CLARKSTON, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1962

NUMBER 22

VILLAGE PRESIDENT INTERVIEWED ON COMMING ELECTION

Do you as Village President have a general statement to make regarding the election?

"As your Village President, I am concerned with several aspects of this election. First I am concerned with the fact that we are voting on one item 'Liquor by the glass in Clarkston', while in reality, several considerations will have to be made by each elector which will have very little to do with the serving of liquor. Secondly, the decision of the electorate will be one which effects this whole Clarkston Area and not just the Village alone with its 760 inhabitants and some 200 registered voters. I therefore, suggest that each voter consider the whole picture and not just Clarkston. In line with the same thinking, it is important that the decision be made by a substantial majority of the eligible Village electorate and not by the decision of the relatively few who ordinarily choose to vote. It is necessary that each and every eligible voter maintain that eligibility by registering and voting."

"What effect do you think the coming of Schulers would have on the merchants of Clarkston?"

"I think that the Clarkston Business area needs rejuvenation to compete with the modern shopping centers. It would appear that such an establishment as Schulers would be a step in that direction. Its effects should be twofold. Some of our merchants will benefit directly because of their type of merchandise, others will feel little effect. However, because of the type of trade, several new businesses might be stimulated and so spark our down town area."

"How do you feel the establishing of Schulers would effect the residents of the Village?"

"Certainly the establishment of a restaurant by Schulers would present problems to the immediate property owners. However the regulations of such a legitimate business is possible and such an establishment on the property would eliminate the several nuisances which have developed in the area under present conditions. These nuisances have resulted in many complaints to your Village Council and President. For those away from the immediate area, new problems will not exist, and the Village as a whole will benefit by the improvement of the tax structure."

"What is your feeling on the problem of waste disposal presented by the coming of Schulers?"

"On the question of waste disposal, whether the property used by Schuler or other properties developed, which need waste disposal, the following comments are pertinent. It is my belief that the Village of Clarkston, thru its General Fund will not furnish Schulers or any other business establishment full and free use of the down town waste disposal system. It should be known by the general public that the present disposal system is financed primarily by a special tax levy on the users of the system. While the unit has not been entirely self-supporting thru the 'Sewer Fund', steps have been taken to improve the financing in an attempt to make it entirely independent of the General Fund."

Cancer Society To Hold Open House

An open house has been planned by the local chapter of The Michigan Cancer Foundation for Wednesday, February 14, from 1:00 to 3:00 P.M. It will be held in the newly redecorated power house of the community center. Mrs. Herbert Beach and Mrs. Joseph Sarvis, who have worked with the local service group for a number of years will demonstrate the preparation of surgical dressings sewn by the volunteers. Also planned is an informative discussion by a representative from the Pontiac Unit about the services available through the foundation, and its needs and aims. After an informal question and answer period, light refreshments will be served.

A cordial invitation is extended to all who wish to know more about this agency and its constant fight against cancer.

Davisburg Civic Improvement Assn.

An area Civic Improvement Association has been organized in Davisburg. The association, which is non-profit and non-partisan, has been organized for the purpose of beautifying the town and furthering the economic development of the community.

Deemed necessary to the economic development and survival of Davisburg is at least a partial interchange at the Davisburg Road intersection of the new highway 1-75. It has been pointed out that the Oakland Road Commission's garage will be greatly inconvenienced without the interchange because they will have to service about twenty-five miles of 1-75. Servicing means sanding, mowing and et cetera.

As now contemplated they will have to use Tindall Road, an unpaved side road which has three blind curves, for several miles to reach the new highway. Davisburg Road would be a short, direct and economical access.

Unnecessary mileage, wasted man hours and wear and tear on equipment would thus be minimized.

This also applies to the fire department which is often called out in an emergency when gasoline is spilled in an accident, when a car catches afire or there is a need for a resuscitator.

THE BOOK NOOK

GREENWILLOW by B. J. Chute
"Long ago, centuries perhaps, the village of Greenwillow had been stood in the corner and forgotten."

With these words we are beckoned into a delightful place where people are gentle, happy, and uncluttered by the frustrating complexities which bedevil most of the characters of present-day novels. Greenwillow is like a cool, pure breeze coming unexpectedly to freshen a sultry day. This is a mouthwatering, heart-warming book. The touching simplicity of life in this village makes us yearn for a country world of delicious spicy aromas from the kitchen and fresh, natural fragrance from the meadow. A world where we can count on such certainties on Christmas Eve as the cow kneeling when the church bells toll at midnight, and the granting of wishes to those villagers whose candles flame stays lit during the annual "candle-walking" through the street to the church door.

