

Phone change-over will be October 2

A new $1.5 million dial telephone system on U.S. 10 at Maybee Road in Clarkston will be placed in operation at 12:01 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 2, the Michigan Bell Telephone Company announced.

Charles B. Woodhead, area manager for Michigan Bell, said the modern dial switching equipment, which will replace older facilities at 10 1/2 South Main, will provide improved service for the growing Clarkston community.

The new dial system will enable the company to offer Touch-Tone pushbutton phone service to Clarkston customers.

Woodhead said the changeover will require several changes in dialing procedures and number changes for nearly 1,300 of Clarkston's 3,000 customers. In addition, all Clarkston customers will receive all-numeral phone numbers beginning with the prefix, "625."

New directories for Clarkston, Oxford-Leonard and Lake Orion, containing the new numbers and dialing instructions, will be mailed to customers. A special Clarkston alphabetical directory also will be furnished to Commerce, Drayton Plains and Pontiac customers.

Beginning at one minute after midnight on Oct. 2, Clarkston phone users no longer will dial the numeral "1" first when making message unit calls to Auburn Heights, Rochester and Walled Lake. Clarkston phone users, however, will continue to dial the numeral "1" first when making long distance calls.

After the change-over, the number for information will be 411 instead of 33-411. The new number for repair service will be 611 instead of 33-611.

A new dial tone, somewhat lower in pitch than the present signal, will be put in service at the same time. The new tone can accommodate both the conventional dial signals and the musical tones of Touch-Tone phones. Callers can hear the new dial tone by dialing 625-2679.

Touch-Tone service, enabling callers to tap out numbers on pushbuttons faster than twirling traditional dials will be available to all Clarkston customers.

"The principal advantage of the new, optional service is speed," Woodhead said. "With pushbutton phones, callers can tap out numbers in two to five seconds. Normal dialing time requires eight to 14 seconds."

The additional monthly charge for Touch-Tone service is $1.50 a line for residential customers and $2 a line for business customers. A onetime installation charge of $5 is made for each type of service.

The new instruments are available in desk or wall models. There is no charge for color phones in the Touch-Tone line.

When dialing message unit or long distance calls, Clarkston customers with one and two-party service no longer will give their phone number to an operator. The new switching equipment will record all details of calls automatically. Rural customers will continue to give their phone number to an operator.

Excessive speed causes 2 accidents

Billy Harvey, 33, of 4832 Clintonville road, Pontiac lost control of his car on Maybee road one night last week. The accident occurred one half mile west of Sashabaw in which he received Type A injuries. When he hit his dimmer switch, his foot hit the accelerator which stuck. In trying to release it, the car went out of control, struck a guard rail and went into the ditch. There was considerable damage to the front end of the car, however the driver was not hospitalized.

A Clarkston driver was cited for driving too fast, for following too closely and for not having his vehicle under control as a result of an accident which occurred last Thursday afternoon.

Driver dozes, car crashes

A Clarkston driver told sheriff's officers that he fell asleep causing his auto to go off the road and hit a tree early Sunday morning. The accident occurred on Orion Road just east of Ortonville road at 3 A.M.

Injured were Donald Parker, 33 of 6171 Ascension in Clarkston and his companion Rebecca McLane, 26 of 8453 Parshalville Road, Fenton.

William Swayne, 19 of 6419 Shapie, Clarkston damaged the front and right side of his car as he tried to stop when another car stopped to turn left in front of him. The other driver, William Schroeder, 39 of 2535 Prehont in Pontiac was stopping as he saw Swayne trying to brake and skid sideways. Swayne skidded off the roadway and hit a bank and culvert.

Oakland County sheriff officers investigated both accidents.

New sounds, new alphabet for school beginners

A pilot project in the Clarkston Elementary schools which was started last year has been so successfully received that this year it has expanded to all but one of the elementary schools in the system. Known as I. T. A. it assures success in reading at an earlier stage. The theory is that with a simpler alphabet the youngster grasps the sounds much easier--hence the name Initial Teaching Alphabet.

It is now being taught at Clarkston Elementary, Andersonville, Bailey Lake and Sashabaw. It will have to be delayed at Pine Knob until a qualified instructor can be obtained.

Children trained under this new system seem to be much more ready to handle the traditional alphabet. They do not experience reading failure in their first attempts. Instead of the usual 26 symbols and many, many sounds, the child now deals with 40 sounds. Parents have been most enthusiastic about their children's progress under this new plan of study.

The school system this year is participating in 3 Federal programs to assist education. Under the Title I program a course is being conducted in Remedial type reading--this is an expansion of a program conducted here last year.

Under the Title II program, much library assistance is being gained. It is a library program in which a great many library books will be received. Some of them are now beginning to arrive.

Three Clarkston teachers are now at the County office receiving training to administer the Federal government's Type III program. It will deal with Language Arts in Reading. They will return here and set up the program. Experienced teachers, they will have charge of it in the Elementary buildings, Junior High and the Senior High.

Enrollment figures were released from the Clarkston Community schools on Monday which show a steady increase in the number of pupils.

The elementary registration shows a gain of 147 pupils over last year. There are 3,413 pupils enrolled in the grades broken down as follows:

Andersonville	576
Clarkston El.	741
Pine Knob	863

Sashabaw	408
Bailey Lake	825

The Clarkston Junior High has a total enrollment of 921 and the High School has 1341.

School officials are still hoping for an end to alternate day sessions in the High School, but work is being delayed for lack of materials supplied to the Mechanical contractor. It is hoped that full day sessions may be resumed next Monday.

Jaycees assisting voter registration

The voter registration drive in Independence township was given a big boost by the announcement that Clarkston Area Jaycees would be working with Township Clerk Howard Altman to tally up as many registrations as possible prior to the November election.

Plans are now complete for a mobile unit to receive registrations on three consecutive Saturdays. This week Saturday, September 24 the Jaycee sponsored booth will be at the Pine Knob Shopping Center area. The following Saturday, October 1st, it will be located at the M-15 Shopping Center and on Saturday, October 8, they will be located in the Village of Clarkston. These areas will all be open from 10 A.M. until 3 P.M.

If there are areas or subdivisions who are desirous of holding a garage registration, arrangements can be made for same by calling Mr. Altman at the township office.

