CLARKSTON'S JR. MISS SECOND RUNNER-UP

The Traverse City Junior Miss, Linda Wigman was crowned Michigan's Junior Miss Saturday evening at the Pontiac Northern High School. The crowning climax was a half day of rehearsals, luncheons, and judging of twenty-four girls from all over the state of Michigan. The pageant was sponsored by the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce in co-operation with the Coca-Cola Company, the Eastman Kodak Company, and Bobbie Brooks, Inc. All the girls in the pageant were sponsored by their local Jaycees.

"BOBBINS" FROM BOB

A special "thanks" goes out to the Clarkston Area Junior Chamber of Commerce for the certificate of appreciation presented to The Clarkston News during the annual Bosses' Night Banquet held last Wednesday evening. Unfortunately, press problems prevented me from being present as planned, and I was unable to accept the award personally.

Although, at times, I've not agreed with the local J.C.'s, they have received good publicity in this paper for their many worthwhile projects which have been beneficial to the community.

This group of "Young Men of Action" which has grown to a membership of 70 in less than two years, has sponsored such activities as: 1 - Providing a trailer with registration facilities, thus greatly increasing the number of votes during the last Township election; 2 - Annual Chicken Barbecue; 3 - Assister the Clarkston Businessmen's Association during the annual Village Days; 4 - Gave prizes at Halloween to children and teenagers who were home when called by a J.C.; 5 - Marking of swimming area on Deer Lake, (there is much more work to be done there) and installation of emergency phone on the beach; 6 - Toy Box, which provided toys for needy children at Christmas time; 7 - Annual Junior Miss Pageant; 8 - Seat Belt Clinic; 9 - Christmas decoration contest (which needs improvement on judging); 10 - Their refreshment wagon has been seen during several special events in the Clarkston Area; 11 - Bosses' Night which honors an outstanding boss and also the outstanding young man of the year. I'm sure some of the projects haven't been mentioned, but these stand out in my mind.

Sound like an interesting organization? Men between the ages of 21 and 35 are urged to join this busy organization and may do so by calling Ralph Chambers, membership chairman.

To the Jaycees of the Clarkston Area the highlight of the evening was the awarding of second runner-up to a lovely young lady from the Clarkston area, Clarkston's Junior Miss, Nancy Stanquits. Nancy's proud parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stanquits of Holcomb Street. Nancy's outstanding poise, appearance, scholastic achievement, and personality earned her a $250.00 scholarship and other gifts. For her talent she presented a group of fashions that she designed and made for a dream trip to Europe.

Pontiac Area judged the pageant. The judges were Durward B. Varner, Chancellor of Oakland University, Rochester; Marion E. Goodale, Headmistress of Kingswood School, Cranbrook; Earnest A. Jones, President of MacManus, John & Adams, Inc.; Ramona V. Dahiborg, Faculty member of the Interlochen Arts Academy and member of the famous Interlochen Arts Quintet; and Robert W. Irwin, Detroit Bureau Manager of United Press International.

Michigan's new Junior Miss was crowned by last year's Junior Miss, Diane Girard of Lincoln Park. She will now take the state crown to Mobile, Alabama in March to compete with girls from fifty other states for the crown of America's Junior Miss.

To those from Clarkston in the audience that night it was a great thrill and pleasure to see this outstanding young lady, Nancy Stanquits receive recognition for her outstanding accomplishments. To Nancy it was a weekend packed with memories that she will treasure for many years to come.

Big Lake Beavers Hold Meeting

The January meeting of the Big Lake Beavers was held at the home of Mrs. Nicholas Laradis. Seven members were present.

A lovely luncheon was served after the business meeting. Mrs. Sid Maynard and Mrs. Robert Reeves served.

National Honor Society Accepts Local Students

On January 15, nine new members were inducted into the Henry Ford Chapter of the National Honor Society from the senior class of Clarkston Senior High School.

To qualify for membership in the National Honor Society, a student must have obtained a 3.5 (B) average as a junior or a 3.0 (B) average as a senior. Students who qualify are then judged on the basis of service to their school, leadership and character.

After speeches by the six members who were inducted as juniors - Mike Howe, Cathy DeLorge, Jon Gary, Ron Fusilier, Carolyn Masters and Eric Lausten - the names of the new members were announced.

They are: Cheryl Cinader, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Cinader of 6848 Snow Apple Drive; Dan Craven, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Craven of 6666 Wealthy; David Dengate, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dengate of 9669 Hadley Road; Judy Leach daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Leach of 9431 Whipple Shores Drive; Calvin Morgan son of the Clark Morgans, 7785 Allen Road; Linda Reed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Reed of 6994 Dvorak; Nancy Stanquits daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stanquits 7660 Allen Road; Joan Smith daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Smith of 6159 Eastlawn and Carol Thompson daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thompson 6140 Waldon Road.

