diligent However, through effort, practice and training this team is now playing on even terms with the opposition. They are still losing, but they are hitting the ball, running the bases better and are making the right plays. Three out of four of the last games were lost by scores of 8 - 6; 7 - 4; 15 - 12. The team has just not had the necessary break to win and also ball players are not made in one year. The boys should be complimented for this improvement because the Clarkston Wolves are the most improved team in the league. One disadvantage this team has had is that it has no good diamond to practice on. The field at this time is too rough and stony for a good infield practice. Several of the boys have been hit in the face by a ball bounding off a stone and we not forget this immediatelycauses flinching and turning of the head for example.

However, the School Board is making arrangements to completely re-surface this diamond for another year, so every boy in this school district, younghave a good infield on which