The Jaycees are still hoping for the donation of a house trailer to be used during this drive. If readers have a trailer which they wish to loan, they are urged to contact Bob Jones or Dick Welton.

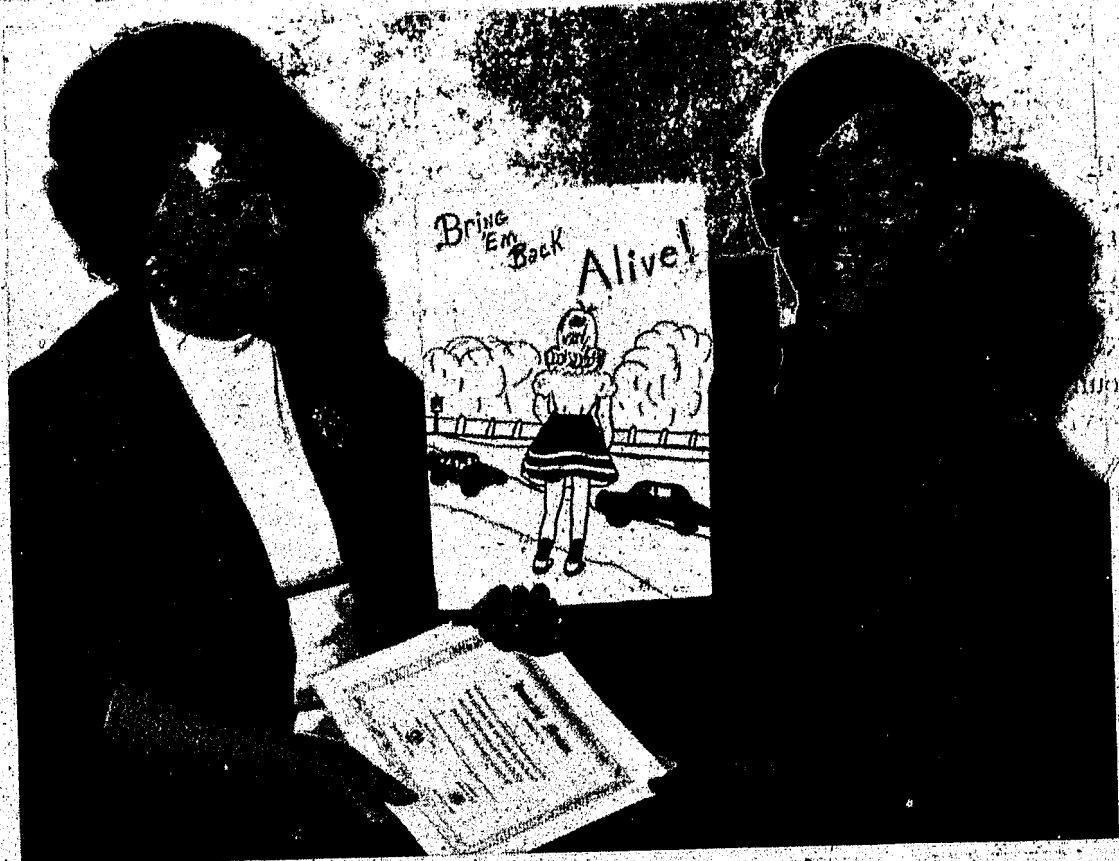

Clerk Altman wishes to remind area residents that if they have not voted in over 2 years, they must re-register voting in school elections does not count. If voters have moved from one township to another they must also register again. The last day for registration prior to the November election is October 10 at 5 p.m. Registrations will be taken Monday through Friday at the Clerk's office from 9-12 and 1-5.

One of the main projects of the Women's Club has been the support of the Independence Township Library. In 1965 the Township assumed responsibility for the operating expenses of the library. The club recognized a continuing need and initiated a special fund to provide for expansion and to aid further development of the library facilities. Again this year the members sold calendars and Monday morning presented a check to the library for a continuation of the program. Pictured at the ceremony are (l. to r., front row) Mrs. Kenneth Valentine, Mrs. Ronald Balousek and Mrs. Philip Smith. In the back row are Merle Bennett, Mrs. Glenn Bernor and Rev. Alexander Stewart.

"I still can hardly believe it's true!" said Mrs. Onalee Allen when notified that she was the second winner of the Albert-Pick weekend. Here she poses with her children, Robin 5, Kathy 8, and Gary 11. Robert Clark of Clarkston Standard Service where the winning ticket was drawn congratulates the winner and her family. This week's winner is Mrs. Stewart Wanke of 9733 Norman, Clarkston. She deposited her ticket at Taylor's 5 & 10¢ store to become the final winner.

Thirteen-year-old Curtis Robertson, of 6042 Sunnydale, Clarkston, was presented an honorable mention certificate for a traffic safety poster entry in the Michigan Press Association's "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" contest. Dee O'Connor, Clarkston News advertising salesgirl is seen making the presentation. It was judged the best selection entered through the Clarkston News. The poster contest was held during the summer to promote interest in traffic safety. It was sponsored by the Michigan Press Association with the cooperation of Automobile Club of Michigan.

state police--associated with the emergency numbers.

Woodhead urged parents to point out this page to their children to familiarize them with the symbolic emergency numbers.

The covers of the new directories include four scenes depicting "Water-Winter Wonderland," Michigan's slogan.

Woodhead said some 6,000 directories will be delivered in Clarkston.

Dan Fife "33" proved to be as much a running threat as a passing threat in the game Friday night against Oxford. He scored the winning touchdown in the final quarter as he swept around the right end. Above, he gets off a long gain as pursued by 3 Wildcats. Clarkston won 18-12.

short of the cross bar. In the 2nd quarter Clarkston had the ball on the 49 and Fife had Clarkston moving again, Mark Erickson ran for 7 yards. Fife hit Mark Richard for 10 yards and Tom Allen for 16 more. Erickson ran for 6 more, but the drive bogged down and a 4th down to pass Erickson fell incomplete in the end zone. Dan Fife intercepted an Oxford pass on the 46. Fife hit Tom Allen for 7 yards. Erickson caught a pass for 25 more. Fife ran for 15 more but the drive stalled again. It was no fault of Fife though as he called a beautiful play and tossed a screen pass to Erickson. Mark had an army in front of him but the blockers failed to block and one Oxford player filtered in to nail Erickson.

