

Phone cut-over postponed

Michigan Bell Telephone Company announced Tuesday that the cut-over date for the new Clarkston Central office has been set back due to plant work delays brought on by the walk out of telephone workers. E. E. Russell, District Manager for Michigan Bell said the new target date for the cut-over will be announced at a later date.

The Post Office authorities in Clarkston, Lake Orion and Oxford have been advised to hold up distribution of the new telephone directories until the new cut-over date has been established. Customers who may have already received directories should not use them until advised of the new cut-over date.

Dump could be useable 8-9 years

Kieft Engineering Company have their report prepared regarding the Dumping facilities shared by Independence, Groveland and Brandon townships. They are now ready to present it to the Oakland County Department of Health. Preliminary indications are that the Health department may approve it.

The engineering firm gave the report to a combined meeting of the three townships' boards held on Tuesday evening at the Brandon township hall.

Over a month ago it was closed because health inspectors said it did not meet requirements set forth by the State. In the meantime Russ Farnor who would like to lease the facility from the townships has been doing clean-up work there. If approval is granted for opening it, he will apply for a permit.

According to the Keift report, their engineers believed that it could be used as a dump for eight or nine years yet. Strict requirements as to land fill must be adhered to meet the Health department regulations.

Independence Township Supervisor Duane Hursfall and Clerk Howard Altman last week signed authorization paper for this township's participation in the Clinton-Oakland Sewer project. Independence township was the first township to do the actual signing.

DRIVER STOPS; HIT BY ANOTHER CAR

Slippery roads during last Tuesday's rain was attributed as some of the cause which resulted in an accident on Sashabaw Road, west of Clintonville. It occurred at 5 p. m., according to sheriff's officers.

Jack Knowlton, 19 of 5001 Mary Sue in Clarkston had turned on his directional signal to pick up a hitchhiker when his car was struck by one driven by Henrietta Ender, 42 of 4895 Pine Knob Lane, Clarkston. Knowlton received damage to the left rear of his car and Mrs. Ender had damage on the right front of hers.

No violations were issued.

BOY ON BIKE INJURED

A bicycle rider received Type A injuries in an accident which occurred at 5:20 p. m. on Sunday. The mishap occurred at Clintonville and Mann Roads. Charles O'Neal, 18 of 5240 Whipple Lake Drive, Clarkston was overtaking another car when the boy on the bicycle turned into the path of his car.

The boy on the bicycle was 10 year old Michael Fox of 2700 Newberry, Clarkston. There were no tickets issued as a result of this accident.

Roadways of 120 feet basis of court case

Independence township and its Zoning Board of Appeals is faced with a lawsuit. The suit was filed last Thursday in Circuit Court. Stanley Eaton and James D. Humprey, who own property on Clintonville road want to develop a Mobile Home park on the west side of the road between Pine Knob and Mann.

They are asking the Circuit Court to overrule a decision prohibiting the development of the park. On September 7, the zoning board turned down the proposed development. Their reasons were that it was "detrimental to the interest of a majority of the property owners within 2,000 feet of the premises."

On August 20, 1966 the township adopted in the ordinance pertaining to grading, a stipulation that called for 120' roadways within such trailer parks. "There are no 120 foot roadways in the township," contend the owners. The area in which the park would have been developed is zoned commercial.

Paul Mandel, the township attorney will have 20 days in which to answer the complaint. The suit has been assigned to Judge Clark J. Adams. It asks that the township be ordered to issue a permit for the use of the property as a mobile home site.

Township board asked to reinstate bar license

Three men interested in purchasing Manzella's Bar have gone to the Independence Township Board seeking the boards support in getting the liquor license at that establishment reinstated. These men are Paul G. Valentino and Jerome E. Mulligan, both attorneys and Joseph E. Teragni, a real estate broker. The township board has referred the matter to their attorney Paul Mandel.

Last April the Liquor Control Commission revoked the license when recommended to do so by the township board. This action resulted from an incident of March 19--a fight in the bar.

In other business regarding a bar, the board approved the transfer of a resort license from 3955 Jackson, White Lake Township to the Tally Ho Bar at 6722 Dixie. This request was made by James and Donald Osborne after their White Lake township business was destroyed by fire. The board also granted a request for the transfer of an SDM licensed business at 10018 M-15 from Albert and Thelma Billis to Dorothy Vliet.

