VOLUME 38 SINGLE COPY 10 CENTS CLARKSTON, MICHIGAN 48016 THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1966 2 SECTIONS NUMBER 12

Hey, Mom this one would make a good pie! Mom these days would probably be more inclined to go to the store for a can of pumpkin, but nevertheless area families are looking forward to the traditional Thanksgiving treats, Pumpkin pie and Roast turkey for next Thursday's holiday dinner.

New Special Ed. classroom open now at Bailey Lake

A new classroom opened at Bailey Lake School on Monday. To be known as a Type B classroom it will be used for trainable retarded children. Financed by state and federal funds it is something new for the Clarkston school system. Previously these children had been transported to other districts in which there was a special education program in existence.

The teacher for the room will be Mrs. Diane Carmichael of Clarkston. A graduate of Wayne State, she has been teaching kindergarten classes this year at Andersonville school, but prior to this she has done substitute teaching. She holds an M. A. degree in special education, specializing in Emotionally disturbed and Mentally retarded education as well as Speech therapy.

There will be 9 youngsters in this first classroom, all from the Clarkston district. Eventually the program may be expanded to include children from other districts. The aims of the program are to teach self care, social adjustment, language skills, coordination and physical training. The children will range in age from 7-14 years.

Half day sessions will be held which will include the children's lunch hour. Mrs. Vera Torr will assist Mrs. Carmichael as a teacher's aid. It will also be Mrs. Torr's job to pick up those children by station wagon and return them to their homes. This will not be a new task for her, as she previously transported some of these children when they were taken to the Pontiac Special education program.

SUNDAY NIGHT COLLISION

The County Sheriff department investigated only one auto accident in Independence township over the weekend. It occurred at 9 p.m. Sunday evening at Dixie highway and Mill Court.

A car driven by Gary Pelletier, 24 of 23380 Hunters Lane in Southfield collided with one driven by Joan Dunivan 20, of 5936 Shell Court in Waterford. Pelletier stated that she turned left in his path and he was unable to avoid hitting her.

Mrs. Carmichael in analyzing the project stated that "The basic needs of the child in this group are the same—he needs affection, security, recognition and guidance. The only difference is that he can achieve only partial social competence in the family and the community."

Gordon Spelbring and Barry Breidenbaugh were the diagnosticians for the school and helped set up the program. Principal at Bailey Lake school is John Reabe.

Announce sponsors of Junior Miss

For the first time in the history of the Clarkston Junior Miss Pageant, four local businesses will sponsor this year's pageant along with the Clarkston Area Jaycees. Assisting the Jaycees are Howes Lanes; Pontiac State Bank, Clarkston Branch; Haskins Chevrolet, Inc.; and Haupt Pontiac Sales and Service. The sponsorship by these four businesses will enable the Clarkston Jaycees to present a $250 scholarship to the winner of the Junior Miss competition.

The Clarkston Area Jaycees also announce the judges for this year's pageant. Serving as judges are: Mrs. Virginia Loveland of Orchard Lake, Public Relations Director and Executive Secretary of the Womens Division of the Pontiac Area United Fund; Mrs. Patti Lance of Madison Heights, state president of the Michigan Jaycee Auxiliary; and Jack Skriden of Royal Oak, the immediate past president of the Michigan Jaycees.

Twelve senior Clarkston High School girls will compete for the Clarkston Junior Miss crown. The pageant will be held November 26 at 8 P.M. in the Clarkston High School Little Theater.

Brandon votes to re-open dump .

The township dump which is shared by Brandon, Independence and Groveland users may be opened soon. At a meeting held in Brandon township on Friday night to which the Independence board had been invited, the Brandon board passed a resolution to open the dump. It has been closed since last August when township officials closed it voluntarily rather than face injunctions from county and state health departments.

Included in the resolution was a plan to set-up a 7 man committee by appointment to investigate possibilities of a new site.

When the Health Department license is obtained it will be operated as a landfill site. Keitt Engineering made a study of the dumping area and set up specifications under which it should be operated.

In addition to the Independence township board who went to the meeting only to listen, there were 40-50 other interested persons present.

