Rotary Anns Plan Rummage Sale

The February meeting of the Clarkston Rotary Anns was held in the home of Mrs. Earl Terry on Tuesday evening of last week. Mrs. Frank Ronk and Mrs. Harold Goyette were co-hostesses.

At the business meeting plans for the Rummage Sale were discussed and the members were reminded to have all Rummage at the Community Center by Thursday, April 4, as the sale will open at 9:00 A.M. on Friday, April 5. The proceeds from the sale is used to send crippled children to summer camp. Last year the Rotary Anns were able to send 15 children to camp and this year they would like to send more.

Following the regular meeting the women enjoyed a hair styling demonstration and had fun trying on wigs that the stylist had brought along.

To close the evening dainty refreshments were served with Mrs. Charles Robinson presiding at the tea and coffee service.

Hear of FBI

The February meeting of the Clarkston Women's Club was held on Thursday, February 28, at 8:00 P.M. in the Community Center Building.

The highlight of the evening was an informative talk given by Mr. Palmer M. Baken, Jr., currently the Assistant Special Agent in Charge in the Detroit Division of the FBI. He began his talk by giving a brief history of the FBI under the direction of J. Edgar Hoover. There are nine departments in the FBI, and about 6000 special agents in the lands who work in conjunction with United States and many in foreign lands who work in conjunction with the resident enforcement officers.

The FBI departments are divided into field divisions and subsections. Special agents in charge of the FBI's field divisions are directly responsible to Mr. Hoover within their geographic areas. The number of agents assigned to certain divisions depends upon the population of that particular area and rate of crime.

Each agent handles as many as thirty-five cases at one time and may be called upon to completely abandon their daily working schedule to join in the search of a bank thief or other emergency case. Interstate laws make it possible for a special agent to continue his search in other states for his subject so that he may be turned to his own locality for prosecution.

The FBI has a vast fingerprint file and modern laboratory techniques at its disposal to identify missing and wanted persons.

Mr. Baken's talk was followed by a brief question and answer period. His interesting comments and highly amusing anecdotes made the evening a thoroughly enjoyable one.

Local Club Marks

Rotary Anniversary

Last Monday evening the Rotary Club of Clarkston celebrated the 58th anniversary of the founding of Rotary in Chicago, Illinois, on February 23, 1905. The local club's plans for marking the milestone include the organizing of an Interact Club for the purpose of acquainting Junior Citizens with Rotary.

Jess Berg, president of the Rotary Club of Clarkston, in announcing the anniversary meeting, said, "The celebration of this occasion is global in scope, for there are more than 11,400 Rotary clubs and 520,000 Rotarians in 128 countries. That means that Rotary meetings marking this occasion will be held in many languages."

The Rotary Club of Clarkston, organized in 1940, has 49 members, all business and professional men of this community. They represent a cross-section of the city's business life since the membership of a Rotary club is composed of one representative from each business or professional activity of a community. This principle of membership had its beginning in the first Rotary club and has continued through the decades as a cornerstone of Rotary.

As its 58th year begins, Rotary is growing at the rate of one club a day. During 1962, four new countries were added to the roster of nations in which Rotary clubs exist: Bahamas, Zanzibar, Haiti, and New Caledonia.

Rotary's worldwide for 1962-63, Nitish C. Laharry, of Calcutta, India, has focused the attention of Rotarians everywhere on "fully releasing the latent power within each of us to be of service to others."

Cookies Anyone ? ?

Clarkston will surge with eager Girl Scouts this week and next as the girls take orders for their annual Girl Scout cookie sale. Brownie Intermediate, Senior and adult Girl Scouts will be taking orders from March 8 through March 17, with delivery between April 5 through April 15.

Prospective customers will be able to order five kinds of cookies: mint, peanut butter patties, shortbread, chocolate and vanilla sandwich cremes; and a new peanut butter sandwich cookie.

Cookies will sell at fifty cents a box.

Mrs. Carlyle Bragen, cookie chairman for Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council, hopes that cookie sales will go over the top this year. The goal for North district, of which Clarkston is a part is 38,400 boxes. Mrs. Harry W. Chapman, district chairman for North district, says this will be met if each Scout doubles her cookie sales from last year.