Two new appointments were made to the Township Planning Commission to fill vacancies caused by resignations. Village Councilman Donald Cooper and Floyd Vincent, administrative assistant of Clarkston Community schools are the new members.

They take the place of Harold Goyette and Frank Reynolds who have recently resigned.

We are manning information and long distance boards with supervisory people as a result of this unlawful work stoppage by our employees. No difficulty should be experienced in placing local calls or dialed long distance calls. Essential requests for repair and installation work are being handled by supervisory forces.

Michigan Bell is sorry for any telephone interruption and delays or order postponement it's customers may experience and assures you it is doing everything possible to keep your telephone service up to the highest standards during the current work interference.

The following statement was issued by E. E. Russell, Pontiac District Manager for Michigan Bell.

The picket line at the Local telephone office is formed by members of the Communications Workers of America. They are employees of Michigan Bell.

Contracts between Michigan Bell and the CWA originally scheduled to expire at 12 midnight Friday, September 23, were extended on a day to day basis while bargaining continues in Detroit. So long as these contracts are in effect, Michigan Bell employees are prohibited from striking. Homecoming plans now being formulated Clarkston High School students are making plans for their Homecoming festivities which will take place when Northville plays here on October 14.

Preparatory to selecting a Homecoming Queen, the "Pre-Tapping" assemblies will be held on Thursday and Friday of this week. It will be necessary to have two assemblies in order for students who are attending alternate day sessions to attend. On these days four girls will be nominated from the 9, 10, and 11th grade classes. These nominations will be made by members of the football team. The entire student body will make the selection of 4 girls from the Senior class.

The final "tapping" will take place a week later on October 7 when the final 5 girls who will comprise the court are selected. Of these 5, one girl will be picked as the Homecoming Queen and one will be picked as Senior Maid. The Student Government is in-charge of this phase of the Homecoming.

Prior to the Homecoming meet, the traditional Snake Dance will be held on Thursday evening, October 13. Immediately after the football boys are through practicing under the lights a huge bonfire will be built just outside of the football field. This should occur about 7:00 p. m. Following that or at approximately 7:30, the parade and snake dance will take place through town.

"Autumn Leaves" is the theme chosen for the Homecoming and this will be used in the decorations for the Student Government sponsored Homecoming Dance to be held on Saturday evening, October 15 at the High School.

An event of that week also will be the Powder Puff Football game. This will be the third annual meet in which the Junior girls are paired against the Senior girls. This has been well received in past years. It is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p. m.

"Drive" funds sent in memory of Robin Russell

The fourth annual teenagers' "March with Danny" held on September 18 raised $594. This money has been sent to the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tennessee in memory of Robin Russell.

Founded by Danny Thomas, St. Jude's is working in childhood diseases, including cancer, leukemia, muscle disorders and nutritional disorders.

This year's chairman here was Lynn McKee. She was assisted by Sue Yoh and Gerry Skarritt as co-chairmen. The goal set for this area was $570.

The young people wish to thank all of the marchers, the executive chairman, Mrs. Connie Raft and Mr. Garlock of "The Platter Box" for sponsoring a dance on September 6 to raise money for the drive.

Mrs. Stewart Wanke and her daughter Audrie Ann show their elation when they learned that Mrs. Wanke was the third winner of the Albert Pick weekend vacation. Pictured with them is Mrs. Franklin Corby of Taylors 54-104 store where Mrs. Wanke deposited her winning ticket. This week's winner is Robert Hoopingarner of 6416 Church Street, Clarkston. He deposited his coupon at Clarkston Shoe Service.

Rapt attention is given to Mrs. Arthur Ripley as she conducts the "Story Hour" for four and five year olds at the Library. The Clarkston's Women's Club is again presenting these "story hours" for the children of the community. It is held at the Independence Township Library from 10:15 to 11:15 A. M. on the second and fourth Thursday of each month with the exception of November and December. There will be no Story Hour on the fourth Thursday of these months due to the Holidays. A token fee of twenty-five cents is charged.

Having remodeled the building formerly operated by Auten's Furniture, a new business opened last week. Terry and Sue Kelley held Open House at their new quarters on Main street.

New business holds open house

The new "Do-It-Yourself Center" on Main street is a virtual paradise for the person with energy and a vivid imagination. The many diversified paint finishes they have in stock are shown on a school desk, milk can and other items in the store.

