CHARLEY, THE MARTIAN. VIEWS THE SPUTNIKS

by Chuck Ferrand Special agent, Charley X, reporting from the planet Earth to

Dear Superiors: It has indeed ported to you from this planet, but some of the most interesting things have been taking place since the last time I contacted You. It seems that these earthlings have begun to think they can reach the moon in a few years, and they have been literally knocking their brains out trying to build space satellites. I really don't know if our government should be alarmed or amused over the whole situation. Of course they have developed a means of producing this gas but what good will it do them if they must be constantly chained to an oxygen bottle?
