Another Chance

In our small world whate'er befalls

Or when the voice of duty calls We find our people true and stong,

Content to suffer hard and long. In this sad world of sweat and tears Each day some brightness still appears To take the sting from life's great cost And helps us know that all's not

The tax we pay, the blood we give

Will help some needy person live, Each kindly thought, each deed

Will light the path that we went through.

How many souls have sacrificed Their lives as truly as did Christ, To leave a better world behind

For benefit of all mankind? Each day our people crosses bear Embossed with sorrow, fear, and

Each day by gossip souls are tried

And on a cross are crucified.

Though great as mankind's burdens be

He only asks, he might be free To walk again the roads he'd trod That he might please Almighty God.

Monday the local school children will go on a crusade-a full fledged children's crusade. Their weapons will be bundles of clothing. Their goal: To help provide hundreds of pounds of sturdy, warm, clean clothing for needy children in America and overseas.

Clothing Crusade

Opens Monday

NUMBER 29

According to Superintendent of Schools, Leslie F. Greene, the local drive is part of Save the Children Federation's Twelfth Annual Nation-wide "Children's Clothing Crusade", which is conducted in public schools throughout the United States under the auspices of the Federation's National Advisory Committee of School Superintendents.

The clothing collected will be used to aid children and families in Korea, six war-depleted countries of Europe, in Lebanon, and in disadvantaged rural areas of the United States, including the Navajo Indian Reservations.

"In Europe, the children are still suffering from the ravages of war" Superintendent L. F. Greene said. "The need in Korea is even more urgent. Nine million victims of Communist aggression in Korea have been torn from their homes. They have only rags n which to clothe themselves. We must help them", he continued

Superintendent L. F. Greene pointed out a second objective of the drive. "Not only are we helping to alleviate the suffering of many thousands of needy children", he said, "but we are also teaching our own children a valuable lesson in the importance of thinking of others."

Federation officials present these pointers for clothing givers who want to be sure their clothing will do the most good:

Most needed is warm clothing heavy underwear, wool skirts, suits, sweaters and coats. Bundle Week clothing goes to people whose first need is warmth-not style. If the clothing is warm, even adult sizes can be cut down and gratefully used.

Children's shoes are next in importance. Even though scuffed, America's outgrown shoes still have miles of use left in them. Here again adult sizes can be used. However, high-heeled women's shoes are of no use either to mothers or children in areas served by the Federation, and should not be included. Babies' clothing is in constant demand. Diapers, crib blankets. night shirts, sweaters and undershirts are especially needed.

Superintendent L. F. Greene stressed the importance of having all clothing gifts clean and in as good repair as possible "because these gifts will be symbols of new hope to many needy children." Save the Children Federation urges all local citizens to join in the clothing crusade, either by sending a bundle of used clothing to school or by contributing a dollar or two to help defray the cost of collecting, reconditioning and sorting the clothing for distribution. Cash donations may be sent to National Headquarters Save The Children Federation, Carnegie Endowment Center, United Nations Plaza, New York

As spring plowing gets underway on farms across the nation, none of the more than 4 million farm tractors in use will resemble this one. Henry Ford's first farm tractor, built in 1907, long since has been retired to a place of honor in the Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, Mich. The 24-horsepower vehicle, which Mr. Ford called his "Automobile Plow," sports an engine with copper water Jackets. Its rear wheels were taken from a binder. Despite its early vintage, it still runs.

SEVEN STEPS RECOMMENDED FOR LAUNDRY

What makes a white, clean aundry?

Evelyn Zwemer, of the home management department at Michigan State College, names these seven steps to laundry success:

The first step is "preparation". You'll want to sort clothing according to fabric, color fastness, amount of soil, etc. If there are the amount of soil, kind of fabric neavily soiled spots, rub these first with a soap, syndet (synthetic detergent) or soap jelly. Miss Zwemer advises limiting garments showing medium soil any soaking period to 30 minutes. necessary weakening of the fablinens, wash soaked pieces in merely redeposits the dirt. water of 160 degrees F. If pieces were not soaked, use water at a temperature of 140 F. Temperatures for colored pieces will, of course, depend upon color fast-garments, warns Miss Zwemer. For best results, she advises a temperature of 100 to 110 degrees F. for washing silk. For wool, 90 to 100 degrees F. is right.