A poor kick by Roger Miller produced Clarkston's 2nd td. Fife passed to Allen for 10 and ran for 8 and on the 3rd play he passed to Allen on the 20 and Allen lateraled the ball to Erickson and he covered the remainder of the yardage for 6 points.

The 3rd quarter was filled with poor punts by both sides. Clarkston's average was 4 yards and Oxford's was 9. Most of the game action was played around the midstripe with neither team gaining any momentum.

In the 4th quarter Tim Kelly of Oxford thrilled the 2000 spectators with a beautiful 75 yard touchdown run. The play started innocent enough, a simple screen pass with Kelly almost trapped for a large loss, however he cut to the left and to the right and ran right by all 11 Clarkston boys. Almost everyone had a shot at him all without success. This boy Kelly sure has ability to run with the pigskin. As Coach Kenyon stated, "His beautiful run along with poor tackling almost blew the game for us."

Dan Fife being the clutch player that he is, directed Clarkston on a 91 yard march for the game winning touchdown. All 91 yards were gained on running plays. Mark Erickson continued to run well and Gary Wade had a nice run in the drive. The boy who came through for Clarkston was Cecil Caverly. He certainly ran with reckless abandon. He had runs of 8, 11, 5 and 9 yards.

Fife culminated the drive with a run of 27 yards around right end. There was only 3 minutes left on the clock, not enough time for Oxford to sustain a march.

This was certainly a team effort, but certain boys stood out well with their fine play. Mark Erickson ran for about 70 yards and cer-

OFFENSE - OFFENSE - this is the key word in the Clarkston plan of success on the gridiron field. The score read only 18-12, but both teams and mainly Clarkston tossed numerous scoring chances out the window by fumbles, pass interceptions, poor blocking and penalties.

The 1st half was an exciting brand of ball and the fans were thrilled with the performance by both teams. The 3rd quarter was a little drab; however to the delight of the spectators the action picked up in the last quarter.

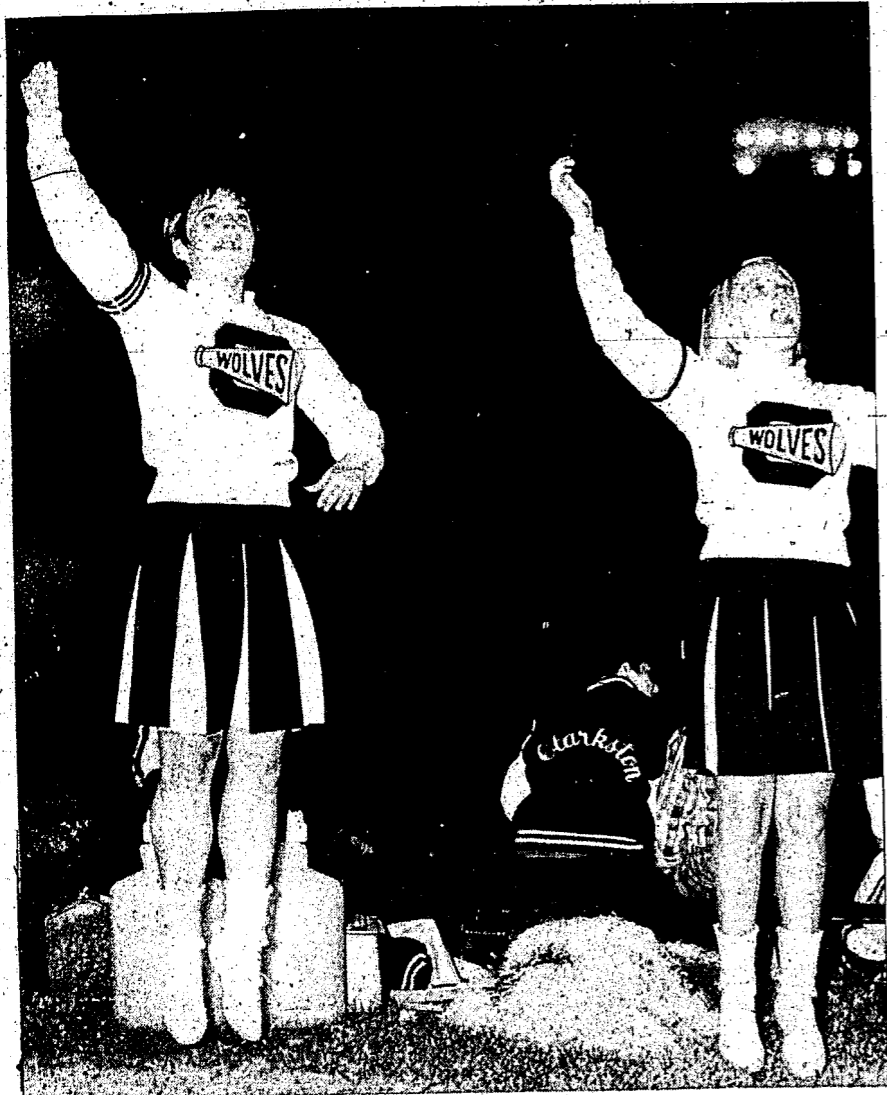

The 1st quarter started out with neither team wanting the ball. Mark Erickson recovered an Oxford fumble on Oxford's 27, but on Clarkston's 1st play from scrimmage Fife fumbled the ball and Oxford recovered on their own 28. Clarkston held and Oxford was forced to punt. Gary Wade of Clarkston couldn't handle Roger Miller's punt and Oxford had the ball again on Clarkston's 40 yard line. Oxford moved the ball to Clarkston's 14 and the stout Clarkston line held. Dan Fife started the Wolves moving by lugging the ball 23 yards and also completing a pass to Richard Bass good for 10 yards.

But on their own 40 the drive stalled and Lyle Walter was sent in to punt. The pass from center was poor and Lyle was forced to eat the ball. It was Oxford's ball on their own 45.

It was here Oxford moved the ball with relative ease. Tim Kelly and Don Schutz ate up most of the yardage with runs around Clarkston's right end. With the ball on the 3 Brian Edgett on a quarterback keeper ran the last three for a td the kick by Miller was wide.

