The Independence Township Library Summer Reading Club members who are entered in the "Grand Prix" contest, will have an awards party, on the library lawn, Monday, August 17th at 3:30 p.m.

The present contest has run for six weeks with the goal being 1000 pages. Eight of those entered have read over 3,000 pages. Prizes will be awarded to the first one who reached the destination, and the one reading the most pages in the time period.

This is the final contest for the summer. All those who were members of this group, or the one prior to it, are invited to an award party at the Pontiac Library sometime in September. Notice will be given of this at a later date.

The master of ceremonies, Pete Thompson, gave a short talk on the change from when the class of '54 graduated, to the current graduating class. It was interesting to hear how the Clarkston High School has grown.

The 23 couples present listened to the class prophecy read by Mrs. Cherie Kesterka (Littleson).

A short business meeting was conducted by the former class president, Mrs. Maxine Glynn (Wheatley). It was decided to hold a 15 year reunion in 1969. Committee members to be, Mrs. Cherie Kesterka, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Kruger (Jean Homan) and Jack Hess.

Exchange Students to Arrive Today

The first of about 400 foreign teenagers who will live with Michigan families for a year arrived at Metropolitan Airport here Thursday.

The students are from fifteen different countries, the majority coming from Sweden, Norway, Denmark, The Netherlands, Finland, Belgium and Germany.

A number of the passengers on the planes will be American teenagers coming home from similar visits overseas.

The program is organized by Youth for Understanding Teenage Exchange Program of Ann Arbor - a part of the Michigan Council of Churches. Now in its 14th year, the director of the program, Mrs. Rachel Andresen said that visitors will attend their senior year in local high schools.

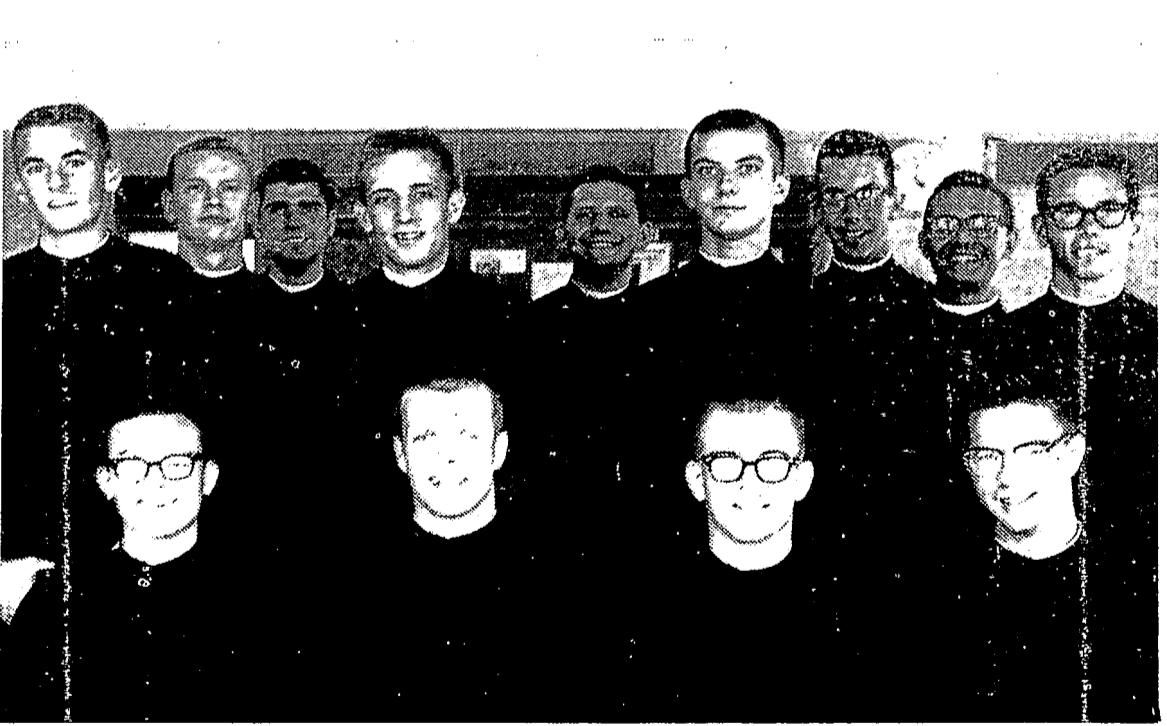

"As they have done in previous years," she said, "the host family will provide room and board and will be responsible for the student." "This year, for the first time," she continued, "many host families will have an opportunity to protect themselves from a financial risk. Through the cooperation of Michigan Blue Cross and Blue Shield, a host family that has Blue Cross and Blue Shield coverage will be able to provide prepaid health care protection for their temporary 'son' or 'daughter'."

