Two other boys who were swimming with Miceli tried to save him but their attempts were in vain. When the lad was pulled from the water the Waterford firemen tried to revive him without success.

For the next three days, May 26, 27 and 28, the American Legion and Auxiliary members will be selling Poppies in order that everyone will be ready to wear a poppy . . . America's silent tribute to her heroes.

The idea of the poppy as memorial flower for the World War dead sprang up as naturally as the little wild flower itself grows in the fields of France and Flanders. The flower was the one touch of beauty which survived amid the hideous destruction of war. Along the edge of the trenches, beneath the tangled barbed wire, about the ragged shell holes and over the fresh graves it raised its brave red blossom. It seemed to be the one immortal thing in that region where death reigned. The soldiers of all nations came to look upon it as the living symbol of the sacrifices of their dead comrades,

It was a poet who first gave expression to the idea. Soon himself to lie beneath the poppies, he

In Flanders' fields. Even before the men had returned from the war, the perfect little poem of Colonel John Mc-Crae had winged its way around the world carrying the picture of the poppies. Returning soldiers brought the vision of the poppy fields back with them, engraved indelibly in their hearts with the memories of the comrades they had left behind on the battlefront. Spontaneously the poppy took on a sacred significance. It became the flower of remembrance for the men who had poured out their life's blood around the roots of the little plant. Memories of the war dead always bring thoughts of those who did not die but came back doomed to years of hardship and suffering, sometimes worse than death. In the poppy was found a way to link the honoring of the dead, with service for the living victims. Soon after the war patriotic organizations in different countries began to conduct sales of poppies made by disabled veterans, to raise funds for relief work among suffering ex-service men and their families. Wearing the little flower came to mean honoring the dead and helping the Approximately 100 representatives of home demonstration groups will attend classes to learn the techniques of enamelling on copper and making wire jewelry. They will also try their hands at creative stitchery. Recreational programs, vesper services, and time for relaxation are planned. Leaders have been trained for the various projects by the home demonstration agents, Mrs. Mary Hixon and Mrs. Frieda A. Bennett.

Here's why PONTIAC WINS BUYERS FROM EVERY OTHER MAKE

It's a king-size luxury car-Biggest at its price!

Pontiac is a big, roomy car. Here it is: A car with 122" or 124" wheelbase—longest in its price field, even longer than some models in the top price range-and with true big-car stability to match. Luxury is in key. For quality of fabrics, conveniences and appointments, Pontiac compares with the costliest cars.

It's America's topmost value-Greatest buy of any year!

Pontiac is selling at the fastest rate of all time for this simple reason: America agrees—when you can get the size, power, beauty and luxury you want at Pontiac's easy price, that's the place to put your money. Come in and get all the facts.

It's a 200-horsepower performer— Most powerful at its price!

As the only car with the Strato-Streak V-8, Pontiac has a big performance advantage. This newest and most efficient V-8 enables Pontiac to provide more power than any car has ever delivered at Pontiac's price-a full 200 horsepower with the four-barrel carburetor, an extra cost option; 180 H.P. is standard.

It's a future-fashioned beauty-Most distinctive at any price!

Style-conscious motorists turn to Pontiac for true mode-of-tomorrow design, beautifully different from any other car on the road. Exclusive Vogue Two-Tone styling, Twin-Streaked hood and low, rakish lines give you a car that you know will remain a prideful possession for many years to come.

You can buy a big, 200-horsepower Strato-Streak V-8 Pontiac for less than many models of the lowest-priced cars and for much less than stripped economy models of higher-priced makes—none of which equal Pontiac in combined power, size and future-fashioned beauty.

The reason that some people don't like them, she feels, is partment at Michigan State be- that they have not eaten them lieves they are an extra good when well prepared. Take liver, for example, says Miss Townsend it is a tender meat and can be broiled or fried. Most important is not to overcook liver. That toughens all meat, especially variety meats.

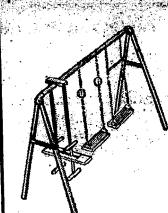

Broiling liver, she cautions, should only be done with a thick cut in a well-regulated broiler. Even then, she says, you must watch it like a hawk. Thin slices of broiled liver can soon resemble shoe leather.

Cooking pork liver is a different matter from cooking beef and calf's liver. Because of the danger of trichinosis, pork must always be cooked a long time. Cooking a small piece of meat a long time without added moisture dries and toughens it, explains Miss Townsend. So she advises braising pork liver brown it, add liquid, cover and really let it steam.

Liver, which is the variety meat very rich in vitamin A, is one food which should be in everyone's diet, declares Miss Towns-

extension office answers POPULAR QUESTION

The most popular question asked at the Extension Office these days is the method of controlling mosquitoes. The following suggestions have been made by Ray Janes, Extension Entomologist at Michigan State University. He suggests treating the pools where mosquitoes breed or treating the areas with 5 per there are no fish in the pond. DDT will kill fish, so in those areas use kerosene alone or pyrothrum-kerosene larvicide. To control adult mosquitoes in lawns turkey production up to his usual and parks treat the shrubbery with 4 lbs of 50 percent wettable DDT to 100 gallons of water (4 level tablespoons per one gallon of water). More details of these methods of control are available by writing the Extension Office and asking for the leaflet on mosquitoes control.

HIGHER PRICES FOR TURKEYS

Higher turkey prices and a brighter holiday season for growers are in prospect this fall after a gloomy 1954 market. Henry E. Larzèlere, a poultry economist at Michigan State, says this is indicated by the poult hatches for the first three months of the year.

The federal reporting services' figures indicate there will be fewer turkeys raised this year than last, of both heavy and light that 18 percent fewer heavy breeds, confirms Larzelere. In the 3-month period it is estimated breed poults were hatched in the United States than in the same period a year ago. The economist predicts a heavy breed crop of close to 10 per cent less than a year ago. That in turn should jump prices about five cents above the prices last fall.

"Though warnings have been sounded against too large a turkey crop, it looks from here as cent DDT in kerosene, providing though fall, 1955, turkey prices will be higher than either 1953 or 1954", contends Larzelere. That means an individual grower can well afford to keep his level, encourages the economist. EDWARD J. FALLON, Attorney

Trout for Tomorrow

After trout hatch from eggs, the delicate fry-size stage of life begins. Workers at conservation department hatcheries must keep careful watch over the young fish to make sure water is the proper temperature and that they have enough to eat. Such scenes as that above are common these days in hatcheries throughout the state, as next year's trout get started in life.