20 seconds later Clarkston tied the score on a beautiful give and go pass play from Dan Fife to Tom Allen. The play covered 73 yards. The play was even more amazing as Tom Allen outran Oxford's high touted sprinter Tim Kelly to the goal line. Rich Johnson's drop kick fell

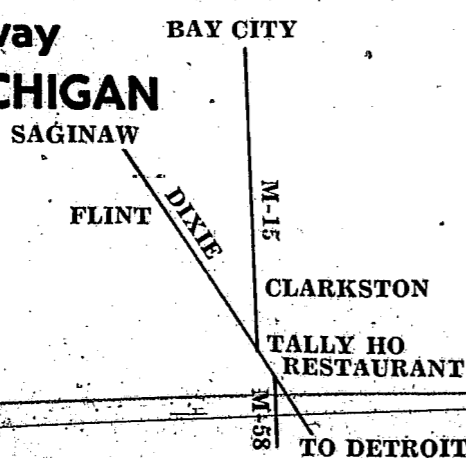

There was lots to cheer about in Friday night's game with Oxford. Here, Caroline Giles, a Senior and Jan Peters, Junior spur the Clarkston rooters on. It was the first appearance this year for the Cheer-leading group.

Have you visited a Red Cross bloodmobile recently? If so, you have, no doubt, noticed the "P.R. gals." They're the smiling ones in blue. You might call them Blood Program Volunteers. They try hard to make you comfortable and before you know it, you're saying to yourself, "Why, giving blood is a snap!" They enjoy their duties of registering and serving in the canteen, as much as you enjoy their company.

But, because Red Cross provides blood for 108 hospitals in a five-county area, many more blood program volunteers are needed. Would you have one day a week to spare? Sign up as a Red Cross Blood Program Volunteer. Call FE 4-3575.

Controversy is good

We feel that this newspaper's efforts should continually be directed toward building a better community. A community we share with you should grow and prosper.

And so from time to time this newspaper will be taking a stand against something or someone. Some people may think that we are searching for sensationalism just so that we can sell papers. We feel that controversy is the measure of an energetic, healthy community. We don't think that anything should ever happen to interfere with our want to know which things and why and how. That's controversy.

Sensationalism amounts to nothing more than over-the-fence gossip. We make every effort to avoid sensationalism. Gossip undermines that essence of moral wholesomeness which is sacred to all of us; our privacy. It excites people like dust in the wind. Nothing is accomplished, except for the dirt that falls on the community. To us, that is sensationalism.

We do not take our responsibility attached to our right to speak out on controversy lightly. We feel that our efforts should continually be for the benefit of the area. Therein lies the difference between sensationalism and controversy.

Ripples from the Pool By Faith Poole

Since mid-June when the Clarkston News moved to a new location, we have had a new telephone number. In spite of our best efforts toward public relations we can't seem to stop the operators from telling that our phone has been disconnected. No one will be happier than the Clarkston News to have our new number listed when the new directory comes out shortly. For the past two weeks we have had a constant rash of people telling us that the phone company is still telling that our phone has been disconnected. If they tell you that--give them a good argument. Nothing could be more foolish than a newspaper without a phone!

The Clarkston Jaycees are really keeping busy these days. This week we are announcing their plans to sponsor voter registration mobile units as well as the plans for their upcoming Chicken Bar-B-Q.

It was a lonesome house I went home to Monday night, as her father took our youngest to college that day. Occasionally irked by the constant music, telephone ringing and the seeming disarray of everything, last night I would have welcomed any of those sounds. Even our poodle seemed to sense that this departure was to be of longer duration as he sought attention from both of us. I often wonder what the thoughts of house mothers are as these returning students descend upon them.

We come begging once more--this time for early copy! Due to space limitations and type setting, we can do a much better job with your news if we receive as much as possible by every Friday for the coming week's publication.

O'Shaughnessy and I

by Dee O'Connor

It is always nice to add the warmth of new acquaintances to our intangible wealth of friends. Isn't it wonderful that limited funds do not mean limited friendship? For we all know the price of friendship is only to first be a friend. We have met so many lovely people since being here in the Village it is like inhabiting another world.

How adventurous is a solitary walk through an old deserted house or field, but we are also a devotee of our hearthside set with a crackling fire, a good book, soft music and the contentment of knowing the ones we love are safely tucked in for the night. In our family we share common interests but we all have our diversified dreams. I fancy our Elfin furniture in the flower box mystifies the viewer but I'm sure our Kevin could give them the source.

Our wee ones are still a seed of the plant of per-

10 YEARS AGO IN THE CLARKSTON NEWS

The Clarkston schools have opened this year with a 15% increase in enrollment over last year. There are now 2648 students enrolled in the school system. Some of the elementary students are on half day sessions until the steel strike is settled. Eighteen buses are in operation.

The ladies of the First Baptist Church met recently to organize a Missionary Society.

Mrs. Fred Hancock won the trophy for the low net for the year in the Clarkston Golf Club Women's league. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Frechette had low score in the Scotch four-some.

Mrs. Dorothy Houghton of Red Oak, Iowa, the national chairman of "Citizens for Eisenhower" visited in this area recently. She spoke to groups in both Flint and Detroit.

25 YEARS AGO IN THE CLARKSTON NEWS

Last week Mr. and Mrs. D.M. Winn attended the state convention for school superintendents and their wives at Traverse City.

The Rotarians are having an open meeting with a speaker on Township and Village zoning. This subject is of such vital interest to every property owner in this vicinity that everyone is urged to attend.

T. F. Mitchell is the proprietor of the building on Dixie Highway which will house a Dairy Bar and offices on the first floor and living quarters for the Mitchell family on the second floor.

Present world events have aroused interest among the former members of the Legion Auxiliary in this vicinity. In order to keep the organization alive and so hold their charter a number of the former members met recently and elected officers. President is Mrs. Charles Roehm.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

We are pleased to tell you that Curtis Robertson, one of your entrants in the Michigan Press Association sponsored "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" traffic safety poster contest, is receiving an honorable mention for his work.

We're enclosing Curtis's poster and a certificate of honorable mention so that you may personally present them to him if you wish.

The first place winner of the contest was Kathy Harmer of Grand Blanc. She received the $100.00 U.S. Savings Bond for her winning poster.

The contest was judged by Harry Weinbaum, President of Michigan Press Association; Captain Donald Downer, Michigan State Police and John Coppin, noted Michigan artist and Motor News Art Director.

On behalf of the Michigan Press Association and sonality and have been told they become a composite of places they've seen, persons they've known, and things they have done. We are hopeful they will be ever conscious of the material they select to weave the tapestry of their lives.

