The funeral service was held Tuesday afternoon at the Houghton Funeral Home with the Reverend Wright VanPlew of Waterford Community Church officiating. Burial was in Ottawa Park Cemetery.

TREAT FAMILY AND COMPANY WITH DESSERT

If you like to serve picture-pretty desserts, you'll like these suggestions from Roberta Hershey, extension foods specialist at Michigan State College.

Parfait pudding: You'll need two packages of prepared pudding mix—one vanilla and one chocolate. Or if you prefer, you can make your own puddings.

To the vanilla pudding, add green tint and almond extract; to the chocolate pudding add chopped nuts.

Pour one layer into a parfait glass and tilt the glass to achieve a diagonal effect as the pudding cools. Add second diagonal layer of contrasting pudding and top with a swirl of whipped cream. Bavarian creams (made with gelatin, whipped cream, milk, sugar and flavoring) make excellent bases for all sorts of fruit combinations. Try unmolding the cream on a square plate and then decorating with arrangements of cherries and pineapple or of sliced peaches and blueberries, Miss Hershey suggests.

A popular variation of Bavarian cream is made with sour cream instead of sweet cream. This type might be topped off with raspberries for a special treat.

Red Cross News

Executive Committeemen of Oakland County Chapter, American Red Cross, voted last week to "Keep the Red Cross blood program going at all costs".

The retiring committee met for its last session at the Red Cross Chapter house, 118 Franklin Blvd., Pontiac. A new executive committee takes over next week as the new fiscal year starts July 1.

Budget committee chairman, Harry Rendell, Jr., of Royal Oak and Committeemen Palmer Bundy of Springfield Township and Harold B. Euler of Pontiac, presented a pared-down budget of $78,922 to run the chapter for the coming year. The Red Cross still faces a $10,000 deficit of expenses over income—but hopes that Detroit, Pontiac and Oakland County United Funds or its own 1955 fund drive in South Oakland will make up the balance. Executive Committeemen approved the budget.

The budget committee chopped $3,000 off the home service budget; $250 off service to hospitalized veterans; $100 off supplies for production volunteers, who make diapers, layettes and such for the needy; and decided against any pay raises for the Red Cross staff. Formerly, the deficit was about $14,000.

Dr. E. W. Bauer of Hazel Park, Red Cross blood chairman, was extremely happy with the committee's decision. His statement was read at the committee meeting.

The executive committee agreed that the Red Cross must continue its blood program even if some other programs have to suffer.

The blood program arose after the U. S. Defense Department announced it didn't need any more blood and inferred it would toss no more money into the Red Cross program. At the same time blood is no longer a national defense program, decided it was no longer justified in spending the national organization's emergency funds on local communities' blood programs. It will withdraw all financial support over a five-year period, starting next year.

This leaves it up to Oakland County to carry a growing share of the program's costs. Local Red Cross spent $18,000 on the program this year. Next year it must spend $26,500, and predictions are that in 1955-56 the program will cost the Chapter $38,000.

PISTOL HELPS CULL LAYERS

Arm yourself with a water pistol to help you do a good culling job on your chickens. The suggestion is from J. M. (Mac) Moore, extension poultryman at Michigan State College.

It works like this: Fill the water pistol with dye when you visit your poultry house in the daytime. You can spot the boarders who aren't paying their keep. Give them a blast from the water pistol—enough to make a the National Red Cross, feeling good identification mark so you can see it at night.

Then, come back to the laying house at night with a flashlight. You can take out the culls without disturbing the rest of the flock.

Understand The Bear Facts

This little guy didn't weigh much more than a pound when born last winter, but already, now that it's spring, he is getting husky. He and all his brothers and all the mothers are out and ambling in northern Michigan woods these days and the best policy is to leave them alone. The mothers are most dangerous, game men warn, when the cubs are "cute little fellows" and for safety's sake, all should be avoided as much as possible.

Mrs. Lawyer urges women of this area to make their reservations early by contacting her at the County Extension Office at 1280 W. Boulevard, Pontiac, Phone FEderal 4-2564. She emphasizes that women do not need to be members of home demonstration groups, to be eligible to attend the conference. Early registration assures homemakers of getting their preference in the class they wish.

DEATH WINNER WHEN DRIVING IN WRONG LANE

The recent traffic accident in Maryland in which 10 persons lost their lives because one of the two drivers was traveling in the wrong lane is a glaring example of many accidents of that type which could be avoided by obeying the law and using common sense, said State Commissioner Joseph A. Childs in commenting on the state safety commission's current "Share the Road" campaign. Childs is a member of the commission.

proper passing are some of these causes.

"If drivers just used common sense and common courtesy most of our accidents would be avoided," Childs said. "This includes sharing the road fairly and staying in your own lane. Incidentally, unsafe passing is one of the violations enforcement officers watch for particularly because it causes so many bad smashups. So why not stay alive and stay out of trouble by carefully observing those rules of the road which have been set up for everyone's safety and protection".

