VOLUME 36 Single Copy 10 Cents

Spring to Arrive Here Saturday

Spring will begin at 3:05 p.m. Saturday (March 20).

The sun will reach the vernal equinox or cross the equator on its way north. "It will rise and set almost exactly at the east and west points, with the day and night said to be of equal lengths." University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh explains.

Contrary to what many believe, the day and night will not be exactly equal on the day of the equinox, Professor Losh adds.

"Because of the refraction or bending of the sun's rays by the earth's atmosphere, the sun may be seen a few minutes before it actually comes over the horizon." The day and night are more nearly equal about three days before the equinox date.

Spring will come nearly six hours later than last year, Professor Losh notes. "This later coming results from the difference between the number of days in our calendar (365) and the time used by the sun in its apparent yearly travel around the earth, 365.2422 days."

After the equinox, not only will the days be longer, but there will also be warmer with the sun shining more directly over the northern hemisphere, Professor Losh says.

While Reverend Vanaman is away, Sunday services will be conducted by his associate preacher, Rev. James Patrick and two visiting preachers, Rev. Alger Lewis of the Avondale Baptist Church, Auburn Heights and Rev. Arvie DeVaney of the First Baptist Church of North Branch. Rev. DeVaney graduated from Clarkston High School.

People Warned Against Unlicensed Insurance Co.

In the last several weeks an unlicensed organization under the name of The National Liberty Life Insurance Company of Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, has been using full-page ads in Michigan newspapers in attempts to solicit insurance business in Michigan.

Attorney General Frank J. Kelly and Insurance Commissioner Allen L. Mayerson today jointly issued a warning to all prospective purchasers of accident and health insurance.

Commissioner Mayerson said:

"The ad makes all sorts of promises for a ridiculously small monthly premium that cannot fulfill the implications of the promises. It further advises that only non-drinkers are eligible and that the application in the ad should be filled out right away because the offer has a time limit.

"A license to operate an insurance company in Michigan costs nothing. All a company has to do is comply with the Michigan statutes governing operations of insurance companies. At present there are over 900 companies with 30,000 agents licensed in the state - more than enough to give all of us a choice of companies without resorting to one that is not licensed."

Attorney General Kelly said: "Because this company is not licensed in Michigan, neither the Attorney General nor the Insurance Commissioner has jurisdiction over it. We cannot prevent this type of advertisement in Michigan papers, nor can we ascertain whether the company has enough money to pay its claims, since it does not file a financial statement with the State Department of Insurance.

"If a citizen has difficulty with a claim, he will not be able to obtain the assistance of the Department of Insurance or the Attorney General's office. Citizens who have questions concerning whether an insurance company is properly licensed to do business in this state should contact Insurance Commissioner Mayerson for that information."

Companies licensed to do business in Michigan usually have offices and agents in the state. This company does not.

No date was set for the next meeting.

Housing Up-trend Continues for Third Year; Independence Township Included

The number of residential units authorized in the Detroit region during the 1964 calendar year was the highest annual total since 1957, and marked the third successive year since the 1954 peak year of nearly 45,000 units that the current year's total exceeded that of the year immediately preceding. According to figures published in the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission's annual summary report on housing authorizations, 29,168 new residential units were permitted in the four county region of Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Washtenaw during 1964, as compared to 23,570 in 1963. Prior to the up-trend which began in 1962, the number of new dwelling units permitted had declined continuously for seven consecutive years. Again as in both 1962 and 1963, the 1964 gain is largely attributed to an increase in multi-family housing activity. Nearly 4 of every 10 units permitted for construction during 1964 was in a multi-family structure. This 39 percent compared to 29 percent of the total activity in 1963 and 23 percent in 1962. The 1964 proportion of multiples to total units set a new all time high on the Commission books in both number and percent. This was 3,758 more than the previous milestone registered in 1963 when nearly 7,000 units or 29 percent of the year's activity was in the multi-family category. Multi-family units accounted for 68 percent of the units permitted in Washtenaw, 39 percent of Wayne's, 29 percent of Macomb's and 28 percent of Oakland's. All totaled, sixty-three of the region's 156 communities permitted multiple units.

valued at $4,484,020.00.

