MARCH OF DIMES TO HAVE BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Stanley Colby, Field Representative for the Oakland County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, announced today that arrangements have been completed for the first Oakland County March of Dimes Polio Bowling Tournament.

Bowling establishments in this area, as well as throughout Oakland County, will cooperate in the three weeks Tournament for the benefit of the 1958 March of Dimes. The tournament will be conducted jointly by the Greater Association and the South Oakland County Bowling Proprietors' Association.

Prizes are provided for both the men's and women's division of the tournament. First-place winner for the men will receive a 1958 Pontiac Chieftain 4-door sedan. First-place winner for the women will receive a 1958 Vauxhall automobile (GM's new British import).

In each establishment there will be one men's and one women's qualifier for each 10 lanes, or fraction. At the conclusion of the three week's competition, qualifiers will take part in a roll-off on February 9th for the grand prizes.

Entry blanks are obtainable from the secretary of your league or from the establishment where you bowl. The entry fee of $1.00 goes to the March of Dimes. On the entry blank, you record your score for three game series of regular league bowling, using a 70% handicap, with 200 scratch, based on your league average as of December 31, 1957.

DAYLIGHT HOURS TO GROW LONGER DURING JANUARY

January days will lengthen by an hour over the shortest day of December (21st), but don't expect warm weather yet, warns a University of Michigan astronomer.

Longer hours of sunshine will make no mark on the weather until rate of the earth's heating overtakes its rate of cooling, about the beginning of February, observes Hazel M. Losh, associate professor in the U-M Department of Astronomy.

As for the January nighttime skies, we can expect a good view of most of the nine planets, she says.

Morning skies in January will shine with planets, mainly Venus, which has been appearing as the evening star in the southwestern skies. Venus is moving rapidly toward the Sun, will pass it and emerge in the southwest as a morning star near the end of the month, Professor Losh explains.

It may be possible to follow Venus' crossover with the unaided eye to within three days of its conjunction with the Sun, Jan. 28. Venus will appear close to the crescent moon on the evening of the 20th, she said.

Leo is the constellation to watch for in January, climbing over the horizon just a little north of east around 8 P. M., Professor Losh declares. It resembles a sickle, or what she likens to a reverse question mark.

Avocados are firm when you buy them, but after two to five days at room temperature they become soft and ready to eat. Once an avocado is soft, it can be stored in the warmest part of the refrigerator.

The cut surface of an avocado sometimes darkens as it is exposed to air. To preserve the bright color, sprinkle with lime or lemon juice.

WSU THEATRE READY

Last minute packing of costumes and scenery is underway at Wayne State University Theatre in preparation for a three-month tour of India.

The touring company will start on first leg of the journey at 6 P. M. Sunday (Jan. 19) from Willow Run Airport. The company will perform at 10 Indian Universities during February, March and April.

Programs to be presented in India will consist of Sophocles' "Oedipus Rex", three short plays including Eugene O'Neill's "Where the Cross is Made", Moliere's "The Affected Young Ladies", and a cutting from Thornton Wilder's "Our Town". O'Neill's "Beyond the Horizon" will also be presented.

Wayne State was selected for the tour from the universities of the country by the American Educational Theatre Association's International Touring Committee.

HOCKEY WITH HUBER

By FRED HUBER

A YOUNG lady from Detroit's Dominican High School recently visited our office with a well-prepared questionnaire for several of the Detroit Red Wings.

One of the questions was "What are the advantages of a career as a professional hockey player?"

At face value the immediate answer is, of course, that it provides many young men with an opportunity to begin earning a salary far beyond the reach of even the average college graduating class, save in a few limited and highly technical fields.

Going one step further, however, one finds that hockey can also be a stepping stone to a most successful business career in the post playing days. One too often thinks of the ex-athlete as one who fades into oblivion.

Let's look at a few specific examples.

Abel Fine Example

One cannot find any better example than my compatriot and fellow microphone sharer on the Stroh hockey broadcasts and telecasts, Sid Abel. While Sid has remained very much in the public ken by his sound comment, he also has become a solid citizen. He represents a Michigan manufacturer in the Detroit area. He has become a leading figure in Little League Baseball activity in his area. He gives freely of his time to youth hockey programs.

Sherf An Executive

Johnny Sherf, one of the first American-born Red Wings, has become an executive of one of the major automotive concerns, and a leader in the United Foundation drive as well. Such present day greats as Gordie Howe and Red Kelly have already associated themselves with off-ice business which will become their permanent association at the end of their playing days.

The list has no need for being limited to former Detroiters. Each National League team can tell the same story. Toronto boasts proudly of the fact that former players Bucko McDonald and Howie Meeker both were elected to parliament, as was the late Lionel Conacher. The Boston Bruins point to Dit Clapper as a successful sporting goods store proprietor, to active player John Peirson in the furniture business, to Ed Sanford, a stock broker.