The cookie sale helps to provide a quality program for all Girl Scouts in Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council. Each troop keeps five cents a box for their troop treasury. The balance of the profit finds its way back to the girls through training of leaders, program aids and resources for troops, maintenance of Camp Sherwood, camping equipment, and the financing of camperships for Girl Scouts who might not otherwise have a camping experience.

Some of the profit will be used to send Senior girls to the next Senior Roundup. Eight Seniors from the Council attended the Senior Roundup in Button Bay, Vermont, last summer with the help of cookie income.

Another Day . . .

Maria Truax slid the load of household goods off her shoulders, and wearily sat down on a nearby log. It had been a long walk down the Saginaw Trail from Pontiac and the young girl with her father and brother were exhausted. Maria looked around at the thickly wooded piece of ground that was to be their new home. Right at that moment it showed little promise of the fertile farm it was to become. In the pocket of Isaac Truax, her father was the deed for the 80 acres in Brandon Township, a deed that had been signed by President Andrew Jackson under the Homestead Act.

It had been decided, back home in Mohawk, New York, that Maria would come west with her father and brother, Isaac C. that fall of 1835, and keep house for them while preparations were made to bring out the rest of the family. Like most of the settlers traveling from the eastern states to Michigan, they had come down the Erie Canal to Buffalo and crossed by lake steamer to Detroit. The stage had brought them to Pontiac, and from there the three walked to Brandon Township, carrying as many supplies as possible - on their backs.

And the first housekeeping Maria had done was in a shanty, almost a cave, built into the side of a hill and covered with elm bark for a sort of crude insulation. Since they hadn't arrived until October, it took steady hard drudgery to have the shelter completed before severe weather set in. Of sturdy Huguenot stock, none of them were strangers to work but that winter took all of their skill and effort to survive. Isaac, the father, had been a famous game hunter in the east, and the deer he shot down provided not only meat but hides for their coats, mittens and shoes.

The following spring, Maria's mother came west, bringing the remainder for the family in a covered wagon. There was no shortage of game or fish for food, and they soon had enough land cleared for a few crops but like so many pioneer families, there was an acute shortage of cash. This was a worry to Isaac, as there were taxes to pay and livestock to buy. Then the family had a stroke of luck.

There was a bounty paid for every wolf killed and brought into the County supervisors office, and the early settlers vigorously hunted and trapped them. In checking their traps one day, the Truax' discovered a live wolf. Within several days, (3rd in series) - The Crowd's Method: Conformity." And the family thriftily collected a bounty on everyone of them.

Maria frequently made the trip into Pontiac for supplies and whatever necessities the family had need of, and until they owned a horse and buggy, she made her way on foot, returning with the bundles slung on her back. One day she was late coming home, and as it began to grow dark, her family was quite worried. There were still marauding Indians around, and frequently wolves and bears were seen on the Saginaw trail. Finally Isaac F., her brother, started out in search of her. Some distance from the farm, he found his sister sitting in a rocking chair - and contentedly smoking her little clay pipe! In her shooing tour of Pontiac, Maria had come upon a rocking chair that caught her fancy. Giving no further thought to any of the rest of her purchases, she had bought the chair and started for home. Not only was it an awkward thing to carry but it proved to be heavy and she had to make frequent stops. But she stopped in comfort and rocked while she rested. Later, after Maria was married and had moved about 10 miles from her parents farm, she frequently visited home - on foot. Maria would have been in style today - and probably wouldn't have had any trouble fit-

The Dual-personality

The dilemma of the familiar pattern of reacting in terms of different roles at different times is a favorite theme in literature. The normal person possessing the double personality is aware of a conflict and may decide the same question very differently, but according to his dominant role at the time when the decision is necessary. Too, his handwriting will vary in accordance with the role in effect at that time.

- ① this is a sample of my handwriting
- ② this is a sample of my hand writing

In the two samplings of Miss Stroh's handwriting we find widely different characteristics. In her first specimen, she is the calm, cool, collected individual making decisions only after deliberating, weighing and building facts. The decision then, should it involve her, would favor her because here she is self-centered, in spite of the generosity shown. She feels experience deeply and they have a lasting impression on her.