Though their small world is in a sense enchanted, the characters in Greenwillow are very real, their frailties gently drawn with the delicate hand of humor. The most colorful is Grandma Briggs, the crafty, turnip-chewing old lady who is forgiven for telling lies because they are meant to do good. The village church is not singularly but doubly blessed with two pastors: the portly Reverend Birdsong, who appeared one day with an umbrella full of hawthorn blossoms, and the solemn Reverend Lapp, who saw "the worm in the blossom" and "the blight on the leaf" as inspiration for Sunday's sermon. The latter pious theologian is a fervent expounder of "a wide Hell and a stalking Devil", whereas the Reverend Birdsong preaches of a "heaven as available as a pocket handkerchief." To this plurality of clergy the flock has adapted with astonishingly little fuss by entering from either of two front doors of the church to hear two sermons each Sunday. "For comfort, one took Birdsong as one might take oil of cloves; for astringency there was Lapp, bitter on the tongue, but tonic for the system. Greenwillow attained an exceptional state of spiritual fortification."

Suspense and romance run through the story with the inevitability that young Gideon Briggs will heed his call to wander as did every first son of a first son in the Briggs family. Although he has fallen in love with Dorrie, creator of those gingerbread fancies and gooseberry tarts that delight both the youngsters and oldsters of Greenwillow, Gideon knows he must obey the call and resolves not to marry and leave a wife and children behind when he departs to alien worlds as did his father Amos. Gideon's heartache and the actual coming of the call are beautifully described by the author in the last pages of the book.

B. J. Chute's graceful, fresh style of writing is an important ingredient of this lovely novel as her humor and wisdom. It can be savored in silence or read aloud to captivate an audience of all ages. Having visited Greenwillow, you will surely want to invite your friends to follow you to this charming place—as I have done.

DAWLEY - BONNER VOWS FIRST TO BE SPOKEN IN NEW CHURCH

Mrs. Marie Bonner

On Saturday, January 20, at four o'clock in the afternoon, Sharon Marie Dawley and James S. Bonner spoke their marriage vows to the Reverend William J. Richards, in The First Methodist Church. This was the first wedding in the new church.

Assisting Mr. Bonner, as best man, was Trevor Danford of Traverse City and seating the guests were Donald Dawley, brother of the bride from Clarkston and Collin Bonner, brother of the bridegroom, from St Ignace. Immediately following the rites, a reception was held in the church parlors.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Dawley chose a light blue sheath of silk with lace inserts down the front. With this she wore a matching blue hat and accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations and roses. The bridegroom's stepmother wore a beige lace dress with rust colored accessories in a corsage of yellow carnations and roses.

The newlyweds are making their home at 6420 Bridge Lake Road, in Springfield Township. Mr. and Mrs. Bonner are both graduates of Clarkston High School. Out-of-town guests were from Albion, St. Ignace, Traverse City, Grand Rapids, Ypsilanti, Pontiac, Ortonville, Detroit, Davisburg, and Drayton Plains.

Ronda Lee Dawley, niece of the bride, from Davisburg, served as flower girl. She, too, was gowned in blue with matching accessories.

Delores DeNise of Pontiac, as bridesmaid, wore a ballerina dress of romance blue satin with matching blue accessories. She carried a nosegay of white carnations and roses.

Unnecessary mileage, wasted man hours and wear and tear on equipment would thus be minimized.

This also applies to the fire department which is often called out in an emergency when gasoline is spilled in an accident, when a car catches afire or there is a need for a resuscitator.

It is very easy to get into the habit of accepting all the blessings of life and never feeling any gratitude toward the God who bestows the blessings.

In the training of our children we know how difficult it is to instill in them this same spirit of being grateful for the things that we and others give to them. Over and over we find ourselves asking them: "Well, what do you say?" And at long last there comes a "Thank You." We keep on with this through the years because we know that these "thank yous" are one way to keep our children from taking things for granted.

It is only when our gratitude to God is reflected in the things we do that we develop within ourselves a full appreciation of this life which has been given to us. Christian worship, in its truest sense, is a reflection of our gratitude. Although there are many things that we can and should do in grateful thanks to God, worship is primary for it is a conscious acknowledgement of our debt.

The Episcopal Church in Clarkston invites you to join in its worship of Almighty God and to have a part in its Christian fellowship.

