Vows Spoken In Methodist Church

The First Methodist Church in Clarkston was the scene of a pretty wedding last Saturday afternoon at four o'clock when Carolyn Kerton and Ronald Clements spoke their nuptial vows in a double-ring ceremony to the Reverend William J. Richards before an altar bedecked with pink and white carnations, snapdragons and lighted tapers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kerton of 99 S. Main Street, Clarkston, and the parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Byron Clements of 4840 Clinton Drive.

Mrs. Bruce Reh of Pontiac presided at the organ for the traditional music and also accompanied Dan Addis who sang "Through the Years" and "Because".

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was charming in a waltz-length white taffeta gown, with full skirt, lace bodice, round neckline and long sleeves pointed at the wrists. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a heart-shaped cap of nylon trimmed with sequins and seed pearls. At her neck she wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a lace-covered bible topped with pink, bountiful rosebuds and Stephanotis with white streamers. For something old, Carolyn wore a ring that belonged to her maternal grandmother.

Maxine Ostrander as maid of honor wore shrimp crystal cloth with velvet trim. She carried a colonial bouquet of blue iris and rosebuds and wore a matching floral headpiece.

Nancy Casey and Carol Ann Collins were bridesmaids. Their gowns were of blue crystal cloth with velvet trim and their floral headpieces matched their colonial bouquets of pink rosebuds and carnation.

Assisting Mr. Clements as best man was Victor Schram of Dearborn and seating the guests were Gerald Milam and Jim Ogden.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Kerton wore taupe taffeta and lace with blue accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. Clements, the bridegroom's mother was in blue lace with white accessories and her corsage was pink roses.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony. The refreshment table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake flanked by pink candles in silver holders and bowls of pink and white snapdragons and carnations. Mrs. Glenn Howland cut the cake and Mrs. Ross Kerton and Mrs. Keith Kerton presided at the silver services.

Keith Clements, brother of the bridegroom, had charge of the guest book.

The young couple left for a honeymoon in northern Michigan and Pennsylvania. For traveling the bride wore a 2-piece white brocade dress with black accessories and a corsage from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return they will be at home at 5285 Tubbs Road, Pontiac.

Carolyn and Ronald are both graduates of Clarkston High School, and Carolyn is a graduate of the McAuley School of Practical Nursing.

Brunilda Ruiz is a product of the Joffrey Ballet School and has appeared in every performance of the Joffrey Theatre Dancers.

Robert Joffrey himself has many triumphs to his credit. His evening programs in New York are sold out solidly in advance.

WINTER PERCH SWEET MEAT FOR ANGLERS

Winter perch make sweet meat, if you know how to catch 'em, says a University of Michigan fisheries expert.

Prof. Warren W. Wisby offers these tips for taking perch through the ice:

Because the perch travel in schools, you'll probably either hit the jackpot or get skunked, depending upon whether you're lucky enough to spud your hole over a school.

Don't laugh at the old timer who chops two or three dozen holes all over the place. Once he finds a school, he can follow it from hole to hole.

This schooling-up is enough reason (aside from laying yourself open to scornful scowls) for not edging up to your neighbor who's hauling them in right and left. To duplicate his catch, you'd probably have to appropriate the exact spot where he's fishing.

Winter perch seem to stratify, and they often feed deep (sometimes 60 or 70 feet down), so don't hesitate to try the bait at different levels.

Light is a big problem, because the lower winter sun and a couple of feet of snow and ice make it hard for the perch to see what you've got to offer. Your bait must drop inches from his nose or he won't see it.

In bright sunlight under clear ice, the perch are apt to hang out in the shade of a weed bed or other cover, just like they do in the summer.

Once you get them, says Prof. Wisby, winter perch taste better than summer catches for two reasons: 1. In warmer weather, pond plant life may produce chemicals which tend to spoil the taste of fish; 2. The fisherman has a ready-made, instant deep freeze. After a few minutes on the ice, perch become refrigerated against spoilage that can threaten summer catches.

