Escape

When man finds need to get away from burdens of a busy day; Assorted thoughts, I've come to find, Will travel through his weary mind.

To some a pipe and story book Will give the world a peaceful look; A ruffled nerve will put at ease, His sense of being greatly please.

Another finds, within a crowd Where music's playing harsh and loud; That he, with others gathered there, Can cast aside their world of care.

Strong drink, to others, seems to give A new desire to work and live; While in a state of mental daze, They can forget their yesterdays.

Religion holds a place for some To find escape for deeds they've done; Brings peace and solace to a soul That might have missed life's noble goal.

Then, there are some who feel, The need For nature's gift on which to feed; Who find escape in woods to tread, And there, feel presence of their God.

'54 Class Survives Washington Trip

The Seniors boarded a Baltimore and Ohio train about 5:30 Wednesday afternoon of last week and shortly thereafter went to the diner for a steak dinner. Certainly a delightful way to start a trip. During the evening Ukulele Ike Shedlowski held a community sing.

After an almost sleepless night we had breakfast (not relished by Jack Beach and Frances Bryant) on the train and arrived in Washington about 8:30. Two sight-seeing busses met us at the depot and took us to the White House. Next stop was the Capitol. On the Capitol grounds we had our pictures taken and each member of the class got one before we left for home. Lunch was served in the Hotel Martinique, where we stayed during our time in Washington. In the afternoon we were on our own.

For dinner the first evening we went to the Casino Royal. Jack Beach and Solvej Petersen featured in the skating act of the floor show. There were several other good acts headlined by Monica Lewis.

The second morning our busses took us to the Jefferson, Lincoln and Washington Monuments. Several of the students climbed up and down the 898 steps. Jack Hess is reported to have lost 10 pounds on this part of the trip. Our morning program concluded with a trip through the Bureau of Engraving and Printing where we saw a $100,000 bill plus stacks of small denominations. One of the employees held up a sign "No samples today".

In the afternoon our busses took us out to Annapolis where we went through the U. S. Naval Academy. This place was of special interest to Mrs. Thayer whose uncle graduated from the academy and before he died attained the rank of Rear Admiral. Some of the present day cadets were of more interest to the girls.

After dinner in the hotel the students were free to do as they pleased. Some took the moonlight cruise down the Potomac. The boat trip was probably the only disappointment on the whole trip. Others went to an amusement park and others attended some of the theatres.

The next day the morning was spent at the Smithsonian Institute. Everyone could find many things of interest at this place. In the afternoon we were taken to Arlington Cemetery where we witnessed the changing of the guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. The amphitheatre was closed because of the coming services on Decoration Day. On our way to Mt. Vernon we passed through Alexandria where the bus driver pointed out the many historical points of interest. At Mt. Vernon we saw Washington's home, the beautiful grounds, and the final resting place of George and Martha.

Coming back into Washington we passed the National and International Airports where it is reported that a plane is either landing or taking off about every minute.

Our next stop was the Union Station where we boarded the train for the return trip. Not many were awake when we passed through the City of Pittsburgh at 11 P. M.

Sunday morning we arrived home. Some had tired feet and a few blisters, but no real casualties. No valuables were left behind and everyone had a grand time. The more we talk about the trip since getting home the better it seems.

We sincerely hope that the Juniors have as good a trip next year as we did.

Confirmation will be held on June 13th. Public examination will be on Friday, June 11, at 7:45 P. M.

The Seniors of the Clarkston High School are about to reach another mile post. Their trip is history and this week tests and all functions will be over. The class will gather in the High School Auditorium on Sunday evening, June 6th, at 8:00 o'clock for their Baccalaureate Service.

The Reverend George Halk, pastor at the Clarkston Baptist Church will preach the sermon. The Reverend Robert M. Atkins of the Clarkston Methodist Church will preside and pianists will be Adele Thomas and Janet Sue Willoughby.

The Commencement Exercises will take place in the school auditorium on Monday evening, June 7th at 8 o'clock.

Speeches will be given by the Salutatorians, Elinor Allison and Harold Cameron and the Valedictorians, Charlene Barber and Mary Dean. The High School Chorus will be heard in several selections.

