Clarkston Proud Of New Senior High

The New Clarkston Community Senior High was made possible through the passage of a two and one-half million dollar bond issue by a majority vote 745 to 313 in May of 1958. Approximately two years of cooperative study by the Citizens Committee, faculty and Board of Education preceded the election.

There are 38 teacher locations comprised of general classrooms, special instruction areas for general science, biology, chemistry, physics, art, business education, homemaking, vocal and instrumental music, drafting and Industrial arts. A library, administrative office, auditorium, cafeteria, kitchen and gymnasium are also included in this excellently designed structure.

The 1000 student capacity building is located on a slightly rolling seventy acre site at the south-east edge of the Village. The single site now has in addition to the high school, a 24 room elementary school, a large junior high and a bus maintenance garage.

This attractive and functional building of brick veneer, light weight block interior coupled with glazed tile wainscot and some interior brick is fronted by a large expanse of side walk and terraced area. Planting areas and outside benches further enhance the beauty of the setting. Eight double arm and 12 pedestal type aluminum posts support lamps that light the 600 car black-top parking areas as well as drives and sidewalk area.

The site is further enhanced by spacious seeded physical education practice areas, baseball diamond, softball diamond and seven asphalt cyclone fenced tennis courts. Window wall construction is through the use of aluminum sash mounted on stone sills, with black tempered glass for light and heat control, held in place by snap-on inside bead glazing. Colorful insulated transi-top panels make up the upper and lower opaque sections of the window wall. Aluminum door entrances and facia together with turquoise porcelain triangular exterior panels complete the exterior design.

The use of five huge steel arches extending outside the gym walls into concrete buttments anchored by pre-stressed rods allow the gym interior to be free of all structural bridging thereby providing an uncluttered expanse. White acoustical ceiling panels accentuated by turquoise beams and a cluster of eight loud speakers located in the center of the area complete the spacious dome ceiling. Other features included in the gym is a dividing curtain that separates the area into two lesser gyms, a varsity basketball court 94 feet in length electrically controlled rollaway bleachers with a seating capacity of 2000 spectators. The artificial lighting is accomplished by using overhead general lights mounted in disconnect hangers that allow for lowering of each fixture for maintenance or repair. Natural lighting is obtained by the use of aluminum grid translucent panels located at the north and south elevations of the gym. Spacious locker rooms feature concrete twin-T joists exposed on the under side of finished ceiling. Floors are of mosaic tile. Radiant heat is used throughout the locker room area thus providing for warmer and drier floors as well as lessening the possibility of any fungus growths in shower areas.

The library is a formal setting with book shelves extending outward from the south elevation and lining the east and west walls. Office space, conference room and book repair areas are also included. The furnishing by Remington Rand are wheat color finish on northern birch tables and chairs. The hundred student capacity room is highly lighted by an informal area furnished with turquoise and coral occasional chairs and walnut triangular end tables. Natural lighting is obtained through elevated exterior windows to prevent outside distractions disturbing students using the facilities.

The little theater or auditorium features an inclined floor, non-slip abrasive floor tile and upholstered bucket type seats designated by Irwin seating. The auditorium will seat 350 people and is lighted by recessed ceiling and the side lights controlled by dimming panels. The 29x72 ft. stage is equipped with panel control lighting, backdrops and curtain drapes. Adjacent to the stage is a make-up room with large wall mirrors, dressing rooms, make-up tables and costume storage.

The modern shop floor utilizes hardened concrete on the machine tool side and maple flooring on the woodworking side. A large overhead project storage area provides ample space for storage of student projects and supplies. Two lecture rooms adjoin the shop along with a drafting room. The shop is equipped for wood working, metal working, electrical, welding, ceramics and auto mechanics.

The building is heated through the use of two low-pressure boilers fired by natural gas and univents located along the peripheral walls throughout the entire structure.

The complete building program including legal fees, architectural fees, site preparation construction, site development, furnishings and equipment cost two and a quarter million dollars, and was financed through the sale of unlimited qualified bonds purchased by First of Michigan.

The three major contractors were: Schurrer Construction — General; Schultz Electric — Electrical; Steve Krucho — Plumbing and Heating.

A Public Open House at the new High School is being planned for sometime in September.

