New Red Stop Signs Popular

Chicago cab driver Chester Burkholder pulls up to admire one of the new red stop signs that are brightly visible at night, now being installed in various sections of the country. Use of red, the color traditionally associated with "Stop," has been impractical in the past because red-painted signs were not visible enough at night for safety.

Thursday. They were assisted by Mrs. Percy Hunt and Mrs. Oscar Virgin. During the afternoon Yvonne Mitchell sang a group of three songs and Mrs. Alvin Austin, daughter of Mrs. Hunt, was welcomed as a new member. The club will be entertained by Mrs. Percy Hunt in June.

FRUIT AND GARDEN NOTES by Willard E. Bosserman Assistant County Agr'l Agent

POLE THINNING OF PEACHES Pole thinning of peaches is fairly new. It is faster than hand thinning, also easier and less tiresome. The pole consists of an old broom handle cut off so that it measures 3/4 to 4 feet in length. A piece of garden hose or heater hose about 18 inches in length is attached to one end of the pole. Thinning begins when the fruits are about the size of hickory nuts. The branch with the peaches on is hit a sharp blow. One blow may be enough. Leave a few more fruits on than you would by hand thinning, because some of the peaches will remain on the limb only to fall off later.

Peaches are thinned so that the fruits are about 6 inches apart on the branch.

When you are satisfied that you have done a good job with the pole, wait for 3 or 4 days and then finish the job by hand. The short waiting period is to allow any partially detached peaches to fall.

What's cooking? Pot roast, the best ever when we substitute tomato juice for water. After the roast is thoroughly browned, plunk it in the simmering tomato juice with a bay leaf, some onion, carrot, celery, salt and pepper. Cook slowly till done.

If you're a neat knitter why not make one of the busy white sweaters that are going to be popular this summer?

Who would ever think that each year we Americans eat about 21 pounds of onions apiece? Well, the U. S. Department of Agriculture says so. And on your quota this year, try a sliced onion and orange salad, bedded down on deep green water cress and topped with real mayonnaise blended with orange juice and a bit of grated orange rind. Simple but so delicious!

To accompany any number of meat dishes, prepare the ubiquitous onion accordingly: Melt vitaminized margarine in a skillet, add onion rings, green pepper rings and sliced mushrooms and saute gently till onions are cooked. Stir once or twice with a fork to cook evenly. Salt lightly.

A hint or two for the home laundress from one of the largest manufacturers of automatic laundry machines: The hotter the water, the whiter the clothes. Do not over soap; rinse water should be lukewarm. And it is not wise to alternate soaps and detergents in the machine. Select one and stick to it.

On June 21, the northern hemisphere's summer, officially known as the Summer Solstice, will arrive at noon, Hazel M. Losh, U-M associate professor of astronomy, states. That will be the longest day and shortest night of the year, for the Sun will be at its highest point in the sky.

Even though winter is once again on its way, Professor Losh explains, the warmest days are yet to come. "As long as more heat is received during the day than is lost during the night," the astronomer points out, "the temperature will continue to rise, reaching the height of the summer's heat around August 1."

HAY HARVEST
Now is the time that farmers should be thinking about and preparing for the hay harvest season, which looks like it might be a little early this year. Farm visits last week showed alfalfa to be well along towards the first blossoms showing in about 10 days, which means that alfalfa should be ready to harvest soon after the tenth of June or perhaps a little before.

This means that farmers should get their equipment and tools ready for the job during this lull between corn planting and the hay harvest. Check over all moving parts of the machinery, mower, cutter bars and knives, hay chopping or loading equipment and blowers, and unloading equipment. Time spent in this direction now may mean one-half day to one day saved right when you need the time most.

In harvesting hay, remember this, that if you wait until the first field is in the tenth bloom or a little later, some of the hay that you will harvest will be too late. It's better to start with the old stands that will be plowed down for corn next year, as soon as blossoms show in the field, thereby harvesting the last field before it gets into full bloom which results in poor quality hay.

U-M RESEARCH FINDS ASPEN GOOD DEER FOOD

Michigan's former "weed tree," the aspen, can provide a partial solution to the state's acute problem of food shortages for deer, a University of Michigan study reveals.

