Scouts To Help Tornado Victims

The Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts of Clarkston will sponsor a relief drive for the tornado victims in the Flint area. This drive will last through next week. The boys are asking the help of every person in this vicinity.

You may leave your donation at Phillip's Gun and Rod Shop on Main St., in Clarkston or call any boy or cub scout or Richard Snover and they will see that the pick-up is made.

Rotary Closes Year With Picnic

The last meeting of the Clarksson Rotary Club for the current year was held at the farm of Ed Rummins, the retiring president, and was a picnic enjoyed by all of the members and their guests.

The farm is located at the corner of Seymour Lake Road and Hadley Road and was an ideal place for the meeting, being well off the road and in a secluded grove.

The meal was so well enjoyed that while some hearty souls tackled, with success, ice cheam and watermelon, many took only one or the other and some re-

P. C. A. Explains Farm Credit

"With the high capital requirements and increased operating cost of farmers, a system of credit especially designed for agriculture is more important today than at any time during the 30-year history of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank", said Fred J. Beckman, Secretary-Treasurer of the Pontiac Production Credit Association today. "In 1923 when the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank was first established the farmer still grew most of his living expense and farm power right on the farm", he added, "Contrast that with today. The farmer has no end of cash living and operating costs that must be met daily regardless of the fact that his income is received at irregular in tervals and in many cases only once or twice a year. During the 30-year period Mr. Beckman was discussing, horses and mules had been replaced by the tractor as a source of farm power: most of the farms in the United States had been electrified; and most of the farms were engaged in producing for the commercial markets. All these changes increased the efficiency of the farming operation but at the same time they increased the cash and credit needs for the farmer for producing as well as marketing his products.

To provide agriculture with direct access to the big money markets so that it could get the large sums needed for the period of producing and marketing at reasonable interest rates, twelve Federal Intermediate Credit Banks were organized in 1923. During the first ten years this source of agricultural funds was used only by a number of agricultural credit companies and local banks, many of which still supply this source of agricultural credit. However, Mr. Beckman explained, it was not until the production credit associations were organized in 1933 that full advantage of this source of money for agricultural needs was made available to every farmer in the United States. They were organized in such a manner that every county in the United States is served by an association.

A simple explanation of how the production credit system works would be to liken it to a husking bee, a plowing bee or a threshing ring. As a group the farmers could accomplish more than as individuals. Using the same principle, the farmer borrows for his needs from a production credit association, signing a note and, where appropriate, giving a chattel mortgage as security. These notes, in turn, are then sold to, or discounted with the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank which uses these notes as partial back-of the gallon there is only two or three cents difference in the price of gasoline in the United States and Canada. The higher price is still across the border. . . . One wonders how the constant growth of a newspaper is accomplished. Then from time to time something of public interest happens and a prospective reader learns that it was in a paper just published. Frequently the prospect becomes a reader, then a subscriber and continues to renew. For example last week the Electrical Ordinance of the Township of Independence brought in a new subscriber. It is an old saying, but one can get in the habit of wanting his paper. . . It is our understanding that quite a little corn will be knee high by the fourth.

. . It is hard to live on a main highway and not get the desire to travel even if only for a short vacation. So many cars go by headed North for weekends, some packed for vacations, the riders all dressed in vacation togs, that it is hard to keep one's mind on the job. . . Then about this time of year we print signs saying this or that establishment is closing for two weeks for a rest for the help or a letter from some company arrives telling that they cannot accept any deliveries for two weeks because of the summer holiday. We admit we have had two newspaperman's vacations (between papers) but we could be persuaded to try for another weekend or two in the next month evening. What could be more embarrassing than to have guests arise from your lawn furniture with clothing soiled! This needn't happen, if you start the season by giving your summer porch and garden furniture a good cleaning now. They'll last longer, too, according to folks who make outdoor furniture.

To do the job you'll need a good, stiff brush, a pail of warm soap suds, a sponge, the garden hose and some clean cloths. Pads and detachable cushions should, of course, be removed and done separately. Wood, enameled metal, aluminum and smooth surface plastics should be given a well-lathered sponging or sudsing with a rough cloth. Use a brush to get into the crannies of wicker, reed, bamboo or plastic webbing, and for the crooks and crevices of metal pieces. Don't neglect the undersides. Dirt and clinging things can cause deterioration.

After the scrubbing routine, rinse well on all sides with a fine spray hose. Wipe off drippy water with dry cloth and stand the furniture in a breezy, sunny spot to dry, thus preventing rust and rot.

Cushions and pads of plastics or woven fabrics, such as canvas, drill or sailcloth, get a sudsy sponge treatment, a rinse with a damp cloth, then a wipe with a clean, dry cloth. Sun-heated glass may crack when water is applied, so always set glass-topped pieces in the shade to cool before washing. To wash your "sun-brella," first hose it to flush away loose soil and leaves. Then brush-scrub it inside and out with thick, warm soapguds

Give it a good hosing and let it stand open in the sun to dry. Now you are ready to start the summer season. Keeping outdoor forniture clean becomes a weekly chore, and you'll find after a rain is a good time to do it, for nature has helped loosen dirt.

Party Pretty Angel Cake

For the many summer occasions when you'll want to serve a cool, light, picture-pretty dessert with an iced beverage, angel food cake is the perfect starting point. And such desserts are easy, too, when you start with an un-iced, packaged angel food cake from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department. These cakes, are made from cook book recipes, like your own, and are light and tender, and delicately flavored.

A pretty way to use an un-iced angel cake is to split the cake horizontally into three layers, and put the layers back together again with a chocolate filling. The cake is iced just before serving with flavored whipped cream. Your guests will love it. Angel Cake Supreme

1¼ cups milk ¼ cup flour ¼ cup sugar 3 tablespoons cocoa 14 cup margarine or butter 1/2 cup confectioners' sugar 1 un-iced angel cake 1/2 pint whipping cream

Heat about % cup of the milk and stir remaining milk gradually into the flour, sugar and cocoa which have been sifted together. Add moistened flour mixture to hot milk and cook five minutes over direct heat, stirring constantly. Cool to room temperature. Cream fat until soft. Blend in confectioners' sugar. Stir into the cooled cocoa mixture. Cut cake into three horizonted slices. Spread filling between levers Cut cake into three horizontal slices. Spread filling between layers. Chill 10 to 12 hours. Frost with flavored whipped cream. Serves eight.

By Ed Alchin County Agricultural Agent PROOF BINS AGAINST BIRDS AND RATS

The only sure cure against rodents and birds contaminating grain is to have rodent-proof and bird-proof storages.

Rodents may be killed by poisons or traps, but it's only a matter of time before their numbers increase again. In fact, killing most of the rats and mice makes living much easier for the few survivors, or for animals that wander in.

If you're going to poison rats, remember that the pests must have poison almost every day until they are dead. Warfarin is the rodent poison most generally useful on the farm. Remember the

1. Be sure the bait is exposed continuously where rodents can get it easily.

2. The bait must be kept clean palatable and attractive to rodents
