Feather, who has placed in more than a dozen golf tournaments throughout the United States, embarked upon her golfing career at the age of eight. It was at this time that her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Frechette, developed their land into the Clarkston Country Club where Feather has since spent endless hours improving her golf game.

"For a couple of years I just hit the ball around," the petite eighteen year old young lady remarked. "I didn't really take the game seriously until I was about 12."

It was at this time that Feather began developing her talent under the capable instruction of a professional teacher. Mike Dietz, at Indianwood Country Club, Now an avid golfer, her unending cycle of daily practice was to become a way of life for the young teenager.

Teather's faithful practicing be-; gan to pay dividends early as she began placing in junior golf tournaments. Among these early achievements were the National Junior Tournaments, the Western Junior Tournament, and the State Junior Tournament.

More recently, her golf honors have come from tournaments at Tam-O-Shanter in Orchard Lake. Jackson Country Club (where she won consolation) and the State Championship Flight. In the last tournament she placed among the top eight, qualifying her for the quarter finals.