C. G. A. Plans Active Program

The Clarkston Gardens Association is making great plans for 1960-61. The new president, Jack N. Evans, greets the promising set-up with great enthusiasm and is looking forward to a year of accomplishments. Other officers are: senior vice-president, Larry Stuart; junior vice-president, Mrs. Gene Anderson; secretary, Donald O. Johnson and treasurer, Glenn A. Ellerthorpe. On the Board of Directors are: Kenneth Craft, John R. Evans, Jack C. Frost, Mrs. Clarence Ingersoll, Paul P. Kimball, Morgan L. Poole, Wally J. Sandberg, Richard Svetkoff and Joseph J. Szymanski.

The goal of this group is to make their community a safer, better place in which to live. They are planning a broad recreation program for adults and children; a more representative government and improved relationships among neighbors.

NOTICE

If you have items of interest for publication in The News please call Ron Jyleen at MAPLE 5-7441 or Sue Larkin at MAPLE 5-0031.

The main entrance to the building opens into a large common area finished in light wood paneling with wall benches for seating. The east expanse overlooking one of the two interior courts in the building while the south partial wall is made up of three ceramic tile murals each 5 1/2 x 11 feet depicting the various historical eras in the development of the school district.

The 400 student capacity cafeteria features two open walls and two closed walls thus providing a feeling of spaciousness. A partial wall to the north is made up multi-colored cork bulletin board panels with aluminum trim. The west open wall is comprised of three large brick pilasters opening out to the theater lobby. Thus the open walls provide not only spacious appearance but allow for additional cafeteria seating capacity as well as additional building space for persons attending a function in the little theater. The cafeteria kitchen is made up of three general areas, the serving area provides for two lines of students to obtain their serving from stainless steel hot or cold serving tables. The preparation area provides the latest in stainless steel kitchen equipment including steam ovens and steam kettles. The walls in both these areas are of sunlight glazed tile and the floors are of red quarry tile. The third area provides for storage with walk in coolers and freezers.

The science area is comprised of three labs each of which is equipped with stove top laboratory tables, ample wall storage cabinets designed by Hamilton and the latest science equipment. The biology lab is designed with adjacent lecture rooms at either end so that lab can serve two groups of students.

The chemistry room and the physics lab each provide for lecture space at one end of the room.

The vocal music room and the instrumental room are both constructed in a trapezoidal design to minimize the sound bounce and prevent echoes. Each room has four soundproof practice rooms off the main room for individual group practice, portable risers and acoustical tile complete the area.

The modern shop floor utilizes hardened concrete on the machine tool side and maple flooring on the woodworking side. A large overhead project storage area provides ample space for storage of student projects and supplies. Two lecture rooms adjoin the shop along with a drafting room. The shop is equipped for wood working, metal working, electrical, welding, ceramics and auto mechanics.

SCOUTING HELPS TO BUILD CHARACTER

DO YOU KNOW—

How many boys participated in Scouting in the Clarkston and Independence Township Area last year?

The Scouting program stimulates advancement by a system of badges and awards which recognize achievements and proficiency as the boy develops skills. Active during the year 1959 in the Clarkston and Independence Township Area alone, were 480 boys from the ages of 8-17.

In Cub Scouting the planning is based on age groups. All new Cubs first pass simple Bob Cat tests, but they proceed to work on Wolf, Bear, or Lion Rank, according to age. Their age may be 8, 9, or 10 respectively. Webelos Rank, highest in Cub Scouting, is for Lion Cubs who have completed preparation to become a Boy Scout on their 11th birthday.

In Boy Scouting there is no age group for advancement, and the Scouting trail starts with Tenderfoot and goes to Second Class First Class, Star, Life and Eagle. In addition Merit Badge Programs including over 100 subjects, give a boy the opportunity to receive vocational guidance, hobby recognition, or to prepare himself to serve other people in various ways. Boy Scouting is for ages 11, 12, and 13. Exploring is for young men 14 and above.

Community or Civic Service programs have always been emphasized in Scouting. Locally these have included such things as to repair and distribution to needy children, intensive "Get-Out-The Vote" campaign, cooperation with Fire Department on Safety Inspections, cooperation with worthy organizations such as Red Cross, Crippled Children, etc. in the distribution of posters and literature, community clean-up campaigns and many other services according to local opportunities and need. The broad field of conservation is also important in Scouting and here boys not only learn nature but render a community service in various re-forest station projects and in soil, water and wildlife conservation.