Although the exchange student is called a "guest," he has clearly defined responsibilities that make him a very desirable one. He must help in the regular family chores. He is encouraged to earn his own pocket money by getting a part-time job. The major expense of transportation and clothing is paid by the student and his family.

"The long lasting advantages of this program cannot be measured Mrs. Andresen observed. "Many

Pointers For Driving On Freeways

Whether you plan to travel cross-country or merely cross-county this summer, chances are very good that at least part of your driving will be done on Interstate or freeway-type highways.

While these freeways have been designed to be far safer and easier to drive than conventional roadways the Automobile Club of Michigan points out that the high speed, limited access highways definitely require different driving techniques.

In order to bring the average good driver up to date with the complexities of freeway driving, the Auto Club has instituted a series of 50 adult driver training schools around the state. Listed below are some of the tips these drivers will be receiving:

1. Know your intended freeway route thoroughly BEFORE you enter the freeway lanes. Once you are on a freeway, it can be very dangerous to yourself and other motorists if you become confused and uncertain about where you want to leave the freeway.
2. Always enter a freeway at close as possible to normal freeway speeds.
3. Keep a proper distance between your car and the one ahead. Following too closely, especially at expressway speeds, is very dangerous.

4. Change as little as possible on freeways. When you do have to make a lane change, check traffic behind and all around you, and then signal your intentions in advance.

5. Avoid all sudden movements. At high speeds, sudden swerving to make an exit or sudden deceleration can be disastrous.

6. Watch several cars ahead - not the one just directly in front of you. If a car even three or four vehicles ahead of you makes a sudden maneuver, you can be affected in seconds.

7. Keep your car traveling at normal freeway speeds at all times. On a freeway, a slowpoke can be just as hazardous, or more so, than a speeder.

8. Remember that although freeway driving looks effortless compared to many conventional highways, long uninterrupted driving stints can be more tiring and dulling to the senses than you realize. Make frequent rest stops and never drive when you are tired, exhausted, or otherwise not entirely alert.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

The summer months are upon us and once again Michigan citizens (and, of course, many people from outside the borders of Michigan) are taking to the road to enjoy the many scenic sights of the Water Wonderland. Michigan is vacationland to many people and our tourist industry is one of the biggest industries we have.

Michigan is a beautiful state, with its sparkling lakes and lush green forests, its quiet retreats and its fishing streams all beckoning for the vacationer's attention.

One over-riding element clouds this beautiful picture: human carelessness.

One cannot help feel a sense of anger and resentment at finding a pile of rusty beer cans at an otherwise lovely camping spot. Or shards of broken glass on a sandy beach where many walk barefooted.

What is more disgusting than a pile of litter or trash alongside the highway or a lake or stream that serves as a garbage dump?

I have recently received a progress report from the Keep Michigan Beautiful Committee which I think is doing an excellent job in altering the public against littering.

The Committee is a fine example of public-spirited men working in the public interest and attempting to educate the citizens of our state and of states against despoiling the landscape of Michigan.

Ten citizen subcommittees have been established, new releases and radio programs have helped in the problem, and brochures, films and television shorts are in preparation, as part of a systematic campaign to drive home the point.

The Michigan State Chamber of Commerce has provided organizational facilities for Keep Michigan Beautiful.

Keep Michigan Beautiful, Inc. has now established as a permanent, citizen-operated organization.

I urge all citizens and officials in local communities around the state to cooperate in the anti-litter campaign. We must keep Michigan beautiful for others, as well as for ourselves, to enjoy.

The fact is ours and we must respect the land. We cannot afford a country where aesthetics and beauty is trampled upon, due to carelessness and human "non-concern."

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall, in his book The Quiet Crisis, maintains that "we can have an improved environment if we are willing to pay the price" and he further adds that "we must develop a habit of conscience that will cause these daily acts of stewardship which will make America a more pleasant and more productive land."

Let's keep Michigan beautiful. The responsibility is yours.

Area Men In Uniform

Jay D. Campbell, machinery repairman third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Campbell of 8478 West Ellis Rd., Davisburg, is a crewmember of the attack aircraft carrier USS Hancock, operating out of Alameda, Calif.

Hancock recently completed an overhaul at the San Francisco, Calif., Naval Shipyard. She will conduct refresher training in the Pacific this summer in preparation for a tour of duty with the Seventh Fleet in the Far East.

Refresher training is conducted periodically to insure a ship's combat readiness.

Physical Recreation Needed Daily

Setting time aside for wholesome recreation is becoming increasingly important in leading a healthful and productive life.