They have some lovely light fixtures, wood paneling, inside and outside shutters, floor- and ceiling tile. All the requirements to finish off the attic for that extra bedroom, or the basement family room. For the touch to glamorize the finished rooms they carry free standing fireplace units.

Stop in and check the area before starting your next project be it building, replacing, or refinishing.

Also for that bright touch of color and individualism they have some unusual wallpaper patterns. Feel free to "browse" through the books at leisure. Use the print to form a pleasing background for a grouping of pictures which can be very beautifully custom framed with material from the shop.

During open house on Friday 23, and Saturday 24 there were many lovely floral arrangements in evidence throughout. Free door prizes, give aways and refreshments, appetizingly displayed, were the theme.

They are going to specialize in Colonial Decor, and the facelifting given the store proves the do-it-yourself spirit can give birth to many excellent results.

We here at the Clarkston News, and their many friends, congratulate the young Terry Kelley's on their new venture and wish them many happy years of success.

Only two marking periods scheduled for H.S. students

Due to the alternating schedule of classes for the Senior High Students, there will be only two marking periods for these students during the first semester. This will occur at 9 week intervals--the first one to be on November 11 and the second at the close of the semester. Milford Mason, Senior High School principal stated that it is hard to give a first 6 weeks grade under normal conditions and it is doubly hard under these alternating conditions when teachers see the students only every other day. He went on to say that the teachers have been instructed when noting any irregularity in the subject matter on the part of the student that letters should be sent to the parents at the mid-point of the marking period. Parents too, who anticipate problems should get in touch with the school counselors.

School officials hope momentarily to announce the resumption of daily classes for all High school students, but everything hinges on arrival of equipment needed by the mechanical contractor.

Luncheon at OU for council members

Mrs. Charles Robertson, 5898 Hummingbird Lane, who represents Clarkston on Oakland University's Town Information Council, joined some 25 other Council members at a luncheon September 21 launching their second year of volunteer service to the University's Division of Continuing Education.

Held in the University's Oakland Center, the luncheon featured introductory remarks by Dr. Lowell R. Eklund, Dean of Continuing Education. He expressed his division's gratitude to the women for the efforts in bringing information about Continuing Education programs to the attention of citizens most interested in learning about them.

The volunteers on the Council are community leaders representing their home towns, by having materials available to local citizens describing upcoming conferences and courses, acquiring appropriate mailing lists and scheduling talks in their communities by university personnel.

Eklund said the council members were "vital keys" to the success of last year's course and conference programs which expanded 59 and 110 per cent attendance respectively over the previous year.

"Your personal awareness of the structure of your towns and the identities of the people for whom university programs can be of service is invaluable to us," he pointed out.

Council Director Mrs. Edwin H. Olson then described upcoming activities for the fall and winter season which will be promoted by the members. These included the 180 evening courses, most of which are beginning this week, the traditionally popular Writers' Conference October 15, the "Every Woman Has a House" Conference November 1, the Conference for Parents and Teachers of Pre-School Children November 12 and all of the programs sponsored by the University's year-old Continuum Center for Women.

Months before winter's freezing weather, Consumers Power starts a "bank account" for you banking natural gas to assure you of dependable, uninterrupted gas service throughout the cold months. This is how this unique program works... Trillions of cubic feet of gas underground but a thousand miles away are of no value to you when you want it in a hurry. So during the hot, summer months Consumers Power purchases huge quantities of this important fuel from the gas-producing areas of the Gulf Coast and the great Southwest, and stores it deep in Nature's own vaults—depleted gas wells here in Michigan. Then, when winter winds and snows sweep through the countryside, Consumers draws on this "bank account" of stored natural gas to meet cold-weather demands of homes, business, industry and farms.

There are many benefits in gas storage, but the most important is to assure you and your family a dependable supply of gas for heating... all winter long... at the lowest possible rates.

Bloomfield Hills bombs Clarkston

By MEL VAARA

As I sit here by the typewriter, how does a person write a sports article after seeing his team get beat 41-0. Sometimes a person can sit for hours trying to write down the correct and accurate phrases or he can sit right down and write the first thought that comes in his mind - I have done both.

For all practical purposes Bloomfield Hills put the game away in the 1st quarter. Kraatz of Bloomfield intercepted Dan Fife's pass and ran 11 yards for Hills 1st td. Then at 3:41 Kraatz ran straight up the middle on a trap play without a Clarkston man touching him. The play covered 65 yards. Clarkston failed to move the ball and on third down they fumbled on their own 33. Then with 1:39 showing on the clock, Calhoun squirted around left end for 8 yards and Bloomfield's third touchdown in the 1st quarter.