Cub Scouting is basically a home centered program. Boys meet weekly at the home of a Den Mothers in small groups called "Dens". A number of dens combined to form a Pack which is sponsored by a Church, Club, or School. The Cub program consists of fun, crafts, achievement awards, service projects, and many other things of proven interest to these younger boys. Boy Scouts are organized in Troops and various Churches, Schools and Clubs use the Scouting program by sponsoring and providing leadership for these Troops. Boy Scouting is an outdoor program and camping is its most important activity. Nevertheless there is a rich variety of other experiences in Scouting ranging from Scout shows, to weekend camps, first aid contests, service projects, and many other features.

Exploring Program for young men is a high adventure opportunity. The organizations groups are known as Posts, Ships, or Squadrans. Accordingly as the group may specialize in advancement Scout craft, Sea Scouting or Air Scouting as technical programs. Specialty ranges from Skin Diving, Radio Communication, and from Auto Mechanics to Indian Lore.

The basic purpose of all Scouting is character influencing and citizenship training under high caliber volunteer adult leadership. Boys learn by doing, and Scouting organizations strive to provide both opportunity and recognition which will greatly broaden the average boys opportunity for personal progress.

Alan Aulgur and John Paul Jones, both from the Clarkston Troop No. 126, under the leadership of Jack Frost, traveled to Colorado Springs, Colorado this year to participate in the National Boy Scout Jamboree.

"FADS AND FANCIES"

The cast of "Fads and Fancies", Detroit's own smash hit, has gone back in rehearsal for the coming season. With innovations completed for its first showing at the Michigan State Fair on Old Timers' Day, September 8, over 2000 are expected to crowd the bandstand area.

Produced by Goodwill Industries of Detroit, the fantasy owes its popularity to sparkling period music, a novel approach to humor, plus an array of beautiful models attired in clothes of past years, dating from Lincoln's day to the present.

It is moderated by Goodwill's promotion director, Mrs. M. A. Kopka. She has taken clothes, props, and accessories from the Goodwill bag, had disabled persons rejuvinate them in much the manner that the disabled workers themselves are rehabilitated at Goodwill Industries. The show revives the past, which comes alive on a present-day stage.

With these ingredients, a simple format and ingenuity, Mrs. Kopka has developed a play boasting the longest run in the state's theatrical history. It is enjoyed by young and old alike, brings laughter from both men and women, if for different reasons.

It has historical and social significance while still holding top entertainment value. All of the models donate time, and talent for Goodwill's promotion program, including those in the above picture, who took time out from rehearsal to pose for this picture.

They are: Mrs. A. Warren Brock, of the Women's Association of Goodwill Industries, and Wendy Wyatt, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Wyatt.

CLARKSTON WOMAN NAMED TO REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE

A Clarkston resident has been named to the policy-making body of the Oakland County Republican organization, Arthur G. Elliott Jr. has announced. She is Mrs. John Alexan, 38 Church.

Although she will serve as a non-voting member of the county executive committee, she will exert "significant advisory influence," Elliott said. "We're aiming for all-out grass roots political participation in Oakland county," Elliott said. The appointment of these associate members to our policy-making body is just one step in broadening the base of our organization and bringing it closer to the community."

Annual Report Of Clarkston Community Schools

July 27, 1960

Board of Education—Clarkston Community Schools Clarkston, Michigan

We have examined the fund balances of CLARKSTON COMMUNITY SCHOOLS as of June 30, 1960 and the related statements of cash receipts and disbursements for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The scope of our examination was not extended to include the child accounting records were confirmed directly by us for the State authorities. We also inspected a letter from the County superintendent of schools which stated that they had audited the child accounting records. However, State aid payments which were based on such child accounting records were confirmed directly by us for the State authorities. We also inspected a letter from the County superintendent of schools which stated that they had audited the child accounting records during the period and found that they were "correct and comply with the laws of the State of Michigan".

In our opinion, the accompanying statement of fund balances and statements of receipts and disbursements present fairly the financial position of Clarkston Community Schools at June 30, 1960 and the results of its operations for the year then ended. DEPENDABILITY

THE artist of Ancient Rome knew he could depend upon the granite or marble block to carry his message down thru the ages. Engraved on enduring stone, it was there for all eternity.