For most people, the day's routine no longer includes vigorous physical activity or provides enough variety otherwise to break the monotony of daily living. The natural result of modern conveniences and increased automation is a sedentary existence.

Modern society has become what someone has called "flap-flopped." The executive now works long hours instead of the laborer. Yet, like everyone else, physicians, executives, and other professional people need the refreshment that enjoyable recreation offers.

Leisure time can be used to regain a healthy balance of suitable physical activity and relaxation. Whether through a trip to the opera or an hour or two of quiet fishing, the ability to "lose oneself" in some diversional recreation provides personal fulfillment and relief from life's tensions.

Recreation is personal; to be satisfying, the hobbies and other activities chosen should be meaningful to the individual. What may be enjoyable to one person may be boring to another. Fortunately, a wide variety of opportunities is available and every person should be able to find some that bring satisfaction. Interesting family activities, another important but often missing part of modern life, can evolve from personal recreation interests.

Whatever a person may choose as hobbies, some physical recreation should be included daily. The health benefits from regular suitable physical activity such as walking, relief from stress, and a sense of well-being are now well established. On the other hand, the potential ill-effects of prolonged inactivity, such as obesity, metabolic disorders, loss of movement capacity, cannot be considered helpful for enjoyable living.

The broad benefits attributed to recreation are not automatic outcomes. Every activity carries some risk, whether from the nature of the activity itself or from the demands on the participant. One national survey showed 18,000 disabling golf injuries in 1962. Most of these were persons struck by golf balls. However, heat prostration accounted for 10 per cent and over-exertion another 7 per cent of the total. These statistics should not cause a rush to the golf cart, which produced 7 per cent of the casualties. Rather, golfers should respect the safeguards that judgment and conditioning will offer.

To capitalize on recreational opportunities: (1) Learn your capabilities and limitations through periodic medical examinations, and plan your activities accordingly. (2) Practice habits of healthful living faithfully in order to have the ability to do effectively the things you must and want to do. (3) Understand the risks involved in your activities of choice, and the preventive measures to be followed.

Your reporter and family enjoyed four days camping at Higgins Lake, returning home last Tuesday afternoon. The only way to describe the weather was HOT. Apart from almost losing our tent at 3 a.m. Monday morning during a terrific electrical storm, everything was great. We were joined by friends, the Carl B. Niemi's of Waterford for the weekend, which made it real nice. It's really a very small world. After setting up our tent we looked across the street and there were the Miller's of Dixie Highway, and pretty soon the Curtis family of Princess Lane drove by with their trailer looking for a spot to camp. Clarkston was well represented. Love that Higgins Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Huffman of Clovis, California returned home recently after a months vacation with his parents the Jay Huffman's of Almond Ln. While here the families enjoyed a trip to the U.P. where the men went deep sea fishing and Fred caught a 6 lb. trout. A trip to Mackinac City was also on the agenda. Accompanying the Huffmans was their daughter and her husband, the Larry Blackett's of Pontiac. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Jay Huffman entertained Mr. Roy Twite and daughter Carol of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kline with their children Rod, Diane and Chris of Warbler Dr., returned home Saturday winding up a 16 day vacation traveling through the West. Points of interest included the Badlands, Mount Rushmore, Yellowstone and the Glacier National Forest. The family traveled through two towns Nevada City and Virginia City still the same as the Gold Rush Days.

The James English family of Transparent Dr. returned home recently completing a weeks vacation at Mars Hill, N. Carolina where they visited his mother and three brothers. The first day of the vacation was marred by tragedy, Mr. English's cousin, 19 year old Geter Baily, drown after saving the life of his girl friend while swimming in a pond near his home.

Mr. and Mrs. James Leaver and family have enjoyed two vacations this month. Their first holiday saw them in the U.P. where they enjoyed touring Mackinac City and the Island, and seeing the lovely Tahquamenon Falls. Next the family went up to their cabin on Georgian Bay, Canada for five days.

Mr. Jack Dougherty of Plum Dr. suffered only slight injuries but his car was badly damaged on M-15 last week when a car being test driven made a U turn in front of his and caused the collision.

Birthday greetings go to: Reed Swanson, August 13; Robbie Bentley, Max Fogg, and Jeffrey G. Beach, August 14; Kathy McCurdy, Dana Fitzthomas, Larry Thibault and Lew Wint, August 15; Evalena Little, Jimmy Wilson, Lori Kesterke and Kay Beattie, August 17; Phyllis Robinson, Ann Lookadoo and Daniel Ross, August 18; Eric Hood, August 19.