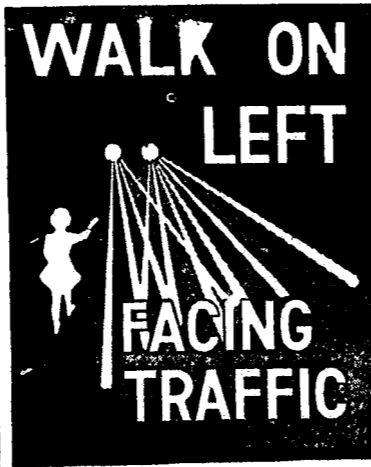

All in all, hockey players seem to fare well in their post-playing days. Perhaps it is helped by their recognition during their playing days, perhaps by the association with the caliber of the individuals in hockey. Whatever, it is a plus-factor which makes the initial career of a player even more worthwhile.

CHARLEY THE MARTIAN BECOMES FRUSTRATED

by Chuck Ferrand

Special agent Charley X, reporting from the planet earth to Mars. Greetings Cohorts! Things have been rather mild on this planet since I last made a report on my activities. After the earthlings finished their tremendous celebration (which I find to be called, "Christmas"), they seemed to suddenly fall back into the old pattern, as if nothing had taken place at all. Everyone went back to his place of employment, and business suddenly took on the old appearance of everyday routine. All went well for a whole week, at the end of which, everyone, or at least most of them, became terribly inebriated and went around shouting something about "Happy New Year"; and all at once things became normal again. It is most difficult to interpret the actions of the earth people when they act so strangely! Should these confusing mannerisms continue, I fear that I shall be forced to request temporary relief while I try to derive some sensible conclusions from my data sheets.

DEBATE CLUB NEWS

by Lorraine Juliano

Northville High School on Tuesday, January 7th, was the scene of the Debate in which our team participated and suffered quite a bad loss. The two teams were composed of Perry Smith and David Sanford who debated against Brighton and lost giving Brighton their fifth straight win. Frank Strother and John Kieft debated against the Northville team and lost which gave Northville their sixth straight win and they now remain undefeated.

The debated subject was: "Resolved that direct United State Aid in Economics be limited to Technical Assistance and Disaster Relief". The next debate will be on Tuesday, January 14th, and it will take place at Brighton. Congratulations to Mr. Don Healy for the wonderful job that his team has been exhibiting. Good Luck in the future too.

CHEERLEADING CAPTAINS CHOSEN

The results of their election were as follows: For the 9th grade: Judy Booth and Jeanette Whitlock; For the 8th grade: Paula Parker and Sharon Gottschall; For the 7th grade: Barbara Hagan and Diane Jenks. Congratulations are in order for our new co-captains, and we are sure that they will do a wonderful job.

C.H.S. CHORUS LOOKS AHEAD TO SPRING PRESENTATIONS

The Vocal Music Department at Clarkston High School, under the excellent direction of Mrs. Arlene Peterson, has improved immensely during the last two years. With money earned from various projects or donated, they have purchased new blue choir robes and some equipment for the chorus room. As usual, this year the chorus will send some of its members to participate in the League Chorus. This is a group composed of 12 members from each of the 8 schools in the Wayne-Oakland League. One of the two League Concerts will be presented at the Clarkston High School this spring.

In addition to preparing for the League Chorus, the members of the C.H.S. Chorus are trying something new, at least for them. They are in the planning and rehearsing stage of a minstrel show which they hope to present later in the year.

The members of the chorus went to Detroit last week to see "The Most Happy Fella". The Senior Chorus, along with Mr. Connors' Senior Band, should receive the warmest congratulations from all Clarkstonites for their work toward improving our community.

The Future Teachers will go to the elementary school one hour a week. This will continue through the second semester under the direction of Miss Ruth Paulson.

UNUSUAL HUNTING STORIES KEEP POPPING UP

Unusual hunting stories keep popping up in Michigan and the latest comes from the Roscommon area.

Conservation officer Edward Beechem of Houghton Lake related the following tale in his regular report on deer season activity:

"A hunter, alone in a pick-up truck, went hunting on the first day of the season. About day-break, he saw two buck deer standing watching him. He shot one of the bucks, but was so elated he failed to seal the deer or dress it out. The hunter loaded the buck into the rear of the pick-up and started for home. After driving a short distance, he heard a noise and looked around in time to see the deer jump over the tailgate of the truck. The surprised hunter

Revolutionary Development In Blind Communications Brings Unlimited Braille Reproduction

Here is the hand operated Multigraph Braille Duplicator. Individual Braille cells are mounted in channels on the drum which is then rotated to duplicate as many copies as are desired. On the right is M. Robert Barnett, Executive Director, American Foundation for the Blind, reproducing Braille material by the new process.

