School Board Seeks Approval on Bond Issue

No Increase In School

Taxes Necessary

Citizens of the Clarkston District will be asked to approve a $3,000,000 Bond Issue on Monday, February 8, 1965, for the construction of much needed classroom facilities.

The vote is not for an increase in millage your school tax rate would not change.

Increased valuation within the community, due to new construction of homes and businesses, is sufficient to cover the additional debt.

Why your board of education is asking permission to borrow $3,000,000 for building purposes.

1. Because classroom space, both at elementary and secondary levels, is now beyond maximum capacity.

2. Because enrollment in our schools increased more than 10% this year alone, 489 students.

3. Because enrollment will continue to rise even more rapidly in the next three years.

4. Because the Clarkston area is growing, and is forecast to grow more rapidly than any other area. This is due to new highways, desirable building sites, churches, and good schools.

5. Because continuing good education for our children can not be obtained in overcrowded classrooms and fractional programs.

Until now, your Board of Education with your approval and support has been able to provide classrooms to keep pace with the increasing enrollment. Your permission to borrow $3,000,000, is necessary to provide buildings for the fast rising enrollment. Approval of this issue will enable your Board of Education to take immediate action to provide the necessary classrooms, as they are needed.

Lewis E. Wint, President of the Clarkston Area Jaycees, announced today that Brigadier Robert McMahon, manager of the Everside Home in Detroit will be the keynote speaker at the Third Annual Bosses' Night which will be held February 17th at the CAI Building in Waterford. The Eventide Home is a residence for the aging which is operated by the Salvation Army.

During this time, he operated a food station and hotel for men during the depression in Indiana. At Jackson, Michigan, besides operating the local Corps of The Salvation Army, he served as assistant to the Chaplain at Southern Michigan Prison. At Bay City, during the war, he operated a U.S.O. Club in connection with his Local Salvation Army Program.

In 1958 he was transferred to Detroit to open the new Salvation Army Everide Home, which was formerly the Park Avenue Hotel.

Tickets for the banquet are available to male members of the area for the first time. They may be purchased at Ronk's Barber Shop or from any Jaycee member.

"Bobbins" From Bob

If "Seventeen" will stop in the office and sign her letter for our files, it will be published in next week's issue.

We hope that the people harboring the idea that the Clarkston Community Schools bond issue will pass easily this coming Monday, won't stay away from the polls.

Why? Figure it out! While you're sitting home, those against the issue will be making a bline to the polls. Remember, your vote is very important to the future of the children of your community.

Teen dances today seem to be causing some concern among area residents. It is and always will be the opinion of this writer that the movements of the dancer are only as unclear as the mind of the beholder. The majority of our teens do not harbor the thoughts that so many of their parents do in regard to certain movements in dancing. If we continue to tell them how suggestive their dancing is, they will soon think along those lines while they dance. Let's face it, the more you lecture them on a topic of this sort, the more determined they will be to do exactly what they're accused of.

1964 Graduates To Rate High School Education

Counselors in Clarkston Senior High school are asking the graduates of 1964 to report on their first year out of school and to rate their high school education on forms being mailed this week.

Dr. William Moorhouse, director of guidance of Oakland Schools, said Clarkston High School is among eight in the county who are asking their most recent graduates to complete and return survey forms.

This is a follow-up of a questionnaire on future plans given these same students shortly before graduation last May. It is being mailed to 2,700 graduates of the high schools that are participating in the Federally sponsored Project for Counseling Employment-Bound Students.

Members of the Class of '64 are asked to indicate the type of school or college they may now be attending, if they are employed, how many jobs they have held, if they are looking for work and if they have married.

They are also invited to answer the question, "How well did your high school education prepare you for your next step in life?" They may check one of seven ratings, varying from "no preparation" to "superior preparation". Space is left for individual comment.