Mr. and Mrs. John Walts of Snow Apple Dr. celebrated their 22nd wedding anniversary August 8. Carrie Lee's restaurant in Birmingham was the setting for the anniversary dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Drake with their sons are home following a three week vacation on their cabin cruiser at Indian River Marina. Mr. Drake joined his family for the last two weeks.

David Nelson, infant son of the Thomas Hunters of Snow Apple Dr., was baptized at Our Lady of the Lakes Church last Sunday. Father Kaiser officiated during the ceremony. The Hunters honored their sons christening with an open house that afternoon when some 30 relatives and friends called. Davids Godparents are Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Gibbs of Midland. His great Aunt and Uncle the Lawrence Bibbin's of Ann Arbor were on hand for the occasion. Other guests came from Flint, Pontiac and Grosse Point Woods.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morse and daughter Mrs. Richard Morgan and their son John of Overlook Dr. returned home last Saturday evening after a weeks vacation touring the U.P. where they took in the Porcupine Mountains, Munising and the boat trip to the Pictured Rocks.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bethune and daughter Kitty Jo of Big Lake Rd. came home Friday winding up a weeks camping near Montreal, Canada. They were able to see the new lake made from the St. Lawrence Seaway and took in the Highland games at Maxville, the center of the Scottish settlement and Mr. Bethunes former home town. Mrs. Bethune left Tuesday for a weeks visit with her mother, Mrs. John Harrison of Edwardsburg, near South Bend. She will also visit with a relative who is home after a two year European vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Schroeder of Orion Rd. spent the weekend in Ionia. They attended the Schroeder family reunion while there. Mr. Harvey's sister, Mrs. Henry Smallenberg, who is here visiting, went with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Jervis with their daughter Judy Lynn of Church St. are home following a months vacation in Morganton, North Carolina where they enjoyed a visit with her mother, Mrs. Blanche Copeland. The family also spent a week in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina before heading for home.

A surprise birthday dinner honored Mrs. Jack Dougherty of Pear St. August 4th. Pine Knob was the setting for the gala affair. Guests seated were Mr. and Mrs. Terry Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Wally Baumann, the John Searights and the Douglas Griffiths and Mr. and Mrs. Yantis, and the honorees spouse, Jack, Dougherty.

A long weekend at Gaylord and a visit to Mackinac Island was on the agenda for the Herschel Frys and their three children. John, Peggy and Joey of Almond Lane last week.

Should Your Boy Play Football?

Editors Note: This is the Sixth in a series by Bill Hanson, Line Coach at Clarkston High School.

In previous issues, we have attempted to bring out general contributions that athletics make to the development of the individual. This week we would like to turn to a few personal traits that a good football player will need. If he doesn't have them when he first reports to begin his football career, he must develop them as he gains experience and knowledge of the game. Without them he will be of little value to a football team. Conversely, without such traits he will be of little value and contribute little to any business or line of endeavor he might choose to enter after his playing days are finished.

Athletics will help cultivate such traits as: aggressiveness, concentration, determination, obedience, dependability, confidence and cooperation.

Aggressiveness — This is a most important quality of a football player. An individual can make up for a lot of shortcomings in technique with this quality. Much of a team's success will be determined by the fight and spirit the men put into their play. Without a certain amount of aggressiveness in life, the world will pass the individual by.

Concentration — In a complicated game of football or the complex work-a-day world, the fellow with this quality will certainly know his job thoroughly and carry it out correctly and immediately even with many distractions all around him. He who hesitates is lost.

Determination — Before it is possible to achieve anything, a goal must be set, with the individual determined to reach it. An individual should not be satisfied to maintain a particular level of performance. He must take personal pride in and be determined to become the best football player possible or the best possible worker on the job.

Obedience — Every organization must have leadership. In every organization there come times when the individuals connected with it must be willing to obey the leadership. Situations arise that call for immediate actions that must come immediately and without question. Hesitation may cause personal injury and/or property damage. The individual who is not willing to obey in these situations is only a detriment to the organization.

Dependability — Dependability is one of an individual's greatest single assets. It is a quality needed in athletics and every employer seeks in his employees. It is a quality which will give one a favorable reputation with whom-ever he associates.

Confidence — Every great individual has this mental attitude. Confidence is not the same as swell headedness. Confidence is that quality which stirs within one a feeling that he can successfully handle the situation at hand and that through proper effort, can come out on top. Confidence is a belief in one's self. Without it an individual accomplishes little.

Cooperation — In every walk of life this quality will help the individual stand out. In our modern existence, little is accomplished without the cooperation of peoples. Generally if one is uncooperative in athletics, he is of no value what-so-ever to a team.

An activity that will cultivate traits in the individual that will put him in a good light in all his life endeavors is an activity worthy of consideration when deciding whether or not your boy should play football.