A revolutionary new development in the field of blind communications was demonstrated by officials of the Addressograph-Multigraph Corporation of Cleveland, Ohio at the headquarters of the American Foundation for the Blind in New York City. The development makes possible, for the first time, the reproduction of Braille material in nearly any quantity at very low cost and at speeds of mechanical reproduction. A special Braille "type" has been developed which can be set in a hand composing fork, a line at a time, and inserted into channels cut in the drums of standard multigraph duplicators. This makes possible repetitive mechanical reproduction and enables virtually limitless copies of the Braille material to be produced without sacrificing quality.

This means of reproducing Braille will modernize communications among the blind in that now Braille material will not only be within the price grasp of the average blind person but it will be available in any quantity desired. One of the main obstructions in communications among blind people has been the scarcity of Braille printed materials in the field of education. Now teachers, and even students themselves, will be able to reproduce quickly and accurately, lessons, assignments, teaching aids, texts and examinations. Two years of research and design study went into the development of the special Braille type which is the key component.

M. Robert Barnett, Executive Director of the Foundation, held the new process as "one of the most promising and practical solutions we here at the Foundation have seen in the 35 years of our work." According to Barnett, society has made amazing quantities of books, magazines, and other literary material available to the unhandicapped reader, but blind people have been denied many of this. Now, a new variety and far greater quantities of Braille material will be available to blind people. "This new Braille duplicating process opens up vast new opportunities for progress in making the blind even more self-sufficient than they are today," concluded Mr. Barnett.

Fighting the Lamprey

U. S. Fish and Wildlife workers, conducting lamprey control experiments in Michigan streams, fill a spray rig which feeds a lamprey poison into the stream. In its first field test the chemical destroyed young lampreys before they could mature and move into the Great Lakes, but did not harm game fish. Since invading the Great Lakes, sea lampreys have seriously reduced lake trout populations.

HISTORY OF PICTURE FILMS IN MICHIGAN

It was just 62 years since the first animated motion picture film was introduced to Michigan. The historic event occurred in December, 1895, when the Eidolscope was shown to amazed Detroiters at the old Wonderland Theatre.

The site, at Monroe and Farmer (now a parking lot), is only some four blocks from the Music Hall Theatre, where modern history is continually being made.

The Music Hall is the exclusive Michigan area setting for Cinerama, itself a pioneer in new forms of screen entertainment and undisputed holder of the record for longest run of any film ever shown in the state.

This honor belongs to the initial Cinerama production, "This is Cinerama", which enjoyed a two-year run.

Its only close competition comes from its two successors, the current "Seven Wonders of the World" and "Cinerama Holiday".

The only theatre runs that even remotely approach the Cinerama productions are those of the two Todd-A-O films, "Oklahoma!" and "Around the World in Eighty Days", the former having played 36 weeks at the United Artists, the latter in its 55th week there.

Far behind are the 19 weeks of "Neptune's Daughter" at the old Detroit Opera House in 1914-15, the 16 weeks of "The Jolson Story" at two downtown theatres in 1947 and 15 weeks of "Hamlet" at the old Cinema Theatre in 1948-49.

Cinerama's amazingly real and dazzling effects, with its eye-comprehending screen and all stereophonic sound, are indeed a far cry from the primitive efforts of 1895. Yet, it must be conceded that the Eidolscope was as thrilling to audiences of that era as "Seven Wonders of the World" is to theatre-goers today.

As a result, the first real continuous run motion picture theatre in Michigan was not many years later in arriving. It was the Casino Theatre, opening on March 2, 1906. Seating capacity was 200 and admission was five cents.

"Seven Wonders of the World" comes to a close at the Music Hall on February 9, to be followed by Lowell Thomas' new Cinerama production "Search for Paradise". Mail orders are now being taken by the Music Hall Box Office.

Trapping is a popular sport and business in Michigan for the old and the young. A spot check of license sales last year reveals one of the oldest persons to hold a trapping license was Toy Gaw, 86, of Stevensville, and the younger trappers included Richard Ruest, 8, of Detroit.

The food forecast for 1958 is one of plenty to eat at slightly higher prices. Increased prices are due to shorter supplies of some foods and to increasing production and marketing costs.

 How spiritual understanding of God, divine Life, increases happiness and longevity will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.
 Readings from the Bible in the Lesson-Sermon on "Life" will include the following (Proverbs 3:13, 16): "Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding... Length of days is in her right hand; and in her left hand riches and honour."
 Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (487:27): "The understanding that Life is God, Spirit, lengthens our days by strengthening our trust in the deathless reality of Life, its almightiness and immortality."