In the 2nd quarter the teams changed ends of the field and now the wind was not hitting Fife directly between the eyes. Now Clarkston's passing game began to pick up. If Clarkston was going to make a run for it they would have to score in this drive and hope the defense could hold the Barons.

Mark Erickson took the kick and ran to his own 35. On a 3rd down and 3 situation Fife hit Erickson for an 11 yard gain. Fife ran 16 yards around right end. He hit Tom Allen on an 8 yard pass play.

Fife picked up 7 more yards on QB keeper plays. Then with 2nd down and 7 situation and the ball on the 12, Fife attempted to hit Allen down the middle. But the pass fell into the hands of Palaian from Bloomfield.

Bloomfield marched some 30 yards in 8 plays for another score; as Kraatz covered the last 17 yards himself. There was 5:07 left in the 1st half. Still Bloomfield wasn't through, they held Clarkston again, and with less than a minute to play Calhoun dropped a perfect pass to Kuzma and he sped the last 60 yards untouched. The score at half read the Barons 34 the Wolves 0.

A coach and his staff work hard all week on game plans. What could cause them to go out the window in 24 minutes of playing time? One could say they, the Barons, had all the breaks, recovering fumbles, interceptions, passes etc. Remember the Yankees of old. They had ownership rights on the American League title. People used to say they had all the breaks. I firmly believe a team makes their own breaks.

Coach Kenyon commented several times. He knows he has a veteran team in the backfield, but he is concerned with his interior line. They have had little game experience and it's up to these boys to give Fife pass protection and to open up holes for the halfbacks.

After watching the Oxford, Clarkston game, one of the Bloomfield Hills coaches commented, "We will have to exert a lot of pressure on the quarterback, Dan Fife, if we plan to win the upcoming game." And they certainly applied pressure all during the 1st half. Bloomfield was shooting linebackers and even their safety men in on Fife. Even an experienced interior line would have had trouble giving any quarterback ample time to throw the ball.

This is a fine ball club that coach Bill Tunnicliff has put together. (Tunnicliff played his college ball at the University of Michigan) he sure has a fine chance to go all the way with this club. In talking to their athletic director Don Hoff, he too feels they have an outstanding club. He also said, "Some of these boys have been playing two and three years together", and it certainly shows by their fine performance over Clarkston.

This Friday Clarkston will play Clarenceville at home.

Last week in the rain, the Oxford J.V. defeated Clarkston J.V. 18-7. Jeff Keyser scored for Clarkston on a 10 yard run. He later scored on a 60 yard run, but the play was called back, due to a penalty. A tough break, as this td would have given them a commanding lead. After this play, the Oxford team gained momentum and won going away!

Clarkstons Cross Country team coached by Max Inman achieved a very fine victory over Bloomfield Hills 26-29. This is one of the few times that a cross country team from Clarkston has defeated a team from Bloomfield Hills.

If you saw a group of boys running the back roads in August, it probably was the cross-country boys from Clarkston. The hard work in August is paying off with three victories in a row. Some of the mainstays for Clarkston are Neil Stalker, (Neil was the 1st recipient of the outstanding trackman in the Clarkston Junior High) Mark Adams, John Gettel and Mike Dougherty.