Tempting corn waffles can be made in a jiffy by adding canned cream style corn to your waffle batter.

WHICH MAN PASSED THE N.P. TEST?

The poised, sharply-dressed man at the left of course. You can tell at a glance... and that's why the Ninety-Percent Test is so important. People judge you by what they see (sometimes that's all they have to go on) and ninety percent of what they see of you is what you wear. The fresh finish of drycleaned clothes is more than an extra touch... like a flower in the buttonhole. It's an integral part of good grooming. The state of your clothes tells volumes about the kind of person you are. In fact, your clothes never stop talking about you.

You buy your clothes to make a good impression. As you wear them, have them drycleaned often. A smart man takes care to keep that impression fresh.

The Village Weathervane . . .

by Jane Christman

The Saturday Night Dance Club and the Wednesday Night Dance Club were fortunate to be able to use the "Stairway to Heaven" decorations put up by the Methodist Youth Fellowship for their New Year's Dance. North, West and South walls of the ballroom in the Community Center were completely covered with black paper. Hung from the ceiling were tinsel stars and large-winged cherubs—including one colored one (there's no segregation in Heaven). Large paper machet clouds, concealing the lights, gave the effect of indirect lighting. A wonderful party atmosphere was created. Our hats off to Mr. and Mrs. Guy Little and their young people.

Though we were getting a heavy snow fall, the Wednesday Night Dance Clubbers felt far removed from Clarkston on their "Dream Cruise" . . . Travel posters and foreign dolls decorated the dining room. Hawaiian music was played while exotic food was served.

Friends of Mrs. Frank Lambert and Mrs. Janet Lookadoo were glad that they endured our Michigan winter as long as they did for they usually go south much earlier. However, they both left this week. Mrs. Lambert flew to Little Rock, Arkansas, for a few days and will go on from there to Tucson, Ariz. Mrs. Lookadoo and her daughter, Anne, drove with Mrs. Emmett Schaefer and her son, Scott, to Mrs. Schaefer's home in Richmond, Virginia, for an extended visit. Mrs. Schaefer has been in Clarkston since before the holidays.

Frank Crowley of Deer Lake Road will give a talk in the West Bloomfield High School, Wednesday, Jan. 16, on "Athletics as a Career". Mr. Crowley has had much experience to qualify him to speak on this subject. He is a Miler and 500 meter man—having traveled to South America in 1931 on a specially selected team representing the U. S. He represented our country again in Japan in 1934, and was a member of the U. S. Track team in the 1932 Olympics.

Our deepest sympathy to Dr. and Mrs. Don Stackble in the loss of her father, Mr. Chester Goddard of California, following a prolonged illness. The Stackbles returned home January 14.

Sue Eazer, formerly of Middle Lake Road, was here to visit unexpectedly for a few days. She and her sister, Janice Gray, of Middle Lake Road, returned to Sue's new home in Tucson, Arizona. They left Jan. 9th. Jan plans to stay for about four weeks while her husband, George, and her mother, Mrs. George Higgins, hold down the fort with the two older children. She couldn't have chosen a better time to leave Michigan as Sue said, even though it does rain occasionally, it is always clear long enough to hang out a day's washing. People in Tucson rarely own an electric dryer. After the way my car reacted (not at all!) to my exasperated and none too gentle treatment this morning, it is hard to believe there is such a paradise any where on earth this time of year.

After postponing their anticipated vacation for a week due to their child's illness, the Reverend and Mrs. William Richards of the Methodist Church left January 14 for Canada. They will return prior to services Sunday. Daughter Christine is staying with the Harold Bauers. Randy, the baby, is with his grandparents in Bloomfield Hills, and Riekev is enjoying his stay at the Ralph Kreger farm.

Our best wishes to Carolyn Kerton and Ronald Clement who were married in the Methodist Church Saturday, January 12. Mr. and Mrs. Don Roder and son Jeff, returned Saturday from Syracuse, N. Y. They now live on Church St.

The adult class of the Clarkston Baptist Church will have a party Saturday evening, January 19, at the Henry DeVar residence on Washington St.