The address to the graduates will be given by T. Luther Purdom of the University of Michigan.

The big feature of the evening will be the presenting of the diplomas by Walton T. Robbins.

The invocation will be given by the Reverend R. M. Atkins. "Ave Mari" by the Clarkston High School will be presided at the piano for the professional and the recessional.

Polio Chapter Elects Officers

Carl W. Donelson of Pontiac was elected chairman of the Oakland County Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, at the annual meeting Thursday. He succeeds Pierre Delmontier of Farmington.

Others of the new executive committee include: Ernest Goldsworthy of Ferndale and John B. Taylor of Birmingham, vice-chairman; Mrs. Samuel Danto, Huntington Woods, secretary and Roy A. Dorris, Pontiac is treasurer with Mrs. James Lillie as assistant treasurer.

Dr. John D. Monroe, director of Oakland County Health Department addressed the 80 present and reported on the progress of the polio vaccine trials underway. He said the third round of shots for the 17,116 county children would begin next week, adding that new research will now permit any who missed the second shot to complete the test. He expressed complete satisfaction with the efficiency of the program, stating he hoped this Salk vaccine would be an answer to a severe local problem. Each year Oakland County averages 230 polio cases with 13 deaths from the disease, he said, adding that 3 percent of the cases are in the 6 to 9 years age group.

Dr. Monroe also complimented all groups cooperating on this vast medical project which has necessitated the close cooperation of the health department, physicians, nurses, school administration and the volunteers of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis which finances the entire vaccine trials with March of Dimes funds.

Seventy-four chapter volunteers were elected to serve for one year on the board of directors.

Polio Pioneer badges and certificates were awarded 50 children at the Clarkston school and 71 of the Andersonville school on Tuesday when they received their final injection of the Salk polio test vaccine. Nearly 138 Ortonville children received their badges Tuesday. Sixty-three Sashabaw school children completed their part in the vaccine trials Wednesday and were given their badges.

VOTE TO BE TAKEN ON EDUCATIONAL FUTURE FOR HANDICAPPED

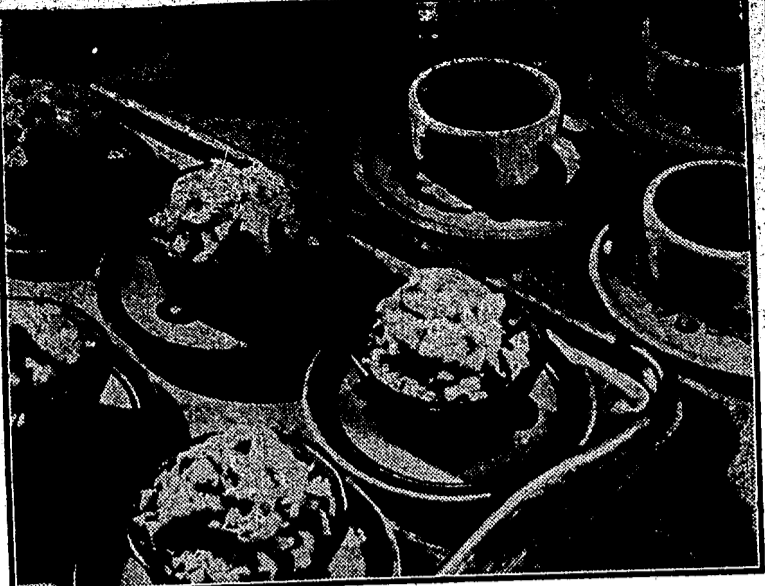

Voters of Clarkston School District will step into Michigan's limelight on June 14 when they join with other school electors of Oakland County to decide the educational future of nearly 5,000 handicapped children within this county's boundaries.

Oakland County is the first in the state to pilot a local support and local controlled program to educate its handicapped.

On June 14, all school voters will go to their local polls to decide whether or not they will approve a county-wide one-half mill tax ($50 per thousand making average yearly cost to taxpayers about $1.25.)