These students certainly deserve recognition and congratulations for receiving the highest honor that a high school student can receive. Clarkston Senior High is proud of them.

Anyone who is interested in reading for a part should call 625-2075 or come to the reading session at 6255 Maybee Road 7:30 tonight.

Vince Luzi, recently elected president of the Players, has announced that Pat Bridenbaugh and Marie Luzi will direct Bus Stop. Donna Fahrner will manage production. Rehearsals are scheduled to begin February 20 in the Players' workshop, the old Clarkston Depot.

Bus Stop is a popular play and movie about a group of bus passengers who are marooned by a snow storm in a small town restaurant. The relationships which develop among these seven people provide the humor and pathos of the play.

The Holly Bronco's were higher than a kite for this special basketball game against the Wolves, and the results paid off with the victory over Clarkston. Holly - always plays best against Clarkston, whether it be basketball or football. (Holly dumped Clarkston 7-6 for the only loss during the football season, and as coach Ralph Kenyon was quoted, "a most bitter disappointment.") Coach Dom Mauti can repeat the same statement.

Holly had a very special reason for playing their hearts out for the big game against Clarkston. Their fine coach Bob Pence was released from his job as a coach two days before the Clarkston game. Bob Pence will be all through coaching basketball when the season comes to an end. So the Holly players had added incentive to out hustle, out shoot and out scrap the Wolves from Clarkston. It resulted in a fine victory in tribute to coach Bob Pence.

There are many words that Webster could use in describing Ken Miskin's play against Holly - we will stop at just Great. He led the team in rebounding, defensive play, hustle; and last but not least for scoring in the Holly gym, and tied a Clarkston record of 38 points with LeRoy Parks, Clarkston's great guard of 1959-60.

There are some fine ball players in the county, after last Friday's performance, Ken Miskin's name belongs near the top of the list. It must be said, the 1000 people who witnessed the game received their money's worth by watching this boy perform. Miskin took 38 shots and hit on 19 for a percentage of 50. If Ken would have shot more often, Overloading a car can drastically change road performance, the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies warns. Acceleration is slowed, braking distance and effort — especially without power brakes — is increased and "cornering" characteristics are altered. Then too, a crowded front seat often makes it impossible for a driver to react quickly to changing traffic conditions.

The Association recognizes that most drivers will, at some time, operate a crowded car — as members of a car pool, on a rainy evening after a meeting, or just taking youngsters home from a birthday party. Under such conditions, drivers must exercise special care.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

Last week I submitted a special message to the Legislature on social welfare, believing that the subject was so important that it required detailed treatment.

The recommendations were designed to accomplish three things:

1. To enable us to participate in some national programs which will help solve state and local problems in helping people.
2. Support state action to fulfill past legal and moral commitments in strengthening existing state services.
3. Release some local funds, now used for welfare, to meet other needs.

It is a paradox that in the midst of an affluent society and a booming state economy, the impoverished, the helpless and the jobless are visible all around us.

One thing has become clear — Michigan is paying twice for many of its welfare programs. We contribute far more tax dollars to the national government than does the average state. On the other hand, we receive far less than the average state in federal grants-in-aid available for these same programs.

Last year, the Legislature recognized the problems of the family and the local community where there is an able-bodied but unemployed wage earner. Our efforts were blocked by reversal of the federal approval given other states and promised Michigan.

Last week, I asked the Legislature to amend the Aid to Dependent Children program to include children deprived of parental support because of unemployment.

The definition I recommended meets the test of good legislation when related to the economic and social needs for which it is designed.

Part of the message was devoted to the problems of senior citizens who need and receive care in nursing homes.

The maximum state participation in the cost of this care has been the same $90 per month since 1956. But in the interim, costs have risen to an average of $200 per month.

To alleviate the situation, I recommended a statutory change in the maximum grant for recipients of old age assistance in nursing homes. The state grant should be raised from $90 per month to $150 per month. This will save $2,026,000 in local funds at a cost of $83,000 in state funds.

Other recommendations which I made in the social welfare message include:

1. Liberalization of eligibility requirements for participation in the Kerr-Mills program, providing hospital medical care and some other services to senior citizens. The effect would be to increase the potentially eligible group by 11,000 senior citizens.
2. Removing restrictions in the Aid to the Disabled Program to relieve local governments of an estimated $838,000 expenditure without cost to the State.
3. Strengthening the Aid to the Blind Program by providing more employment in stands operated by the blind and increasing funds for rehabilitation.
4. Improving the administration of local welfare programs by eliminating duplication where it exists.