Names of those who respond will be kept confidential. The questionnaire is printed on a form which can be "read" by data processing equipment. Findings from the survey can be quickly compiled, Moorhouse said, and will be used as a basis for improving guidance, counseling and placement for those still in school as well as to determine more appropriate high school course offerings.

My Fair Lady Rehearsing For April Production

Clarkston High School has negotiated final arrangements with the Tams-Whitmark Music Library, Inc., New York City, securing the rights to present Lerner and Loewe's brilliantly successful musical My Fair Lady for production in April.

After three weeks of try-outs and three more of rehearsals, the complete cast has now been determined. Starring in the role of Eliza Doolittle is Penny Cook and Mary Westman; the fine talents of John Slade and Arnold Taylor will shape the character of Henry Higgins. Explaining this "double-casting," director Lee Moore said, "We are fortunate to be able to cast two students in each of these parts. In the first place, these are tremendously demanding roles for a student to play for six nights; and, more important, it gives two actors and actresses a chance to perform such rewarding roles as those of Eliza and Higgins."

Altogether forty students make up the complete cast. Featured is Paul Walker as the lovable Colonel Pickering, Higgins' friend and "expert on Indian dialects." Capricious philosopher of fun Alfred P. Doolittle is portrayed by Paul Taylor, nobly assisted in song and dance by his cronies, Harry and Jamie (John Merkel and Rodger Chrysler). Infatuated with the lovely Eliza is Freddy Eynsford-Hill (Ted Hollis) singing "On the Street Where You Live." Freddy's mother, Mrs. Eynsford-Hill is played by Gwen Ostum. Warmhearted, sensible Mrs. Pearce, Higgins' housekeeper, is Charlene Bachand, and Carol Taylor is cast as Mrs. Higgins' Professor Zoltan Karpathy, "oozing charm from every pore," is Andy Rossano.

Others in the cast, in many cases playing dual roles are:

The Servants Chorus: Gloria Bridges, Catherine Hoffman, Anne Lausten, Jane Hallman, Brooksie Linda Spencer;

Cockney Streetsingers: Jeanee Slinkard, Dawn Evelyn, Louise Sexton, Linda Spencer, Gary Fitch, Chuck Golden, Kathy Marshall, Jane Hallman;

Michigan Week Theme Set

Governor George Romney recently met with the Board of Governors from Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties to review plans for Michigan Week which is sponsored again this year by the Greater Michigan Foundation.

Sixty businessmen from the tri-county area attended the meeting in which Governor Romney sought their cooperation in promoting Michigan Week and pointed out that this year's theme will be "Michigan - Dynamic in World Progress."

In his talk to the businessmen Romney said, "Among its recent accomplishments, Michigan is rapidly gaining stature as a world citizen. This is significant to every one who is interested in future opportunities in Michigan for themselves and their children."

Following the meeting, Noble D. Travis, chairman of the 1965 finance committee, reported that he has enlisted the cooperation of Fred A. Kaiser, a former Michigan Week Committee member, in organizing the many Michigan Week leaders in many communities across the state who are developing Michigan Week programs in their communities.

"The assistance that we can expect from Fred Kaiser will be of great help to the Michigan Committee," Travis said. "His contacts with the various community leaders will help us get close to the people who are actually doing the job on Michigan Week."

"When you get right down to essentials," Travis said, "you will find that local leaders are the key to our State's future advancement, which is based on how people regard us. And we are talking about the opinion of people within our State, people elsewhere in the country and people around the world."

"If they continue to see us as energetic, vital, and forward-moving, then they will continue in increasing numbers to locate industries here... to seek jobs here... to spend their vacations here," Travis said.

"We want everyone to know that Michigan has got the basic economic background for a great future," he said.

Noble D. Travis, Fred A. Kaiser and Governor George Romney met to discuss 1965 objectives of Greater Michigan Foundation which sponsors Michigan Week.

