Art Exhibit Has Good Turn Out

The Village Friends of Art exhibit in the Community Center on Labor Day showed a fine array of talent. Everything from charcoal sketches to "blacklight" paintings were displayed.

Some of the larger displays were as follows: A nostalgic series reminiscent of The Horse and Buggy Days, by Jack Great-house. These were formerly painted for the Pontiac Centennial; A variety of Sea scape paintings by John DeLind, Jr. 77 E. Washington, Clarkston; Paintings by Sue Valentine of 6550 Eastlawn, Clarkston; Fred and Eleanor Stiner of 88 Orion Road had their display of paintings both on canvases and glassware; Jerry Ann Buehrig had a large display of her charcoal, pastel and water-color works; From Pontiac, E. A. Linton had a fine show of paintings; A wire sculpture of Corpus Christi by Wm. J. McGough; Mosaic in tile, by Al Peacock; A beautiful painting of the Sacred Heart was submitted by Thomas A. Dunn; There were entries by children and by many of our Clarkston painters.

A relatively new art called "black light" painting was displayed by Gordon A. Schulte of Cooley Lake. This is a fascinating art, which gives a three dimensional look to paintings. The effects are achieved with fluorescent paint and a "black light" which throws the painting into three dimensions. Mr. Schulte also does circle drawing a fascinating and tedious art of its own.

Late in the afternoon many of the paintings were auctioned off by Wm. Sharpe auctioneer. All in all there was a fine turn out of talent.

Eric Lutz, 17, of 751 McDougal Street and Jeffrey Janik, 11, of 759 Lyle Street, both noticed that Gary was missing and dived under to find him.

Thanks to the fact that all three boys had taken a life saving course in the Waterford Township Recreation program, Gary was saved. The two companions had pulled him from the water and administered artificial respiration until the fire department arrived.

Parade A Success

There was a very good turn out for the Labor Day Parade in Clarkston. Although it was threatening, the weather held, and the parade started on schedule.

Many children participated with their clever, home-made entries, such as rockets, "walking" boats, and army cars.

The Rotary club had a float titled "Future Rotarians" consisting of several children portraying such occupations as barber, teacher, mailman, druggist, etc.

The Village Friends of Art had a beautiful float covered with crepe paper, displaying a few of the paintings from the art exhibit which was held at the Community Center Building.

Many horses added a western touch to the parade.

There were antique cars galore, among them were Model T Fords, a German Horch, Hupmobile Beatties Fords, a Paige, a Ford Stake Rack Truck, and many others.

The Rotary float and the Village Friends of Art floats won top honors. In the childrens division, George McCall and Johnnie Jones' rocket float was the winner. Other winners in the childrens division were Jane Weaver's "Indian with a Papoose", and Linda Olsen's "rickshaw".

Mrs. Marguerite Miller of 8391 Bridge Lake Road, was chosen queen of the parade.

Judges were Mrs. Howard W. Huttenlocher of 6201 Middle Lk. Rd., Mrs. Vern Spooner of 7716 Ortonville Rd., and Mrs. Russell M. Colston of 160 W. Church Street.

Popsicles and pop were given to children on the Village parking lot until the refreshments ran out. The Rotarians feel they will have to double their refreshment order next year, due to the fact that they ran out of popsicles and pop very rapidly.

Rally Day At First Methodist

Sunday, September 10th marks Rally Day in the local Methodist Church this year. The purpose of this day is to emphasize the importance of Christian education. A special offering is also taken at this time to support the educational work of the church throughout the eastern half of Michigan and the Upper Peninsula.

The program will be presented only at the 11:15 a. m. service. Mrs. Lucille Reichert, Chairman of the Children's Division is the director. Joseph Jennings will be at the organ and the Children's Choir will present the music.

Superintendent William Kratt will lead the "Call to Worship" and present the challenge of Christian Education to the congregation.

Reverend Richards will preach on "As the Tree Grows." The Primary Department children will attend the service as a group. Each 3rd grade child will be presented with a Bible from the Church School teachers.

4-H Club News

Happy Helpers

Wednesday morning August 30, four cars filled with 4-H members of the Clarkston Happy Helpers 4-H club left Clarkston at 7:00 for East Lansing.

They were on their way to the 46th Annual State 4-H Club Show.

Here are each counties winning exhibits from each project. Entomology, Handycraft, Flow-ers, Conservation, Knitting, Clothing, Beef, Dairy and Sheep. These and many others are all displayed. Jon Foster received a red ribbon on his leather Bar-B-Que Stool. This was displayed in the Recreation grouping. Jessica Jack-wig took part in the Junior Demonstration contest. This contest is limited to members under 14 years of age.