ANNOUNCING HOMEMAKERS CONFERENCE

More than 1,300 Michigan women are expected for the 27th annual Homemakers' Conference at Michigan State College, July 20-23. Mrs. Josephine H. Lawyer, Oakland County home demonstration agent, reports that at least 20 women from Oakland County plan to attend.

Any Oakland County woman is eligible to attend the four-day educational meeting at Michigan State College, July 20-23, says Home Demonstration Agent, Mrs. Lawyer.

This is the 27th year for the annual event sponsored by the home demonstration staff of the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service. The 1954 conference theme is "Better Families—Our Goal".

The program of educational events includes classes conducted by the M. S. C. faculty members and other authorities in their fields.

Women who enroll for the entire conference can choose from 18 subject matter topics to be offered this year. There will be a special class for day visitors, explains Mrs. Lawyer.

Special morning, afternoon and evening programs and entertainment have been planned. Most of the sessions will be in the college auditorium just across the Red Cedar from Shaw Hall where women attending reside.

Outstanding speakers this year include Mercedes Hurst, public relations representative for International Harvester; Laura Lane, an associate editor for Country Gentleman; Frances Scudder, director of the home economics

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

No Sale!

Right in front of Granny White's beautiful old house on Maple Avenue there's a brand-new sign: "Antiques. Inquire Within."

Now—don't get excited. Granny explained it all the other night—after we settled down in her parlor, me with my temperate beer, Granny with her tea.

I asked her if she was really going in the antique business. "Oh, no," says Granny. "I wouldn't sell anything. I put that sign up so folks would come in and talk—and look around. If they insist on a price, I'll tell them some outrageous figure! I guess I just like people," she said.

From where I sit Granny can be excused for her little ruse. She may be in her eighties, but her mind is young—and open. She's the kind of person who's made this town so wonderful. Granny not only likes people—but she respects them and their preferences and opinions. Come to think of it, "liking" and "respecting" mean much the same thing, don't they?

HEALTH DEPARTMENTS PROGRESSED LAST YEAR

Michigan's local health departments continued to make progress during the past year in spite of the marked reduction in the federal funds.

Adjusting to reduced budgets was cited in the annual report of the out-going president of the Michigan Public Health Officers Association, Dr. Virgil Stoe of Hastings, as one of the major challenges affecting the state's network of local health departments.

Some retained their usual services because enough money was appropriated locally to make up the cut in federal funds. Others met the challenge by combining into district health departments.

The report showed that support of progressive health legislation was one of the Association's major activities. It promoted legislation to clarify the method of distributing state money to local health departments; for strengthening state laws for the handling of recalcitrant tuberculosis patients and for providing a stepped-up TB control program.

It also backed legislation for increasing the amount of state aid to local health departments, at least to balance the reduction in federal aid.

A number of committees were active, during the year for the promotion of better programs for the control of tuberculosis and heart disease, for meat inspection, maternity hospital inspection, rabies control and dental care.

The Health Officers Association is composed of the directors of Michigan's full-time local health departments.

CARELESSNESS ON TRACTORS COURTS DEATH

A girl, 7, suffered a fatal skull fracture when a tractor passed over her. A man, 38, died of a crushed chest and broken neck after a tractor tipped over on him. A man, 75, suffocated while a tractor pinned his head in the soft earth.

Farm accidents like these, endangering lives from childhood to old age are repeated every year.

Twenty-two of the 30 fatal farm accidents from machinery in 1952 involved tractors, according to David Steinicke, extension safety specialist at Michigan State College. The majority of such accidents occur when the tractor overturns into a hole or ditch or because of improper hitching—overturns backwards.

The rules for safety include: Stay away from ditches. Don't turn at high speeds. Keep the brake pedals locked together when traveling in road gear. Prevent backward tipping—hitch trailing implements or objects to the drawbar. Tipping sideways can often be prevented by spacing the rear wheels as wide as possible.

Steinicke adds that one of the best safety devices that can be put on your tractor is a good, safe driver.

 The vital importance of understanding the inspired Word of the Bible spiritually will be brought out at Christian Science services this Sunday.
 The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Christian Science" includes the following selection from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:
 "The Scriptures are very sacred. Our aim must be to have them understood spiritually, for only by this understanding can truth be gained. . . It is this spiritual perception of Scripture, which lifts humanity out of disease and death and inspires faith" (547: 23-25, 31-32).
 From the King James Version of the Bible the following passages will also be read:
 "For ever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven. . . O how love I thy law! it is my meditation all the day. . . Thy testimonies have I taken as an heritage for ever: for they are the rejoicing of my heart" (Psalms 119: 89, 97, 111).
 The Golden Text is from Isaiah: "Awake, awake; put on thy strength, O Zion; put on thy beautiful garments, O Jerusalem, thy holy city" (52:1).