Mary Lee Eliason had a birthday party for hubby, Paul, who is 1 year older.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Pringle of Deer Lake gave a tobogganing and bowling party for 11 young boys last Saturday. From what I hear it was a tremendous success. The youngsters made higher scores than I do.

Georgi Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Robinson, celebrated her fifteenth birthday with a dinner party in the home of her aunt, Mrs. Richard Bullen. The party took place on Wednesday, January 16.

Mr. and Mrs. James Charter of Snowapple, returned Monday from Cincinnati where they visited Jim's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bell of Perry Lake Road, entertained Pontiac friends and also Mr. and Mrs. Merle Bennett of Clarkston, at a dinner party Saturday, January 5th. More recently, their 5 year old son, Dawson, is just recovering from a bout with Scarlet Fever.

The last PTA meeting, Thursday, January 10th, was of great interest to all in attendance. Mrs. Beatrice Bowen of Wayne University, spoke on "Children's Ability to Read". She feels, as most of us do, that all children reach "reading readiness" at a different age and that the ideal school system would have teachers educated to teach the same children for their first 3 grades of school. In this way she would better know each child and his capabilities. This theory seems thoughtworthy.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Ellerthorpe of Pear Street entertained friends from Detroit in their new home last Saturday.

The Women's Club booklet "Know Your Community" is available free of charge in the offices of the Community Center. This booklet is well worth a special trip to the village as it contains much vital information for all of us including telephone numbers of Police, Doctors and Fire Department.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Baptist Church held a meeting on Tuesday evening, in the home of Mrs. Ralph Powers on Flemings Lake Road. The special speaker was Rev. Vernel Shannon who is Director of Christian Witness to Jews, Inc., of Detroit.

So much for my first effort at putting together a social column—My thanks to all the many friends who helped. I will greatly appreciate the assistance of all local readers who will call me at MA 5-1146 or Mary Ann Migan at MA 5-1150 with any items of social note. In this way we can make this column of interest to the entire community—including each neighborhood and subdivision.

LOST AND FOUND

This week the lost and found at C. H. S. contains billfolds, books, combs, hats, locks, pencils, blouses, slips, sweaters, scarfs, gloves and a watch.

If you have lost any of these articles, you may come to the office in the high school and identify the lost article.

THE S. O. S. CLUB

For the past two months the S. O. S. Club has been working on their shell collection. The week before Christmas they invited Mr. Barrows of Clarkston to their meeting and he gave them information on the shells.

They put the finishing touches on them last week and they hope to have them on display in the near future.

They give their many thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Barrows for what they have contributed to their club.

Their next projects will be dissection of frogs and cataloging rare specimens which will be preserved in jars.

SCHOOL TRANSPORTATION

by Constance Blimka

During the next three months the buses may not be able to run due to the weather and poor road conditions. The roads are being checked each morning to determine whether or not the buses will be able to run. If the buses are able to run they will try to maintain their regular time schedules. In the case of the buses not running it will be announced over stations WPN (1460) and WCAR (1130).

It will be appreciated if there are as few incoming calls as possible, as calls will prevent the buses from keeping in contact with the school.

If a call is necessary, please call Mr. Klingman, MA 5-1316 before 7:00 A. M. After 7:00, please call the Transportation Office, MA 5-1126 or the Superintendent's office, MA 5-7811.

LIBRARY NEWS

by Sharon McDermott

The vocational material has been used a lot, in the library, by Mr. Wilkinson's civic classes. Each student has been assigned a different vocation. They have been doing research work on these studies in the library. The health classes have been working on posture.

Two brass planters have been added to the library from the money that was collected by the librarians for overdue books. Another planter is to be added to the library, this one is to be placed on the vertical file cabinet.

One new book has been added to the library. It is, "Animals Without Backbones", an introduction to the invertebrates, by Ralph Buchsbaum, Professor of Zoology, University of Pittsburgh, and is to be used by the Biology Classes.

