Pebbles to Pendants

Summertime finds gem stone enthusiasts busy along the shores of the Great Lakes, collecting the numerous specimens available in Michigan. Many of these hobbyists also are "lapidaries"—persons who practice the art of cutting and polishing stones—and turn out attractive pendants, earrings and other jewelry. Quarries and piled mine tailings also are popular gem hunting sites.

Assurance of God's readiness to supply all good to man will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul".

The ever-availability of divine goodness is set forth in the Scriptural readings, including this one from Luke, (12:32): "Fear not, little flock; for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom."

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy declares (60:29): "Soul has infinite resources with which to bless mankind, and happiness would be more readily attained and would be more secure in our keeping, if sought in Soul."

The Golden Text is from Psalms (70:4): "Let all those that seek thee rejoice and be glad in thee; and let such as love thy salvation say continually, Let God be magnified."

CHILDREN IN NEED OF FOSTER HOMES

The following facts were received from Mrs. Saranne Bolhuis, Case-worker in the Home-finding Department at Michigan Children's Institute at Ann Arbor, Michigan

The Michigan Children's Institute is looking for foster homes for children whose home life has been disrupted.

Families are needed who love and understand school aged children. The Institute is looking for foster families where the foster child can grow up as a member of a family of their own religion.

The case worker assigned to our county explained foster children need to live with families where they see fathers leave home for work and return at regular times, and who provide food and housing. They need to see mothers clean the house, cook, sew and shop. In other words they need to be part of the day-to-day planning—hear talk of savings and budgeting, share family outings, and learn to enjoy wholesome activities. They need to experience the love of parents for each other and for children. Thus by learning to know how it feels to belong to a family they make preparation for the time when they as adults will be responsible for children of their own.

The Michigan Children's Institute in Ann Arbor is a state child placing agency. Care is given to children up to 19 years of age. All children are legally committed by the County Probate Courts in Michigan. A foster child may come from a family broken by death, divorce, desertion or by parent irresponsibility. Rarely are both parents dead. The social worker explained foster families need to realize that separation of a child from his own family is a problem for all children.

The Institute uses many kinds of foster homes adoptive, boarding—temporary, permanent, free and wage placements.

The social worker explained that it was especially hard to find homes for the teen aged and for the child who has had a series of unhappy experiences. Older foster parents who have stayed truly young at heart are a great help to these children. A child who has strong ties to his natural parents or with brothers or sisters needs boarding parents who can appreciate what this means to him.

The social worker explained foster homes vary in type and make-up as widely as do average family homes. There was no uniformity among families as to income, age or education. Home ownership was not necessary. Boarding parents do not need to assume financial responsibility for foster children, but they do need to meet their own financial needs and be a self-supporting and a stable family. Foster families must meet the requirements for licensing under the provisions of the state boarding home law.

When a family boards a child the Institute pays a rate which includes clothing and miscellaneous expenses. In addition they meet medical and dental expenses of the foster child. The basic board rate varies depending on the age of the child placed. Board rate adjustments are made based on the need of the individual child.

Families interested in boarding a child from the Michigan Children's Institute may telephone NORMANDY 2-3209 or write to 1447 Washington Heights, Ann Arbor.

Warmup for Hunting

In preparation for pheasant and rabbit seasons, many Michigan hunters are busy training dogs in the field. Under state regulations, dogs may be trained between sunrise and sunset from July 15 to August 15, and at anytime of day between August 15 and the opening of raccoon hunting season—October 20 in the southern lower peninsula.

NOTIFY DRAFT BOARDS OF STATUS CHANGES

Colonel Arthur A. Holmes, state director of Selective Service, today warned all draft registrants of the importance of keeping their local draft boards informed of changes of address, occupation and dependents.

The recent rush of registrants reporting changes of status to their draft boards indicates that large numbers of men in Michigan are failing to keep their draft boards informed of changes which may affect their draft eligibility, Colonel Holmes indicated.

A change in a registrant's status may change his draft classification at any time. No draft classification is permanent. Registrants are required by law to keep their local boards informed of mailing address, occupation, dependency status and any other changes which might affect their draft status.

The state director recommended that every registrant notify his draft board by post card or letter of his current mailing address, occupation and dependency status.