After lunch the group watched the judging of animals at Spartan Stadium and then walked a mile through the various campus gardens and along Red Cedar River to the auditorium to view the many attractive skirts and blouses, suits and dresses made by the clothing girls. The knitted socks, mittens and sweaters also held the interest of the girls in the knitting project. The Foods, Flower arrangements, and individual Flowers were also shown here. Club members exhibiting in the Flower Projects were: Cecil Cavely, an A on his Dahlia, Barbara Taylor a B on her glads, Mary McKee a B on her 6 marigolds, Cleo Caverly received a red ribbon on her vegetables.

After supper on the picnic tables near old "Sparty" everyone relaxed and chatted about the various things they had seen.

From here they went back to the auditorium to watch the winners of the State Share the Fun contests.

Midnight found 22 members and parents back in Clarkston again. Those attending were: Mrs. Fm. Kickerly, and Robin, Mary Ann and Sue Ann Bear, Mrs. Fred Taylor and Barbara, Jon Foster, Dorothy Glantper and Janet Casper. Others were Mrs. Arthur Noel and Anita, Cecil, Cleo and Kerry Caverly, Philip Weber, Mrs. Paul Weber, Paul Weber Jr., Mrs. Alvin Caverly, Kristine and Karen Johnson, Mrs. Leslie Johnson, and Gail Cowlings.

Several members visited the art exhibit Labor Day and enjoyed the paintings very much.

Dixie Saddle Club Horse Show

The 13th annual Dixie Saddle Club Horse Show will be held at the Glenn Ellis farm, 9331 Dixie Highway, Clarkston, on Sunday, September 10 at 9:00 A. M.

The youth of the club have practiced all summer for this event. One of their contributions to the colorful show will be Musical Stalls, a "horse" version of musical chairs.

Glamorous Tennessee Walkers and English Pleasure Horses will show their "stuff", as well as the Parade Class with its strutting horses and lovely costumes.

The events will be judged by Ed. Falom, for the English class, and Dr. Scoggins, for the Western Class.

Many of the horses which were in the Clarkston Labor Day Parade were from the Dixie Saddle Club.

The club works on this event all year long. They hold their meetings the second Saturday of each month, at which time they have a pot luck supper. One of the "larger" items discussed during the meetings is birth announcements. To the club, this has a somewhat different meaning than it does to other people, it means another member for their club, that is, "horse member." Be it a colt or a filly, it rates plenty of excitement.

All in all they are a hard working group who have planned an exciting show for this Sunday.

Richard Miskin Back Home

Richard Miskin of 6212 Cram-lane Drive, Clarkston, returned home last Saturday after a muscle was transplanted in his right leg. A graduate of the class of '61, Clarkston High School, Richard was stricken with polio in 1964.

The reason for the operation was to help him regain the use of his right leg, without the use of braces. Previously he had been walking with the aid of crutches and braces.

Richard is now in a period of convalescence but never the less in high spirits. For the time being, he is confined to a wheel chair.

The March of Dimes have helped in the past, and will continue to do so if they are called upon. While in High School, Richard wrote sports news for the Clarkston High School paper. He is considered one of the best sports writers the school has ever had.

Head Coach Dom Mauti said Richard was a great help to him and all the coaches. Through rain, sleet or snow, Richard attended all sports activities. He took statistics, kept score, was their boy "Friday." He was the manager.

Depending mostly on the success of the operation, which won't be known for some time, Richard plans to attend Michigan State University.

Richard wishes to express his thanks to all who have visited him and sent letters and cards during his stay in the Harbor Hospital.

"BOBBINS" FROM BOB

by Robert Wilson

I just wanted to take a minute out of my busy schedule to make a few requests to the citizens of Clarkston, and near by villages.

My main request being: Any person or persons having any complaints to make about this paper, please call me at The Clarkston News.

Of course, if you have some favorable comments to make I would very much appreciate hearing them also.

It is my earnest desire to start a "Letters to the Editor" column. Anyone wishing to send a letter to the editor, to be published, must sign their name and address. You may state in your letter, whether or not you wish to have your name published with the letter, or just your initials, or that you would rather not have your identity known. The names of the writers of the letters will be held in strict confidence if you so desire.

I would appreciate any news of local interest. It would be a great help to my wife and me if we received some news on Fridays or Saturdays, for the next weeks issue, although the deadline is Tuesday afternoon.

That's all for now, I'll be looking for those letters and articles.