LEADERSHIP

by Harold O'Berry

The higher class of students from Clarkston Senior High School would like to have dances at the Clarkston Community Center or at the High School on Wednesday or Saturday nights for everyone, because they have no Youth Center to go to after school or at night. Some students go to Holly or into Pontiac for after-school recreation which is inconvenient because of the distance involved.

Now if the store owners would help us to get started we would deeply appreciate it, because the students of Clarkston High are lacking leadership. We would go ahead with our ideals but we are only lacking someone to lead us.

The Juniors are the ones that are doing their best to help all others. Due to the discussion in Mr. Bonner's fourth hour U.S. History Class they wish the plans to go into effect.

INTERVIEWS WITH SENIORS

by Sally Bauer

The senior girl who is being featured this week is Sharon Glennie. She is 5 feet 2 inches tall, with blue eyes, and red hair. She likes to eat lots of steak and listens to "Young Love". Sharon's favorite activity is cheerleading while her pastime is "Knitting George a pair of socks and a ski sweater to match." When asked her favorite saying she said "I always end everything in Hon-estly! Really!!!". Sharon is planning to go to college after graduation.

The senior boy is Don Alexander who is 5 feet 7 inches tall, with brown eyes and black hair. He likes to play an exciting football game and then eat a big, juicy steak. Don likes to lie around and listen to "City of Angels". His favorite saying is "O shush." After graduation Don will be planning for College.

NEW DRIVER LAW STARTS FEBRUARY 2

Michigan's new driver education law will become fully effective on February 2, 1957. According to this law, persons under 18 will not be licensed to drive after that date unless they have taken and passed a course in driver education approved by Clark L. Taylor, Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The law, the first of its kind in the nation, was passed by the Legislature in an effort to stop needless slaughter on the highways. The record shows that drivers under the age of 25 have more accidents proportionately than older drivers.

The course is available to all persons of this age as all of Michigan's public high schools are offering such a program. Upon successful completion of the course, a certificate is issued to the student which he must show when he makes application for an operator's license.

According to Mr. Taylor, the law is being watched by every state to see what its effect will be. Already Michigan high schools are enrolling more than 50,000 young people in driver education classes. The approved course includes a minimum of 30 hours of classroom instruction and an average minimum of six hours behind-the-wheel. Experience has shown that driver education offered by high schools cuts accidents about one-half. Most parents will also find that when they make application for automobile insurance there will be a saving from $10 to $40 per year if persons in their family under the age of 25 successfully completed a course in driver education.

GOVERNOR BUYS FIRST BLUE CRUTCH TO KICK OFF MARCH OF DIMES

Ten-year-old Larry Fisher of Portland, Mich., sells the first Blue Crutch to Governor G. Mennen Williams to signal the start of the 1957 March of Dimes. Clubs and fraternal groups in nearly every Michigan city will sponsor Blue Crutch tag days to raise funds for continuing the fight against polio. Larry is one of the thousands of victims of the 1949 epidemic who needs continuing financial aid from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

SEVEN WONDERS OF WORLD GREATEST CINERAMA

The most ambitious Cinerama production to date, is "Seven Wonders of the World" according to Lowell Thomas, celebrated newscaster who produced the film.

More than 100,000 miles were covered and ten countries were visited. Thomas had five directors working under his supervision, the most ever employed for a motion picture production.

"Fact and figures about this newest of Cinerama production are a wonder in themselves", says Thomas. "I believe the expedition to film sequences for "Seven Wonders of the World" was the largest undertaken by any film company."

The picture was started on February 5, 1953 when veteran Hollywood stunt pilot Paul Mantz took off in his B-25 to film the first of many aerial sequences. Until "Seven Wonders of the World" was completed in mid-August of 1955, Mantz flew more than twice around the world to pile up a total of 80,000 miles. He made two separate trips, starting the second one on the 10th of December, 1954.

"Seven Wonders of the World" used two planes to cover the far-away corners of the globe: Paul Mantz' converted army bomber, and a chartered Pan American Airways DC-4, christened the "Cinerama Clipper" in Rome. This DC-4 was a home for many months for directors, camera crew men, technicians and other personnel connected with the production.