All indications seem to point up that the multiple housing cycle is still going strong and will run for at least a few more years. Occupancy rates of the new structures are running high with little time lapse between construction of the unit and moving in of the tenant. In addition, the mounting pressures for apartment development have resulted in several communities which did not allow such developments to make such provisions. In the City of Southfield, for example, apartment living only arrived on the scene during 1964 and already nearly 4,000 additional units are either under construction or proposed for construction in the near future, while in Troy, the first phase of a five-phase, 2,000 unit-apartment complex has gotten underway.

Township Permits

Permits were issued for 198 new houses by the Independence Township Building Department. Five houses were moved into the Township and 84 permits for additions or alterations were issued.

Three multiple dwelling units received permits, which added 80 apartments to the area. Permits were also granted for 82 residential garages.

Four new commercial and four additions to commercial permits were issued, as well as two for churches and four for miscellaneous.

This grand total of 386 permits is

R. Huttenlocher Named Treasurer

The Board of Directors of the Oakland Child Guidance Clinics elected officers at a recent meeting. Re-elected to the presidency of the Clinics for a second year term was Vernon E. Keye of Pleasant Ridge. Keye, the Director of the Wayne State University Mental Health Clinic and Administrative Director of the University's Health Service, has been active on the Clinics' Board since 1956.

Other officers re-elected were: Dr. Donald Trumpour, Rochester pediatrician, 1st Vice-President; Mrs. William J. Scripps, Bloomfield Hills, 2nd Vice-President; Mrs. W. B. Michaelson, Berkeley, Secretary; and Mr. Richard Huttenlocher, Clarkston Treasurer.

In other action by the Board, community at large representatives were approved for membership on the Clinics' newly created Day Care Center Committee. In addition to Board members Joseph Neff, Southfield Visiting Teacher, and committee chairman, and Reverend William Glenn Lankton, of Holly, the committee consists of Mrs. Frank Zuzich Royal Oak, a member of the South Oakland Friends and Relatives of Retarded Children; Mr. Hugh Graham of Pontiac, president of the North Oakland Association for Retarded Children; and Dr. Paul Tham, Director of Special Education of the Oakland County Schools.

The Board heard a report that applications for children for the Day Care Centers are being processed and when diagnostic studies are completed, the Centers will begin operation.

The Centers will be located at the First Presbyterian Church in Royal Oak and the A.M.E. Newman Church in Pontiac. Each will accommodate 12 children.

Miss Evelyn Johnson of Detroit, a 1963 graduate of Tennessee A and I State University, formerly a social worker at the Sophie Wright Settlement and substitute teacher in the Ecorse High School, has been hired as supervisor of the Day Care Center program. One children's worker, Mrs. Barbara Jones, has been hired and other applications are being processed.

The Centers will employ four children's workers and a supervisor when they are in complete operation.

News Notes from Clarkston High

John Merkel
Last Tuesday, several members of our musical cast went to Grinnell's in Pontiac to entertain at a rehearsal of the Pontiac Chapter of the Hammond Organ Society.

The group left the high school at six o'clock. They arrived at Grinnell's at about six-thirty and had a little time to practice.
Two hundred people were expected to attend the meeting, but, due to the weather, many members of the society did not show up. There was an audience of about forty people however.

After the performance there was a drawing for the music to My Fair Lady by Lerner and Loewe, the members of the cast were included in the drawing. A member of the society won the record.
The Chorus classes are now looking at music for their Spring program which will be presented in May.

Students in Mr. Lytle's English 12 classes turned in the names for their term or creative papers, whichever they will be doing.
They were okeyed or suggestions for other projects were made. He also asked if the students were sure they could get enough information about their subject.

Manic charts were handed back Monday in Mr. May's Problems of Democracy classes.