All males born after August 30, 1922, are subject to draft registration. Young men are required to be registered on their 18th birthday. At the current rate of classification in Michigan, registrants will receive their initial questionnaire and be classified on about their 21st birthday. Induction calls currently are being placed on local boards for registrants who are over 22 years of age.

From the time of registration at age 18, registrants are required to keep their draft boards informed of any change of address. When draft boards are unable to locate a registrant for classification, he may be declared delinquent. Delinquents are subject to immediate induction or reporting to the U. S. Attorney for prosecutive action.

After initial registration at age 18, all draft registrants are required to have in their possession a registration certificate. They are also required to carry with them at all times after initial classification their notice of classification. The clerk of any local board will assist registrants in clarifying their draft status.

EXTENSION AGENT MAKES SUGGESTIONS

If your family likes jam, you may want to "put up" a few jars of frozen peach jam suggests Mary A. Hardy, Oakland County home demonstration agent. It's good, not only for making sandwiches and using on toast, but also as a topping for ice cream, pudding and other desserts.

Frozen jam really keeps the fresh fruit flavor because the fruit is not cooked. To make about 9 six-ounce glasses of peach jam, you'll need 3 cups crushed peaches—about 2½ pounds, 5 cups sugar, 1 package powdered pectin, and 1 cup water.

Wash and drain fully ripe peaches. Remove pits and skins and crush the fruit. Measure three cups of crushed peaches into a large mixing bowl. Add sugar, mix well, and let stand for 20 minutes. Stir occasionally.

Dissolve pectin in the cup of water. Bring this to a boil and boil for one minute. Add pectin solution to the fruit and sugar mixture. Stir for 2 minutes. With a ladle put the jam into jelly glasses or suitable freezer containers—leave ½ inch space at the top. Cover the containers with ¼ inch layer of hot paraffin. You can store uncooked jam in the refrigerator for a few months or up to a year in the freezer. It will mold or ferment in a short time if left at room temperature. Once you open a container of jam, store in the refrigerator and use within a few days.

STOP FROM BOTH WAYS FOR SCHOOL BUSES STARTING SEPT. 13

Michigan's new law requiring traffic from both directions to stop for school buses while they are loading or unloading pas-engers creates some conditions which could cause accidents unless all drivers are made aware of them before they arise, the Michigan Insurance Information Service warned today. The first danger arises from the fact that the new law is not effective and won't be enforced until September 13, about two weeks after the reopening of schools.

It now appears that, in the intervening period, some school buses may be equipped with new warning signals required by the law and some may not. Some drivers, familiar with the existence of the law but not its effective date, may stop upon meeting a school bus from the opposite direction, while drivers following them are not expecting such a stop. And some children using the buses may assume prematurely that they have the protection of traffic stops from both directions, even though school officials plan to warn them of the situation.

Once the law becomes effective, there will be some new problems.

At present, only traffic overtaking a school bus is required to stop while the bus is stopped. Beginning September 13, traffic approaching a school bus from the opposite direction also must stop, but there are some exceptions to the rule.

On divided highways, traffic overtaking a school bus still is required to stop, but that from the opposite direction is not. At intersections where traffic is controlled by a stop-and-go light or by an officer, traffic is not required to stop if a bus stops on a green light or if an officer directs traffic to continue, but maximum speed allowed is 10 miles per hour. The latter requirement does not apply, however, in incorporated communities, if they erect signs at their limits notifying that a stop for a stopped bus is required by local ordinance.

The new law requires that all school buses must carry two large, red, alternately-flashing lights high on the front and rear, to give warning that the bus is slowing for a stop. These will continue to flash while the bus is stopped. The new lights, plus a stop warning painted on the rear of the bus, will replace the arm signal now used at the driver's window on the buses.

Until a stopped bus resumes motion, or the driver signals traffic to continue, or the warning lights cease to flash, it will be illegal for cars from either direction to pass the bus. And it is illegal to pass, even if the lights are not flashing, if the bus is loading or unloading.

