Let's tell about people . . . talk about our neighbors.

Last Saturday and Sunday almost 100 boys and girls from all parts of Michigan were guests of Independence Township. They were here to participate in the Michigan State Junior Outdoor Rifle Championship and the Regional Junior Position Tournaments. More than 25 adults. some of them from out of state, were here to help the youngsters on the smallbore range of the D. R.

Wilson Rifle and Pistol Club of Oakland County Sportsmen Club. Here are the names of two interesting Youngsters who were your guests: Brigitte Felden, a 17 year old exchange student from 51 Plachen, Abteistr 18, Germany; and Gregg Walters, from Waterford-Kettering High School. She wants to get letters from you. He wants to compete against Junior riflemen from schools in this area. Brigitte's requests are up to you, but the De Molay boys from Clarkston are already doing something to take care of Gregg. He can expect action soon.

The Clarkston De Molay group started a Junior rifle training program Monday night, May 11. They practice each Monday evening, 5:00 to 8:00 P.M., (with rifles furnished them by the Oakland County Sportsmens Club) under the auspices of the OCSC Junior Rufle Club, East of Waterford on Waterford Road. Come out to watch the activities of the children of your friends and neighbors.

You know most of these young men. You know most of these men who are their counselors, and who come out with them to help. You will want to get acquainted with Walter Perry, Chief Instructor of OCSC Junior riflemen, who is at hand each Monday evening to help the following boys:

revenue or income which can be expected to offset the costs of operating a community college in Oakland County are as follows:

(1. State aid should be approximately $224 per student per year, based on recent legislative approp-

(2.) Resident tuition should be approximately $200 per student per year based on the present average tuition rates in Michigan community (31) Millage. A county-wide property tax, proposed on the June ballot, would realize approximately $2,100,000 per year. This figure is based on a one dollar tax on each $1,000 of the state equalized property valuation in Oakland County. This year the equalized valuation in the county is expected to be approximately $2,100 million. The one mill authorization is based on the experience of other Michigan community colleges.

(4.) Federal funds. No dollar figure can now be cited for the amount of recently appropriated Federal money that could be expected for sites and buildings. The State of Michigan has been allocated $2.680,000 for community colleges on a matching basis with local communities. A community college must be in existence before this money can be granted. This year the state appropriation for community college construction is expected to be $5 million. Last year the state appropritation was for $1.5 million.

If the Board of Trustees, to be named in the June 8 election, chose to start the modest community college program and to establish the college out of existing available revenue (not counting Federal funds) an institution for 2,500 students could be in operation by September, 1968.

Since financial success hinges on minimum enrollments shown in the table, it is important to know whether a student body of these proportions would appear on registration day. This year some 1,500 Oakland County young people are attending community colleges in other areas. Two years ago eleventh grade students through-out the county were asked if they would attend an Oakland County Community College. Almost 2,000 said

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

Before I announced my intention to seek re-election recently, I took stock of some of the major challenges and opportunities facing Michigan in the immediate future. These were the main reasons I decided to again ask the people for their support.

The last two years in Michigan have been devoted importantly to building a strong state base from which the problems and challenges of the future can be most effectively. answered.

The 1963 constitution requires that improvements be made in state and local government as the people, by their votes, have directed. We are barely beginning the implementation of the new constitution in the legislative, executive and judicial branches, education, local government, election changes, civil rights, and other provisions. Reorganization of the executive branch of state government, and county home rule are two important actions that lie ahead.

Another future task is organization of the new State Board of Education, with its broad powers to plan and (coordinate Michigan's total educational effort.

Know Your Michigan Law

By Attorney G neral Frank J. Kelly (This is a public service article explaining in general terms a provision of Mich gan law. Ludividuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult a private attorney.

Complaints received by my office idicate that all too often consumers are victimized by contracts they do not understand. Naturally, most consumers have a limited knowledge of the techniques used in drafting a formal contract. Pedhaps for this reason they feel that they are at fault if the contract they are asked to sign is not clear to them. Nothing could be further from the truth.