Plucky Stevie Helps Science Toward Answer to Arthritis

Stevie Vardol gives blood sample to laboratory nurse.

For plucky Stevie Vardol, 10, life much of the time is just an unhappy succession of giving samples of his body to science.

But Stevie, who would rather be swimming and roller skating in Minneapolis (if he only could) than spending endless hours in the Children's Rheumatic Clinic of the University of Minnesota Medical School, doesn't feel sorry for himself. He knows he is doing a job that must be done: that the doctors' appraisal of the tissue samples from his swollen knees, specimens of knee-joint fluid, and of his blood may in time prevent in other children the affliction that befell him three painful years ago.

Stevie has juvenile rheumatoid arthritis in the knees, hands, wrists. Throughout the nation, another 30,000 Stevies—or their small sisters—also suffer each year from this excruciating disease. With March of Dimes funds, The National Foundation (which made possible development of the Salk polio vaccine) is today supporting the University of Minnesota's Children's Rheumatism Clinic with a research grant. Other arthritis research projects are under way at the Rockefeller Institute, at New York University, the University of Buffalo and at other famed scientific institutions, all financed by the March of Dimes.

Additionally, The National Foundation has established arthritis study centers at Columbia University, the University of Rochester (N. Y.), the University of Texas at Dallas and the University of California at San Francisco. The doctors confidently tell Stevie they will solve the enigma of rheumatoid arthritis in time, and find a preventive, given enough support. But they don't delude this valiant little boy or his puzzled father and mother who ask, despairingly, "Why should this happen to us, to Stevie?" The medical scientists look him squarely in the eye and say, "We just can't promise we'll make you well again. But then again, perhaps eventually we will."

Stevie's stout answer is to roll up his sleeve for another ten cc's of his blood (which contains an abnormal protein, a mark of his disease); or to pull up his trouser leg to give another specimen of lubricating fluid from his knee. In the laboratory, Stevie's blood is compared painstakingly to normal blood in the incessant search for an answer to what is wrong with Stevie and with the other 30,000 children. Perhaps what is wrong is an abnormal development of antibodies. Antibodies are the substance that combat bacteria. Then, samples of the connective tissue around his knees are studied and photographed under the giant electron microscope and compared to normal tissue.

Stevie doesn't cry although his doctors say that the pain he suffers at times beggars description. He is not a "guinea pig" in the full medical sense of the term. But the resolute and uncomplaining bearing of this young gentleman of only 10 is evidence that he knows he is a volunteer of the fight against the nation's No. 1 Crippler—arthritis which, in one or another form, strikes at 11 million Americans.

FATALITIES INCREASE IN SCHOOL AGE GROUPS

"School is starting soon." "More children will die." James M. Hare, Chairman of the Michigan State Safety Commission, warned Michigan motorists that the accidental rate for children in the 5 to 9 year group has risen each year for the past three years.

In 1958, 64 children in the 5 to 9 "starting to school" age group were killed in vehicle accidents. In 1959 it rose to 70 and then jumped to 73 in 1960.

"Deaths among pre-school age youngsters also increased, from 53 in 1958, to 57 in 1959, and 73 in 1960," Hare said, "and fatalities rose last year in the 10 to 14 age group too."

"I hope all motorists will take extra caution as schools open in September. Many of the younger children may have unlearned last year's safe walking habits, or may be careless, or afraid, and unpredictable. If we who drive all cooperate and take care, we can help to cut this growing death rate among children of school age."

BIG DIPPER TO BE STAR ATTRACTION DURING SEPTEMBER

The Big Dipper, the oldest and the most talked about constellation, will be seen during September nights, a University of Michigan astronomer says.

It is also the easiest of the constellations to find, according to Associate Prof. Hazel M. Losh.

"It may easily be traced in the northwestern sky just after dark, one of the first of the groups to make its appearance. Seven stars outline the dipper figure. The two at the end of the bowl are very important, for a line through these two 'Pointers' extended to about five times its length ends close to Polaris or The North Star," Prof. Losh says.

"The Big Dipper, however, is only a part of the time-honored figure of the Big Bear. He is really a huge bear with a long tail (handle of the Dipper). There are pairs of stars that mark three of his four paws with a faint semi-circle of stars ahead of the Pointer stars that outline his nose.

The second star from the end and at the bend of the Dipper handle is a naked eye double star, the brighter, Mizar, the fainter, Alcor. The Arabs referred to these two stars as the "Horse and the Rider", and used them as a test for good eyesight."

Pro. Losh explains.