If my recommendations are followed, Michigan will be taking important steps to solve the critical problems of the unemployed, the elderly, the disabled, the blind and the poor.

★ Know Your Michigan Law ★ Night Patrols are on Expressways

By Attorney General Frank J. Kelley (This is a public service article explaining in general terms a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult a private attorney.)

The words "special assessment" are little known or understood, but they are important to the average citizen and his pocketbook. Different units of government have the power to levy a special assessment against a particular piece of real estate. This power is usually used by local governments to finance the construction or improvement of roads, sewers, water systems, sidewalks and the like. A particular group of property or lots in an area may be charged with the cost of the improvement on the grounds that this particular area receives a special benefit or convenience greater than that of the general public in the community as a whole.

But in order for the local government to accomplish this special assessment, certain steps, including one or two public hearings, are taken. The first hearing, if held under local procedures, is known as the "necessity hearing" and is held after adequate legal notice is given. Notice of the time, place and purpose of this hearing is published in a local paper and in addition, mailed to each property owner and party in interest affected by the special assessment. The local tax assessment rolls are used as a mailing guide, so it is important that each property owner take steps to see that his name, address and property subject to tax are correctly set forth on the rolls. Thus, each piece of property in the special assessment district may be represented at the hearing. At or prior to the necessity hearing, an interested party can challenge the necessity of the project, the inclusion of his property in the special assessment district, the cost estimates and other related matters.

If the governing body decides to proceed after the hearing, a special assessment roll is prepared. This roll will carry each property in the special assessment district and the tax assessment against each property, which assessment must be figured on the basis of particular or special benefits to be enjoyed by that property. Thus, one might properly be charged with part of the cost of a roadway or sewer that services his property. On the other hand, a home owner could justifiably object to an assessment for heavy duty paving on his street which was to permit the re-routing of truck traffic through his residential neighborhood.

The second hearing is held on the assessments themselves and follows the giving of legal notice as in the first instance. At this time the existence of special benefits and the amount of the assessment are open to the scrutiny of all interested parties. Thus, a special assessment project has had to stand two tests: a test as to public necessity of the project and a test as to the amount chargeable according to special benefits to a particular piece of property.

Fifty Michigan State Police troopers assigned to 25 units are now operating special nine-hour night expressway patrols covering approximately 1,000 miles of the state's interstate freeways and other limited access highways, according to Commissioner Joseph A. Childs.

The night patrols, operating from 9 p.m. to 6 a.m., are under East Lansing headquarters supervision similar to the around-the-clock coverage initiated by the department in July, 1962, and discontinued last July as a result of a cutback in the State Police work week to 48 hours following a Civil Service Commission ruling on hours and overtime. Resumption of the patrols was made possible with the recent elimination of the troopers.

Childs pointed out that other State Police patrols as part of routine activity patrol as on the post, also out on these highways during the other hours of the day but not as special expressway patrols.

Already appearing in the expressway patrol are State Police patrol units which patrol the nearest post and on the highway. In trouble, "Bull" heads up the address system speaker and the fund returns of the two plans so that a pilot observation car pulled up at the side of the road but not showing a distress signal can ask the driver to raise the hood of his car if in need of help. In other instances when it is already observed that assistance is needed the driver will be informed that it is on the way. Other requests for help for drivers in distress are relayed to State Police posts by state employees traveling the freeways and expressways, as suggested by Governor George Romney, in addition to calls made by other motorists who have noted drivers in trouble.

The nighttime patrols cover I-94 from Detroit to New Buffalo and from Metropolitan park in Macomb county to Marysville; I-96 from Detroit to Muskegon; US-23 from the Ohio line to I-75 at Flint; US-131 from Grand Rapids to Kalamazoo; US-10 from Bay City to Clare; I-75 from the Ohio line to the Straits and US-27 from Ithaca to south of Grayling where it joins I-75.

Guest Editorial

(Reprinted from the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, February, 1964). TO MY MIND, COMMERCIAL JINGLES, station breaks, and panning television cameras are incongruous with the dignity and solemnity of courtroom procedures.

Most Americans agree with the honored concept that no one is free "to obstruct or to contaminate the pure stream of justice." It is a remarkable tribute to our society that, in exercising the many freedoms we enjoy, the people have never lost sight of the need for a counterbalance of rights - the assurance that the practice of one right shall not infringe upon nor invade another.

