Planning Commission Reports on Progress

Township Government to be Explained

Thomas Jefferson once remarked that township government was the wisest convention ever devised by the wit of man for the perfect exercise of self government.

How much do you know about the inner workings of this form of governing body - its structure, its purpose and the many ways it touches upon your pattern of life in today's society?

In an effort to better inform area residents of the important role township government plays in our overall government structure, The Clarkston News wishes to introduce a new column, "The Clerk's File," by Independence Township Clerk, Howard Altman.

As a prelude to any specific township operational information, Altman commented that he would like to make a few personal observations to first establish a generalized background of purpose for such a column.

"Because of the daily pressure of our way of life," he said, "too few of us have complete basic knowledge and understanding of township government, its structure, responsibilities and implementations. The township is not merely a tax collecting unit which may issue building permits, adopt an occasional ordinance, conduct elections, hold a board meeting to hear petitions or pay the bills. . . Township government is business . . . and Independence Township is your business."

To begin with it might serve well to identify a unit of government as it has been referred to and as it applies. The township is a unit, the Village of Clarkston is a unit and the Clarkston Community School District is a unit, as is the state, county, etc.

A person residing in the village is automatically a resident of all three units mentioned and pays taxes to all three. Each of the units operates separately and independently and exists as a result of the constitution with statutory responsibilities and authority as well as limitations.

The Clerk's File will deal strictly with township functions. Future items will touch upon: the township board, its members, terms and duties; township ordinances, kinds and enforcement; township planning commission, membership and duties; Board of Appeals, Board of Health; and Township assessing, what the law requires.

Other topics will include township officers, elected, appointed, terms, duties; township fire department, service and personnel; the township water department, its operation, maintenance program, equipment and service; township elections, how they are conducted, personnel, training, precincts, laws and township police protection; county home rule; and legislative and congressional districts as they may relate to the township.

Township government is "your voice at home." It is hoped that in addition to generally informing the public, a revitalized interest may be stirred and a degree of understanding about local government conveyed to area residents.

In the brief fifteen months since its formation, members of Independence Township Planning Commission have laid a firm foundation for effective future area growth. Proper development of available home and other building sites, control and correction of signs and unsightly junkyard locations, zoning recommendations and the application for Federal assistance in conjunction with the 701 development program head the list of accomplishments.

According to commission secretary Delton Lohff, application for the two year 701 project is now being processed in Lansing. When completed the overall township master plan program will incorporate plans for land use, transportation, revised zoning and zoning ordinances.

The planning commission meets once a month for study with the Development Planning Company of Pontiac and conduct public bi-monthly meetings for review of subdivisions and zoning changes.

During the past year nine subdivision plats have been recommended for approval for development and building. These include Cranberry Lake Estates Number Three, Waterford Hill Golf Estates Number One, Clarkston Hunt Club, Clarkston Hills Estates, Pine Knob Acres, Allen Woods Estates, Hartwick Village, Waterford Hill Manor Number Two and Waterford Hill Manor Number Three. Four other subdivision plats are in the process of being reviewed.

The planning commission have worked a total of twenty zoning requests. Of these, six were recommended for approval, seven denied and seven have been tabled for further study.

Procedures set up by the group for subdivision plat submittal now call for review of construction plans and inspection of actual construction of storm sewers; water distribution systems, sanitary sewers and lot grading by the township engineer. The purpose for this new process is to protect home owners and to restrict future possible township liability problems.

Another facet of planning commission study has been sign control amendments to the zoning ordinance covering residential, commercial, recreational and agricultural districts.

Currently involved in the auto junkyard problem, planning commission members are attempting to find a suitable location which can be re-zoned and thereby eliminate this community eyesore.

Serving as chairman of the planning commission is Joseph Rhoades; vice chairman is Harold Bauer and Delton Lohff holds the position of secretary. Completing the list of members are Frank Reynolds, Gerald Anderson, Irving Fleming, Richard Johnston, Stanley Radoye and William Parker.

Pair Arrested Following Grocery Store Hold Up

Quick action and alertness on the part of two Clarkston residents resulted in the arrest of armed robbers last Saturday following a hold up of the Stagecoach Grocery in Springfield Township. The unidentified customers, who entered the store immediately following the hold up, described the get-away car and noted the license number.