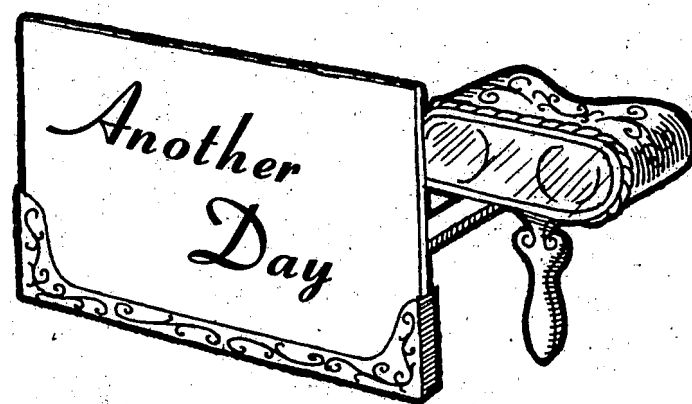

A family is somewhat like a gigsaw puzzle. The pieces must fit or the picture is incomplete. Since we each go separate ways during the day, time together in the evening is more precious. One tends to become a little selfish and forget that only love shared is worth having. It never has to be replenished but can be used again and again.

O'Shaughnessy and I have been wandering about a bit so if you come upon us do stop for a chat. We would like to know more of you and yours.

Till next week we say "May the appetite of your soul be ever watchful of its diet".

Automobile Club of Michigan, I would like to thank you and your paper for the support you gave this safety poster contest.

Sincerely,

Back in the early pioneer days of Independence Township, they had wet bees and dry bees and this didn't have a thing to do with the insect world. A wet bee was a work bee where hard cider and similiar drinks were served for refreshments to the neighbors who came in to help with the work of raising a cabin or a barn. Of course, there were dry bees, too. It depended on the finances and inclinations of the man for whom the work bee was being held. There was rarely any cash in the pockets of the early settlers and working together was a necessity. Often the wet and dry opposing factions would each take a different wall of a building and vie with one another to see who got done first. We don't have any records of which side had the most winners.

These affairs weren't all work or all liquid refreshments. The women took part too, bringing baskets of food to share with the other families and taking time to catch up on all the news and gossip. And in 1839, one important topic of conversation would have

Reaching out . . . .

-PRAYER AND PRAISE-

Lord, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations. Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God. Psalm 90:1-2.

In the Old Testament books of the Law and the Prophets, in Exodus, Deuteronomy, Micah, Isaiah and in many others, God speaks to man to guide and to restrain him. But in the great book of Psalms the reverse is true; here man speaks to God in prayer and in praise. Here he cries out for release from the burden of his lesser self and for light upon his path. Thus the Psalms spring from life and speak to life.

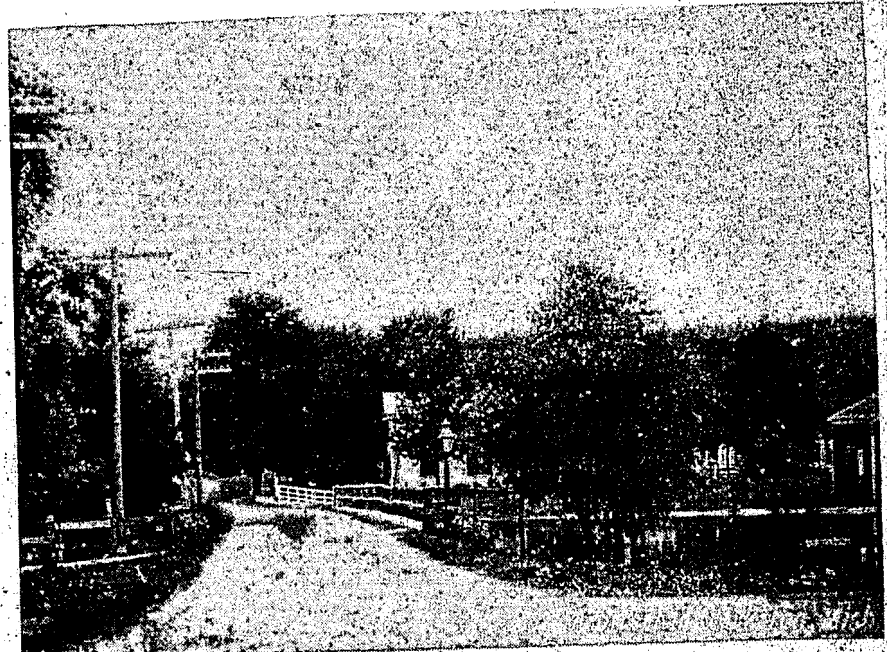

The Psalter is the Golden Treasury of Jewish poetry and it is eminently true that of all the masters of thought and speech it is the Hebrew poets that we understand with the deepest intimacy. The Psalter was the hymnbook of the Temple at Jerusalem in Jesus' day; it came to be the hymnbook of the early Christian Church and the primer of its basic religious teaching and later still, the hymnbook of the Church Universal. Few other books have entered as deeply into the life of man.

That Jesus was a student and a lover of the Psalms we are very certain. The hymn which He and the twelve Disciples sang in unison on the occasion of their last evening together on the Mount of Olives just outside Jerusalem was the Hallel, that great song of praise in Psalms 113-118, and one cannot fail to sense the spiritual affinity which exists between the beauty of the Teaching of Jesus and the devotional tone of the work of the Hebrew poets and sages which were before Him.

Man cannot live by bread alone and in the Psalter the spirit of man, Jew and Gentile has through the centuries found those realities by which men really live.

Eternal God, our Father: Blessed be Thy name from this time forth and for evermore. From the rising of the sun to the going down thereof, Thy name is to be praised. Amen.

Looking west down Washington Street, there was still an old oil street lamp standing in the center foreground around 1914. The flume that turned the mill was behind the tree at the left.

The Clarkston Mill stood at the end of the alley that runs between the Clarkston Bank and Rudys Market almost in front of the Hawke Tool Company.

passable mud paths in the spring. So when the railroad came through the Depot Road was laid out and planked. It was one thing for the townspeople to have their wagons stuck but the merchants and hotel owners wanted to encourage all the trade and passengers that got off the train at Clarkston. The sidewalks were planked and remained so even into the early 1900's. Wood splinters must have been hard on little bare feet and the long skirts of the women, but with lumber so plentiful it was cheap and easy to make repairs.