Conducted by Casey Westell Jr., research assistant in the U-M School of Natural Resources, as part of the Michigan Memorial-Phoenix Project, the study shows that each acre of aspen wooded area can provide 100 to 150 "deer days." These are the number of days' feed for one deer provided by each area over a three-year period, Westell says.

Since a large part of the deer's diet consists of the stems and leaves of young aspen trees, Westell explains that the best feed areas are those recently cut-over or logged.

This cutting-over, he continues permits the sun to reach areas where new trees "suckers" arise through the ground from the parent tree's wandering lateral roots.

Over 500 aspen stands and cut-over areas in the northern part of the Lower Peninsula were sampled, he says. With a chart based on the amount of browsing or feeding found, wildlife managers

Surprise the family with fresh hot squares of raspberry-studded tea cake. It's a quick bread you will like.

Use some of those first fresh raspberries in a glamorous coffee cake like the one pictured above. Raspberry Tea Squares will score a hit as afternoon refreshment. Or they make an elegant summer breakfast bread. This easy tea cake is a muffin-type bread. It's easy to mix, and it's a simple matter to make the hollows in the dough to hold the fresh raspberries or jam. The final product is pleasingly decorative.

Serve Raspberry Tea Squares with afternoon tea. That delightful custom is practiced daily by our English friends. It is a light repast of hot, freshly brewed tea, accompanied by bread or cake. Tea breaks pleasantly into the noon-to-evening part of the day.

If you haven't already instituted this practice in your home, do try it soon. Family, next-door neighbors, and guests will be appreciative. The hot, fragrant tea generates a friendliness all its own. Remember when you don't have time for baking tea breads you can count on your neighborhood baker for help. His enriched breads like those you bake, supply your diet with generous amounts of food value.

RASPBERRY TEA SQUARES

- 2 cups sifted enriched flour
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/2 cup milk
- 3 tablespoons melted shortening
- 1/4 cup raspberries, strawberries, or any "hollow" sugar icing
- Confectioner's sugar icing

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, and sugar. Combine egg, milk and shortening. Add to flour mixture, stirring until mixture is smooth. Spread in greased 7x11 inch pan. With knife handle or teaspoon make hollows in dough 1 1/2 inches apart. Fill hollows with fruit or jam. If fresh fruit is used, sprinkle with cinnamon sugar. Bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) 25 minutes. When cool, drizzle with confectioner's sugar icing. Cut in squares to serve. Makes 1 tea cake, 7x11 inches.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

A Little Headwork Saves a Lot of Footwork

"I don't ever aim to give up fishing," Pappy Hayes said one day—"but the older I get the less I like hiking over to Pike's Creek. Guess I'll have to bring the fish nearer to me."

So Pappy got his nephew to bulldoze down about three acres of bottom land. Then he dammed up the little stream there.

He wrote the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, in Washington, and got some "blue gills" and bass to stock it—free. Pappy's idea wound up giving him (and us) just about the best fishing pond in the county... right in his own back yard.

From where I sit, Pappy may be older than some of us but his mind is active—and open. He's ready to listen to anybody with an idea. That's why he and I can talk on any subject—sometimes about his preference for buttermilk and mine for beer. And though we disagree, we respect each other's opinion. That's neighborliness without a "catch" to it.

HOME-BUYING GUIDE FOR VETERANS

"To the Home-Buying Veteran" a 32 page guide for veterans planning to buy or build homes with GI loans, is now available at all Veterans Administration offices.

VA said the pamphlet is designed to help World War II and post-war veterans.

MASCOTS OLD & NEW

STEVENS POINT, WIS. — A symbol of an exciting, by-gone era, is this colorful hitching post that stands in the yard of the Stevens Point Fire Department. The boy is typical of hitching posts that stood in front of fire houses all over the country back in the days of horse-drawn fire apparatus. Its usefulness has ended and a great symbol of protection and service is sadly dying out. But someone is doing something about keeping fire-house traditions alive today!

The old boy's new friend is "Chief," a 6-month old pure-bred Dalmatian puppy. "Chief" was recently presented to the Stevens Point Fire Department by Central Mutual Insurance Company Van Wert, Ohio. The traditional fire-house mascot was given to the department in recognition of its winning the Grand Award in the 1952 Fire Waste Contest. The Central, which uses a Dalmatian as its trade-mark, plans to present a pedigreed "Chief" each year to the Grand Award winner in the United States Chamber of Commerce contest, so a grand old tradition will be carried on.