Alerted Waterford police spotted the vehicle on Dixie Highway. Assisted by the state police, the arrest made less than half an hour after the hold up was made at a road block set up on Telegraph Road.

Held in Oakland County Jail are James Johnson, 23, and his companion, Beverly Lynch, 18. Both are from the Flint area. Charged with armed robbery, the pair will appear in court April 7 for arraignment. Bond had been set at $10,000.

A butcher knife, matching the description of the one used at the scene of the crime, was found on Johnson.

More than $100 was reported to have been taken from the store.

Applications Being Processed for C.C. Annual Township Meeting Saturday

The Admissions Office of Oakland Community College has begun processing the applications of upwards of 1100 students seeking admission to the College for the September session. Dr. John E. Tirrell, OCC President, announced today.

Additional applications for admission are being received daily, Dr. Tirrell said.

A total enrollment of 3,000 is expected to begin classes on September 7 at the College's Auburn Hill Campus in Auburn Heights and "Lakes" Campus at Union Lake.

To assist each student in program planning, placement tests will be administered Saturdays at Pontiac Northern High School, Admissions Counselor Ned Brodbeck disclosed.

Students are being notified by mail of their test date and time, Brodbeck said.

Men who give in if wrong, are wise; men who give in if right - are married.

Independence Township's annual meeting, open to the public has been scheduled for this Saturday at one p.m.

Budget figures for the coming fiscal year will be aired for consideration. Other matters which may be discussed include the re-affirmation of the appointments of the township attorney, engineer and auditors. Dates for township board meetings to be held during the coming year will be announced.

Pancake Supper Next Monday

Members of the Clarkston Rotary Club will don their aprons Monday, April 5 as they wait on tables during their annual Pancake Supper.

The serving will begin at 5:30 p.m. at the Clarkston Center, 90 N. Main in Clarkston. Tickets will be available at the door.

date for their annual calendar sale. Proceeds have been designated for the library fund.

In 1954 the library was only an idea. The idea materialized in 1955 and now the library, housed in a small white building beside township offices, plays an important role in community life.

A new addition to the facilities offered by the library is a story hour for four and five year olds, held the second and fourth Thursdays of each month. Programs planned by Mrs. Bell Hanson, are open for all interested youngsters.

Listed in the calendars offered for sale is information on community activities, dates of meetings, as well as birthdays and anniversaries. They may be obtained from club members or at the May 1 Village Sale.

In the magic of books young children are transported to all parts of the world and for brief periods of time can live with story kings and princesses, with people of other lands and begin the learning process that lasts a life time. Because of the annual calendar sale and through continuing support of the Women's Club of Clarkston, this world of books will continue to grow. Shown above, glancing through some of the books available to area children, are club members (left to right), Mrs. W. E. Kushnani and Mrs. Ronald Balowick who are co-chairmen of the calendar sale and Mrs. Douglas Kuechle, co-chairman of club listings for the sale.

How the power of God operates in human affairs is explored in this week's Bible Lesson to be read at all Christian Science churches. The Golden Text is from Luke (18:27):

"The things which are impossible with men are possible with God."
Several dramatic examples will be read from the Bible, illustrating the availability of divine power in overcoming the discordant conditions of material existence. The subject is "Unreality." Citations from the Christian Science textbook will include these lines: "From full of accounts of the triumph of Spirit, Mind, over matter. . . . When man is governed by God, the ever-present Mind who understands all beginning to end, the Scriptures are things, man knows that with God all things are possible" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, pp. 139, 180).

Dennis Herrall, shown above with one of the many trophies he has acquired during the past seven years, takes his roller skating abilities seriously. Under the auspices of the Roller Rink Operators Association, he has appeared in numerous amateur events throughout the nation.

A Clarkston High School senior, who nearly was "born on roller skates" hopes to combine a college education and career in roller skating instruction following his graduation next June. Dennis Herrall, 18, developed a love for roller skating at the age of four and one-half and has many awards and trophies to show that that love has not diminished.