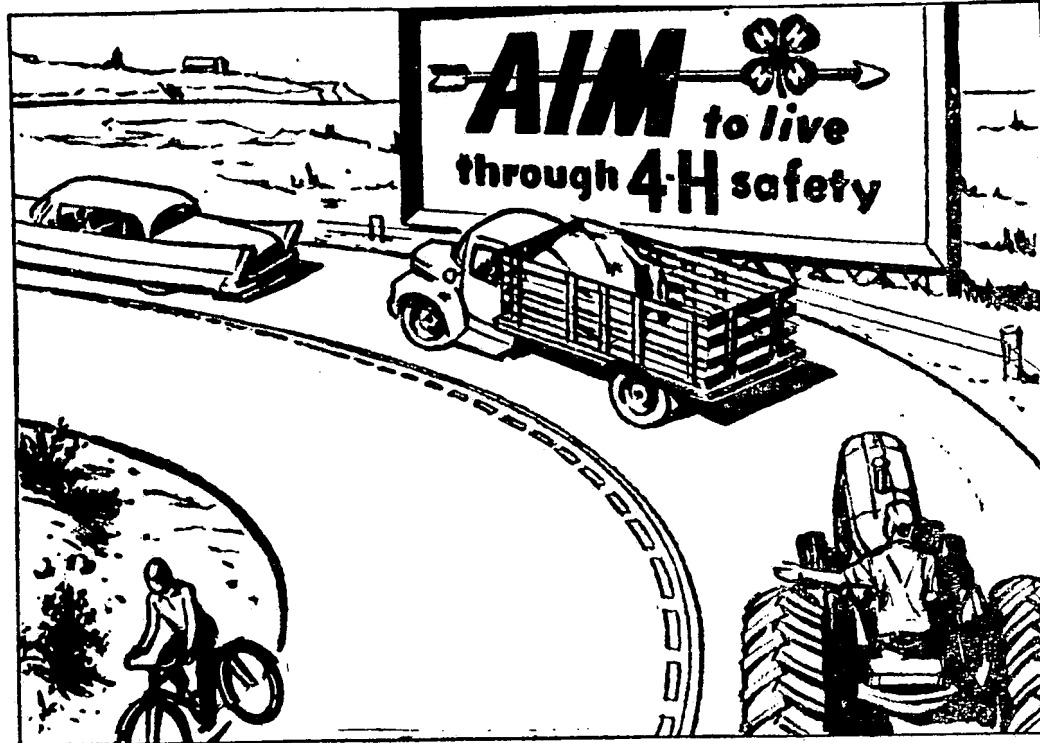

Failure of a driver to know, or to remember, beginning September 13, that he must stop from the opposite direction could be disastrous, because children who must cross a highway to board or leave a school bus will be depending upon all traffic to stop for them.

These children also may require some extra alertness by drivers. They are supposed to cross only in front of the bus, but they may not. They may cross the highway to board a bus before the bus has stopped. And they may not cross at the exact spot at which the bus stops.

A highway temporarily blocked in both lanes by a stopped bus and cars also can mean trouble if an approaching driver is not watching for such a condition.

The new bus flashers are intended to be visible for at least 500 feet, and buses are required to stop only where there is at least 500 feet of visibility in both directions. But visibility conditions are not always ideal, lights are not infallible, and 500 feet is not a great distance, especially at high speed or just

At the national level eight top ranking 4-H'ers will receive $400 college scholarships and an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next December. "Remember you can save money by not moving many things collected over the years. You will also save headaches and serious physical and emotional strain. The money is saved in two ways. Time is money, and you will cut your working time in half. You will save on the moving company charge. The less you move, the cheaper it is.

"The first step then is to separate discard items from the furnishings that you are going to use in your new home. Then call Goodwill Industries for a pick-up truck to come two or three days later. In this way, you will be sure and have everything ready to go with one call.

Feeling a need to inform the public of the two-fold theme the Federation, which includes six home economic groups, decided to sponsor an exhibit for the first time.

The Federation includes: Detroit Home Economics Association, Detroit Dietetic Association, Homemakers, Phi Upsilon Omicron (honorary fraternity), School Lunchroom Managers' Association and Home Economics in Business Association.
The display will be used to interest students in making a career in home economics and one of the two themes is "Study Home Economics and You Can't Lose". The exhibit will show the many opportunities open in the field and also tell of the many high paying jobs that are for the taking.

Then for those who have trouble with their diets, the exhibit will tell a story of "Are you eating enough of the proper food each day?"

Nutrition is the theme of the second segment and it will portray in three-dimensional natural color the required daily variety of foods for children, adolescents and athletes as well as for middle-aged and older persons.

Three upper peninsula counties lead the list of counties containing the most lakes. Marquette, with the largest land area, also contains the most lakes. 835. Next is Luce with 571, and Iron with 528.