In the second specimen quite the opposite is true. What happens today will not greatly influence her feelings to-morrow. She is impulsive and temperamental and capable of making a snap judgement. Here too, she shows she has been hurt deeply enough by people that she would just as soon be alone.

Irritability shows in both specimens except that in the first there is a conscious effort toward self-control whereas in the second the trait is accompanied by sarcasm.

An independent spirit is shown in both—so is clannishness, a desire to pair off with a few friends especially acceptable to her.

The first sample shows Miss Stroh to be direct, simple and outspoken. In the second she is grasping for recognition but always with dignity.

To be her friend would be like having two friends.

Constitution Meeting Wednesday

There has been a great deal of discussion concerning the advisability of adopting the new constitution drawn up by the recent Constitutional Convention. As the question will be on the ballot April 1st, everyone is urged to become as well-informed on the matter as possible before then.

Special literature has been placed in local stores and the library in Ortonville has books and pamphlets presenting both sides of the question.

And on Wednesday, March 13th at 8:00 there will be a special meeting in the cafeteria to which everyone is invited to bring any questions which they would like answered about the new constitution. Mr. Richard Kuhn of Pontiac, convention delegate, will be the principal speaker. Mrs. Maurine Scramlin will be the program chairman.

Births

Elsner

Kimberly Ann Elsner, 6lb. 3 oz., was born February 17th at St. Joseph Hospital, Pontiac. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Max Elsner. Mr. and Mrs. Larry Follis of Ortonville are the pleased grandparents.

Piper

A 7 lb. son, Rhay Anthony, was born February 15th to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Piper (the former Verna Belle Bernor) at Barbour's Point, Hawaii. The Pipers also have a daughter, Verna Belle III, who was born January 24, 1962.

The Grapevine . . .

We're obliged to Alex Solley for calling to say he missed the Grapevine last week. We're even smug enough to believe that he may have been sincere since we live in Groveland Township and can't vote for him anyway!

In case you have wondered how the 153-vote tie for Groveland Township Republican Board of Review was resolved—candidate Dee Ferguson explained that he withdrew because he could not work harmoniously with Mr. Rhinevult who won the Republican nomination for supervisor.

Approximately forty friends called on the Leary Woods last Friday night to properly "warm" their new home on Ridge Drive. A lovely painting entitled "Grace" was presented to the Woods. Co-hostesses for the party were Mrs. Harvey Fletcher and Mrs. George Sutton.

We heard that Mike (call him "Chester") Bartle has been attempting to go to school wearing a case from hip to ankle. We can picture him hippy-hopping down the halls but can't visualize him sitting in those school desk-seats into which we can't fit even without a cast.

Happy Birthday! March 2nd to Allen Bess and March 7th to Bradley Brooks. Mary Ann Giroux looked hard for her birthday but couldn't find the 29th of February anywhere this year. Friends and relatives helped her celebrate her 11th anniversary on March 2nd.

Lon Grovsteen, aboard the submarine USS Thomas Jefferson, was sent from Newport News, Virginia to Cape Canaveral Florida.

Bob Davis (formerly of Groveland Township) brought his Boy Scout Troop from Rochester for a tobogganing party on the hills behind the Giroux's home on Jossman Road. Hot Dogs and hot chocolate were served.

The annual Lenten Luncheon of the Mt. Bethel W.S.C.S. will be served at the church at twelve o'clock on March 14. Mrs. Ellison Austin is in charge of the program. Special guests from the Elmwood Methodist Church of Pontiac will be present.

Last Sunday afternoon there was a special meeting at the 4-H Fairgrounds for 4-H Leaders, parents and the children who will be exchange visitors to Maine this summer to discuss plans for the trip.

Last Saturday night the Ortonville Masons cooked and served their 35th Annual Stag Turkey Dinner. This year, for the first time guests were invited. Mr. Ben Westerby, enter-

Model UN Assembly

Formulating their strategy for effective representation of the Model United Nations Assembly confronting the 17th General Assembly of the United Nations in New York.