INTRODUCING OUR FACULTY

by Karen King and Gaye Lynn
 This week we are happy to introduce Mrs. Marilyn Hanson to the student body. Mrs. Hanson is our Freshman Michigan History teacher.
 She is a native of South Haven, Michigan where she was graduated from South Haven High School.
 Mrs. Hanson attended college at Western Michigan University and MacMurray College in Jacksonville, Illinois. She majored in physical education, and received B.S. and M.S. degrees.
 Mrs. Hanson has taught school for ten years; two and one half years were taught at Lake Orion, and eight years at Clarkston. She thinks Clarkston High School is fortunate in having an excellent group of students and good faculty-administration relationship.
 Her hobby is knitting. She is also a sponsor of the school Pep Club.

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS
 by Jacquie Leonard
 The Freshman Class officers for the 61-62 school year are: President, Connie Papi; Vice-President, Dave Coulter; Secretary, Rosemary Pedigo and Treasurer, Randy Armstrong.
 This week we are happy to write about President Connie Papi and Vice-President Dave Coulter.

We find President Connie active in many school organizations. Connie belongs to the Pep Club and is a freshman cheerleader. She's for school spirit all the way. Also, she is a member of GAA and works on the newspaper staff. Connie was chosen to honor her class as freshman maid for the homecoming event.
 Connie plans to acquire a career in teaching. Her favorite subjects are Algebra and English.
 Keep up the good work, Connie!

Dave Coulter (better known as "Yogi") was chosen by his classmates as Vice-President of the Freshman Class.
 "Yogi", like most boys, likes sports, a few of his favorites are baseball, basketball, and football. He is active in the Student Government.
 Gym and study hall rate first as classes on "Yogi's" list. His favorite academic subject is Vocational Guidance.
 "Yogi's" plans for the future are indefinite but he likes the idea of being a comedian.
 "Yogi" thinks our new high school is "A-OK".

WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO YOU? ? ?
 by Sue Munsee
 Russia is the main topic of all television and radio newscasts. We know that they are or may continue nuclear tests. What is your opinion on this matter? The following students were asked this question; here are their replies:
 George White: "I don't think these tests are good. They are doing more harm than good."
 Betty Mead: "I think nuclear tests could endanger the whole world, and should be stopped, no matter what Mr. K. says."
 Gerbert Green: "I don't like them. It makes the air unsanitary."
 Punky Golembeske: "I don't think they should continue tests. There is enough of this stuff floating around already."
 Dave Coulter: "I don't like it but if they continue I think they should do it underground like we do. I like 'little' bombs!"
 Sue Valentine: "I'm afraid of these tests. I don't think its any good for our country. The radiation may fall throughout the country, not only in the United States but in Russia as well."
 Garry Foraker: "I think they are crazy to start tests anyway. They are just trying to scare the United States, while they are afraid of us."
 Bob McCorrick: "It's a blast!"

ORAL REPORTS

by Jeanne Shoots
 Miss Bethune's English classes have been giving oral reports about authors. Miss Bethune told her students to tell when the author was born, and when he or she died. They also had to tell something about the author's life, and name some of his most important books. The reports could be two to four minutes long.
 Some of the reports in her second hour class told about Edgar Allen Poe, Louisa May Alcott, Mark Twain, and Anita Frazier.
 All the reports were interesting, and told some important information.

THE TWIST

by Kathy McCann
 The twist is making a real quick comeback.
 Here are what the students of Clarkston Junior High think about it.
 "It's all right for people who know how to do it, but I prefer the "Limbo Twist," explained Jill Olliffe.

 Morris Hyatt, "I think it's all right."
 Linda Presswood, "I think it's OK."
 Eva Hefferman, "I like it."
 Edith Jacobs, "It's tough."
 Linda Nolan, "It's a good way to get a lot of exercise."

 Betty Belcher, "I think it's really sharp."

WHAT'S THIS NEW CRAZE?

by Kathy McCann
 It's the twist. Everything has gone twist. Everybody suffers but they still do the twist.
 There is the new twist hair do. Which really doesn't look bad on some people.
 Have you seen the new twist necklace? There is a chain with a tassel made of chain. It's real cute. If you haven't seen it, take one look at some of the girls at the junior high and you'll see it. Almost every girl has one.
 There is a twist belt. It is a belt with the chain tassels on it. You see, I told you everything has gone twist.

What you should know about Early American furniture:

Early American (sometimes called Colonial) is a term applied rather loosely to all furniture types produced or used in the American colonies. Actually it embraces a wide range of designs including pieces home-crafted by frontiersmen as well as elegant styles imported from Europe at the time.

Through the years, the popularity of Early American furniture has been constant. In recent years there has been a surge of interest about the style. Furniture designers across America are translating the Early American motif into furniture that is fresh and stimulating.

The warm, informal nature of the style complements contemporary casual living and entertaining. Furniture stylists expect the trend toward Early American decor to continue for many years to come.