And then it was decided to put in street lights. Of course, for years the store owners and businessmen had hung lanterns on the corners of their buildings and above the doors. Then the village fathers voted that it was time for progress to take another step, and about 75 years ago, it became the favorite pastime of little boys to follow the lamplighter as he made his rounds at dusk, climbing the tall black posts and lighting the oil lamps that cast a soft yellow glow over the Clarkston streets. And these lamplighters continued to make their rounds for a long time, almost until the beginning of World War I, when a more modern type lamp was installed. An innovation certainly not as picturesque as the lamplighter.

These old oil lamps were ripped out and tossed in a swamp near Depot Road where, fortunately, some of them were rescued. The Ellsworth home at 55 N. Main, the former King residence, has one still standing in the yard.

"Doll making" hobby occupies many happy hours

By Faith Poole

It would be difficult to count the little hearts that Mrs. Forrest Jones has delighted with her hobby of "doll making". But hundreds of little girls are happier because this kindly lady took up the hobby of doll-making many years ago to fill her retirement hours.

Through the years she has made many different kinds, but of late months she has settled more on the soft dolls that can be cuddled and outfitted in corduroy in gay colors. She purchases the real-life faces, completes them with real hair, fashions their clever gowns and hats and collars and cuffs trimmed with sequins and pearls, but it is her husband who constructs the doll's body.

Mrs. Jones, who smilingly tells you that she has been an area resident for over 70 years has many other hobbies besides the doll-making. Hooked and braided rugs have been her specialty too for many years. Both Mr. and Mrs. Jones are members of the Clarkston Pioneers and attend their monthly meetings.

The parents of 3 sons, two who live in Clarkston and 1 in Drayton Plains, they also have 13 grandchildren and 2 great grandchildren. Before moving to their present home at 80 N. Holcomb street, they resided on a farm north of the village.

Approximately 15 years ago she started making the dolls for her grandchildren—it has expanded into almost a full time hobby. She sells a few and gives many away—the mailman has been a recipient as well as the News reporter.

She saves and gathers material from wherever she can. Almost anything is used for the stuffing—the intricate detailing on the bonnets is carefully hand sewn. The original pattern for these she received from a friend in Oxford.

Since their retirement the couple have travelled some, but mostly they like to stay close to home and keep their fingers busy on a project that will delight youngsters for a long time.

Surrounded by countless dolls which they have constructed Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Jones have had this hobby for many years. Note the intricate detail on the bonnets all done by hand by Mrs. Jones. Mr. Jones displays the frame for the doll's bodies which he constructs.

Police Chief to serve on state committee

Mr. Robert Phillips
Chief of Police
Clarkston, Michigan

Dear Chief Phillips:

Law enforcement agencies face more problems of greater seriousness today than at any time in the history of organized society.

Our association spearheads the activities of these agencies, here in Michigan, and it is vitally important that we plan wisely and work expertly together against the various "disturbers of the peace" who are arrayed against us.

Our success is going to be dependent on committee work and action. In making committee appointments I have chosen men with long years of service who have demonstrated the vision and the ability that is essential to accomplishment.

I therefore appoint you as a member of the Michigan Liquor Control Advisory Committee, and ask that you serve in that capacity throughout the current year. Advise me soon of your acceptance. I in turn pledge you my fullest possible cooperation.

Sincerely,

Local woman now stationed at San Diego

Lieutenant Colonel Essie L. Dowler, who was a member of the first Woman Marine Recruit Training class in March 1943, reported to the Marine Corps Recruit Depot here last month and assumed the duties of Assistant G-1 (Personnel).

Colonel Dowler, the daughter of Mrs. Essie B. Lucas, 38 East Washington Street, Clarkston, Michigan, was also a member of the first Women Officers Class to receive regular commissions in the Marine Corps in 1949.

Prior to coming here, Col. Dowler served as Assistant Head, Personnel Procurement Branch, at Headquarters of the 12th Marine Corps District in San Francisco.

She began her career as an instructor at the Motor Transport School at Camp Lejeune, N.C. and later became noncommissioned officer-in-charge of the Motor Transport unit at Oahu, Hawaii.

She was commissioned a second lieutenant in June 1949 and became commanding officer of the Woman Marine Company at Headquarters Marine Corps, Washington, D.C. In 1951, she was assigned Adjutant of the Marine Corps Depot of Supply, San Francisco.

She has also served at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C., on the Inspector-Instructor's staff, 1st ANGELICO, New York, and at the Marine Corps Air Station, El Toro, Calif., from 1961 to 1964.

Col. Dowler attended Western Michigan University, at Kalamazoo, and received a bachelor of science degree from George Washington University, Washington, D.C., in 1961.

She is married to Chief Warrant Officer Murray G. Dowler, USMC (Ret). Her two brothers, TSGT. Frank M. Lucas, and A1C John H. Lucas, are both on active duty with the U.S. Air Force at this time.

Magazine sale starting at CHS

Clarkston High School again is launching the annual magazine sales.

The Junior and Senior classes will undertake the challenge of covering the Clarkston School district in hopes of selling as many magazines as possible.

The students benefit from this undertaking in two ways. The money that is earned is deposited in the class treasury and the students are given 'points' which can then be used to pay for their senior trip and other graduation expenses. Also, the top salesmen will be given an opportunity to select from a large variety of prizes.

The magazine sales program is a fine opportunity for parents and friends to renew their subscriptions, as well as take care of Christmas presents for those hard to buy for individuals.

New phone service explained at PTA

The Clarkston Elementary PTA heard a discussion and listened to a presentation of what to expect in the way of telephone service when the new building is placed in operation on October 1. The first meeting of the year was held last week and Eugene Greek, Commercial Operations assistant at Michigan Bell spoke to the group.

Mr. Greek showed slides from the time of the ground-breaking at the new facility until the present. The group enthusiastically received his presentation in which he explained the changes that will be made and the types of service to be offered. He also informed the group that ground was broken last week at Walled Lake for a similar building.

Bring 'em back ALIVE!

WCS to hold kickoff luncheon

September 28 will mark the beginning of the 1966-67 year of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church, Clarkston. Church women are urged to attend the Kickoff meeting which will be held at 12:30 with a luncheon at the Church. A very interesting program has been planned with Mrs. McIntyre as the speaker.