No date has been set for the actual opening—that will hinge on action forthcoming from the Health Department.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wheeler of 5609 Hummingbird Lane were among the parents who attended "Back to School" night at Clarkston Elementary. Shown here, they are going over some of their son's Steve classroom work.

Issue call for G O P Convention

Monday, November 21 is the date for the convening of the Oakland County Republican Convention. It will commence at 8:00 P.M. and will be held at the Southfield Highschool which is located at 24675 Lahser Road.

Purpose of the meeting will be to elect the County Executive Committee, states Joseph R. Farnham, County Chairman.

Basketball season tickets now on sale

The Basketball season will start on Friday December 2nd and the Clarkston Athletic Boosters Club now have adult Season tickets on sale.

The December 2nd game will be at West Bloomfield. Rochester has been added to Clarkston's home schedule on Saturday December 3rd, making 9 home games offered for $7.

These tickets are available from Ronk's Barber Shop, Clarkston Sporting Goods, Clarkston High School or Booster Club members.

Union Thanksgiving Service at Methodist Church

The Union Thanksgiving Service this year will be held at the First Methodist Church in Clarkston. It will commence at 7:30 P.M. on Wednesday evening, November 23rd. All local protestant churches will be participating.

The Reverend Arlon Stubbe from Calvary Lutheran Church will be the speaker. He has chosen as his topic, "Thanks; but no thanks!"

The Reverend David Dee of First Baptist will give the Litany of Thanksgiving while Rev. Thomas Dunn of Drayton Heights Free Methodist Church will give the Evening Prayer.

The Scripture Reading will be by the Rev. Alexander Stewart, Vicar of Church of the Resurrection. Rev. Mark Caldwell from Sashabaw United Presbyterian will give the Call to Worship, the Invocation and the Prayer of Confession.

The host pastor, the Rev. Lewis Sutton will offer the Benediction.

The public is cordially invited to attend this annual service. A nursery will be provided.

Thanksgiving Music program at Jr. High

The program has been announced for the Thanksgiving Assembly which will be presented at the Junior High School on November 23rd at 2:30 p.m.

The director is Miss Grayce Warren and 8th grader, Valerie Ganther will serve as accompanist for the 6th hour Chorus who will present the program.

The following selections will be featured. Music Alone Shall Live, German round (sung in German).

