Regular fire insurance certainly wouldn't help us pay the extra costs of living involved if we were forced to live elsewhere temporarily after fire damaged our home. Can an inexpensive coverage for such expenses be added to my regular fire insurance program?

Cool Refreshments for Summer

Nothing brightens up a warm summer day like colorful mid-afternoon refreshments. Whether unexpected guests drop by or its your turn to provide snacks for the swimmers of the neighborhood, it's well to have something on hand that's a splashing hit and simple to serve.

Refreshing fruit punch and sliced devil's food sandwiches from your favorite ready-to-cut cake department make a tasty combination that's guaranteed to revive the most wilted of summering appetites. The drink may be any iced beverage such as limeade, lemonade or one of the frozen fruit drinks now on the market. The devil's food sandwiches, two round sponge cakes held together with a cream filling, may be served whole—one to a customer—or sliced as shown.

STAGE FRIGHT SAID NORMAL FOR SPEAKERS

Those annoying butterflies in your stomach may be a boon to your career. Whether you are an actor, public speaker or a salesman.

Stage fright is a normal, natural feeling, present in varying degrees in virtually all speakers, even experienced ones, says Professor G. E. Densmore, chairman of The University of Michigan Department of Speech.

"This fear simply means that the speaker is responding to the stimulation created by the presence of listeners", Professor Densmore explains.

"The mind always does its best work when stimulated. If the speaker does not respond to audience stimulation, he is not functioning to the best of his ability. Since platform fear is a product of imagination, it can never be eliminated, but it can be reduced and controlled and made to improve your speaking", Densmore adds.

How about an antidote for stage fright?

One answer is to select a good subject logically planned and carefully organized. Determine your objective, then construct an outline, including introduction, body and conclusion.

Don't commit the cardinal in public speaking. Prof. Densmore warns. "The short speech conforms to the pattern of American life, and nearly every subject can be better treated in a short speech". He recommends self-imposed limit of 25 to 45 minutes.

Another way to avoid those butterflies is to prepare your speech to the point where you are just short of memorizing it word for word. "Memorize your outline or take it to the platform with you. But unless you have a prodigious and reliable memory, don't ever memorize your speech."

The basic prerequisite for a good delivery is sincerity, and you must let your audience know you are sincere, the professor points out. You must also be heard, and your audience is a sure gauge for measuring your own volume. Be direct, establish eye contact with individuals in your audience and talk to each personally as though he were the only person in your audience. Use body action as you would in conversation to express your self.

Above all, Professor Densmore advises, remember that practice makes perfect. The best way to overcome stage fright and become a better public speaker is to practice basic principles with the guidance of a competent speech instructor.

CARE OF RAYON. ACETATE IS DIFFERENT

Iron rayons and acetates immediately after washing, if possible, advises Lola Belle Green, extension specialist in clothing at Michigan State University.

Laws requiring that the label must state whether the fabric is rayon, acetate or a blend of these, have made it much easier to know how to care for these garments.

The two are washed similarly. Both should be washed before they get too dirty; the colored garments should be separate from the white ones (in both washing and drying); they should not be allowed to soak because rayon fibers weaken when wet; and they should be rinsed in water which is the same temperature as the wash water.

Blanching is not necessary; rayon is a naturally white fabric. To dry, roll the garment in a turkish towel and knead out the moisture. However, do not leave the garment in the towel because colored, especially printed, fabrics tend to streak.

If the fabric is all acetate, only a warm iron is needed; a high temperature will melt and fuse the material. The garment should be evenly damp and ironed on the wrong side with very little pressure. Iron the material smooth, but don't try to dry it. After ironing hang on a hanger in an open space; the steam left in the fabric will smooth out wrinkles as it dries.

All rayon materials can be treated the same way except that the temperature of the iron should be somewhat higher than that used on acetate.

If the material is a blend of the two, follow the ironing directions for acetate. Miss Green advises.