Those in charge feel that it should be of interest to everyone. They state that "this is the opportunity to become more active in the Church; to renew old acquaintances and to make new friends."

Saddle club plans dinner and ride

The Dixie Saddle Club would like to extend an invitation to all horse people to attend a pot luck dinner and ride at the Dixie farm on Sunday, September 25 at 1 p.m. Those attending are asked to furnish their own hot dogs, buns and a dish to pass.

There will be special events for the children.

Riders who are unable to get trailer transportation for their horses are urged to contact Trevor Wingfield or Louise Weeks. Arrangements will be made for trailering the horses for a small fee.

Your Dental Health

For about 10 cents a year, your children can have teeth that last a lifetime.

It has been proved beyond any doubt that if a person drinks fluoridated water for the first 10 or 15 years of his life, his teeth will have added resistance to tooth decay.

Tooth decay for these people will be only one-third to one-quarter as much as that of persons whose drinking water is fluoride deficient. Further, the evidence is that fluoridation also reduces the incidence of malocclusion (faulty bite and crooked teeth) and periodontal (gum) disease since children with decay-resistant teeth are less likely to develop other dental problems. The benefits of fluoridation last throughout a person's life.

To achieve these remarkable results, a city need only add a tiny amount of fluoride to its water supply, a procedure as easy to do as it is to add chlorine.

The cost--about 10 cents a year a person. A whole lot less than the cost of a single filling.

Fluoridation not only is effective, but it's absolutely safe. Its safety has been checked from every conceivable angle. In fact, fluoridation is probably the most thoroughly tested of any public health measure we have ever had. Scientists have investigated its effects on growth reproduction, heart and circulation, on the kidney and on the thyroid gland. More than 8,500 scientific reports have been reviewed, and the measure given a clean bill of health.

Here are just a few examples of the kinds of tests that have been made:

--A ten-year study was made in Bartlett, Texas a town whose water naturally contains eight times as much fluoride as the recommended level. Persons who had been drinking this water for over 36 years were compared with residents of nearby Cameron, whose water has nearly no fluoride. There were no differences in death rates, blood pressure changes, arthritic conditions, sight or hearing, tumors, cysts, bone fractures or hormone disorders.

--A pathologist reported that a 25-year autopsy study in New Britain, Conn., revealed fluoridation may actually help prolong life.

Three of the most widely known names in American medicine have added their approval--Dr. C. W. Mayo, head of the world renowned Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn.; Dr. Benjamin Spock, famed pediatrician and author of books on baby and childcare, and Dr. Paul Dudley White, noted heart specialist.

Some 50 million Americans drink fluoridated water, including our President--for the water of the nation's capitol is fluoridated. Two-thirds of all major American cities have it. Yet millions of our children are still deprived of this important health protection.

Beauty for the asking

By Eva Wethington, Beauty Consultant

When your business is beauty, and mine certainly is, you have to be on top of fashion trends.

Take lipsticks, for instance. The "no-lipstick" look, according to experts, is absolutely gone. In its place are the beautiful clear colors--bright, but not gaudy; coordinated, rather than matched to the latest costume colors.

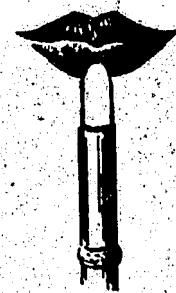

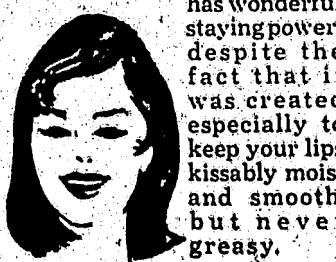

And, your very own mouth, without exaggerated outlines, is high fashion's latest happy edict. If you're not a dyed-in-the-wool lipstick-brush user, you can still get the same neat lip-outlines with a new easy-to-use lip-liner in a slim gold case.

Down-turned, upturned or pressed thin, your lips reveal almost as much about your personality as your eyes. The wrong color lipstick can harden your whole face. Let an expert help you select your new lipstick wardrobe. I'll be delighted to help.

Once you've chosen a lipstick color best suited to your needs, select a matching lip-liner. Carefully trace the outer lip line with the softly pointed liner. Complete lip makeup with the newest double-triple-creamy lipstick.

For dramatic effect, use two shades--a light liner and darker lipstick, or vice versa. Incidentally, this new double-triple-creamy formula has wonderful staying power, despite the fact that it was created especially to keep your lips kissably moist and smooth, but never greasy.

If you're wondering about the rest of your makeup, write or phone me and let's get together for a free hour of beauty. O.K.?

Hidden Wipers — A Pontiac Exclusive

An industry "first" and an exclusive for Pontiac Motor Division, concealed windshield wipers are one of the special features of the 1967 Pontiac. This system parks the wipers in a cove below the hood line imparting a new-uncluttered look to the windshield area (top photo). In addition to the appearance improvement, an obvious functional advantage of the new design is the fact that the windshield glass may be cleaned more easily than in past years. Results of extensive testing in engineering cold rooms and in severe winter weather (bottom photo) reveal that the wipers clean the windshield better and faster than ever before. Engineers explain this improvement evolves because the blades being parked in a cove, ice is not apt to form on the lower sides of the blades making blade "break away" easier.

Conservatory Staff, Director denote extensive background

by Dee O'Connor

How wonderful to know that in this world of cold commercialism a place as truly quaint as the building and rustic grounds of "The Clarkston Conservatory of Music" can speak out and be heard above the din of every day life! The amazing fact that it is located on the Main street of the Village only adds to its charm. From the moment you enter the vine-covered little red brick house until you leave a feeling of quiet tranquility permeates the air.

The lingering scent of mock orange which grows along the old world fence with its unusual square stone pillars that completely surround the yard lends a magnetism to your footsteps. As you are drawn up the flower bordered walk you become aware of a winged cherub figure placed among the foliage by a local shoe cobbler thirty years ago. The previous inhabitant's love of vegetation led him to plant greenery for each shoe repaired; consequently the grounds are covered with trumpet vines, wood violets, myrtle, ivy, lilac, fern, and honeysuckle. As if this were not enough to startle the eyes of the beholder, placed naturally throughout are evergreen, hickory, cherry, crabapple, peach, mulberry, chestnut, and smoke trees.