Each ceremony we conduct is a befitting memorial—of grace and simplicity. A full appreciation of our dependability can be gained from those we have served.

World Religious leader, Bishop Pike, To Deliver the sermon.

More than 10,000 persons are expected to attend the 10th annual Michigan State Fair Sunrise Service on Sunday, September 4, at 8 a.m. at the Music Shell.

They will hear a sermon by the Rt. Reverend James A. Pike, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of California and participate in a program arranged in cooperation with the Detroit Council of Churches.

Bishop Pike is a nationally known preacher, lecturer, author and radio personality. He is considered by many as one of the outstanding religious leaders of the world today.

Presiding will be Dr. Joseph L. Roberts first vice president of the Detroit Council of Churches and minister of the Bethel A. M. E. Church.

Other prominent participants will be Governor G. Mennen Williams, Donald L. Swanson, general manager of the Michigan State Fair, and Dr. G. Merrill Lenox, executive director of the Detroit and Michigan Councils of Churches. Dr. Lenox will introduce the speaker.

The Invocation will be offered by the Reverend William D. Mercer, minister of Highland Park Methodist Church. The Scripture will be read by Dr. Ernest W. Dunn, minister of Calvin United Presbyterian Church (East). The prayer will be offered by Dr. S. Lawrence Johnson, minister of Boulevard Congregational Church, and the benediction will be pronounced by Mr. Mr. Carl E. Schock, director of general activities of the Detroit Council of Churches.

A concert of appropriate music will be presented by the Detroit Police concert band preceding the service. Music for the service itself will be provided by the Radio Male Choristers of the Detroit Council of Churches with Dr. Nellie Huger Ebersole conducting.

Worshippers arriving before the 8 a.m. service will be admitted to the State Fair Grounds free of charge.

OX ROAST - PUBLIC PICNIC SATURDAY, SEPT. 10

More than 5000 Oakland County people are expected to attend a grassroots Ox roast and public picnic to be held September 10, on the John F. Ivory farm near Union Lake Village. The general public is invited to attend and hear brief presentations by Republican candidates, Paul Bagwell, William Broomfield, Alvin Bentley and others.

General Chairman Ernest Crawford has announced that the entire facilities of the elaborate John F. Ivory estate will be made available to the general public.

"All the people have to do is bring the whole family and a picnic lunch. Everything else will be free", says Crawford. A prize steer, raised by the county 4-H and donated by the R.O.W Window Sales company of Ferndale, will be roasted for the event.

From 11:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m., the day will be packed with exciting equestrian exhibitions, pony rides and rare engine rides for the kids, wagon rides with span of four and six matched horses for everyone, and a great variety of games and contests.

The bathing beach, diving docks and bath houses will be open to all. YMCA Lifesavers will insure water safety. Don Kratt of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department will be in charge of the ambulance and first aid.

A spectacular exhibition of horsemanship will feature a single rider maneuvering a high spirited 12 horse team through fast and intricate formations.

Many worthwhile drawings and door prizes will be given to both youngsters and adults. Several high school bands in the area have been invited to participate. Free ice cream will be given to children of school age.

The entire festive occasion is open to all people regardless of any political party affiliation.

DRIVE CAREFULLY IN HEAVY TRAFFIC LABOR DAY WEEKEND
Labor Day weekend, the third worst holiday period for traffic deaths in Michigan, will find the State Police, aided by the National Guard, again operating increased patrols.

Seventeen were killed in 15 fatal accidents over the weekend a year ago. The average for the 78-hour period in the last seven years is one death every three hours and 40 minutes.

"Law enforcement officers will do all they can to prevent accidents in the heavy traffic of this last holiday weekend of the summer," Commissioner Joseph A. Childs said, "but it's every motorist's responsibility to keep out of trouble by driving carefully and defensively."

State Police patrols will be lengthened to 10 hours and pass days cancelled, with all available personnel being used on either desk or patrol duty from noon Friday, September 2, through midnight Monday, September 5.

Patrol emphasis will be on high accident and heavy traffic volume areas, shifting as changing conditions warrant.

There will be 104 National Guard members assisting the State Police on patrol or point control and another 96 will aid sheriff departments and one city police department.