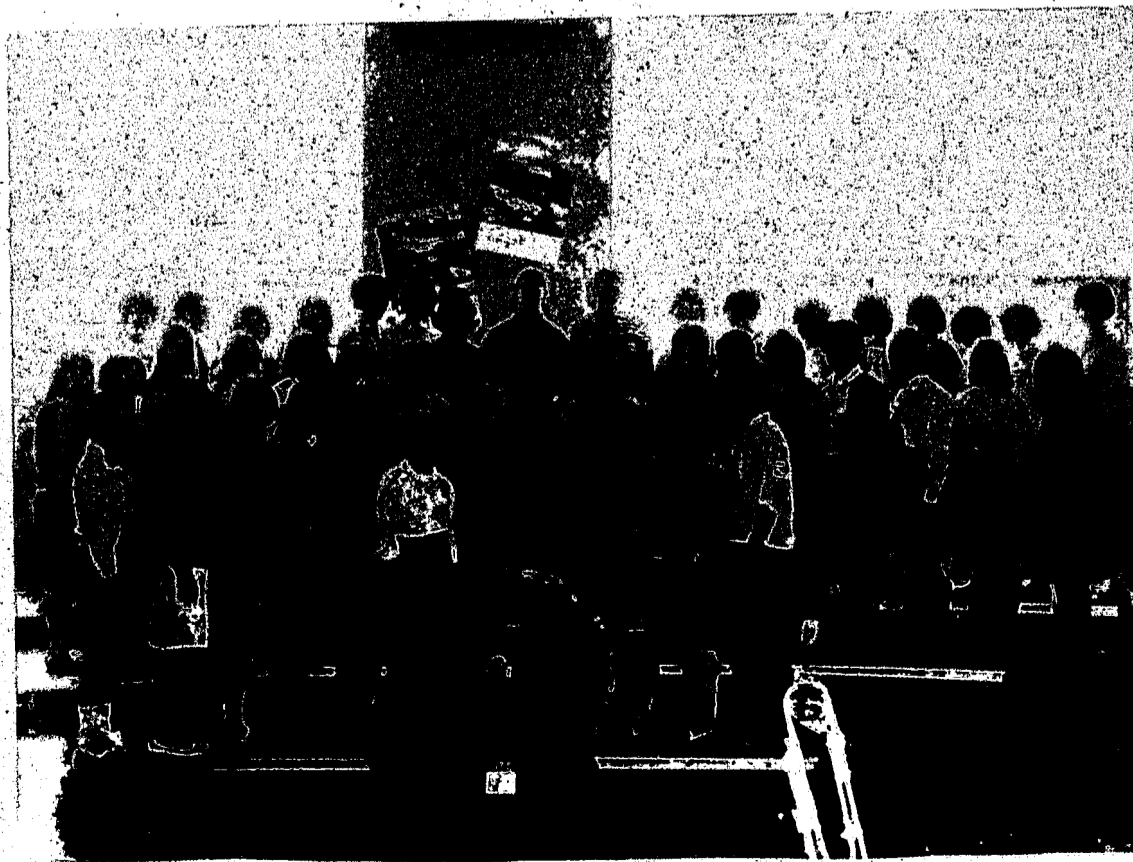

Kum Ba Yah, spiritual. This Land Is Your Land, Guthrie.

On the First Thanksgiving day, traditional.

Come, Elvey. Flute, Richard Klein.

We Gather Together, Netherlands air.

Be Kind to Your Parents, Harold Rome.

Ready and waiting are these young singers! They will be presenting the Thanksgiving Assembly at the Junior High on November 23rd. The director is Miss Grayce Warren.

Lightning strikes

It was lively for awhile in Clarkston during the freak electrical storm which hit on Tuesday evening, Nov. 8th. Lightning apparently went down the television aerial at the Dr. Don Stackable home on Parke Lake. The fire department answered that call and were just returning when an alarm was turned in from the W.E. Whitmer residence on Wompole.

At the Whitmer home lightning had struck the refrigerator. The family noticed smoke and when they opened the door, there were flames. Firemen quickly carried the refrigerator outside. It was a total loss, and to further complicate matters, the dump is closed and there is no place to dispose of it.

Girl Scout drive for funds

In an all out effort to sustain and continue Girl Scouting in the Clarkston-Independence Township area, an appeal for funds will be launched Friday, November 18 and will continue through December 5.

Mrs. Walter Norberg has been named Area Chairman, with Mrs. Spencely Butters as Co-chairman. Business and Professional Chairman is Mrs. Alfred Hamilton.

During the first week of the appeal, volunteers will visit parents of area Girl Scouts. The following week a door-to-door canvass will be launched.

Two hundred and fifty Girl Scouts in the Independence Township area reflect the need for operating funds. The township goal has been placed at $4,000, while the six community goal (Pontiac, Waterford, Orion, Brandon, Independence and Oxford making up the Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council) has been placed at $70,000.

Forty-eight hundred girls are presently served by the NOCGS Council which has a waiting list of 1500 girls.

"BACK TO SCHOOL" AT ANDERSONVILLE

The Andersonville Elementary School will have their PTA meeting Thursday evening, November 17.

In honor of National Educational Week. This November program will be "Back to School" for parents. Classes will be held in each of the classrooms to acquaint parents with the educational program. The schedule is as follows: 7:30 to 7:50 class period; 7:50 to 8:10 recess, refreshments will be served, 8:10 to 8:30 class period.

Jim's Jottings

A couple times a year I get out of writing a column by going away. This week it's deer hunting. I'm turning the space over to Dave Hood, co-publisher and editor of the Manistique Pioneer-Tribune. His columns in 1965 got him a share of the title of best column writer in weekly papers in the State. The other writer was Jim Fitzgerald, editor of the Lapeer County Press. Here's Dave Hood:

When they write the history books 50 years from now the researchers and the analysts may very well designate the mid-1960's as The Protest Years.