Among the many stories and legends about the Big Bear are: "One legend is that someone nailed a bear skin to the sky with seven nails, and later the nail heads became stars, and now they shine for us every night to show us where the bear hangs.

"An Indian story is that the three stars of the tail (handle of the Dipper) are hunters seeking to kill the Bear. The first hunter carries a bow, the second a kettle to cook him in, the kettle being represented by the little star, Alcor, and the third carries sticks to light a fire when the Bear has been killed. In the autumn, the first hunter hits the Bear, and the blood stains from the wound color the foliage red.

"The seven bright stars that form the Dipper are often referred to as the "Plough" or "Wain", for to many this star picture looks like a plough or wagon," Prof. Losh says.

WEDNESDAY SAFEST DAY ON HIGHWAYS

If you live your life with an eye on the averages and have an earnest desire to stay alive, you'll do most of your driving on Wednesdays.

According to James M. Hare, Chairman of the Michigan State Safety Commission, Wednesday is the "safest" day of the week on American highways. A recent evaluation of 1960 fatalities showed that 10.5 percent of the year's traffic deaths occurred on Wednesday.

"The deadliest day of the week continues to be Saturday," Hare said. "The 1960 figures show that 21.5 percent of highway fatalities occurred on Saturday, up by two tenths percent above the 1959 average."

Less deadly is Sunday, with 17.7 percent of the week's deaths, followed by Friday with 16, Tuesday with 11.6, Monday with 11.5, and Thursday with 11.2 percent.

The Church is in the world to bring God to men, and men to God. It is the guide appointed by Christ for this purpose. However, if you would attain the goal which it promises you must be willing to be led to it. You must follow the guide willingly, eagerly, and even, at times, running ahead by yourself. Sometimes the way becomes difficult and you cannot proceed by yourself, but if you faithfully follow your guide you will finally reach your destination.

The Episcopal Church in Clarkston invites you to join in its worship of Almighty God and in its Christian fellowship. Let us help each other on the road to our common goal, which is God.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST

Oxford, Michigan

Sunday School 11:00 A. M.

Sunday Service 11:00 A. M.

Effective prayer will be a theme dealt with at Christian Science services Sunday in a Lesson-Sermon entitled "Substance."

Scriptural readings will include the account in Luke of the Master's parable about the two men, publican, who went up into the temple to pray.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this citation will be read (p.2): "What are the motives for prayer? Do we pray to make ourselves better or to benefit those who hear us, to enlighten the infinite or to be heard of men? Are we benefited by praying? Yes, the desire which goes forth hungering after righteousness is blessed of our Father, and it does not return unto us void."

The Golden Text is from Hebrews (3): "We are made partakers of Christ, if we hold the beginning of our confidence steadfast unto the end."

New Safety For The Home

Safety in the home... that's the keynote for fall housecleaning. And safety is especially important for those with young children. Sharp objects, breakable objects, should be kept out of reach of tiny hands, safety experts warn.

Plastic, for instance, is safer than glass bottles. It is skid-proof and unbreakable which means no fragments of glass, should the bottle be dropped. Lestol Products, a leading detergent manufacturer, has broadened its line and is offering an all-purpose cleaning agent in rigid Marlex plastic containers. And, incidentally, it is available in a new Sparkle Scent as well as the familiar pine scent.

All-purpose detergents, homemakers know, are used in almost every major cleaning activity -- in the kitchen, bathroom, floors. Availability of an all-plastic bottle, therefore, introduces a substantial element of safety in every part of the house.

Quaint Barbados Sugar Crusher

Visitors to the Caribbean's easternmost island enjoy picturesque sites such as the Morgan Lewis Mill, above, one of the few remaining windmills of many which once dotted Barbados, providing power to crush sugar cane grown on baronial plantation estates. Despite windmills, which generally are associated with Holland, Barbados has been British since 1627 and is known as the "Little England of the Caribbean" for its pleasant rolling countryside and its preservation of British ritual and tradition. Island's pastoral beauty, gracious resorts and palm-fringed sandy beaches attract thousands of American vacationers each year.

With how much greater probability shall we make a conjecture as to God's work and designs even for the other planets, from that variety which we discern on Earth.