After all, any seller of goods or services wants the consumer to buy. It is the seller's obligation to present the prospective purchaser with a contract he can read and understand. It is not the buyer's obligation to be able to understand the sales contract. Indeed, to understand many of the contracts forwarded to my office would tax the ability of the finest lawyer. If a proposed contract involves a larger sum, it, of course, should be discussed with your lawyer. But even contracts for smaller amounts which you do not feel are important enough to take up with

Guest Editorial

According to established seasonal trends, forcible rape will rise approximately 16 per cent above its average during the next several weeks. Murder and aggravated assault will climb some 12 per cent each. A similar increase will be registered in depraved sex attacks on innocent and defenseless children. These figures represent crimes against the person which will become known to police. Untold numbers of victims will remain silent through fear of personal embar-

To a large degree, this shocking picture is an indictment of the careless and unwitting citizenry. Gaining a short respite from the humdrum of everyday duties, countless individuals subject themselves and their families to unnecessary dangers. Many who adhere to some an attorney should not be signed if they are not fully understood. And, do not rely on what the salesman says the contract means. His opinion will not help you in a law suit based on the contract.

Don't sign what you don't under-standard of safety at other times seemingly throw precautions to the wind during the summer months. For instance, vacationing travelers, in a congenial mood of good will,

are apt to minimize the inherent danger connected with the signalling thumb of a hitchhiker. A hasty benevolent act could place them in the clutches of a vicious killer. Certainly, great stress should be placed on the abhorrent crimes perpetrated by child molesters. Closing of the school year adds an extra burden to the important roles of parents and guardians in this regard. Children with time on their hands need extraordinary attention and supervision. This should not and cannot be left to public officials. Parents who fail to warn their children to avoid secluded spots, to refuse rides and reject gifts or enticements from strangers are guilty of gross negligence. Public indifference, long a harbinger of lawlessness, does not decline with the rise of the thermometer. Many persons in haste to be off to a favorite vacation sites all but abondon their homes. Their absence could not be better publicized with blinking neon lights. Yards are unkept and littered with newspapers; accumulated mail and milk bottles clutter the door. Blinds are drawn and doors are often left unlocked. Such flagrant carelessness is a "red carpet" invitation to burglars.

Other individuals add to the woes of authorities in areas they visit Their unlocked automobiles are stolen, and luggage, clothing and other valuables left overnight in cars are taken by theives. Some drivers climb behind the wheel of a car with no apparent appreciation of the responsibilities connected with a driving permit. They race along the Nation's highways as if licensed to kill. And all too often frequently they do kill, either themselves or innocent wayfarers.

A disturbing side issue of such incidents is the additional strain; placed on law enforcement. At a crucial peniod when most departments are engaged in exhaustive battle against rising crimes of violence, precious man hours are spent investigating lesser violatons caused by carelessness.

Understandably, as summer begins, most police authorities prepare for the worst and hope for the best. They alert the public, solicit cooperation and initiate special measures to handle seasonal outbreaks peculiar to their localities. But the protective shield of law enforcement can be stretched only

To gamble with crime is to lose. The loss could be - and frequently is -- a human life. As public servants who know firsthand of the exacting toll claimed by crime resulting from carelessness, we must somehow get this message across to the American people.

> B. F. GLADDING Tricks That Call Fish

IN THE DEEP SOUTH fishermen have a trick for attracting pan fish which they call "Patting the Lettuce." It goes like this. First, anchor your boat in the center of a large patch of lily pads. Next, pick up an oar or paddle and whale the bejabbers out of all the lily pads within reach. Wait a few moments, then lower your bait—a worm, grub or what have you—through an opening among the pads. If all goes well, business should be brisk. The reason is simple. By walloping the pads you dislodge a variety of insect life from the underside of the leaves, thereby causing a sudden shower of slowly sinking manna which promptly attracts hungry fish from all directions. The trick can be pulled wherever there are pad patches but, where none exist, variations of the same stunt can be used to create the same results. One such substitute move is to take along a box of rice and scatter small handfuls around the boat from time to time. Any passing school of perch, bluegills or other pan fish will turn aside to inspect this easily spotted shower of interesting particles, and then you're in business. Scatter more rice between bites to keep the school excited and on location.

Another come-on consists of moistening uncooked oatmeal, molding it into balls and dropping these over the side. The oatmeal will attract any minnows in the vicinity and the concentration of bait fish will soon call larger fish pan fish, and game fish as well.

This leads to another caper: Take along a screen mesh minnow trap and, when in position, transfer the bulk of your minnows to the trap, leaving only enough in the minnow bucket for immediate needs. Lower the trap to the bot-tom and dangle a minnow baited hook nearby. The trap full of flash-ing minnows will pull hungry fish and they won't waste time grabbing your bait.