News Notes from YWCA Winter Schedule Clarkston High In Full Swing

John Merkel

Weeks of practice in their Chorus classes paid off for the following students; These students will represent Clarkston High School in the League Choir.

In soprano section: Carol Cinader, Robyn Rutzen, Jeanne Shoots and Jeanne Slinkard.

Representing us in the Alto section will be: Wanda Atkins, Lynn Howey, Becky Smith and Larie Waiters.

The Tenors are: Jerry Shadlowsky, Sue Dengage, Caroline Atkins and Rita Curtis.

Our boys in the Bass section will be: Gary Fonaker, Jim Mansfield, Paul Taylor, and Jay Faust.

The first League Choir rehearsal was held last Tuesday at West Bloomfield from seven to nine. The next rehearsal is scheduled for this Tuesday.

The Chorus classes are kind of short on tenors, especially second hour. Volunteers, anyone. I'm sure you'd be welcome.

Talent Show rehearsals have begun. The first rehearsal was held this week after school in the high school auditorium.

The end of the semester doesn't weigh as heavily on students as it has in the past, due to a new grading system.

In the past, if a student failed the first semester of a subject, he would have to repeat it then next year.

Under the new system, if a student fails the first semester and brings his grades up in the second semester, he will pass the entire year.

Several changes have been made in the course, also. Mr. May's Government classes are now taking Problem of Democracy. He is also holding one class in Psychology.

Mr. Rice's World Geography classes have become Government classes during the second semester. I believe this is to give the Seniors who may have failed in the first semester a chance to make it up without repeating a year.

All one-semester courses that ran during the first-semester have been replaced. In some cases it is merely a question of changing the books or teachers.

Several pictures and other Art objects are currently on display in the common areas. This is a League Art exhibit.

Five paintings were selected about two weeks ago by Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Palmer-Smith.

Three paintings were selected out of Mrs. Campbell classes and classes.

This week I interviewed Mrs. Campbell and asked her about this League Art Exhibit. The result is above.

Mrs. Campbell has been teaching for eleven years, all of them in our school system.

She taught for two years in the elementary school before coming into the high school, where she has remained since.

This year she is teaching four sections of Art I and one section of Crafts.

Mrs. Campbell holds two degrees She received her Bachelor of Arts from Wayne State University and her Master of the Fine Arts from the Cranbrook University of Fine Arts.

She is sponsoring the Art Club which meets every Wednesday after school in the Art room. Anyone is welcome and you don't have to have had or be taking an art course to attend.

Winter activities returned to full schedule, last week as the Pontiac YWCA, with the opening of the 10-week term of classes in a variety of subjects ranging from yoga to guitar. Ballroom dancing for teen-agers, volleyball, and basketball for girls 18 to 25 years, and swimming classes for women of all ages are listed in the folders available by contacting the Y.

Elementary piano, ear training and music appreciation, is another new class, which will be offered on Saturdays at 10:00 A.M. Art for adults will replace the children's class offered in the fall. Knitting will be offered both morning and evening as well as bridge. Classes available only in the morning include furniture refinishing, Spanish, sewing, bowling, china painting, cake decorating, and the swimming classes at the YWCA and Oakland University pools.

Mrs. John Streit, chairman of classes, met with the instructors, old and new, over dessert and coffee Wednesday, January 20. A tour of the YW's future home, the former Beaudette House, followed the meeting. Included among the instructors are: Lynette Agnew, sewing; Liga Bueno, Spanish Ben Crech, guitar; Ruth Gill, yoga; Audrey Hines, cake decorating; M. J. cent Hollis, bridge; Frank Machek, art; Martin Mitchevic, music appreciation; Adele Streit, dancing; Aurilia Ochoa, knitting; Wava Warner, china painting; and Luinda Wyckoff, furniture refinishing.

Swimming teacher at both Oakland on Tuesday and the WMCA on Wednesday include Annette Buzz, and Adele Streit, supervisors; Nancy Beauchamp, Ann Knox, Jean Stucke, and Vera Watson.