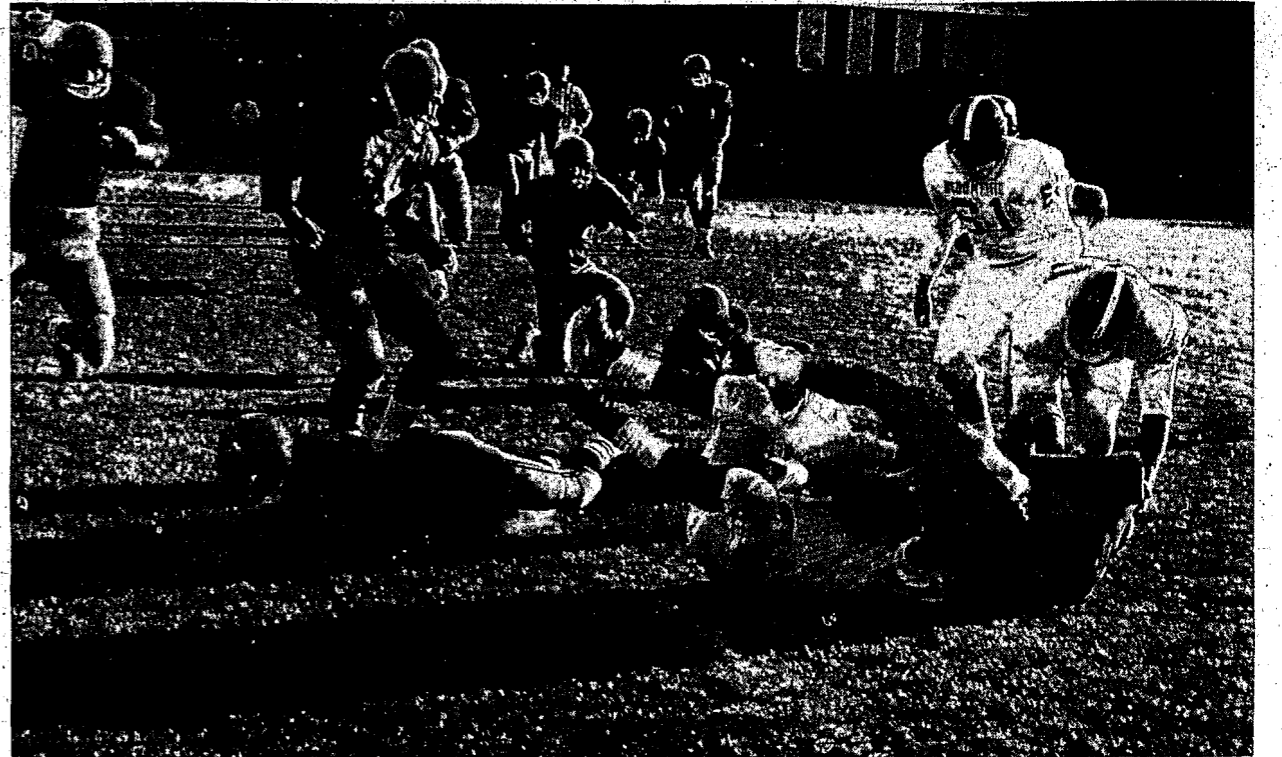

I saw the Lions play the Atlanta Falcons last Sunday and several of us were discussing the fact we missed the presence of Joe Don Looney in the 2nd half. He played well in the 1st half as he scored on a 24 yard run and looked good on a couple of other plays. It wasn't until later in the evening that I heard he refused to play in the 2nd half.

Looney has been one constant headache for the Lions and coach Gillmer. If they take him back now they may have to buy out the Bayer Aspirin Co. - because everyone will need them. When a coach favors a certain ball player or gives him certain dispensations he is looking for trouble. This they have done for Joe Don Looney.

By the way the Lions

RED CROSS HOSPITAL VOLUNTEERS FROM CLARKSTON

What has happened to Gray Ladies? They are now known as Red Cross hospital volunteers. Today you find them serving forty-five hospitals in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties as part of a team from the Southeastern Michigan Chapter of Red Cross. Serving from Clarkston are: Mrs. Derrrel Batchelder of 6365 Walden avenue and Mrs. Garrett Marks of 9355 Dixie Highway.

They work hard at their jobs, representing Red Cross. They're known for the added touch of "T. L. C." (tender loving care).

The hospital volunteer writes letters and reads to patients. She tends to the non-professional hospital duties. It is her goal to help patients while boosting their morale.

But, because they are so appreciated, they are in demand. Almost every day new requests are received for their services. Would you have just one day a week to spend helping? If so, sign up as a Red Cross hospital volunteer. Call FF 4-3575.

O'Shaughnessy and I

by Dee O'Connor

Well now, this has been quite a week, hasn't it? The weather man has been testing our mettle and the woods cry with color as the Creator paints another gorgeous picture of fall. It seems to be a time for changing homes and replenishing the larder for our woodland friends. Somehow we never tire of watching the squirrels lay up their hoard for the winter months and the birds head southward for a warmer climate. As for myself, the four changing seasons still each hold an individual charm. To me the fall is a resting period, or a time when you can get the weary old bones conditioned to Jack Frost.