The administration of justice is one of the more basic constitutional guarantees. It must be allowed to proceed without obstruction from any source. Yet, an integral part of our way of life is the public's right to know. The obligation and privilege of keeping the public fully and promptly informed fall to the practitioners of another of our most cherished constitutional freedoms - freedom of the press.

The framers of the Bill of Rights saw freedom of the press as a necessary prerequisite to effective democratic action. The true worth of this priceless safeguard has been proved time and again. Democracy, as we know it, could not exist without it. Lives of Americans, generation after generation, have been the richer for it.

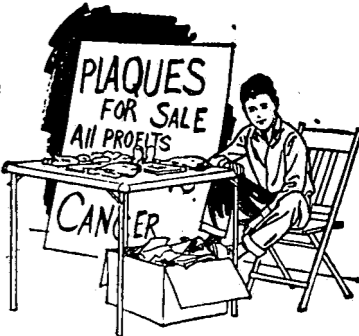

Even so, freedom of the press in its broadest and most liberal interpretation is not unlimited and unrestrained right. From the beginning, responsible journalists, while acclaiming and enjoying press privileges, have always recognized their obligations to other free institutions.

A free nation is a progressive nation. Over the years, progress in news reporting has kept pace with the rapid advance of our society. Now, through the medium of television the public's right to be informed may be accomplished "live and on the spot." This achievement, while greatly enhancing and widening the scope of press coverage, has created some new and provocative problems, particularly within the realm of our judicial processes. Some televised accounts of courtroom trials and other incidents bearing on individual rights raise the question of just where public right stops and public curiosity commences.

In the interest of fair judicial procedure, advocates of courtroom television may want to refer again to the ethical canons of both journalism and law. Otherwise, where the administration of justice is concerned it may be necessary to revise the popular Broadway slogan, "There's No Business Like Show Business."

Cancer fighters/12 to 84

Henry Karp, 12, raises money for the ACS because a favorite uncle died of cancer. He makes and sells plaster plaques of ships, eagles, Indians and horses. Last year he raised $126 for the Crusade.

Mrs. Emma Dick, 84, one of the Society's 2,000,000 volunteers, prepares dressings for cancer patients. ACS distributed 22,000,000 dressings to 61,000 patients in 1962.

Carbon Monoxide Takes 38 Lives

Carbon monoxide has been responsible for at least thirty-eight deaths in Michigan so far this winter, according to State Health Commissioner Dr. Albert E. Heustis, who repeated a warning to the public to be alert to the danger of the odorless gas. Although eleven of the deaths have been suicides, and four have been murders, the twenty-three accidental deaths could have been prevented had the persons involved been aware of the lethal gas, Dr. Heustis said.

The health department depends on newspaper clippings for data on carbon monoxide incidents, since it is not a reportable cause of death such as communicable disease. As a result, only those cases of carbon monoxide poisoning which are reported in newspapers are brought to the attention of the commissioner. The actual number may run much higher. According to accounts received, automobile exhaust has been responsible for ten of the accidental deaths in fifteen incidents involving a total of twenty-five persons. Faulty heating systems have been responsible for eleven deaths - including an entire family of four - in eleven separate incidents involving a total of forty-two persons.

The other known carbon monoxide deaths resulted when an indigent couple built a fire in a pail for warmth in their unheated tenement, and a trucker was overcome by carbon monoxide from a charcoal heater used to keep his load of fruits and vegetables from freezing. The commissioner noted one encouraging aspect from the grim newspaper clippings - the relatively low number of incidents involving couples sitting in parked cars with the motor running, a practice which he has specifically warned against in the past. So far this winter, there have been only five such incidents. In three cases, the couples survived because they were found in time. Two of the couples died.

"I certainly hope that the decreased number of deaths among young people who do their courting in automobiles is due to increased awareness about the danger of carbon monoxide," Dr. Heustis said. Last year at this time, eight young lovers had been found dead in their automobiles.

KAY'S KITCHEN KAPERS

By Kay Lewis
Here's an easy to make french dressing that your mentolks will go for. It's quite thick and very tangy.
Cottage Cheese French Dressing
1 1/4 cup cottage cheese
1/4 cup sugar
Mix
Add salt and 1 tsp. paprika
Slowly blend 3/4 cup salad oil.
Add 1/4 cup catsup
1/3 cup vinegar
1 tbs. water
1 tbs. worcester sauce
dash of tabasco
1/2 small onion grated
1 clove garlic crushed