German astronomer

White Pine--Tree of Legend

This is Michigan's official state tree, the white pine. It has long stood as a symbol of the state's forest heritage. It was the backbone of the lumber industry for a quarter of a century prior to 1900 when Michigan led the nation in lumber output. It helped to build the Midwest and played a big hand in Michigan's early development. While white pine will never again reach its former heights in the lumbering world, it will continue to be a valuable part of Michigan's forests. Today, white pine is found mostly in the upper peninsula and the north half of the lower peninsula where it figures prominently in reforestation work. Two small stands of virgin pine are preserved at Interlochen and Hartwick Pines state parks. At maturity, the tree attains a height of 80 to 120 feet with a diameter of from three to four feet. The bark of young white pine is smooth and dark with a diameter of from three to four feet. The bark of older trees is gray and deeply grooved. The needles occur in clusters of five. They are pale blue-green, fine and soft. Mature cones occur in drooping clusters near the tips of the trees. They are narrow and tapering with rather loose flexible scales. —Mich. WYNNE CHESTER SAYS:
We've Got a Problem At Our House...

... and my husband, Joe and I are quite perplexed about it. You see, it's like this...

We want very much to get young Mike a new gun. Christmas, of course, is the logical time for such an important gift but there are other factors. Mike has a .22, and it's because he has proven to be so trustworthy and responsible in its care and handling that we want to reward him with what he wants most... a real game gun. Shotgun or rifle? A good gun is a lifetime purchase and should be carefully chosen. Joe wants to take his son with him on some week-end quail hunts this fall, and Mike would be so proud to have his own new shotgun. But... Joe is making plans to take him along, too, on the one big deer hunt he makes each season. Deer rifle? ... Which gun? And... does Mike get it now, as an advance Christmas present... or do we wait and let Mike use a 'borrowed' gun. Problems! I think we'll just let Santa Claus take care of this one. (He'll probably get some helpful, timely hints from Mike!)

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE VOTERS OF the CLARKSTON AREA...

100 Crescent Road
Pontiac, Michigan
September 7, 1961

Friends:

Next Tuesday marks one of the most significant events in recent Michigan history. On that date Michigan citizens will select the men and women whose task it will be to rewrite the Michigan Constitution. You, the voter, play the key role in this continuing experiment in free government. All of us, as responsible citizens, have a job to perform in the arena of public affairs; for rest assured, if we fail, selfish special interest groups are certain to take our place. Men of integrity and good-will can accomplish much to restore representative government in Michigan. Through the legislature decreed that this be a partisan election, I am certain you share my conviction that the interests of all the people of Michigan are more important than a party label.

I respectfully request YOUR support. With my only commitment being a desire to see Michigan grow and prosper, I shall do all in my power to merit your confidence.

Sincerely,
John S. Coleman

Be sure to include delicious tuna, not only whole, on your antipasto serving dish, but also in a salad. Here are recipes for the Tuna Antipasto Salad and the Antipasto itself. Remember too, it is International Tuna Week, September 14-23 this year.

Rebirth Of An Old Crop

Safflower, a thistle-like plant cultivated since ancient times in Africa and Asia, is enjoying a new boom as an oilseed crop in America. Seeds which yield the oil develop beneath the orange-yellow blossom (left). Inspecting a field of safflower (right) is agronomist Carl Claassen, who helped develop the crop in this country. New popularity of safflower stems from medical interest in the oil's high ratio of polyunsaturated fats, which makes it a possible dietary weapon against cholesterol and heart ailments.

Those fields of yellow blossoms rolling across thousands of acres of our western plains and California valleys aren't dandelions. That's safflower, one of the newest important crops in the United States.

Ages ago, in ancient Egypt, safflower blossoms were crushed for dye. For centuries in India, the meal from the crushed seeds has been used as a cattle feed.

The thistle-like plant became important in recent years chiefly because of the industrial uses of the oil extracted from the seeds. Among other things, it keeps white paint whiter, and helps produce a superior varnish.

More recently, the discovery of safflower oil's qualities as a food item has added impetus to the old crop's boom. Of all the vegetable oils available for cooking, salads, and use in food products such as mayonnaise, margarine, and frozen desserts, safflower oil is richest in the polyunsaturated fats which are valuable in the control of serum cholesterol—the substance in the blood believed to contribute to heart ailments. Ten years ago there were just a few experimental plots of safflower in the country. Agronomist Carl Claassen began studying the plant in 1940 as a possible alternate crop for Nebraska's wheat farmers. However, there wasn't enough oil in the seeds to make it profitable.

Moving to California in 1950, Claassen teamed up with Pacific Vegetable Oil Corporation of San Francisco to push development of the crop. Through plant breeding and development, oil yield was increased. Meanwhile, PVO found new uses for the oil and the crop caught on.

This year over 300,000 acres of safflower were grown in the United States. Most of this acreage is concentrated in the Sacramento Valley of California and in the Western Great Plains, where the right combination of good soil and a dry growing season prevails.
