

Waterford

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Materna spent the week-end at their cabin at Platte Lake, near Honor.

Mrs. August H. (Ruth) Jacober is a patient in Pontiac General Hospital where she is convalescing from an emergency appendectomy performed last Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stokes and young daughter have purchased the Fuchs home on Waterloo Street and moved in last week.

Mrs. Bea Stevens of Williams Lake and Mrs. Anna Mitchell of Pontiac have returned from a trip to Pennsylvania where they visited friends over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. August V. Jacober who have spent the winter in Arizona, arrived home Saturday afternoon. Their son, Bill, who lives in Phoenix, drove them home and remained in Waterford until Wednesday a. m. when he flew back to Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacober, who have both been ill stood the trip home real well and are feeling much improved.

Nineteen friends and former neighbors of Mrs. Betsy Brown went to Ferndale last Wednesday and surprised her on her birthday. They took along the makings of a cooperative luncheon, as well as birthday gifts which included a quilt made by a group of the women. There were two birthday cakes, one a replica of an open Bible made by Mrs. Thelma Ball. The Browns recently moved to Ferndale from Waterford.

Mrs. Ethel Virgin of Rochester spent the week-end with Mrs. Henri Buck. She came over on Friday and returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Davis and the Henry Mehlbergs are leaving Thursday for Alpena where they will attend the Gideon State Convention. They will return home on Sunday. Last Saturday there were seven from the Pontiac Camp of Gideons and Auxiliary who attended the annual rally of the Flint Camp at the Oak Park Methodist Church. A 6:30 dinner was followed by a program with the main speaker being Marvin Steffen, former state chaplain.

Due to the illness of Mrs. George Whitfield who was to have entertained the Good Will Club last Friday, the ladies had their luncheon at Howard Johnsons and then went to the home of Mrs. J. R. Blakeslee for the meeting. Mrs. Percy Hunt will have the May meeting.

Activities at the Waterford Community Church this week include a congregational meeting tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 when all members are asked to attend.

On Saturday the Men's Beacon Club will have their pot-luck supper and program. All men are invited.

The Annual Oakland County

Good News Club Rally will take place Sunday at 2:30 at the First Baptist Church in Pontiac. Waterford Community Church Sunday School bus will leave the church at 2:00 P. M.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Community Church will meet on Thursday, May 1st, at 12:30 at the church. Mrs. Kline Powell is chairman of the committee for the cooperative luncheon, and assisting her will be Mrs. Clara LaBarge and Mrs. F. O. Wells.

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (406:20-25): "We can and ultimately shall, so rise as to avail ourselves in every direction of the supremacy of Truth over error. Life over death, and good over evil, and this growth will go on until we arrive at the fulness of God's idea, and no more fear that we shall be 'sick and die'."

From the Bible will be read "For he is not a God of the dead."

but of the living; for all live unto him."

I've set my cap for one of the popular small European cars, and hope to buy one "over there" this Spring and bring it back with me. How much information would you need in advance, in order to assure me of complete auto insurance coverage from the minute my new car and I hit the States?

JUNIOR PLAY TO BE PRESENTED FRIDAY NIGHT

by Dianne Chapman

Final rehearsals were held this past week for the annual Junior Class Play, which is entitled "Men Are Like Streetcars". The play will be presented Friday evening, April 25, in the Clarkston High School auditorium. The play is a comedy in three acts, and is directed by faculty members, Miss Marcia Klausner and Miss Hilda Benjamin.

CHARLEY GOES TO THE BANQUET

by Chuck Ferrand

Greetings. I am very happy to announce, comrades, that I have been given a thirty day furlough; mostly because the army can't bear having me around. I must say that I am as relieved to get away from them, as they are to have me get away.

To start my leave of absence I decided to return to my favorite point of observation, Clarkston. I arrived on a Saturday night, and upon arriving, I noticed that there was some sort of activity taking place at the high school. I went to the school and peeked through the window of the cafeteria, where I beheld a multitude of teachers and students, sitting at tables, students segregated from teachers, of course. I was amazed at the appearance of so many school people at night. I wondered what on earth (or Mars) could have dragged them all to school at night, and a Saturday night at that.

As I continued to watch, I noticed that most of the students seemed very uncomfortable, and were reluctant to eat the food that was before them. To me the plates looked much more elegant than the normal repast that is served daily in the school lunch room. All at once I saw the reason why they were eating so slowly. Right in the middle of each plate was a big blob of fried chicken, a rather difficult-to-eat-in-public type of food. I noticed that several people had practically eaten all the rest of their food, while the chicken had hardly been touched. This continued for a while, until someone finally broke down and picked the meat up in his fingers. Almost at once, several others followed his example, and soon the meal was over. The thing that surprised me the most, was to see several girls begin to pick up the plates and clean the tables. This is a very unusual procedure, because ordinarily, the people are forced to clean up their own mess.