Introduced to the sport by his cousin, Dennis began to actively participate in competition meets at the age of seven. Included in his awards are five National Plaques, 19 trophies and 55 medals which have been acquired in competitions throughout the country.

Diane Grassi, a student at Waterford High School, has been his dance partner for the past six years and he has had as his dance instructor, Lauren Patton of the Pontiac Rolladium teaching staff.

In addition to skating, Dennis finds

News Notes from Clarkston High Know Your Michigan Law

Early Monday morning a group of students left the high school for a field trip to the State hospital. Mr. Rice and Mr. May were in charge of the group. They had the use of a school bus for the trip. Last week was "Inger Week" at the high school. The Freshman class announced the winner of the bucket brigade in a special assembly held last Friday.

Inger spoke to the student body about some of the things she had done while here, and of some of the questions she had been asked.

Another exchange student from Sweden who is currently living in Grosse Pointe was also present and said a few words at the assembly.

Term papers on subjects previously selected by the students were due Tuesday at 3:00 p.m. in Mr. May's Problems of Democracy classes.

The classes have spent several periods in the library working on them.

Miss Williams' Chorus classes are working on the music for their Spring program. The final choice of music will be selected by the class's themselves.

The Forensics contest was held during school last Thursday. As usual, the English teachers were the judges for the local contest.

What is Forensics? It is an annual contest wherein students have a chance to demonstrate their speaking abilities into five areas:

Declamation is open only to ninth and tenth grade students. In this area a student delivers a speech originally written and given by someone else on another occasion.

Extemporaneous speaking is usually the smallest area. In this area a student is given four general areas to cover. An hour before the speech is to be given he chooses four exact topics. He must select one of the four topics write and deliver his speech.

Original Oration is just that. The student writes a speech and delivers it. In this case, however, he has several months in which to work on it.

In the Interpretative Reading category, the students are given a list of the cuttings that have been selected and they choose one. They do not memorize anything in this area, they merely read it, with expression.

The final section, Humorous Reading, is usually the largest category. Like Interpretative Readings, a student selects a cutting from a list and reads it, with expression, before the judges.

The winners are: Declamation: 1st place, Paul Taylor; 2nd place, Hugh Rose. Extemporaneous: 1st place, John Slade; 2nd place, Gary Pich. Original Oration: 1st place, Arnold Taylor; 2nd place, Jeanne Slinkard. Interpretive Reading: 1st place, Jody Srother; 2nd place, Charlene Bachand. Humorous Reading: 1st place, Paul Walker; 2nd place, Penny Cook.

These winners will go on to compete in the district contest.

By Attorney General Frank J. Kelly

(This is a public service article explaining in general terms a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult a private attorney.)

In recent months there have been several newspaper stories relating to reforms in the bail bond system in criminal cases. Since most people never attend a criminal trial except as a spectator, they probably feel that this subject is of no particular concern to them.

As I have pointed out previously, however, everyone should be aware of their rights in the event they are ever accused of crime.

In addition, studies which have been made of the bail bond system in recent years, indicate that the system may be far more costly to the general public than is necessary.

In Michigan, the right of a person accused of a crime to be released on bail has been guaranteed since our first Constitution of 1835 which provided, "All persons shall, before conviction, be bailable for sufficient surties, except for capital offenses, . . ."

For many years, however, there has been dissatisfaction with certain aspects of the bail bond system. Studies which have been conducted in various cities in the United States have concluded that the present system of bail discriminates unjustly against the poor. As one author put it, "Poverty itself has often become a punishable crime."

In addition from a public standpoint, the cost of detaining prisoners before trial has become extremely expensive, both because of the actual cost of detaining the prisoner and because the prisoner is no longer able to earn a living and support his family, which sometimes has to go on welfare.

The studies and pilot projects which have been conducted have shown that in an overwhelming number of cases persons who have jobs and families and roots in their community can be released pending trial, merely on their own promise to appear for trial.

Because of the wide-spread concern over the defects of the bail system, Attorney General Robert Kennedy convened a National Conference on Bail and Criminal Justice in Washington in May of 1964. From that conference, a 15-member Executive Board was appointed to assume leadership in developing regional conferences and channeling assistance to communities which are willing to undertake development of programs of bail reform. Chief Justice Thomas M. Kavanagh of the Michigan Supreme Court is a member of that Board.

