have several stems or canes arising from its roots. One of the strongest of these should be selected and used to establish the trunk of the vine. The remaining stems should then be removed and any canes which may be saved for fruiting cut back and tied to the wires acording to the direc-They have learned by their ex- tions given above. Old vines which pruned usually carry too much old wood and most of the new wood is borne far from the roots. When are; and what expansion means. pruning such vines, remove as much as possible of the old wood to encourage the growth of new wood nearer the main body of the vine. If there are several trunks all except one should be removed and the remaining branches or arms should be headed to a new cane originating as near as possible to the trunk. In some cases the old trunk has become crooked and partially dead or weakened by the disease. Such vines may be invigorated by a renewal of the trunk. This may be accomplished by selecting a strong-growing stem This Friday we will make or cane arising from the base of George Washington hats and have the vine and using it to develop a