The word "alary" comes from "alarium" meaning salt money, since Roman soldiers received part of their pay in salt.

To protect the life of the President and to suppress counterfeits are the two statutory duties of the U. S. Secret Service.

MICHIGAN TO HAVE PRIVATE PRESERVES FOR HUNTING

Private hunting preserves, authorized by the 1957 legislature, won't be in operation in Michigan before autumn of 1958.

The law authorizing the establishment of preserves is effective September 27 of this year, but important and time-consuming legal procedures must be followed before shooting preserves become a reality.

Also, the Conservation Department and Conservation Commission must work out detailed rules and regulations which will govern preserve operation within the framework of the law.

Gerald E. Eddy, Department director, advised the Commission last week that the Department staff wishes to "proceed slowly" in working out these regulations to insure that public hunting is not adversely affected by the operation of private hunting preserves.

Public hearings on these regulations probably will get underway late this year. Some of the terms governing preserves are spelled out in the legislative act, including acreage limits and permit fees for preserve operators.

The law specifies a maximum size for shooting preserves—640 acres. The minimum size is 80 acres, except for preserves dealing with ducks only and these may be as small as 50 acres. A preserve operator must be licensed by the Department, with an annual fee of $25 set for any preserve of 320 acres or less and $50 for a preserve larger than 320 acres.

The law authorizes the Department director, subject to Commission approval, to establish the open season for preserves and this season must be a minimum—not maximum—of 120 days. The director also will determine the percentage of released birds which may be taken each year by hunters on a preserve.

DRIVING TIPS FOR A SAFE JULY 4TH

As millions of fun-seeking motorists head for the lakes, mountains or beaches over the Fourth of July holiday, safety experts are hopeful that extra care and caution will keep the highway accident toll at an all-time low.

To help achieve this goal a safety consultant has prepared this list of 10 driving tips.

1. Control your temper when behind the wheel. Highways are crowded and travel is slow; don't "blow-up" and take unnecessary chances.
2. Start early, expect frequent delays and leave for home early, preferably during daylight.
3. Watch out for careless drivers who are over-anxious to reach their destinations.
4. Slow down, to allow passing cars extra room to get back into the right lane ahead of you.
5. Always give the other fellow more than his share of the road.
6. Get into the proper lane well in advance of turning—and always signal your intention to turn or stop.
7. Pull your car entirely off the road when stopping for sightseeing or a roadside picnic.
8. Check traffic in all directions, especially to the rear, before pulling out of a parking spot onto a highway.
9. Reduce speed at sundown and drive within the range of your headlights.
10. Concentrate on your driving it's a full-time job.

SUMMER AND PICNICS GO TOGETHER

Picnics and summer are good companions. Picnics may be in your own backyard, or they may be at the beach or in one of Michigan's many parks.

If you travel to a picnic take extra precautions to keep the food safe for eating. Keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold, reminds the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. Foods with protein such as meat, eggs or fish need to be kept either colder than 50 degrees F. or hotter than 110 degrees F. If you hold such foods at temperatures between these points, you run the risk of food poisoning.

To keep food hot for a short time, wrap it in several thicknesses of paper with overlapping edges. If you have no insulated carrier to keep food cold, make one using an ordinary pail. A pail of ice over-wrapped with newspaper makes a good home-made carrier.

Summer and picnics go together. Keep picnics happy occasions by being sure the food you serve is safe.

These alarms are presently being developed under contract to the Federal Civil Defense Administration. NEAR would be triggered by a signal over the nation's power lines to provide an alarm inside homes, where residents might be asleep or otherwise not hear present siren alarms. Civil defense Conelrad radio would then provide survival details.

Correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (547:23-25, 31-32): "The Scriptures are very sacred. Our aim must be to have them understood spiritually, for only by this understanding can truth be gained. . . . It is this spiritual perception of Scripture, which lifts humanity out of disease and death and inspires faith."