We have seen protests for and against civil rights, both for and against Vietnam, and now the housewives are busy picketing and protesting about high food prices.

I think a good healthy protest is a fine thing, and a wonderful way of venting our spleen to prevent ulcers and high blood pressure. In fact, we have just scratched the surface of things to protest about, and I predict that within months we will be faced with a barrage of headlines about protests covering quite a range of subjects. Imagine these news stories in the months to come:

bingo games on the week end.

"My daily and direct communications with the Lord compell me to take this action," he said, explaining that he receives mail daily from Lord Marmion, noted English foe of the football (soccer) pools in that country. (The football pools are not to be confused with Howard Poole, whose assumed name was used by the trouble maker in the preceding story.)

MANISTIQUE, MICH.—A 40-year-old auto salesman said this week he planned immediate and direct action to protest the fact that the Green Bay Packers are winning all their games.

"They're taking all the fun out of it," said William Larson, "and we feel that Coach Vince Lombardi should do something to make the games more interesting."

He said he planned to utilize the well-known slogan, "It matters not whether you win or lose, but how you played the game."

Larson said he was hopeful of forcing the Packers to trade Bart Starr to Detroit, in exchange for their defensive backfield. "That would certainly return a true spirit of competition to the game," he commented.

Well there you are. I'm sure if we put our minds to it we can come up with quite a list of things to protest about.

Any readers wishing to protest this column, however, must make arrangements through my bodyguards, Gerald Walstrom and John Williams. Phone Normie Jahm's for an appointment.

When you love your work, it shows.

What happened to the windshield wipers?

Grand Prix's monogrammed window.

Hood-mounted tachometer.

Stereo tape player.

And we love our work. So much so that we couldn't bear to stop with the slickest-looking split grille ever to grace a Wide-Track (Or any other car, for that matter.) We went ahead and made the windshield wipers disappear. The car not only looks cleaner, but the wipers are less subject to icing and freezing, too. Then we got rid of the vent windows on all Grand Prix hardtops. We replaced them with nifty monograms and a flow-through ventilation system. We even designed a rather unique hood-mounted tachometer option that's available on all Pontiacs. As are our other bright new options like our eight-track stereo tape player and AM-FM Stereomultiplex radio. And, of course, our handson't interiors have to be seen to be believed. All Pontiacs have standard safety features that include a dual master cylinder brake system with warning light, outside rearview mirror, and GM's energy absorbing steering column. Isn't it time you decided to see your Pontiac dealer? If you love our work the way we do, it's the least you can do.

Wolves slip past Milford 20-16

By Mel Varra

Last Wednesday Clarkston and Milford squared off on a rain soaked gridiron, with the Wolves coming out on top 20-16.

Clarkston won the game with only 5:08 showing on the clock. The winning score was scored by Tom Allen. Allen gathered in a pass on the Milford 45 and did the rest of the work himself after a teammate gave him a key block on the 35.

Milford led throughout the 2nd half as a result of a 25 yard field goal in the 2nd quarter. The boy really boomed the ball as it travelled some 20 yards past the goal posts. It's been a long time for many of us to see a high school boy have this type of accomplishment.

The game was surprisingly well played on the greasy field. The game was cancelled from the previous Friday due to the snowstorm, and to make matters worse it rained almost all day and continued throughout the game.

Before we summarize the ball game, there are some players who deserve some special praise.

MIKE SCHWITZER—this intelligent young ball player has been playing steady ball all year without a bit of ink space. His main task on the offensive team is blocking back or slot back. Mike hardly ever carried the ball or rarely caught a pass. Whenever a player makes a long run, or after a completed pass, the receiver makes a long run all eyes are glued to the ball carrier. But the boy who made it all possible is laying on the turf after a good block and many times goes unnoticed. It was Mike Schwitzer who delivered a great block on Tom Allen's 3rd touchdown. Allen was hemmed in on the 35 and Schwitzer was Johnny on the spot with a block that sprung Allen loose. By the way, Mike has been bothered all year with a bad ankle—but he still accomplished the task!