Even though I still love this time of the year it seems to belong to childhood, don't you think? Do you remember the apple roasting over heaping bonfires at twilight? For us it was always a reward time for yard cleaning chores. So many houses today lack the trees of long standing and consequently the children miss out on this happy event. Television will never replace the long walks through the countryside to gather hickory nuts and fall bouquets for the winter months. The promise of cake or home made fudge was always worth the effort of cracking and picking the nutmeats. The packaged ones lose something in the transaction. And to lie out under an October blue sky and paint pictures in the clouds is a sensation that can never be put into words. To us it was also a time of exchanging confidences with that best friend that was going to be our roommate in that faraway adulthood as you pursued your careers that were always in harmony with one another.

It is marvelous that even though times move forward to encompass the ever changing path of progress the old tried and true path of life somehow remains on the same even keel. It allows one to keep faith as one feels it was meant to be part of God's infinite plan for us.

I thank you for another happy week of fulfillment and until another dateline I say, "May your angry thoughts in life walk hand in hand with compassion."

Winners all the way were these two Little League teams from the summer sports program. Playoff day found both teams in first-on-winning bases.

Jack Haupt, their sponsor, decided to compound their victory with a September 17 trip to Tiger Stadium and a chance to watch the Tigers do the walking for a change.

Setting out in high spirits the boys found fun and adventure in a bus breakdown just after turning onto the Dixie Highway. A substitute bus arrived in jiffy time to transport the kids and their keepers on to Rocco's where they were all served a pizza lunch, compliments of the house.

Judging from the wonderful sound of their singing as they returned through town later that afternoon, the day must have met all their expectations.

By Constance Lektzian

Along with giving up oil lamps and horse and buggies in favor of electricity and cars, the trend has been to discard old-fashioned names as well. In the accounts of our local pioneer history, women's names such as Zilpha, Asepath and Tribulation have cropped up. How long has it been since anyone named their baby daughter Tribulation? And there can be found stories of men with the names of Philander, Phineas - and Orsamus. Orsamus Beardslee whose life history sounds a little like a Horatio Alger story.

In June of 1832, Aaron and Sarah Beardslee brought their family to the wilderness of Independence Township and settled down to clearing a hundred acres of land. When Orsamus, the oldest son, was 13 years old, the father of the family died. At that time, Orsamus had about 7 weeks schooling and never again was he able to get any further education. He stayed with his mother and helped her clear the land and raise his younger brothers and sisters. Several times he hired out to other farmers and gave his mother his wages - five dollars per month.

Sometime following the death of Aaron, the family went back to New Jersey. The young widow wanted to consult with her family about the best course for her to follow. It was decided to return to Michigan and a short while later, Orsamus came back accompanied by his uncle, a Mr. L. Beardslee and family. Shortly after they arrived in Independence Township, the uncle wrote a letter for Orsamus to his mother. Several times he forgot he was writing for the boy and he told some of his own problems. This letter, dated January 22, 1838, gives a good insight to the living conditions around here at that time. The uncle found, for instance, that the only government land left was just gleanings so he paid $800 for two 80 acre lots, with the full realization that he was paying top dollar. And for every 80 acres of improved land a farmer owned, he paid a road tax of two and a half days work. Orsamus found the fishing good around his farm and in the letter a mention is made of a friend who speared a 13 pound pickerel in Square Lake (Walters Lake). When Mr. Beardslee and Orsamus returned to Detroit to pick up the rest of their goods, they bought a barrel of flour for $11 but a bushel of corn cost from 10 to 14 shillings. Despite all these high prices, Mr. Beardslee urges other members of his family not to waste any time in getting to Michigan while there was good land still available. He points out, for instance, that the journey from New Jersey to Independence Township only took 14 days and also there was a school being built near his farm. Before closing, he mentioned the health and schooling of his daughters, Rachel and Clarissa. This letter, written in an old fashioned Spence-rian style, is still legible after 128 years.

Until he was 21, Orsamus stayed on his mother's farm. He married a couple of years after setting up his own farm, but within two years his young wife died, leaving him with an infant son to care for. So once again, a personal tragedy increased his responsibility and work. He married again, four years later, to a girl he had grown up with, a cousin Clarissa Beardslee. In those days, when there was neither the time nor transportation to get far from home, marrying relatives was not uncommon.

In what seemed to be compensation for a difficult early life, Orsamus prospered. His farm grew to over 600 acres with large well kept house and barns. Five more children were added to his family and as his sons grew, he let them do the work. Dressed always in a white shirt, he rode around his acreage behind a dapple gray mare who, family legend states, knew the route as well as Orsamus and always made the stops in the correct order.