Michigan has become one of the leaders in this program through the appointment of a Committee on Bail and Criminal Justice created for the purpose of studying bail bond practices in Michigan. The Committee includes Chief Justice

Kavanagh and myself, as well as representatives of our law schools, Bar associations, judges, and police.

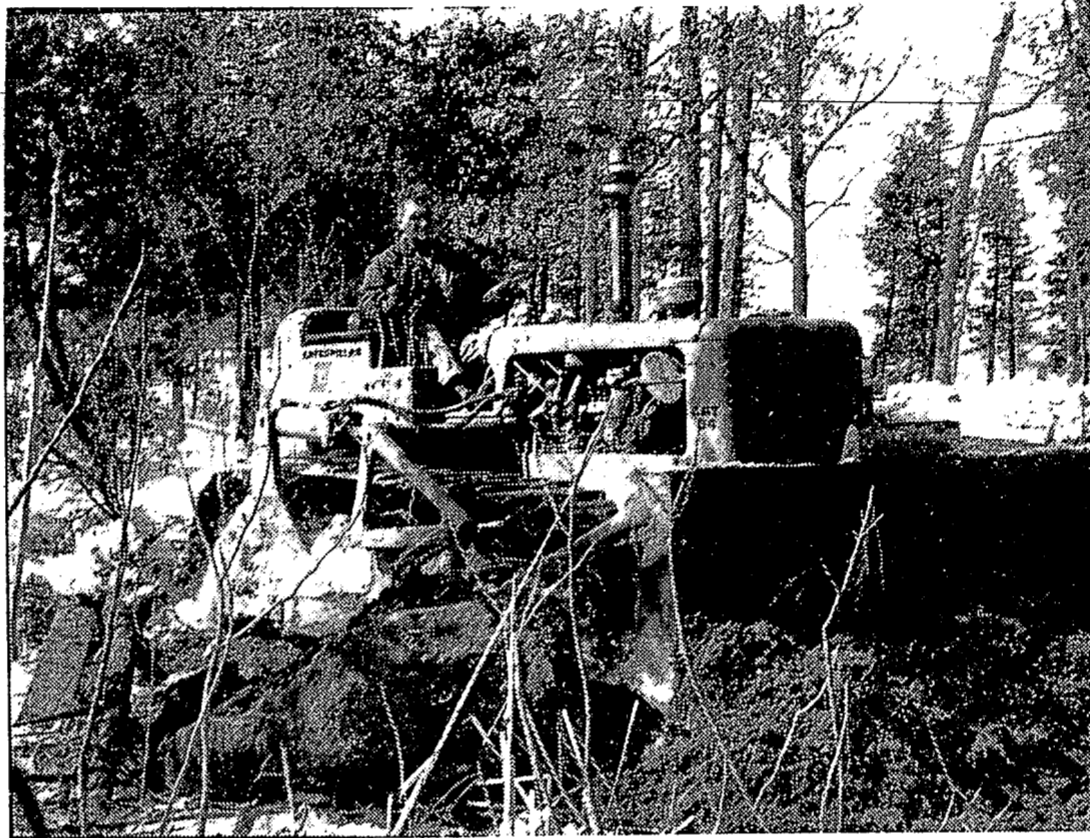

The program which the Committee is developing is not intended solely for the benefit of the indigent defendant. It is intended, rather, to help all who unfortunately become involved in crime. It will be particularly helpful to the middle income group who have payments on homes, a family, and other responsibilities facing them.

Earth moving machinery such as that shown above helped Oakland County Sportsman Club accomplish an area first last Saturday. In co-operation with the State Conservation Department a six foot deep, three acre spawning area was dug and planted with adult pike furnished by the Conservation Department. Plans call for the "fry" to be released in Townsend Lake where eventually they will work their way into the Clinton River.