The third point concerns "water softness". Here in Michigan the water is moderately hard. So the homemaker may want to install a water softener. Or perhaps she'll add a softener powder to her laundry water. If so, she'll want to realize that there are two types of softeners-precipitating (gives cloudy mixture) and non-precipitating (gives clear mixture). The latter type is usually preferred.

Whichever type is used, it is important to wait 3 minutes after adding the softener before adding soap or syndet.

In point four, "choosing soap or syndet", the homemaker needs to consider which type is suited to her machine. Either a soap or a syndet can be used with a conventional machine. With an automatic a syndet is preferred. (The washer manufacturer may have given specific directions as to which brand works best in his particular machine). If a soap is used in an automatic, the pipes, drain and pumps of the machine will become clogged, warns Miss

Two very important DON'TS are: (1) do not mix soap and syndet, and (2) do not use soan one week and syndet the next week. If used alternately in this way, tiny brown spots may appear on garments, explains Miss Zwemer. The fifth point concerns "washing time". It is determined by and its construction, color fastness and the type of machine.

In general, cotton and linen will wash clean in 6 to 8 minutes. Longer soaking only causes un-Heavily soiled garments of cotton or linen should be washed longer -10 to 15 minutes. Silk and wool The second step is to work with garments should be washed only water at the correct temper- for a short time, (2, 3 or 5 minature". For white cottons and utes . Too long a washing period

The sixth point concerns "changing the wash water" when it becomes too soiled.

Women frequently make a mistake on point seven, says Miss Zwemer. They neglect to "soften Don't ever soak silk or wool hard rinse water". Thorough rinsings are "musts" for a successful laundry.

If soap is used in a hard water area, three, and perhaps four, rinses are recommended. If a syndet is used, two rinses are sufficient in most cases. Agitation is an important factor in proper rinsing, emphasizes Miss Zwemer.

Another 167,000 pints a month was donated for defense. The Red Cross also provided more than nine million cubic centimeters (1,800,000 doses) of polio- pre

Victory over human limitations comes as we learn that man's true selfhood is spiritual, not material, and that he lives Spirit, God, not in matter—this is a leading point in the Lesson-Sermon to be heard at Christian Science services Sunday.

In the Lesson-Sermon on the subject of "Matter" the following Bible verses will be read from

"Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near: Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon. For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord" (55:6-8).

The following passage from Science and Health with Key to he Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will also be read:

"The perfect Mind sends forth" perfection, for God is Mind. Imperfect mortal mind sends forth ts own resemblances, of which the wise man said, 'All is vanity'

The Golden Text is from Isaiah: "The grass withereth, the flower fadeth: but the word of our God stall stand forever" (40:8).

WOODCHUCK DOES CHUCK WOOD, SAYS U-M PROFESSOR

A woodchuck does chuck wood, but only occasionally, according to Earl C. O'Roke, University of Michigan associate professor of forest zoology.

The professor points out that, contrary to popular belief, the woodchuck chucks only those twigs and pieces of brush which tor of the U-M Broadcasting Serinterfere with his burrow, or house-building activities.

As far as the diet of the small animal goes, the professor explains that its favorite food is green vegetation, "with the bark of trees tossed in for occasional variation".

Actually, the woodchuck is a fairly heavy eater, he continues, for during warm months it must | sity of Michigan. store up fat for its winter hiber-"Incidentally, a woodchuck's hibernation is not always a heavy uninterrupted sleep, for a series of warm days can act as an alarm clock for an early awakening", Professor O'Roke says.

Living in extensive ground burrows, the woodchuck builds himself a regular "one-floor apartment", the professor continues. "With several openings (one a concealed one) for emergency exits, the burrow may boast both a front and back door", he adds. Usually located in brushy, wooded areas, these burrows, and blindness if left untreated. when vacated by their original The chloromycetin ointment, animals also may use the burr-

The wood-chuck, a common native rodent, weighs an average of five to ten pounds and lives four or five years. The young are born in April or May and average about four per litter. Blind and helpless, they must stay in the burrows for several

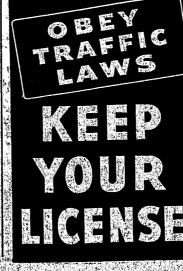

In spite of common belief, the woodchuck causes little damage to gardens, shrubs and small trees. Another fallacy, Professor O'Roke concludes, is the label of "groundhog", for there's nothing hoggy about the animal!"