Even prosperity couldn't get Orsamus to give up his habits of thrift. Maybe he was never able to forget what it had been like to be so poor. But in addition to overseeing the farm, he kept a close eye on the kitchen and was known to grumble loudly if the potato peelings were too thick to suit him. In fact, Orsamus got a wee bit salty in his later days. At one time he contributed quite heavily to the Sashabaw Plains church, confident that the church was going to be given a name he approved of. But the church board and other members over-ruled him. This threw him in quite a pet and he threatened to fill the church to the ceiling with corn stalks so it couldn't be used. He didn't so possibly he never intended to or maybe Clarissa talked him out of it, but he declared that he would never go to church again - and he didn't although he allowed his wife and children to go occasionally. But Clarissa had the last word there - she buried him from that church.

Despite his lack of education, Orsamus an old line Democrat held the office of Township Supervisor for seven years and was Justice of the Peace for a long time. The time is past when a man can prosper with as few material advantages as he but when he died at 78, he was surrounded by most of the creature comforts available in that day.

(Orsamus has many descendants living today in this area, and to Mrs. Addie Allen of Oxford and Mr. Charles Beardslee of Drayton, two of his grandchildren, we are indebted for some of the information in this article.)

Located south of Walters Lake, Orsamus' farm is still standing and looks much the same today. The many roomed house took the combined efforts of Mrs. Beardslee, two daughters and three hired girls to maintain it.

Beardslee thirty two miles from Detroit we as I said before put up at Uncle Thomas Beardslee until we could look a bout and conclude what to do I spent a some time in viewing the country looked at a good number of farms that were offered for sale which had some improved land on them but they did not suit me at the price and then I conclude

New partner, grand opening New models at Haupt agency

A gold filigree pattern blends with dark grey finish on the block building that houses Jack W. Haupt Pontiac Sales and Service, Inc.

A three-way celebration starts today at Haupt Pontiac Sales and Service. Jack Haupt, owner of the agency, is introducing his new partner, Dwight L. "D.I." Pettengill, while introducing the 1967 line of Pontiacs and having a grand opening for his enlarged sales and service area.

Introductions of Pettengill may not take much time in as much as he was formerly with the Haupt agency as a salesman in 1957 and '58, plus the fact that he has lived in Clarkston since he was 6-years-old.

Pettengill, 30, went to Culver Military Academy, took business administration at General Motors Institute two and a half years, and was graduated from Hillsdale College in 1961 with a Bachelor of Arts degree.

Between GMI and Hillsdale he worked for Haupt. After Hillsdale he went with Pontiac Motors. Pettengill served in the service divisions for Pontiac in the Dallas and St. Louis Zones, then moved into a district manager's position in Madison and also served in this capacity in Dallas.

It was this position he gave up to become a partner of Jack Haupt the first of September. He is married and lives with his wife, Judie at 6759 Transparent, Clarkston.

With the showing of the 1967 line of Pontiacs starting Friday, Haupt Pontiac Sales and Service will have a grand opening of their much enlarged agency. Though it is nearly a year since the addition was built, Jack Haupt explained, "We have never had a grand opening since it was completed and we'd like to show off our facilities a little bit."

The building was designed in part by Harry Denyes and Associates. The gold filigree above the window level in front blends with a dark grey finish which is carried around the balance of the block building. More than $100,000 was spent on adding the 10,000 square feet.

Included in the enlargement was twice as much space for servicing autos, doubling the used car lots, increasing the showroom space three-fold, and redecorating throughout.

No more Soapy, Please

The choice for U.S. Senator this year is between former Gov. G. Mennen Williams and Robert Griffin, the Congressman who was appointed Senator last spring by Gov. Romney.

Judged by past performance and future promise, Williams is by all odds a poor choice, Griffin a reasonably good one.

Williams has a record of personal political advancement which cost Michigan's government 12 years of stalemate. He operated in such subservience to labor's political bosses within the state that outside of it he was cartooned as the CIO's dancing bear in a polka-dot collar.

Williams' administration brought headlines of crisis and bankruptcy. It achieved for Michigan the nationally recognized title of the "welfare state."

Williams' defenders say no governor could have done any better pitted against a mossback Legislature dominated by the opposite party. That may be true but we have to judge people by what they accomplish. Williams never lost an election nor solved a problem.