Formulating groundwork plans for the project were Henry Vondet, a state fish biologist and Conservation Committee Chairman Joe Rhoades. Machinery and help were furnished by the Oakland County Earth Movers Association; Shauncey and Robert Costello, Ralph Oberle of International Sales and Service of Oak Park, Robert Dunn and the Dody-Harrison Equipment Company of Holly.

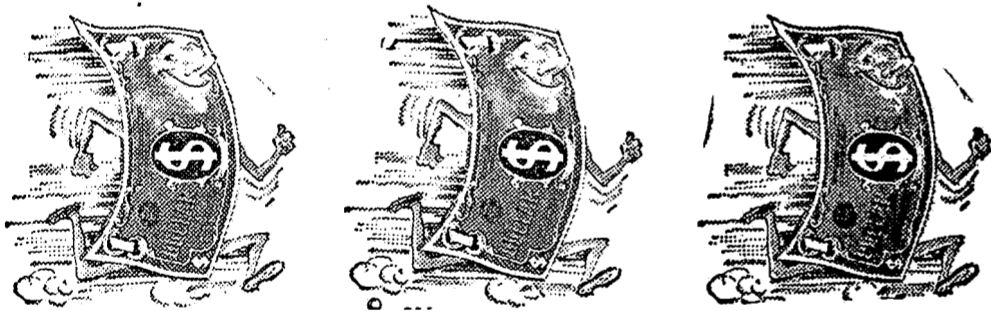

A symbol of quality. Ever since the first Sanders store opened in Detroit in 1875, the familiar "Sanders Script" has been a symbol of quality to folks who like good-things-to-eat. There's an element of pride in this signature; the pride of a man who is sure that the contents of any box bearing his name are the finest that quality ingredients and skill can produce.

You can be proud to give Sanders Candy for birthdays, anniversaries, or for any occasion. Take some home with you, too . . . enjoy "Candy at its Best!"

New Teaching Topic of P-TA

Mr. Philip C. Hilaire, reading consultant for Oakland County Schools, will be guest speaker for the Clarkston P-TA April 8, at 7:30 p.m.

His subject will be the Initial Teaching Alphabet (ITA), being used experimentally in Oakland County to teach beginning reading. One of the most extensive ITA programs is being carried on in the Waterford Township District.

The written language used in ITA, which has 44 symbols instead of 27, is designed to make more clear the letter sounds in the English language. With ITA 2,000 different spellings of letter sounds in the language are reduced to approximately 75.

Mr. Hilaire who has been working with ITA since it was introduced in England in 1961, learned the process from its inventor, Sir James Pitman, grandson of Sir Isaac Pitman, inventor of shorthand. He later returned to his home town of Bethlehem, Pa., to help start what is now this nation's largest ITA program.

At present he is associate director of a comparative study of methods of teaching reading in Michigan which is being conducted in the Oakland County Schools under a grant from the U.S. Office of Education.

A Navy veteran, Mr. Hilaire received his M.A. degree from Lehigh University and has done additional graduate work at Temple University and the University of Michigan.

Included in his heavy schedule are five-week workshops for teachers on the use of the new alphabet. One of these courses is currently being held after school at the Clarkston Junior High building.

Members of the Oakland County Juvenile Court are appealing to families in all communities to help them find homes for children living in the court facilities.

There are approximately 40 to 50 children between the ages of 5 and 17 years who should be living in foster homes but because there are none available, have to remain in the various court institutions.

They are not all blonde, blue-eyed well-behaved darlings, but children who have problems because of previous neglect and experience in extremely unhappy home environments. Experience has proven that these children can adjust to normal happy family living situations if the people with whom they live can show love and patience and the necessary guidance.

Anyone who wishes to board children must have their home licensed, a simple procedure with which the Juvenile Court assists potential boarding parents. When you accept a child into your home you receive a weekly allowance of $11 to help pay costs. Clothing, medical care and dental care are also provided. But most important, if you can give love, patience and understanding, you'll be providing a real service to a needy child, to yourself, and to your community.

For further information please call or write the Foster Care Department of the Oakland County Juvenile Court, 1200 North Telegraph Road, Pontiac, FE 2-8313.

Summer Flying Program

Announced by C.A.P.

