One hundred and fifty-one years ago, on April 30, America made one of the greatest real estate buys in history—the Louisiana Purchase. In need of cash, Napoleon Bonaparte sold us the Louisiana Territory for $15,000,-

This windfall for America inluded what are now the states of Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Montana, most of Minnesota, and parts of Wyoming and Colorado.

When we bought that immense piece of land in 1803 it was thought it might take a century to settle it. As it turned out, however by 1848 the tide of westward migration had rolled beyond this

The money paid for the Louisiana Purchase was raised by Treasury securities sold to Americans who had no hesitation about subscribing to this loan. With interest accruals, the total cost came to $27,267,622, or four cents an acre-without question spokes. She and her family also one of the greatest buys of all

Through the hard work and enterprise of the original settlers of the Louisiana Purchase and the men and women who followed them, the states carved out of the territory have attained a prosperity undreamed of in 1803. A striking illustration of this is the fact that in one year, 1953, citizens of these 13 states bought $713,276,000 in Series E and H telephone correctly in English United States Savings Bonds, or class. Judy Tedder brought us a 26 times the original cost of the area they live in!

Like their forefathers of 1803 who had confidence in the future of the United States and settled in the Louisiana Territory to eventually make it a great part of our nation, Americans today are buying Savings Bonds as a symbol of faith in the still greater future of our country.

This is not an appeal for money. It is a 'thank you' for money you the worthwhile work being done by the Michigan Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Throughout the country this month, people are being asked to give to finance research and education programs in the field of Multiple Sclerosis. In Michigan, however, you are not being asked to give. The dollars you contributed last fall to your 'United' campaign are now providing diagnosis, financing research and treatment centers. Five thousand Michigan multiple sclerosis patients say "thanks" for giving the 'United' way. For more information on muti-

MICHIGAN CAN'T AFFORD MORE FOREST FIRES

Smokers and debris-burners are responsible for more than 70 have already given to support per cent of the forest fires in Michigan. That's the word from L. A. Carter of Michigan State College's forestry department.

Emphasizing that "we can't afford the luxury of forest fires" Carter has this advice for Michiganders:

Use the car ash tray for cigar ette butts and be sure your match is out before throwing it away If you're walking through woods scrape away leaf litter and stamp out your cigarette or pipe heel ir mineral soil. Break a match before throwing it away—if it won't burn your finger, it's not likely to harm the woods.

Brush and trash should not be burned until you clear an area that's wide enough to stop the spread of a fire.

Legislature Invites President to Move White House to Mackinac

The eyes of the world will be focused on Michigan next year if the invitation extended to President Eisenhower to bring the summer White House to Michigan in 1955 is accepted. A delegation headed by Lt. Gov. Reid and Speaker of the House Van Valkenburg have arranged through U.S. Senators Ferguson and Potter to present the invitation next month. Two Republican and one Democratic members of the State Senate and House of Representative will make the official presentation.

Since only one President in the nation's history has visited the Upper Peninsula, it is hoped that Eisenhower will accept the invitation. The world-famous Soo Locks will be 100 years old in

RIGHT METHODS FOR PRESSING ARE IMPORTANT

When you press clothing remember that the fabrics make a difference, emphasizes Marjorie Eastman, MSC extension clothing specialist.

And remember also that pressing is different from ironing. Most pressing should be done by lowering and lifting the ironrather than by moving it over the cloth as in ironing.

Miss Eastman offers these pressing pointers:

Use the light touch for silk. Avoid high heat in excess moisture. Press on the wrong side. Use dry cheesecloth or tissue paper between the silk and the moist pressing cloth to protect silk from heat and to prevent water spotting.

Cottons can generally stand a fairly hot iron. But cottons treated with special finishes may be more easily harmed by high heat.

the wrong side for a dull finish, or to bring out the texture of the fabric. You can use a steam iron directly on the fabric or you can supply moisture with a medium or lightweight pressing cloth. Press until completely dry.

Linen requires a hot iron and considerable moisture. Press on the right side for a smooth surface. Or, if you want to bring out the linen texture, press on the wrong side.

Be cautious with acetates. They are melted or permanently glazed by a hot iron. Use the lowest temperature setting on your iron. Supply moisture with a slightly dampened cheesecloth or nonwoven rayon pressing cloth.

If any right-side finishing is needed, protect surface from shine with a dry pressing cloth. Use a light touch and do not press completely dry. Hang in an open space and let the air and the steam left in the fabric finish the pressing. Rayons are not softened by heat but they will scorch with too hot an iron. Try a low temperature first, for acetate is used in some of the crease-resistant finishes applied to rayon.

Press rayons from the wrong side, using a medium or lightweight pressing cloth. Press crepey textures over a turkish towel, using little moisture. Or you can pass the steam iron lightly over the surface—without resting the iron on the fabric. If you press rayons on the right side, protect the fabric with a piece of self fabric or a soft wool pressing cloth. For mixtures of rayon and acetate, reduce the heat of the iron and test on seam Nylons need less pressing than many other fabrics, but wrinkles are difficult to smooth out. A low rayon setting of the iron is advised. Or a steam from may be used. Use damp or dry pressing, noon, at said Probate Office, be and depending on the textore of the Dynel fabrics (100 percent dynel) are easily damaged by heat. DO NOT use a steam iron on dynel, for moisture lowers the melting point. If pressing is necessary use lowest setting of iron and protect fabric with dry pressing cloth of heavy cotton. Do not brush nap unless fabric is entirely

Blends may require a little experimenting. It is usually safest to start with the rayon setting of your iron. Always look for a label or tag giving directions for press-

Smelt on the Move

To commercial and sport anglers alike, the prolific smelt represents an important part of Michigan's fishing scene. The little silvery fish was first introduced into Michigan waters by conservation workers in the early years of this century. Since then, populations have increased so that several million pounds have been taken commercially during each recent year. Here a commercial fisherman is scooping up his last haul of the winter through the fast-melting ice of Little Bay de Noc in Lake Michigan.

How the selfishness and egotism which would impede man's spiritual progress can be over come through obedience to God, divine Love, will be brought out at Christian Science services Sun-

The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Everlasting Punishment" includes the following verses from the King James Version of the

"As many as I love, I rebuke and chasten: be zealous therefore, and repent. Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me" (Revelation 3: 19, 20).

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following passage will also be read: "In patient obedience to patient God, let us labor to dissolve with the universal solvent of Love the adamant of error,self-will, self-justification, and self-love,—which wars against spirituality and is the law of sin and death" (242:15).

'The Golden Text is from Job: Surely it is meet to be said unto God, I have borne chastisement, I will not offend any more"

It's Shortcake Time!

The first strawberries of the season are as exciting as the first robin, for while we may have enjoyed frozen fresh strawberries during the winter, there is nothing like the flavor of fresh berries.

Combined with another fruit a few strawberries go a long way, and make wonderful fresh fruit shortcakes when served in shortcake dainties from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department. These packaged, sponge cake cups, made from a cook book recipe, have just the right sweetness to balance the sharper flavor of strawberries alone, or blended with another tart-sweet fruit. You can combine strawberries with fresh or canned pineapple, orange slices or cooked rhubarb.

Have a shortcake today, and get spring started in your home.