The assemblage will include eighty-three schools representing 103 UN countries. Each school group is assigned four committees which will meet separately to discuss their topics before the General Assembly.

Brandon students representing the Netherlands have been assigned to the following committees:

I. Political and Security Committee which will discuss nuclear testing and the proper representation of China. Working on this committee will be Phil Pipe and Joyce Smith.

II. The Economical and Financial Committee representatives, Carmen Miller and Barry Young will discuss the United Nations Development Decade, United Nations Conference on Trade and Development and the Economic Consequences of Disarmament.

III. Administrative and Budgetary. Will work out the geographical distribution of the staff at the UN and the obligations of members with regard to financing the UN emergency forces in the Congo.

IV. Special Conference Committee. The J.V.s who likewise lost to Marilyn Paishan, Peggy Whipple and Diane Mansfield, will settle the status of women. Equal pay for equal work, the access of females to elementary education and inheritance laws as they affect the status of women.

Carmen Miller has been chosen to speak for Brandon at the General Assembly.

As a respite from the brainwork required to solve all these weighty problems, there will be a banquet Friday night with Mrs. Edith Sampson, who has served as alternate United States representative to the General Assembly of UN, as speaker. After the banquet there will be planned recreation, swimming, basketball, other games, and dancing.

UNSUNG HEROES

While the Brandon High School varsity basketball team has been vacillating between wins and losses, the unpublicized faculty team has forged steadily ahead racking up a record of ten won and only one lost.

The Brandon faculty players (Mr. Johnson, Mr. Libby, Mr. Tallman, Mr. Ritzema, Mr. Fletcher, Mr. Baker, Mr. Mousseau, Mr. Harvey and Mr. Rivette) compete in an informal league of teams from Ortonville, Clarkston, Oxford and Holly.

Clarkston and Brandon are now tied, both having won all of their games against Oxford and Holly and each having lost one to the other. The final game scheduled this week with Clarkston will determine the champion.

Michigan Milk Producers Meet

The dwindling membership of the Ortonville Local of the Michigan Milk Producers gathered at the Brandon Grange Hall last Thursday for their annual dinner and meeting. The organization which once numbered over two hundred members in the local area mustered only about sixty for this year's meeting. There was some discussion about merging with the Oxford local and a motion was made for the officers and Board members to arrange a meeting with the Oxford people to discuss the merger.

Special guests at the meeting were Reverend Kyle Elliott of the Ortonville Methodist Church, who gave the invocation; Mr. Theodore Larson, vice-president of the National Dairy Council; Mr. Stuart Braid sales committee; Mr. Andrew Jackson, president, American Dairy Association of Michigan and Mr. Jim Hutchinson, field representative or the ADA.

Though there are now 25% fewer milk producers, they produce 10% more milk. This fact, plus the growing competition from artificial dairy products has forced the producer to become his own salesman. The manner in which the sales problem is being met was excellently demonstrated by a movie, "Your Voice in the Market Place", which was shown by Mr. Jim Hutchinson. After the movie Mr. Hutchinson explained how concentrated point-of-sale advertising has increased sales of butter, sour cream and half and half. The basic advertising program for 1963 will be billboards and radio. Each of the four national networks is scheduled to carry 5 minute programs every weekday for six months. The ADA is optimistic about prospects for dairy product sales in 1963.

Of interest to farmers was an announcement of the disaster insurance now offered to members by the Michigan Milk Producers Association. In the event that a farmer lost his income because his barn and cattle were destroyed, the MMPA insurance would pay him 75% of normal production for ninety days following the disaster.

Mr. Stuart Braid, sales committee man, reported that three state meetings were held to negotiate with the dealers at Lansing. After much discussion, the prices of $1.90 for eight months and $1.65 for four months was arrived at. This was the premium over the federal order. It was reported that outstate milk was causing a loss in Class I sales. This was mainly from Toledo milk coming into the Ann Arbor area.

$300,000 to $400,000, according to Mr. Jackson, has been spent in Michigan improving facilities for handling the manufacturing of milk so that the increase in supply expected this year will not create the situation that last year necessitated the dumping of excess milk into gravel pits and upon ground to be plowed under.