In charge of the Y's nursery, which is open from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Tuesday through Friday, is Mrs. Hazel Beutler. Mrs. Bruce Hubbard is Nursery chairman. Assistants include: Becky Ison, Ellen Miller, Alice Pickup, Connie Shelton and Mary Wagg.

Low-cost luncheons followed by informal programs are a Ladies Day Out feature on Wednesdays. Members not enrolled in classes are invited to drop in for these events. Many foreign girls temporarily living in the area and other strangers and newcomers also find Ladies Day Out a welcome way to meet people and find new interests.

Air Force Requirements Change

TSgt. LeRoy L. Bancroft, local Air Force Recruiter announced today that enlistment requirements have changed for non-high school graduates. A non-high school graduate need only make a qualifying score in either the Mechanical, Administrative, General or Electronic aptitude area. This new change will give young men who have not finished high school a better chance to qualify for a place on the Aero Space Team.

Sgt. Bancroft also said the waiting period for non-high school graduates has been eliminated and if they can qualify on the Airman Qualifying Examination they can start their training immediately. The examination to qualify for enlistment in the Air Force is given on Monday of each week in the Air Force Recruiting Office at 53 1/2 W. Huron St., Pontiac. You may make an appointment to take the test by calling FE 2-9116 daily between 5 p.m. or you may call Saturday between the hours of 9 a.m. and 12 noon. Test time is 9 a.m. Mon-

TIPS FROM THE TACKLE BOX

by B. F. GLADDING

Tagging The Tackle Box
A READY-FOR-BUSINESS tackle box should hold a good assortment of lures, but it should also contain a variety of other items. Here are a few suggestions.

A bottle of metal cleaner and a pad of fine steel wool. Give metal lures a quick shine before using, and they'll pull more strikes.

A baiting needle. File a slot in the eye of a large darning needle; use it to draw hook snells through bait fish when rigging up for trolling.

A can of light oil. Oil reels every hour or so for longer life and smoother operation.

A bottle of prepared pork rind strips. Add a fluttering tail to your spoons and plugs when fish need stirring up.

A watchmaker's file is just the ticket for sharpening dull hooks, and no tackle box should be without pliers and wire cutters. Ditto for a sharp knife; keep it in the tackle box permanently.

This is only a beginning. You'll probably want to add a spring scale for weighing lunkers, a snap stringer, a disgorger, insect repellent, a bottle of iodine for treating cuts—and the list can go on and on. Storing all this paraphernalia handily poses a problem—unless you own a Gladding GLADDEX tackle box. GLADDEX boxes provide ample room for large items, plus cantilever trays with compartments for neat-as-a-pin storage of lures, hooks, sinkers, swivels, etc. Polyolefin construction combines lightness with incredible strength; any GLADDEX box that breaks from normal use will be replaced free. These boxes are impervious to heat, cold, salt water and to anything you may spill on them from battery acid to bug dope. There's almost nothing they won't stand up to—which is why old pros pick 'em.

Any fishing questions? Send them to me, in care of this newspaper.

Stretch Fabrics in Big Demand

Comfort is Clothing Trend

Stretch garments are not just for adventurers on Michigan's ski slopes. They are for anyone who is looking for greater comfort and freedom of movement in clothing. Stretch fabrics designed for power or action have been on the market for several years, but stretch for comfort is a new development, says Mrs. Judy Stam, clothing specialist with the Cooperative Extension Service at Michigan State University.

Sewing Stretch Fabrics

Stretch offers a new dimension to fabrics which will interest the home seamstress. Sewing with stretch fabric may require slightly different techniques than you normally use for sewing stretch fabrics come in many fibers and weights. The stretch can be lengthwise, crosswise, or two way.