The "Cinerama Clipper" flew 100,000 miles from Rome to Tokyo, making numerous lengthy side trips to Africa and Arabia. All in all, the grand sum of three million man-hours was flown.

Members of the "Seven Wonders of the World" expedition not only traveled; they worked as well, filming people, places and things in forty countries and on four continents. Eight hundred thousand feet in Eastman color were shot. The film was then packed in dry ice and shipped by air to the Technicolor laboratories in California for processing. It has been calculated that footage left on the cutting room floor would stretch from New York to Boston. A million feet of recording tape was used by the sound engineers while on location.

Numerous languages were spoken or attempted. But most orders and directions were given to native labor in a universal sign language that seemed to work equally well everywhere. Several different kinds of currency complicated the bookkeeping. Accounting at the Stanley Warner-Cinerama Corp., was often a problem as comptrollers poured over bills made out in Italian lire, East African shillings, Belgian francs, Egyptian pounds, Indian rupees, Cambodian piastres, Japanese yen and Saudi Arabian piculs.

It is always the proud boast of a large scale motion picture to claim that an immense number of extras were used. Since Lowell Thomas considered people to be one of the wonders of the world, people were filmed at home, at work and at play. Though an exact count has not been made of the number of "extras" appearing in "Seven Wonders of the World", Lowell Thomas believes that Cinerama can proudly say that "Seven Wonders of the World" employed a cast of millions. This production is now in its 24th record week at the Music Hall Theatre in Detroit.

FARMERS' WEEK STYLE SHOW HAS NEW LOOK

The whole family will be interested in seeing the new look of the traditional style show during Farmers' Week held Jan. 29-Feb. 1 on the Michigan State University campus. The show attracts nearly 5,000 onlookers each year.

In addition to presenting styles designed for and made by college coeds, models representing all ages will show clothes for the whole family. In order to do this, the M. S. U. textiles and clothing department of the College of Home Economics will cooperate with a local department store in the selection of wearing apparel for all occasions. Sportswear, playclothes, work clothes, house dresses, and fashions suitable for church, civic activities and social functions as well as a wedding ensemble, will be modeled by home economics students and staff members and their families.

According to Dr. Marion Neiderpruem, chairman of the Thursday afternoon event, the purpose of this year's style show is three-fold. First, it is a learning experience for girls majoring in retailing in home economics to have the responsibility of planning and executing a top-notch style show. It also gives them experience in working with a whole family. In this way Michigan farm families can learn of the available fashions for consumers.

And, as in past years, the style show gives the home economics students majoring in clothing a chance to show Farmers' Week visitors the garments which they made and designed in their home economics course.

Held in the University auditorium the style show will begin at 1:30 P. M. Jan. 31, and will be put on under the direction of 75 home economics students and staff members. The show will be televised on WKAR-TV, Channel 60.

For variety next time you prepare a cheese tray include two or three different kinds of crackers or breads. Especially good are thin slices of black pumpernickel, cut into half-inch slices; bread sticks, broken into three-inch pieces; plain, crisp crackers; and melba toast. As extras on the plate, add tasty fresh fruit in season and salted bunches of grapes or some other nut meats.

BIG EAR—University of Michigan astronomers and electrical engineers have set up this 28-foot-wide radiotelescope near Ann Arbor to receive radio signals from the sun. The sensitive device is expected to be in operation in February, providing information about the sun's outer atmosphere. The work is being supported by the Office of Naval Research through the University's Engineering Research Institute.