Mr. Theodore Larson, the featured speaker, discussed the proposed Class I base program. Mr. Larson did an excellent job of explaining the history of the present market structure. New bases are up about 12% over a year ago according to Market Administration. During the question and answer period following Mr. Larson's speech, a lively discussion developed as to the pros and cons of the new proposal. Though Mr. Larson explained that under the proposed program producers would benefit by an increase in the sale of Class I milk, many present felt that the program would encourage the development of large herds and tend to eliminate the little man.

The proposed Class I program would limit the amount of producers by freezing the number of Bases.

Fred Hauer is grateful to those who supported him in the primary election and will do his best to merit their continued backing.

Twenty members of the Brandon Democratic Party were among approximately 750 people who attended Senator Hart's dinner at the C.I.A. Building in Waterford.

The Mt. Bethel Extension Club met last week at Mrs. Myron Burt's on Dixie Highway. Mrs. Rose and Mrs. Austin were the two leaders who gave the lesson on knowing the kinds of wood in furniture and the selection and care of fine furniture. Luncheon was served.

The Mary Narrin Circle of the Methodist Church met Tuesday night at Mrs. Howard Grovsteen's. Martina Kier chose the topic "History of Ash Wednesday" for her program. Refreshments were served.

Sally Holt of Ridge Road. Goodrich underwent surgery at Hurley Hospital to repair nerve damage to her leg injured in an automobile accident. Since the accident, both of her arms have been in a cast.

Jayettes To Receive Charter

On Saturday, March 9th, the Ortonville Jayettes will receive their charter and gavel from Mrs. Beth Clary, State President, making them officially affiliated with the Michigan Jaycee Auxiliary.

Guest speaker to the Jayettes and their husbands will be District Vice-president, Nancy Pellet, whose topic will be the "Jaycee Auxiliary Creed".

Officers who will be installed by Mrs. Pat Hillman, extension chairman from Davisburg Auxiliary, are: President, Mary Jean Faust; Vice-president, Susan Ware; Secretary, Kay Williams; Treasurer, Viola Bed; Directors Betty Pudwill and Susan Campbell.

The Ortonville Jayettes held their first meeting in August, 1962 with eight charter members. Since then, four new members have brought the total membership to twelve.

The purpose of the Jayettes is to assist the Jaycees in community service and particularly in youth activities.

College Band at Brandon

These three buglers will be featured when the Hope College Band appears Saturday, March 9th at 7:30 P.M. at the Brandon High School Auditorium. Left to right are: Palmer Veen of Hamilton, Michigan; Douglas Hartgerink of Holland; and Thomas Steffens, also of Holland. The following program has been announced for the concert: "The Royal Fireworks Music" of Handel (Overture, Bourée, LaPaix, Minuet, Allegro). "Canzone for Band" by Frank Smith. "Minuet and Dance of the Blessed Spirits" by Gluck-Delaney. "Five Miniatures" (Dawn, The Sleeping Village, Promenade, The Approaching Soldiers, Fiesta) by Joaquin Turina. "Bugler's Holiday" by Leroy Anderson. "West Side Selection" by Leonard Bernstein. There will be two marches from Revolutionary America: "Washington's Grand March" (1784) and "Washington's Quick Step" (1790). Other marches will be "Father of Victory" by Louis Ganne and "The Stars and Stripes Forever" by Sousa.

BLOOMFIELD'S W-O CHAMPS WOLVES FALL 60-66

West Bloomfield and Bloomfield Hills will share the league honors for the second time this year. Both schools came up with a perfect football season and then played to a tie. Last Friday the Barons and the Lakers came out on top to give them identical records and a share of the W-O County League Championship.

Clarenceville playing its best game of the season opened up with a eight point lead mid-way through the first quarter. At the intermission the Wolves were down by only one point.

Clarkston out-scored the Trojans in the third quarter 26 to 11 with the help of Dan Craven's 10 points. The final quarter worked just in reverse for the Wolves with the Trojans picking up 26 points, as the Wolves were held to 8. Dan Craven lead the scoring with 18.