Monies raised from this will provide centrally located facilities where boys and girls who cannot attend regular public school classrooms will have an opportunity to get the type of education which will make them

Flan A Cafe De Mocha

If your present acquaintance with Latin American dishes is limited to Chilli Con Carne, why not expand your outlook to include some of the other food ideas our neighbors to the South have to share with us? Take Flan A Cafe De Mocha, for example, a version of the Spanish flan so popular in Latin countries. Basically, it's an egg custard, but its resemblance to the egg custards we know stops right there. The difference is that this dessert is made with real, full-strength coffee-and-milk (Cafe-de-Lette, to use its Spanish name). It's garnished with a layer of chopped Brazil nuts and a great swirl of guava jelly beaten up with egg whites.

Since guavas and Brazil nuts are both important food crops in Latin America, and coffee is its most important crop of all, it would be hard to find a recipe with more appropriate ingredients. And it goes without saying that Flan A Cafe De Mocha should be accompanied by plenty of the steaming brown brew without whose pleasant company our meals would be dull indeed.

Combine milk and coffee in saucepan. Bring to scalding point; remove from heat, let stand 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Strain through double layer of cheesecloth. Meanwhile beat 4 whole eggs and 1 egg yolk slightly; add sugar and salt. Add strained coffee mixture slowly, stirring constantly. Add vanilla. Pour into custard cups; sprinkle with nutmeg. Set cups in pan of cold water. Bake in very moderate oven, 325° F., 50 to 60 minutes, or until knife inserted near cup rim comes out clean. Remove from water. Chill. Top with Brazil nuts. Beat egg white stiff; beat in guava jelly. Swirl over nuts. Makes 6 to 8 custards, depending on size of cups.

1 quart milk
5 standard measures (10 level tbsps.)
ground coffee
4 whole eggs
1 egg, separated
1/2 cup sugar

1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
Nutmeg
1 cup chopped Brazil nuts
3 tablespoons guava jelly

the month of June, says Miss Hazel M. Losh, University of Michigan associate professor of astronomy.

On June 30, Northern Michigan will have an opportunity to observe that rare event, a total solar eclipse. Occurring at new moon phase, or when the moon passes directly between the earth and sun, an eclipse is total only when the moon is close enough to the earth for its shadow to reach the planet, Professor Losh says.

The width of the eclipse's shadow is narrow and this time will cover the following Michigan cities: Ironwood, Bessemer, Ontagon, Wakefield, Houghton, L'Anse, Calumet, Laurium and Eagle River. Because the path is about 70 miles wide several other Michigan towns will be included, she adds.

Partial eclipse may be observed from the Arctic Circle to Mexico and approximately 87 per cent of the sun will be covered for Southern Michigan viewers.

The eclipse begins around sunrise, on the morning of Wednesday, June 30, with the middle of totality at 6:09 A. M. It will end a few minutes past 7:00 A. M. but the duration of the totality phase is only one minute and 22 seconds, Professor Losh says.

Summer will officially arrive at 5:55 P. M., Monday, June 21, when the sun enters Summer Solstice, or reaches its most northern point of the year, she states. This will be our longest day, although probably not the warmest. Among other June stellar attractions will be the close approach of Mars to earth, Professor Losh points out. "Every two years, Mars lines up on the same side of the sun as the earth," she adds, "and some years the distance between is shorter than others".

On July 2 at 3:00 A. M., Mars will be a little less than 40 million miles from the earth, although it can come as close as 35 million miles, she states.

self-supporting adults instead of public charges later in their life.

A bill, Public Act 18, was proposed and promoted by county educators and presented by Representative William Broomfield at this year's session of the Michigan legislature.

It received unanimous endorsement from the house and the senate and was oked and commended by Governor G. Mennen Williams. He said it showed "soundness and vision" and should do much to raise the educational standards of the handicapped.

William J. Emerson, Oakland county superintendent of schools, prime guide of the bill, directed a study two years ago which revealed the appalling fact that nearly 5,000 boys and girls were not getting an adequate education.

Enlisting the aid of the Oakland County Superintendents Association, the findings were tabulated and the bill proposed.

All that remains for the enactment of this program is county school electorate support in June.