Excitedly I rang the old fashioned bells at the front door and was welcomed warmly by Ivan Rouse, the charming director. He invited me into the low-ceilinged sitting room in which a stone fireplace flanked by well-filled book shelves dominated the area. Both sitting room and adjoining office were further enhanced by the furnishings of a by-gone era with the decor throughout being pure basic and appealing.

Some pieces of sculpturing, paintings, and a picture of Chopin and also of the late Edward Bredshall, a former teacher of Mr. Rouse gave mute evidence to the artistic background of my host. This remarkable young man of local origin who teaches piano at the conservatory has had extensive experience in his chosen field. From 1948 to 1951 he was a student at the Art Center Music School in Detroit. Until 1953 he served as choirmaster-organist at the United States Army Chapel and as accompanist with the Symphony Chorale at Yokohama, Japan. He was also active in our State Department Cultural Program and served as organist and choirmaster at St. Margaret and St. Mathias churches in Chicago. For eight years he held the position of musical director of St. Andrews Episcopal Church at Drayton Plains. He is currently on the faculty of Birmingham Conservatory of Music.

His parents Mrs. Rouse of 6428 Waldon Road, Clarkston and the late Ivan Rouse Sr. resided in the house previous to his birth. The conservatory was established by him in 1959 for the purpose of preparing serious young students for college level work.

A dedicated, qualified staff assist him. Ballet students are taught by Mary Elizabeth Frizzell who has to her credit performances in concerts throughout Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, and Canada. Also in Detroit and nearby communities with Jon Rodriguez for whom she was substitute teacher in ballet and pointe classes. She has also filled the role of co-choreographer and featured dancer. Teaching credits are the Vanguard Theater Workshop and Julie Ader School of Dance.

Flute is taught by Kathleen Grulick, a protege of Albert Tipton who is first solo flutist with the Detroit Symphony. She has been teaching five years, two of which have been spent here.

One of her students, Ellen Simmons of Walled Lake, won the Walled Lake Rotary Scholarship to Interlochen. She is with the Jewish Community Center orchestra in Detroit.

The south room of the building with its original hand blown miniature glass windows holds two lovely grand pianos. A concert for an audience of sixty was presented here in February of 1960. The young American violinist John Fredrickson, with Delores, his Polish born wife at the piano showed true artistry in their presentation.

Taras Hubicki also uses this room for instruction in violin and guitar. This gentleman of extremely high standards was given an introductory concert in Clarkston at "The Spillway", home of Mrs. Frank Lambert of 43 N. Main Street. He is an honorary representative of the Royal Academy of Music in London, England, and licentiate of the Royal Schools of Music, violist with the Detroit Symphony, instructor at Birmingham Conservatory of Music and on the staff of Meadow Brook for the last two years.

Voice is handled by Geradine Snapp who is soloist at Christ Church, Cranbrook and has soloed with the Buffalo Symphony.

Adele Thomas, a Clarkston resident and organist at the local First Methodist Church is theory teacher. She holds a masters degree in theory from the Detroit Institute, and is also staff accompanist at Mercy College.

Complete involvement in their work is the theme. A 1962 concert was presented with dancers Iskandar Singh and Ermine Vart, members of the Detroit City Ballet Company. Other participants were Dennis Moffat, Chicago pianist; Geradine Snapp, dramatic soprano; Fred Marten, tenor; and Lois Stoddard, Mezzo.

Two recitals, one in 1963 and another in 1965 were given at the School Theater in Clarkston. The most recent concert given there in January of this year presenting Dennis Moffat the pianist was attended by two hundred and seventy-five persons. It was an exceptional number due to the extremely cold temperature that night.

In March of 1965 they presented the first program of music for three pianos in the Midwest. It was held in the Clarkston High School's Little Theater. The artists were Sally Dow who studied under the late Edward Bredshall and also studied six years at the Paris Conservatory. Norman Gifford graduate of the Julliard School of Music where he studied with George Barrere and Jacqueline DeMoor and was musical consultant at the Library of Congress for many years. The third pianist was Ivan Rouse Jr.

A planned outdoor concert at the conservatory was cancelled because of rain. A seating arrangement for two hundred guests had been assembled on the three terraced back lawn.

A complete circular effect is achieved by a partially enclosed stairway in the house, which leads to an upper floor consisting of six individual classrooms.

Cupboards used as storage area and a piano are in the old fashioned kitchen which has a small balcony overlooking the back yard. Its primitive beauty is home to such wildlife as woodchucks, raccoons, pheasants, squirrels, and many species of bird life encouraged by the small bird houses hung throughout the many trees. Their happy song mingles with the lovely sound within. The prevailing atmosphere creates an ideal setting for teaching the eighty students from Clarkston, Union Lake, Walled Lake, Waterford, Drayton Plains, Bloomfield Hills, and Oxford. One has the feeling of a complete blending of music and nature.

The historical little house was also the first home of the "Clarkston Arts and Crafts" who were previously known as The Village Friends of Art. Monthly meetings held there were later held at the town hall. The Clarkston Village Players were born of this group.

Methodist Church to the north and home of the local shoe cobbler were early inscriptions on the proud little sign now proclaiming "The Clarkston Conservatory of Music".

As I bid a reluctant farewell the tall stately pine at the front door and the director with his sensitive awareness of life extended an invitation to return. With a creeping nostalgia already tugging at my heart I'm sure it will readily become one of my chosen hideaways for meditation.

The figure of St. Cecilia, the patron Saint of Music, which was donated by the father of one of the students seems to bestow her blessing on violin teacher Taras Hubicki shown here with violin student Charles Butters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Spenceley Butters.

The rapt attention of both teacher and student is obvious as shown by Ivan Rouse and the young lady Mary Lisa Naz, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Naz, during a piano lesson. Classes are held in the South room which contains lovely woven wall hanging shown in the background. The excellent quality of teaching is evident in the ability of the student.

The serene expression of Mary Elizabeth Frizzell exemplifies the true dedication given to the position of teaching. Jon Rodriguez, the young man shown with her, was a former ballet teacher at the conservatory. He is now with the Dayton Civic Ballet.

The delightful little house on Main street has known many years of happiness and fulfillment and through the dreams of the director Ivan Rouse is destined for many more. He seems to have an awareness that it was meant to hold the laughter and achievements of children.