After the tables were cleared, and the general pandemonium had subsided, several people stood up and talked to the guests. One poor fellow, was called upon to speak, but alas the poor lad was unprepared, and was forced to sit down and write a short speech, which he delivered later. Finally, everyone got up and left, and I decided to follow the cars to see where the students went. The majority of them, I found at a well-known drive-in restaurant at Woodward and Square Lake Road.

MICHIGAN'S OLD CAPITOL STILL ONE OF STATE'S TOP SIGHTSEEING ATTRACTIONS

Shadows of the past linger in Michigan. And as they cast their flickering patterns over the land, here and there a shape emerges to bridge the span between the state's romantic past and its ever-changing present.

One of the best known of such tangible links with Michigan's history is the state capitol building in Lansing. Michigan's capital city. A dome-shaped baroque building generally considered unlovely in appearance, although representative of its period, this crusty old building holds a curious fascination for visitors. Year in and year out it remains among the top tourist attractions of the state, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

More than 100,000 sightseers yearly go poking through the old building in which the bustle of the state's center of government continues in an atmosphere charged with the lore of Michigan's past.

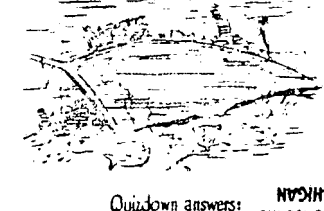

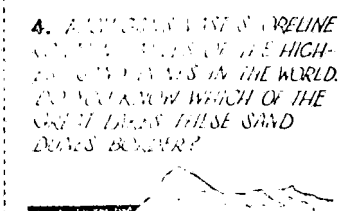

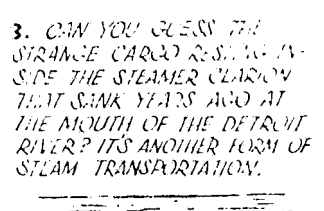

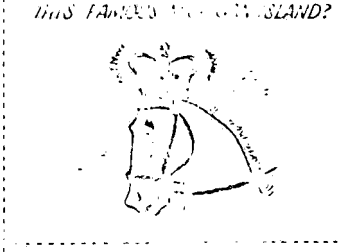

From the museum on the ground floor to the quiet dignity of the executive offices on the second floor and the hum of accounting machines on the top level, they find strange contrast between the old and the new.

Standing sentinel before the Capitol building is a weathered statue of Michigan's Civil War governor, Austin Blair; although he's been dead for nearly a century he is without a doubt the most photographed man in the state.

No tourist worth his film can resist snapping a picture of family or friends before the old statue. And it really is an impressive sight, with the stern visage of Governor Blair silhouetted against the gleaming white of the Capitol dome in the background.

But, of course, top tourist billing goes to the building itself, and during the annual session of the legislature it teems with school children on hand to watch their government in action. During the rest of the year "capitol bugs" and the garden variety of tourists keep old Gov. Blair busy.

"There are thousands of tourists who 'collect' capitol's," says Robert J. Furlong, executive secretary of the Tourist Council. "It has become a hobby. They visit as many states as they can, on each trip photographing the building and landmarks just as many persons collect stamps."

"And today the travel trend is to blend a bit of history into sightseeing," the tourist chief adds. "The traveler then must include the capitol in his itinerary, for that is the logical place to begin."

into many departments; lights, telephones and elevators have been added. But the spired dome is kept a brilliant white and the spirit of the past stands beside electric typewriters, modern filing cabinets and electronic equipment to offer strange and fascinating contrast to the 19th century architecture.

Originally the capitol housed all of Michigan's state government. Since then, of course, government operations have spilled over into two large office buildings in Lansing and a skyscraper in Detroit.

And soon the ornate old dome will be flanked by a phalanx of gleaming new state buildings, all striking examples of modern architecture. The two square blocks to the rear of the old capitol building have been cleared and the T-shaped Stevens T. Masons building already stands on one corner of this area. Next to be erected will be a Supreme court building directly behind the capitol, and then will go up a sleek 14-floor United Nations-type office building to house state departments now farmed out in quarters all over Lansing.

The entire project, of course, will include careful landscaping. The clean-lined, functional new buildings notwithstanding Michigan still will have but one Capitol building, and when it comes to tourist attractions these sleek new structures can't hold a plumb line to the crusty old domed Capitol. For in spite of its modern surroundings it will lose none of its charm.

The massive white dome will remain as a picturesque symbol of Michigan's fabled and lusty past.

LITTLE CHANGE IN FISH HOOKS

Fishing with a hook, one of man's oldest ways of catching food has changed little since its beginning, a University of Michigan fish expert says.