Finally, here's a stunt so simple that it's usually overlooked. Simply hold your line in hand and lower it straight down from the gunwale. On hot, bright days fish often move directly under a hold. often move directly under a boat for shade. They may refuse to move out into the sunlight for your bait but they'll usually gob-ble it if you drop it in front of

How to be smarter than your wife

(on the subject of Savings Bonds)

Of course, there's no question about who's smarter at your house on most subjects. But to remove any doubt as to who knows more about U. S. Savings Bonds, the Treasury Department presents this little quiz. You take it first so you'll know all the answers and then pop it on your spouse. Great for the morale.

1. A Series E Savings Bond reaches maturity in: □ 5 years □7% years □ 10 years

2. The money you earn from Savings Bonds is exempt from state and local income taxes. ☐ false ☐ true

3. You have to be an American to buy U. S. Savings Bonds. ☐ true

4. Americans owned more Savings Bonds

1943 1953 □ 1963 5. Uncle Sam will give you a new Bond ☐ You accidentally toss it in the washing machine

☐ The neighbor's dog swallows it whole ☐ A thief steals it 6. It's hard to redeem a Savings Bond.

true false

7. A Bond that costs $18.75 will: Grow to $25 and stop
Keep on growing if you don't cash

8. You can have somebody else buy your Bonds for you.

true ☐ false

ANSWERS

1.7% years is correct. 2. True. What's more, federal tax on E Bond interest may be deferred until the Bond is redeemed.

3. Generally speaking, true. You must be either a resident; a citizen living abroad; or an employee of the U.S., military or civilian.

4. In spite of the fact that Bond-buying was nearly universal during the war years, the correct answer is 1963.

You're right no matter which answer you checked.

6. False. Any bank will redeem your E Bond anytime after the two-months' holding period. 7. A Series E Bond will keep growing for 10 years past maturity. Extension is automatic. 8. True. A perfect example is the Payroll Savings Plan. You can buy Bonds for other people, too. In fact, they make excellent gifts.

MAGIC ASHES

The magician sits behind a table with slips of paper ready before him. One by one, he asks his audience the name of a famous person. He writes each name down, then folds the slip and writes each name down, then folds the slip and places it in a large ash tray or metal pan. He then asks one person to take out a slip and look at it without telling him what the name is. He asks another to take a match and set fire to the remaining folded slips. When nothing remains but the ashes the magician studies them carefully and then announces the name on the single slip that had been taken out...and behold he is right!

Watch For A Sunburn

The surburn season is here again. It's a completely safe prediction that at least ten million people will succeed in roasting to a turn the first long, hot weekend at the beach or pool, or even in the backyard garden.

If you want to get a sunburn. it's' easy. Just stay out in the summer sun too long. However, do this with the knowledge that the physical benefits of tanning are at best dubious, and that there is solid evidence that continued exposure to sun weathers and ages the skin.

If you want to get tanned, the American Medical Association offers some pointers on how to do it without burning too much.

Gradual exposure to the sun is the safest and simplest method of acquiring an attractive tan. As a general rule, begin with 15 minutes exposure the first day, and increase the time by a few minutes a day. The time of day is important, with the mid-day period, when the sun is directly overhead, being the hottest for burning purposes.

Actually, the slim possible benefits of tanning are more than offset by its potential hazards. One skin specialist who has studied the problem said recently that he foresees the day when tanning will no longer be a status symbol and the fair, creamy complexion will once again be the vogue.

Continued tanning brings gradual changes in the blood vessels of the exposed surfaces. The connective tissues of the skin degenerates, causing wrinkles and a coarsening of texture. The "V" of the neck becomes permanently reddened and freckle-like dark spots appear on the skin. These spots can sometimes be the start of skin cancer.

Sun bleaches the hair, too, and over a period of time the sunbleached hair becomes brittle and unmanageable. However, the damaged hair will eventually grow out.

The only really beneficial effect of sunlight on the skin is formation of vitimin D, but the American diet already provides an adequate supply of this vitamin.

Despite the adverse physical indications, doctors are well aware that many of their patients still will continue to work on a suntan each summer. If you feel that you must get tanned, remember the basic rule for gradual tanning - 15 minutes the first day, increased by about a third each day. With care, it may be possible to tan without too much burning and a minimum of peeling.