M. S. U. MAY BEGIN OAKLAND BRANCH CLASSES IN '59
 Michigan State University may begin classes in 1959 on the 1,400-acre Oakland county estate given to the university Jan. 3 by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson.
 Although only general plans have been made for the branch college, university officials said it is hoped that freshmen students can be enrolled in about two years.
 The Wilson's Gift to the university, valued at $2 million to help underwrite construction of academic buildings at Meadow Brook Farms.
 The offer was accepted "unanimously and enthusiastically" by the university's governing board but is subject to legislative approval.
 "Unaccountably, Oakland County has been bypassed in the development of Michigan's outstanding system of higher education," commented M.S.U. President John A. Hannah. "I am sure the legislature... will agree that it is high time that the young people of this major economic area had educational opportunities equivalent to those provided in other parts of the state."
 President Hannah pointed out that Mrs. Wilson was a member of the State Board of Agriculture, M.S.U. governing body, from 1937 through 1937 and had an opportunity to develop an intimate knowledge of Michigan State and its educational philosophy.
 On this point he commented: "This, the most generous benefaction ever received by Michigan State, reaffirms the abiding interest in young people and the desire to help them achieve their full potential which characterized her service as a board member and her subsequent activities on behalf of Michigan State."
 Speaking for her husband and herself, Mrs. Wilson said: "We are very happy to turn Meadow Brook Farms over to Michigan State University. My long association with Michigan State has shown me the tremendous contribution it is making to our educational and cultural life. Mr. Wilson and I have admired the policies adopted in East Lansing and we believe the institution has a tremendous future in this area. We are very happy to be of assistance."
 Mr. and Mrs. Wilson retain a life interest in residences on the estate, though these eventually will become a part of the branch college campus. Meadow Brook is considered one of the outstanding residences in the world.
 Within five miles of the Wilson estate is the 300-acre home farm recently given to M. S. U. by Miss Sarah VanHoesen Jones, another former governing board member. The two operations could be correlated easily.

 and immunizations for members of your family don't forget the family canine pet, the Michigan Department of Health advised today.
 This is the best time of year to have your dog vaccinated against rabies, the health department said, because rabies spreads most rapidly in dogs in the "dog days" of February, March and April.
 Some counties in Michigan require anti-rabies vaccination before dogs can be licensed. Compulsory vaccination plus elimination of strays have resulted in a sharp drop in rabies in recent years, but the disease will make a comeback as soon as dog vaccinations start to lag, the health department said.
 Last year 23 confirmed cases of rabies in animals were reported to health department. The last case of rabies in a human in Michigan occurred in 1948.
 Having your dog vaccinated may save your own life as well as his, the health department said. Rabies is always fatal in humans as well as in animals.

THE GARDEN GATE

coarse sand, good garden soil and leaf mold. Add sheep manure amounting to one-sixth of the bulk of the other ingredients. Set your plant in a protected, but fairly sunny location and water it freely. If temperature threatens to go below 50 degrees protect it until the weather becomes warmer again.

After new growth appears, cut off any dead wood. Even if there is no dead wood, it is well to cut off two or three inches of each old stem in order to stimulate side growth. The cuttings incidentally do not make good slips for new plants.

Never set your plant in the open ground. If you do, you will find that when you put it in the fall it will be practically all of its leaves. It is well, however, to set the plant in a sunny draft-free location. The point of the stem should be just above the ground with an inch or two of the rim. This will keep the roots cool. Keep it well watered, but do not let the soil become waterlogged. A weekly feeding of liquid manure will add vigor to the plant and give it a better color to the blossoms.

In the fall when temperature drops below 60 degrees, return the plant to the house where it should be placed in a sunny draft-free location. The point of the stem should be just above the ground with an inch or two of the rim. This will keep the roots cool. Keep it well watered, but do not let the soil become waterlogged. A weekly feeding of liquid manure will add vigor to the plant and give it a better color to the blossoms.

Mr. Douglas' wife, Violet, died in Clarkston in 1933 and was interred in Lakeview Cemetery. Mr. Douglas is survived by his wife, Mabel; a daughter, Mrs. Ivy Bullwinkel; a son Alexander, Jr., and two grandchildren, all in California.

Appreciation

We wish to express our sincere appreciation and thanks to our many friends who were so very kind in the loss of our father and grandfather, Frank H. Howland. We are especially grateful for the beautiful floral tributes; for Reverend Richards calls and kind words; the reverence of the Masonic Lodge and the hospitality of the Sharpe Funeral Home.