A "C" was given if all the basic requirements were fulfilled. To do better, a student had to do a proportionate amount of extra work.
Recently the Student Government sponsored a "Silence Day." This is a day when the students are supposed to talk only if a teacher speaks to them.

It didn't start off well at all. No one seemed to want to give up talking to their friends, etc., before school, between classes and during the lunch hours.
How is a person supposed to ignore his or her friends?

The fifth marking period was heralded in by fourth marking period six weeks' tests in most of the classes last Thursday or Friday.
With the advent of the fifth marking period, a new schedule system comes to the high school. This marking period, fifth hour classes will be held all week long.

Other classes will meet, as usual, four times a week.
Last marking period, the fourth hour classes met all week. Next marking period it will be the sixth hour classes that meet all week.

To Vaccinate Children As Protective Measure

The announcement of the Michigan State Medical Society's campaign to vaccinate children against measles may come as a surprise to a large segment of the public who consider it a harmless disease.

Why, you may ask, is measles all of a sudden a dangerous thing? The fact is, it isn't sudden; measles has always been a dangerous disease, and in some parts of the world, has accounted for as high as fifty per cent of the infant mortality rate.

In the United States, its great incidence - better than ninety per cent of the population will get measles and in all likelihood recover without complications - partially accounts for the belief that it is a normal part of one's childhood. Because so many recover, however, does not minimize the twenty-seven deaths it caused among 48,752 cases which were reported in Michigan in 1963. Reported is the key word not only here in Michigan but throughout the United States, where perhaps only ten per cent of the actual number of measles cases are recorded with health authorities. For this reason, its serious complications are undoubtedly more widespread than even the experts can verify statistically.

Measles can trigger fatal pneumonia... it can cause severe ear infections... and, perhaps most dreaded of all encephalitis, which may result in death or permanent brain damage.

Until 1963, there was no protection against this most highly invasive childhood infectious disease. Awareness of its more serious aspects would only have struck needless fear in the hearts of helpless parents.

Today, thanks to the efforts of such medical greats as Enders, Katz, Hillman, and Stokes, measles vaccines have been made available to doctors so the disease may be prevented and eventually eradicated. In praising these men and their accomplishments, however, we often fail to realize that we, as parents, really hold the key to the success of these measles vaccines.

And while our names will never embellish the pages of medical literature, parents can take pride in their prominent role in medical history as another killing and crippling disease of children is eradicated.

Local Man Named To OU Dean's List

Tor-Olav Hegland of 6085 Cramland Dr. in Clarkston, a junior at Oakland University, has been named to the Dean's List for the fall semester.

The total honors list includes 185 freshmen, 115 sophomores, 71 juniors and 68 seniors.

Editors Note: Mr. Hegland's achievement was erroneously listed under the heading "Local Woman, etc." in last week's issue.

Michigan Residents Bitten 900 Times

Young Michigan residents have yet to find their first rabid rodent, although they were bitten nearly 900 times last year by pet hamsters, squirrels, mice, rats, rabbits, gophers, and chipmunks, according to Dr. Donald Cochon, Michigan Department of Health veterinarian.

He said that a total of 893 examinations for rabies were performed on rodents by the Michigan Department of Health and Detroit City Health Department laboratories in 1964.

The most numerous species of rodents submitted for testing by worried parents was the hamster, with 261 examined. Next in frequency were squirrels, with 228 submitted for testing, followed by 192 mice and rats, 90 pet and wild rabbits, and 85 gophers and chipmunks.

"Not one of the 893 animals was rabid," Dr. Cochon said.

However there were 59 confirmed cases of rabid animals, including 29 skunks, 11 dogs, 7 cats, 6 cows, 4 bats, a fox, and a horse, he said. So far this year 10 cases of rabies have been found, including three cows, three skunks, three dogs, and one horse.

Read Fiber Labels When Purchasing

As you purchase new clothing for the coming warm weather, it is important to read the fiber labels attached to the clothes. The percentage or amount of each fiber must be listed on the hang tag or label according to the Textile Fiber Identification Act.

Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Home Economists state that these labels can help you judge the performance you can expect from a garment. By becoming familiar with the terms used on labels, you will know the resistance to wrinkling, shrinking and tearing. These tags also often offer suggestions for care - they state if the garment may be machine or hand washed or if it should be dry cleaned. By reading the labels on garments, you can take better care of your clothing and make it last longer.

Michigan State University Extension Home Economists advise that you save all labels and keep them together by your laundry area, so you can refer to them when needed.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

Because of the importance of this matter to all the citizens of Michigan, I want to quote for you the substance of the letter I wrote to Speaker Joseph J. Koyne and Senate Majority Leader Joseph D. Dzendzel concerning the proposed action of my proposed budget appropriation bills.

"I believe it would be fortunate to take such action at this time, and that the proposed is both timely and desirable. The proposed Democratic Caucus would be a serious imputation on hard-won fiscal responsibility. I believe it is important that we be thoroughly discussed before any action is taken. This should be a serious matter to us of what the consequences are and perhaps a lack of understanding of the reasons for the proposed procedure.

The proposed Democratic action would in effect remove key elements of the budget process, which are described in important regard to the constitutional requirements of the return to the old system. Michigan drops into a fiscal chaos and is probably the people called a constitutional convention.

I would call your attention to these fundamental principles and urge you to carefully consider them.

First, The Michigan Legislature was able to pass a new constitution and a new constitution in late spring, even though the bills were not available until this year. I understand that the Appropriations Committee is ahead of its pace.

Second, There is a considerable misapprehension constitutional law upon consideration of the constitution. There is a misunderstanding until the Governor's bills are accepted. The bills involving money bills for the purpose can be passed. It is not true. Any bill which is an item listed in the Governor's ment of the legislature's work. In fact 90% of the bills introduced so far can be enacted under the improved budget procedures as established by the Acting Governor's actions.

Third, Our bills have constitutional provisions which are not only sound but also are in the public interest.

Fourth, It is important to note that the proposed action would be a serious imputation on hard-won fiscal responsibility. I believe it is important that we be thoroughly discussed before any action is taken. This should be a serious matter to us of what the consequences are and perhaps a lack of understanding of the reasons for the proposed procedure.

such an entirely new program as costly as this one is exactly the point - a program with fiscal implications impossible to measure and as a part of the total budget and revenue picture.

The sense of orderly budget making and legislative procedure with respect to clearly established far-reaching authority. The basic principle of the constitution is to require the Governor to submit specific bills to the Legislature. It is not the Legislature's job to have the Governor's bills on their merits and to pass them. It is the Legislature's job to pass bills on their merits and to pass them. It is the Legislature's job to pass bills on their merits and to pass them.

needs of people."

Governor Romney Friday sent the following letter to Republican and Democratic party leaders of the Michigan Legislature:

Since our last joint meeting when I urged recognition of the need for tax reform now and a program of a mutually agreeable procedure for bipartisan cooperation, there have been a number of encouraging developments.

The need for tax reform now has been recognized and approved by both political party conventions. The resolutions adopted by the Republican and Democratic conventions stressed the importance of accomplishing fundamental tax revision this year.

But most heartening have been the initial steps this past week within your legislative caucuses pointing toward the establishment of legislative committees to develop a joint bipartisan program of tax reform.

I commend your leadership and your membership on these forward steps. They indicate the Legislature must be moved to proceed with the task of tax reform. I am confident that your efforts will be successful.

With your assistance to such a program, I believe the Legislature will be able to accomplish the task of tax reform. I am confident that your efforts will be successful.

I trust this information will be of help to you. I am confident that your efforts will be successful.