Actually the dome-capped four story building is Michigan's third capitol. It replaced a frame building nearby which was erected in 1847 when the state capitol was moved to Lansing from Detroit. Construction of the present capitol building began in 1872, and was completed in 1879, at a cost of $1 1/2 million. To duplicate the building today would require some $6 million.

The building looks much the same as it did then. The outer walls are a bit dingy—and they defy any attempts at cleaning; extra work space has been built

"We now have accessories that our ancestors didn't have, but we still use hooks", Prof. John E. Bardach notes.

What about power? "Yes, we have power for finding fish, that is we can use powerboats to go 'out where the fish are biting', but we still don't use it directly for catching fish."

What can fishermen do to get themselves off the hook? Bardach suggests electricity as a possible fishing tool, but he hastily adds that "much research would have to be done first."

Meantime, hang on to your safety pins—you never know when they'll come in handy to "hook" a nice trout or two.

CRANBROOK GARDENS OPEN TO PUBLIC

The Gardens and Park of Cranbrook House in Bloomfield Hills have opened officially to spring and summer visitors. They will remain open through October every day from 2 to 5 p. m., except Mondays.

April and May garden-goers will see a full acre of daffodils, formal tulip displays flowering cherry trees, tree peonies, and a variety of wildflowers. The gardens area encompasses 40 acres of formal and casual plantings around Cranbrook House, home of the late George and Ellen Booth, founders of the six Cranbrook Institutions. NATIONAL GOODWILL INDUSTRIES WEEK

President Dwight D. Eisenhower has set aside the week of May 4-10 as National Goodwill Industries Week.

The theme of Goodwill Week is to buy now and give the items that you replace to Goodwill Industries.

In difficult times it is more important for people to have a spiritual lift than it is during prosperous times. They receive this boost in morale by helping others. The difficult part in aiding most social programs during an unemployment period is to find the money that is needed at home to buy bread and butter. Goodwill's program costs the contributor nothing. He or she contributes clothing or other repairable articles that would otherwise be thrown away.

When the public buys now and gives the items to be repaired to Goodwill Industries, they help the economy in three ways:

1. The money they earn is placed in circulation, giving a boost to the State tax picture.
2. When discards are given to Goodwill Industries, handicapped workers who would be on charity rolls are able to hold down self-supporting jobs.
3. These physically handicapped persons pay federal taxes instead of consuming them. Last year those employed at Detroit Goodwill Industries paid nearly $150,000 in taxes.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Turnabout a la Tony

Have you met Tony yet? He's from Europe—and rents the old Whalen farm.

Tony's a good worker and has that farm running pretty slick. Funny though—on days off—Tony hangs around the barbershop listening to the political discussions. But he never says a word.

Last Thursday, though, Tony was there and was speaking his mind. When I asked him about the sudden change, he smiled and showed a brand-new set of citizenship papers. "Now I talk up like an American should," he said.

From where I sit, every citizen has a right to speak his mind—on all subjects. For instance, I happen to feel that beer is just about the best refreshment beverage there is. Nobody has to agree with my choice—but there's no arguing my right to "sound off" about it.

Joe Marsh

ACT 143, P. A. 1923, AS AMENDED, PROVIDES THAT:

1. You must have a permit to have an open fire except when the ground is snow-covered, or for domestic purposes, or to protect persons or property in case of fire.
2. Any person who wilfully, negligently, or carelessly sets a fire which injures or endangers the property of another, may upon conviction, be assessed a fine of not more than $100.00 and costs of prosecution or imprisonment for 90 days or both such fine and imprisonment.
3. Any person who maliciously sets a fire which endangers human life or destroys the property of another may, upon conviction, be assessed a fine of not less than $100.00 nor over $500.00 or imprisonment for a term of not over 10 years or both such fine and imprisonment.
4. Any person who negligently allows a fire to escape is liable for all expenses incurred by the State of Michigan in the suppression of such fire except for Department of Conservation personnel and equipment.
5. Any permit issued may be revoked if conditions are such that burning may not be done safely.

there's always plenty of hot water

the new electric water heater way

GET IT HOT . . . GET A LOT for load after load of the cleanest, whitest laundry ever.

And washday or any day, you can be confident that an electric water heater, plus Edison's Super Supply Plan, will provide hot water for all other family needs, too.

Here's the convenient, modern way to GET IT HOT . . . GET A LOT for an operating cost as low as $3.88 per month.

Only electric water heaters give you all these important advantages:

- Efficient—the heat goes into the water
- Install anywhere—need not be near a chimney
- Long life—meet Edison's rigid standards
- Automatic—all the time
- Fast—new, more efficient heating units
- Outer shell—cool to the touch all over
- Edison maintains electrical parts without charge
- Safe—clean—quiet—modern