Good Tips For Safe Skiing

The ski season is here again. Hundreds of thousands of Americans, young and old, from the warm south as well as the frigid north, are heading for the ski slopes for winter vacations centered around sliding down mountain and hillsides on skis. The medical men who attend to the health needs of the skiers know that this season also will bring a bumper crop of broken ankles, twisted knees and the various other injuries, not to mention sore muscles, bruises and skinned flesh, that seem to be a part of skiing.

Does the child who is physically fit make a better student?

Approved educator answers an important question of our times...

Physical fitness provides a program that calls for at least 15 minutes of vigorous, heart-pounding activity every day, the best way to know.

Most know your concern about the decline in youth fitness is not shared with your local school officials and parents. As President J. Kennedy has said, "We can only be truly responsible for the future of our nation only if every American is willing to accept responsibility for the fitness of his children."

For a free booklet to help you evaluate the fitness program in your child's school, write the President's Council on Physical Fitness, Washington 25, D. C.

Selecting An Automatic Washer Isn't Easy

One out of every ten households in the United States boasted a new automatic washer in 1962. This means that consumers spent 3/4 of a billion dollars for automatic washers on one year.

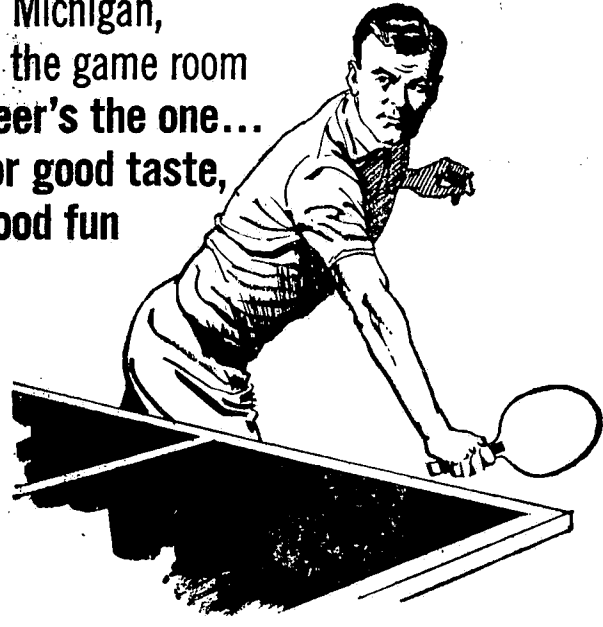

Selecting an automatic washer is not a simple matter according to Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Home Economists.

We still have only two types — the front loading the top loading — but, partly because of new developments in textile fibers and finishes, washer manufacturers are giving us more choices of cycles and features.

Since competition is keen among manufacturers of laundry equipment, it will pay you to look around if you're in the market for a new washer. There are many differences between washers some obvious and some not so obvious. Obvious differences between models include the price tag, type of washing, action, control panels, cycles, and washer capacity. Less obvious differences between washers would include the water fill system, the water consumption, type of rinse, lint removal and water extraction.

The choice of an automatic washer is up to you, but examining the differences between machines will make your choice a little easier.

Unveiling of Paintings at Waterford-Kettering to Show State's History

Eleven events out of Michigan's past will be brought dramatically to life February 8 with the unveiling of the first in a series of original oil paintings on the state's history.

The eleven paintings, colorful and amazingly realistic in their detail, will be displayed for the general public in the Waterford Kettering High School.

They will be on view during regular school hours, and on the evening of the P-TA meeting on Wednesday, February 10.

The canvases are the work of artist Robert A. Thom of Birmingham who has been commissioned by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company to do the series on "A History of Michigan in Paintings."

Charles E. Woodhead, area manager for Michigan Bell, says:

"History is not only a record of the past but — taken together — it constitutes tradition. We share with others the conviction that the great and colorful events in Michigan history should be preserved as part of the tradition and heritage of our citizens."

"Many of the scenes of Michigan history can no longer be seen or photographed — they must be reconstructed. And we hoped that, by uniting the ability of a talented artist with the work of a noted historian, the history of a great state could be dramatically and accurately portrayed."