Civil Air Patrol has announced that it will introduce flying training into its cadet program this summer when a selected group of male cadets from 50 states will receive powered flight and soaring flight instruction at a summer flying encampment at Elmira, New York.

Eligibility for this flying training program is based on the qualifications necessary for the other special cadet summer activities currently operated by CAP. Subsequent flying training will include female cadets.

Col. Joe L. Mason, national commander of Civil Air Patrol, said a flying program for cadets "has long been needed" and will afford CAP's 48,800 male cadets an opportunity for a "complete aerospace age training."

Complimenting the CAP National Executive Committee on its decision to initiate the flying program, the veteran Air Force officer said he was "extremely pleased", "as his chief objective upon becoming CAP national commander in August, 1964 "has been to obtain more positive and active flying program for the Civil Air Patrol".

The program, to be held in July, will offer three courses; a two-week glider pilot training program, a three to four-week powered flight course, and a one-week glider pilot orientation course. Up to now CAP cadets have received only orientation flights. This program will make it possible for a cadet to obtain a Federal Aviation Agency private pilot license or a private glider pilot license, depending upon which instruction course he attends. Two classes of eight cadets each will be selected for the glider pilot training course, twelve cadets will be selected for the powered flight course, and sixteen cadets will be selected for each of the glider pilot orientation courses to be held.

The powered flight instruction is tentatively scheduled to be conducted at the Chemung County Airport and the soaring flight instruction conducted by the Schweizer Aircraft Corporation Soaring School of Elmira will be held at Harris Hill Soaring Facility. CAP will virtually take over the Harris Hill facilities in July with the cadet students following a quasi-military schedule during their stay there. CAP officers will command the cadet encampment, with USAF officers from CAP national headquarters at Ellington AFB, Texas supervising and assisting.

Civil Air Patrol, a civilian auxiliary of the USAF, will finance the $20,000 program from corporation funds. The cadets will be required to pay only for their meals at the encampment. The United States Air Force will provide transportation to the cadets to the encampment.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

In view of recent developments in the Legislature in regard to Senior Citizen's Homestead Exemptions, I believe it is important that this time that there be complete understanding of the impact of such legislation if enacted at this time.

I am in full accord with the objective of developing an adequate program of property tax relief for our senior citizens. It is for this purpose that I appointed a blue-ribbon committee, chaired by Alfred Pelham, which will be submitting its recommendations not later than April 15. I have repeatedly pointed out the desirability of awaiting the committee's counsel and recommendations before proceeding upon a course of action.

But there are additional considerations even more fundamental in character to this issue. Fundamental to the welfare of every citizen of Michigan is the protection of our reputation for fiscal integrity on which our ability to meet the needs of all the people depends.

At every available opportunity in my communications with members of the Legislature, I have pointed out the necessity of avoiding a course of action that will plunge this state back into deficit, deficiency and difficulty.

This warning has been devoted primarily to the area of state spending, where my recommendations for the coming fiscal year, related to foreseeable minimum needs of the subsequent year, leave no room for significant increase without being prepared to take tax action.

Now we have a proposed Senior Citizen's Homestead bill before the Senate, passed by the House of Representatives and originally described by its authors as costing $18 million. Recent examinations of the bill by experts indicate it could cost as much as $40 million.

It must therefore be obvious that the addition of an entirely new spending program of such magnitude to already record budget recommendations cannot be accomplished without making additional revenues necessary this year. Thus far there is no genuine evidence that those supporting the senior citizens relief legislation are prepared to raise the revenue required to pay for it.

A cause for equal concern at this time is the budget procedure --

SPORTS

By Mel Vaara

Clarkston Junior High recently completed a successful dramatical basketball program with 202 boys taking part. Each of 16 teams making up the League participated in a double elimination tournament. Junior coaches responsible for the program were: Bill Benne, Tom Phillips, Barry Wheeler, Bill Morgan, Bill Potvin, Gordon Grice, Cliff Irwin, Don Coeper.

Volleyball and table tennis are scheduled next. Other spring activities include: softball, tennis, track and possibly golf.

All junior high coaches should be commended on their work, for they are an important cog in any school program and play a vital role in developing the athletic prowess of the boys under his supervision.