Williams boasts now of his part in the Kennedy administration. Kennedy's judgment of Williams is best measured by the job he gave him. Williams was put in charge of African affairs in the State Dept., a job so far removed from policy making that it had been held previously by an unremembered civil servant.

His present campaign is based on a grin, a handshake and a refusal to debate a solid issue.

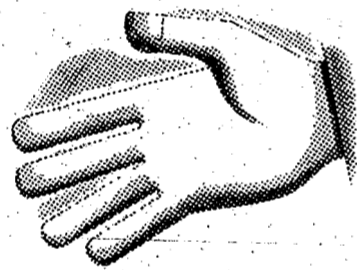

Griffin is in refreshing contrast. A labor-management lawyer—a new breed—he has walked the middle road and already has written that philosophy into a wise labor law. He is young, but proven, with 10 years in Congress.

He makes decisions without favoritism. His actions have never brought embarrassment to Michigan and some of his work has brought prestige. He's a doer who can lead as well as follow.

Griffin should be kept on the job.

-DIVINE AUTHORITY-

And they went into Capernaum; and straightway on the Sabbath Jesus entered the Synagogue, and taught. And the people were astonished at His doctrine, for He taught them as one having great authority, and not as their Scribes taught.

Mark 1:21 & 22

It is recorded that immediately following His lonely sojourn in the desert places Jesus returned in the power of the Spirit to His beloved Galilee and forthwith began to preach the Gospel of the Kingdom. Many were drawn to Him, following Him from village to village, and so great was the impact of His personality and His words that His fame soon spread through the whole countryside, and all were astonished to hear Him speak, not in the manner of the Scribes, but as one having far greater authority than they. On one occasion, in a moment of high confidence, He said, "These words that I speak unto you, they are spirit and they are life".

Jesus' authority sprang from the truth of God which He exemplified, and what is more, He knew how to teach, not by acquired technique or devices of method, but naturally, directly, interestingly, and with amazing skill. Jesus knew how to make men understand His Teaching. He was always ready with an example, a figure of speech, or a story which made the truth wholly clear even to humble and unlettered people.

He told many stories, among them the story of the Prodigal Son and of the Good Samaritan, for that is what all His great Parables are, highly effective teaching instruments conveying the profound truths of the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of all men.

Eternal God, our Father: Grant unto us, we beseech Thee, the desire to be enlightened by the wisdom and by the understanding of Thyself which are displayed in Jesus. AMEN.

FROM THE KIND OF LETTERS WE LIKE TO RECEIVE DEPARTMENT—Mrs. George Hanson when sending in her renewal penned the following. "It is with pleasure that I mail this check for my subscription. I think that one should have the town paper. The improvement in the paper and news makes it a joy to receive."

School officials state that the new running track will be completed by the time this paper is out. The fencing and everything should be completed in time for the Clarenceville football game here on Friday night.

One of the joys of an early morning drive to work (if there is such a joy) is the every morning change in the brilliant fall colors that are now beginning to sweep across the Michigan countryside. The Sumac, maple and sassafras are starting to provide this early color and will soon be followed by the aspens, oaks, tamaracks and beech trees. The low lying areas seem to abound in sumac, black maple and redbud. It just looks as though this might be one of those most brilliant hued autumns.

I have been as rough as most weekly editors on poor Michigan Bell—last week's column being an example. But the company has my

In the third period there was great flurry around their water tanks. A couple coaches and a doctor were busy doing something, but I couldn't tell what."

In the meantime, back on the field, the Wolves' great quarterback, Dan Fife, was suffering leg cramps. Soon the men left the watering trough and players took over. The team doctor, Dr. Rockwood Bullard, came over and told me what was going on. He said they had forgotten to put salt in the water. "It's supposed to have a 9 percent salt solution. This will keep the players from having leg cramps."

This was a new one to me. Dr. Bullard went on to say they had found 2 years ago that players could drink as much water as they wanted as long as it had this salt solution and there would be fewer cramps. A salt deficiency causes cramps, the Dr. said.

Too bad for the Wildcats their hosts learned of the salt deficiency. Maybe Fife would have had to leave the game. He was murder with both his passing and running. I'd say, and Oxford's coach Neidlinger agrees, this Fife may be the finest quarterback Oxford has ever faced. Incidentally, he's an all-state basketball player, too, but Oxford doesn't play Clarkston in that sport any more.