To date, the series includes:

"Before History — 10,000 B.C." — Michigan about 12,000 year ago when mastodons ranged swampy lowlands.

"Michigan Indians — An Algonquian Village" — life during Indian summer in a typical Indian village about the year 1500.

"LaSalle and the Griffon" — the French explorer and his ill-fated Griffon which disappeared in 1679 on her maiden voyage.

"Madame Cadillac Arrives at Detroit" — Michigan's pioneer woman

DOUGLASS HOUGHTON FINDS COPPER

Following an earlier expedition to Lake Superior, Douglass Houghton returned to the Upper Peninsula in his work as state geologist. Exploring the Keweenaw and Ontonagon areas, he located some of the region's principal copper deposits, and reported his findings to the state legislature in 1841. Shortly after, prospectors began entering the north country seeking the mineral which was to become one of Michigan's most valuable resources. Houghton is shown where the Eagle River empties into Lake Superior, holding a chunk of copper he found among the rocks. With him is his black and white spaniel, Dash. This and 10 other oil paintings which have been done by artist Robert Thom under commission by Michigan Bell Telephone Company, will be on public display at Waterford Kettering High School for five days beginning Monday, February 8.

joins her husband at Fort Pontchartrain in 1701.

"Massacre at Michilimackinac" — when the British were massacred by the Indians in 1763 on the site of the present Mackinaw City.

"Americans Take Over Fort Mackinac" — last post in the West to be relinquished, in 1796, by the British after the Revolutionary War.

"Perry Transfers to the Niagara" — to defeat the British fleet which had controlled Lake Erie during the War of 1812.

"Lewis Cass Expedition" — advertised the area's potential riches in a move in 1820 to attract settlers to the Territory.

"Douglass Houghton Finds Copper" — in 1840 where the Eagle River empties into Lake Superior on the Keweenaw Peninsula.

"Capital Moves to Lansing" — after long debate, the State Legislature voted to move from Detroit, and met in its newly constructed capitol in 1848.

"Charles Harvey Builds the Locks" — to connect Lake Superior to Lake Huron at Sault Ste. Marie, during the years 1853-55.

The artist, Thom, does extensive research before he ever touches a brush to a canvas. Assisting him with the historical accuracy of his paintings is Professor F. Clever Bald, director of the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan.

Eventually, the series will cover other aspects of Michigan's history.

Her maid of honor was Judith Dick who wore a royal blue bell-shaped sheath with matching blue sash and headpiece and nose-tip veil.

By Mel Vaara
Clarkston ran roughshod over Brighton in defeating them 83-59. In an earlier contest Brighton defeated Clarkston 71-68, but in this contest they were no match for Clarkston. Clarkston ran passed, dribbled and shot through Brighton's poorest defense, but with amazing accuracy and with their superior rebounding, Clarkston enjoyed using their fast break for many easy lay-ups.

When Jim Korwin the coach of Brighton entered the coaches office, he wanted to know where he could enroll at Brighton a set of tripiets. He was referring to Clarkston's scoring trio of Pearson, Fife and Lippert. All three of these boys scored 22 points each.

Pearson scored on short jumpers, Fife scored on lay-ups and Lippert made most of his points on rebound shots or tip-ins. One observer who hasn't seen Lippert play for some time, was very impressed with his rebounding hustle and shooting. Lippert is certainly one of the most underrated ball players in the league.

The top scorer in the game was Bruce Evanson of Brighton. This big Junior hit from all directions and scored 23 points. Evanson loves to shoot and he will if given the opportunity.

The J.V. team did the same as the Varsity team and clobbered Brighton by the score of 71-43. Mark Erickson had 18 points and Mark Richards added 11.

This Friday Clarkston plays a key game at West Bloomfield. Clarkston won on the home floor, but West Bloomfield is very tough on their floor.