The new mascot naturally dropped his pedigreed name of "Williamsdale Clipper" to become just plain "Chief." At last report "Chief" was racing to the rescue with his award-winning masters and, of course, making fast friends of all the small boys in town as well as the boy who stands in the yard.

CAR WASHING

Let's get out before we start giving service.

It takes good gasoline, the proper oil to keep a motor running in top shape — to make it "purr". For lubrication and car washing too . . . see us.

Korea veterans get started on the right foot under the GI home loan program.

The pamphlet discusses what a veteran should look for in selecting the neighborhood, the lot and the house itself.

It also covers the costs of home ownership, the contract of purchase, final settlement or closing the loan, and what to expect before and after moving into a new home.

The responsibilities of the veteran home owner and what the VA can and cannot do to assist the veteran are also discussed.

A copy of the pamphlet will be sent to each veteran applying for a certificate of eligibility for a GI loan. Veterans also may obtain a copy by writing the nearest VA regional office. There is no charge for the pamphlet.

Red Cross News

Devotion of volunteers and community generosity was credited Wednesday with raising $147,650.36 in the Oakland County Chapter, American Red Cross fund drive this year.

Latest figures on the campaign, were released Wednesday night, June 3, by Gar A. Sweezey, campaign chairman, to some 200 men and women attending the chapter's annual dinner at Christ Church, Cranbrook.

The amount, although only 82 per cent of the chapter's $178,369, is the highest total raised in any local Red Cross drive since World War II.

"It's impossible for us to thank the thousands of solicitors who do this job," Sweezey said. "Not only do these volunteers raise the funds for us to operate—but they tell the Red Cross story in every home".

Sweezey expressed special congratulations to 15 communities which topped their goals and appreciation for the $61,000 contributed by various united funds in the county.

A chapter treasurer's report by Harold Euler shows the chapter's receipts totaled $19,436.70 during the year ending this month. The organization spent $59,087.35, leaving a balance of $127,886.46.

MSC ECONOMISTS CITE STATE TRADE

Michigan is a leading state in producing goods for foreign markets but only a few individuals or industries in the state are making an effort to influence U. S. trade policies, according to two economists at Michigan State College.

In a copyrighted article published by the Governmental Research Bureau at M. S. C., John M. Hunter and Donald A. Moore of the M. S. C. economics department point out that an estimated 900 firms in Michigan are exporting between $1.5 and $2 billions in merchandise and produce each year.

Cited as the most important state group in export trade was Michigan's "Industrial plant" which produces manufactured goods. Other important groups are foundries and mills, agriculture and service organizations such as banks and steamship lines.

Michigan's trade amounts to 10 to 15 per cent of total U. S. exports with Canada the biggest customer and South America next. Without foreign trade, Michigan's standard of living would be much lower, the economists said.

MEMO To Mrs. Housewife

NATIONAL PRESS BUILDING WASHINGTON, D. C.
 By Anne Goode

It's time for "here comes the bride!" So, to the bride: A good cook book is about a newlywed's best friend. "Joy of Cooking" is a good one. Follow the recipes carefully, note the menus in the back, and you'll do yourself proud in the meal making department.

To friends of the bride: Some useful and unusual gift suggestions for showers. Plastic covers for the bride's best china, plastic covers for her blankets. Or some specially nice soap, a photograph album or a holder or two for flower arrangements.

And to any woman: Spread lamb chops with mustard-with-horseradish before broiling or pan frying. Mustard adds a wonderful flavor!

Now for a salad review: Salads, you know, must be cool, crisp and colorful. If you're serving one as a main dish, for goodness sake make it hearty enough to be satisfying. Make certain the dressing for the salad adds a distinctive flavor.

You can go on almost forever naming the different dressings for salads made with real mayonnaise. To serve with tossed salads, add milk, lemon juice, french dressing or fruit juice and blend. Sweet cream or sour cream can be added, too. And don't forget about throwing in some chutney, capers, herbs, olives or diced fruit to make a real mayonnaise variation to suit the salad.