Family Insurance

Family insurance in 1965 reflects the limitless variety of activities, cares and concerns of modern life. You can buy insurance to cover innumerable kinds of risks - spend just a few dollars to meet almost any need you may have. If you want to purchase life insurance, you should be able to find a policy that is desirable for you and your family. Life insurance would be a more than you could afford to lose. It is a way to protect your family's future. It is a way to protect your family's future. It is a way to protect your family's future.

when buying insurance. The first step in finding a sensible program for your family is to get all your policies together and look them over. Next, carefully assess your resources - savings, social security, property, and human resources. Then, on the basis of this appraisal, consider which kinds of policies would be most serious for you and which risks you can best afford to bear out of your pocket. If you are ready to learn more about the kinds of insurance protection that are available, find a good agent is probably the most important step to take.

Riding With Rover

Some dogs just don't like to ride in cars and others get car sick. Either type will make a miserable passenger. However, you might be able to lessen or even eliminate the situation. Your dog's unhappiness might be caused by static electricity. A static belt hung from the axle and touching the pavement has cured many dogs of car sickness. It has also made riding pleasant for other dogs.

Veterinarians now have calming drugs for excitable dogs. If your dog actually gets motion sick consult the veterinarian for a remedy. Usually the drug recommended will prevent motion sickness for as much as 8 hours.

Some dogs insist on having their heads out of the window while riding. The experts at the Purina Pet Care Center advise you never to permit this. Bits of grit may easily be driven into his eyes. Or, your dog may get nasal and eye inflammation just from the wind. Either make him keep his place in the car or close the window most of the way.

If Rover is driving out of the country with you, don't forget to check health requirements. Canada requires a health certificate and a rabies' vaccination certificate. Or, if you and your dog travel down Mexico way, your dog must have been vaccinated against rabies within the past year. A few precautions will make it a happier trip for both of you.

Students See "Jack and the Beanstalk"

On March 12 approximately 1150 students from the fourth, fifth and sixth grades of the Clarkston schools saw the Wayne State University Children's Theater production of "Jack and the Beanstalk."

Each spring for the past four years the Clarkston Community Women's Club has underwritten these productions. The Players provide their own sets and costumes for the play.

Two performances were given at the Junior High School to facilitate the size of the audience.

Previous plays have been "The Wizard of Oz", "The Emperors New Clothes," and "Hazel and Gretel."

Short on Highway Safety

Motorists who continually make the same driving errors will eventually run afoul of the law of averages. The Institute for Safer Living says that the same error may be repeated once or many times before the driver encounters a set of conditions which are exactly right for producing an accident. The motorist is never safe until he corrects any errors that may sooner or later trigger an accident.

12-6 RECORD FOR CLARKSTON VARSITY

By Mel Vaara

Clarkston closed their basketball season with a frustrating loss to Waterford Kettering in district play and ended with a fine record of 12 wins, 6 losses.

Coach Harold "Bud" McGrath did an outstanding job as varsity coach. Many observers felt Clarkston was the most improved team in Wayne-Oakland play, and had the season been a little longer Clarkston could have been W.O. League champs.

Other outstanding achievements include McGrath's coaching are Gary Pearson's 31 points against Claremoreville. This ranks Pearson sixth best in Clarkston basketball history with 18 points per game rank him fifth in Clarkston basketball. His 409 points in two seasons of varsity basketball rank him eleventh in the history of basketball at Clarkston.

In field goals percentage wise, Dan Fife averaged 44% ranking him third in that department.

Gary Pearson made 68% in free throws ranking him in seventh place in that category.

Dan Fife's 333 points in one season puts him in fifth place, while the top scorer against Claremoreville was the third best in the history of basketball at Clarkston.

J.V. FINISHES WITH 8-8 RECORD

The Clarkston Junior Varsity Basketball team finished the season with an 8 wins, 8 losses record. Their coach is Jim Davidson.

Mark Erickson was top scorer with 255 points, averaging 16 per game.

Next with 175 points was Randy Nicson and Allan Murtz with 104. Mark Richards ended with 69 points to his credit.

Richards led the team in rebounding with 80, followed by Mark Erickson with 75.