Due to the way the bill was set up, said Emerson, it will be necessary for every district in the county to vote on June 14 on the millage question. Inasmuch as less than half of the county districts hold their annual meeting in July, they will decide the question whether they come under the new act at their July meetings.

"The cooperative idea" said Emerson, "came about because there is not enough local money in any one district, not enough room, equipment or handicapped children to provide separate district programs."

Pointing out that many of these school age children were "sitting at home" because the public school room had nothing to offer them, he said what had been done was only for a few.

"These children can learn. With training they can grow up to be good citizens and contribute to their own self-support. Many can give society as much as the normal person and they deserve a chance to learn, too".

A county-wide plurality vote, said Emerson, will allow the county board of education to: 1. work through local boards of education to build and equip facilities to carry on program; 2. cooperate with local boards in operating the special education program.

The centers will be decided by the county board of education and the levy will be limited to 15 years.

"We will still get some state support for our handicapped, and with what we can do locally, we will be able to offer some opportunities to our boys and girls that they have in places like Detroit, Kalamazoo and Battle Creek", concluded Emerson.

Elections on both June 14 and July 12 will be conducted by local boards of education.

Farmers who have over-planted their wheat allotment or planted more than 15 acres should beware of the consequence of harvesting excess acreage.

cess wheat harvested this year. It would appear that the easiest way around this problem at this time is to mow, pasture, harvest for hay or silage the excess acreage down to the 15 acres allowed or to the allotted acreage if they wish to get a government loan.

The A. S. C. office, Mr. Walter Cook, manager located in the Hubbard Building in Pontiac, can give farmers information about what they can do with their own special case.

For one reason or another a few wheat growers have not complied with acreage allotment and marketing quotas and are reluctant to accept conditions that exist.

As my father used to tell me, "There is no point in biting off your nose to spite your face."

PEOPLE WILL VOTE ON VETERANS BONUS

One of the important issues to be voted on at the Nov. 2 general election is a constitutional amendment authorizing a bond issue to pay a bonus to Korean War Veterans.

If the people approve the proposal, $80,000,000 in State bonds will be issued to pay the bonus to all Michigan men and women who were in service during the active fighting in Korea.

The plan follows that of the bonus payment to Michigan veterans of World War I and World War II. It was placed on the ballot by the Legislature for a vote by the people.

Under the amendment, an individual must have served in the armed forces for at least 60 days between the dates of June 27, 1950 and December 31, 1953, to be eligible for a bonus. He must have been a resident of Michigan for at least six months before entering service. Rate of pay would be $10 per month for each month of service within the United States and $15 per month for each month of service outside the continental limits.

In other important actions relating to veterans, the Legislature extended to Korean War veterans the benefits of the $50,000,000 Veterans Trust Fund and the facilities of various veterans institutions.

EYE EXERCISES CAN'T CHANGE NEED FOR GLASSES

Spectacle wearers had better be content with the sharp vision their glasses provide, rather than try through eye exercises to make the lenses unnecessary.

Dr. William U. McReynolds of the University of Michigan's Department of Ophthalmology had this to say in a medical talk presented over the University's radio station:

"A person cannot change his need for glasses by so-called eye exercises anymore than he can influence his height. Any improvement of vision noted after such exercises has been shown to be due to the person's ability to interpret blurred images—just as a deaf person can learn to read lips.

Company Dinner—Cooked Last Week

... Waiting in Your

ELECTRIC home freezer

WHEN COMPANY'S COMING why not play hostess in the easy, unflustered way? It's simple. Here's how.

Do your cooking days or weeks ahead. Make those festive appetizers. Bake a ham, pie, cake, cookies... and pop 'em in your freezer.

Then on the big day, food's on the table with heat-and-serve speed, as deliciously fresh as tho' just prepared. And you're fresh and relaxed; able to really enjoy being hostess. Convenience—that's the word for a home freezer.

Card Of Thanks
Since it is almost impossible for me to personally thank everyone who cheered me with cards and good wishes during my stay at the hospital, I hope to reach most of my friends and neighbors in this way, and say "Thankyou".
It was very touching to me to receive so many beautiful cards, personal notes and flowers. Thankyou ever so much.