This is ideal weather for a perfect brown stew. Bubbling silky smooth gravy, tender unbroken cubes of meat and the delectable aroma functioning as a dinner bell in every corner of the house.
Perfect Beef Stew
2 lbs. stew meat 1/2 inch cubes. Use a heavy kettle and take your time. Brown gently but thoroughly on all sides. All brown? Don't shock this nicely browned meat. Add 4 cups boiling water. Lower heat, add 1 tbs. lemon juice (vinegar if you out).
Now the seasonings -
1 tbs. worcestershire sauce
Drop in 1 clove garlic (fish out later)
1 lg. onion sliced
2 bay leaves (remove later)
1 tbs. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1/2 tsp. paprika
Dash of aispice (very important)
1 tsp. sugar (imagine!)
On with the lid and simmer 2 hours peek occasionally and gently scoop the meat around to keep from sticking. Add a little water if necessary.

Now vegetables to the pot!
6 carrots (whole or halved)
2 or 3 potatoes (quartered)
12 to 20 small white onions (optional)
Cover and simmer until vegetables are done. Carefully lift out meat and vegetables. Keep hot while you make the gravy. Now's the time to lift out the bay leaves and garlic if you spot them.
Blend about 4 tbs. flour with cold water making a smooth paste. Add a little more cold water and slowly stir into stew liquid. Cook five minutes. Keep stirring. Return meat and vegetables (gently) for a quick warm up then proudly we ladle.
What goes with it? My family likes some sort of hot bread (rolls, corn muffins, etc.) a crisp green salad - steaming coffee and fruit for dessert. It's stew - pendous!

TRICK OF THE WEEK

JUMPING CARD TRICK
The effect of this one is amusing. Place any card into the center of the deck you hold in your hand. At the word "go" the card jumps from the deck into the air. The 2nd illustration shows how to prepare for the trick - by placing a rubber band thru the holes placed into the center of two cards and knot the band at each end. When the card is placed between, it stretches the band downward and when pressure of the fingers around the deck is lessened, the card springs high into the air.

Groundhog Leaves Sound
Sleep In Search For Shadow

What's behind the old-wives' tale that if the groundhog sees his shadow when he comes out of his den February 2, winter will stay for a while? "Actually no one knows how this legend got into circulation," says George Hunt, University of Michigan assistant professor of wildlife management.

"It might have something to do with animal's hormonal balance, or reduced fat supply during the long hibernation period, which lasts from some time in November until early February in this part of the country." The animal's winter den is usually built on the side of a hill or wooded area and has only one opening. This permits good drainage so he won't get washed out of bed during the long winter sleep.

"The groundhog is a true hibernator," he explains. "He goes into a very sound sleep from which he can't be awakened unless he is warmed up. His body temperature has been noted to go as low as 37.4 degrees, close to freezing. His heart beat is reduced to four or five times a minute and his respiration rate to perhaps once a minute. "The groundhog is about two feet long, ranging in color from yellow-brown to almost black. The body is heavy with strong claws and feet for digging.

"Although the groundhog is variously called woodchuck, groundpig and whistling pig, or just plain whistler, he is actually a member of the squirrel family," Hunt says. "He's called 'whistler' because he makes a shrill whistling sound when alarmed."

192 on Honor List

Clarkston Defeated

Clarkston may have won the game.

Dan Craven was way off his game, scored only 8 points, made 3 out of 11 attempts, and completely forgot to drive against Holly's man for man defense. Gary Pearson hit only 1 out of 7, Dan Fife 0 for 8, Ron Lippert 0 for 2, Jon Gary 1-3, and Mike Bray 0 for 3. If any of these boys could of hit with any regularity, it might have been a win for Clarkston. Clarkston came within two points of Holly in the fourth quarter. But the boys couldn't find the range and Ken Miskin just couldn't do it by himself. This Friday the Redskins of Milford are coming into town, the boys must start putting the ball through the net or they will suffer the consequences!

The Junior Wolves are still undefeated by trimming Holly by the score of 42-37. It was a continuous cliff hanger throughout the whole ball game. One team member, Chris Torr stated, "I played the whole game on the bench, and was just exhausted." Clarkston was ahead during the whole ball game as much as 13 points in the 3rd quarter. The zone press caused Holly momentarily to collapse, which resulted in ten quick points in 1 1/2 minutes of play. This is the way they have been playing all year. They look good at times, then they reverse the situation by taking bad shots, throwing the ball away or playing poor defense.

Dave Osgood came off the bench in the second half and led the team in scoring with 13 points, Rod Allen was second in scoring with 11 points. Jim Shannon and Rod Allen led the team in rebounds with 12 each. King Robinson was substituted in the 4th quarter and scored the key basket in the win over Holly. King did a fine job in his first real test.