RANDY NICOSON—this defensive half-back made two big plays. In the 3rd quarter with Milford pounding on the door Randy intercepted the ball on the three and ran it back 30 yards. Then with time running out in the game Nicoson recovered a fumble, which led to the winning touchdown. Defensive backs are worth their weight in gold and Nicoson has added much to the victory bank.

TOM ALLEN—All Tom did was score all the touchdowns and extra point and handle all punts. We have commented many times of the beautiful moves this boy has—well he made believers of the Milford people too. Allen has to be the finest end that I have seen at Clarkston, and maybe in our league too!

DAN FIFE—There have been some mighty great quarterbacks at Clarkston—Bob Porritt, Leroy Parks, and Dan Craven. We must put Fife on the top of the list. Dan does everything well, throwing, running, blocking, defensive play and captain of his ship. Sure Fife has ability, but he has another fine attribute Hustle—"This boy hustles while he waits".

Enough said—"Bring out the basketballs".

Next week's issue will have more on football players who deserve special mention!

Brief Summary of the game
Steve Parker recovered a fumble on Milford's 35 and in 8 plays Clarkston scored on a pass from Fife to Allen, play covered 7 yards. On this drive Caverly gained 11 yards, Erickson 8, and the rest on passes to Allen.

Milford came right back and scored on a 70 yard pass play when a Clarkston defensive back slipped on the wet turf.

In the 2nd quarter Clarkston put together a 62 yard drive, culminated on an 8 yard pass from Fife to Allen. Caverly gained 11 yards, Erickson 20, Fife ten and Tom Allen had 13 yards.

Milford came right back and scored on a 75 yard run with a double reverse. Late in the quarter they scored 3 points on a field goal to make the score Milford 16-14 at the half.

Some good plays were wasted in the 4th quarter—Mark Erickson ran back a punt 46 yards, Erickson also caught a 12 yard pass from Fife. Cecil Caverly broke three tackles for a 35 yard run and almost went all the way. But as we all know, almost counts only in horse shoes. Also wasted was a 20 yard pass to Tom Allen.

In the 4th quarter both teams were fighting the penalty bugaboo—so neither team had a sustained march. Then Milford fumbled, Nicoson recovered and Clarkston scored the winning touchdown.

This victory gives the Wolves a record of 6-2. A tie for 2nd place in league competition. A fine record after splitting the 1st four games.

Go State Go

This has to be the cry of the Clarkston News. I know many times we have expressed our true feelings about the Maize and Blue, but we never had any doubts that State was the better team. In this game of the year, State will take Notre Dame by 12 points. For the past 5 weeks the #2 label has been attached to Michigan State. After Saturday, State will let Notre Dame try harder to be #1. Someone keeps on saying if we are not good enough to be #1 we deserve being #2. Well I think Notre Dame deserves being #2.

You know ratings are very funny. For some strange reason State lost their #1 ranking. There has already been a lot said about this in other papers and magazines. I feel it has been totally misconstrued!

State set a new Big Ten record by defeating 14 Big Ten teams in a row. They were robbed from the #1 ranking in 1965; Duffy will not let his Spartans forget this little bit of injustice. Remember you, East Lansing people—Forget the clean ashtrays, let Notre Dame clean them.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Allen are announcing the arrival of a daughter, Tracy Marie, weighing 7 lb. 12 oz. She was born on October 10 and is not at a loss for grandparents. They are: Mr. and Mrs. Nolen Davis and Mrs. Patricia Haines of Clarkston and Homer Allen of Rochester.

Great grandparents are Mrs. Frank Meggitt and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Allen, of Pontiac and Nile Havershaw of Mio.

The little miss also has a great great grandmother, Mrs. Albert Glass of Harrisburg, Illinois.

DETROIT EDISON

An electric water heater is for the people who don't like to run out of hot water. We're so sure you'll like one, we guarantee your satisfaction—for a whole year! What do we mean by satisfaction? Simply this: If you don't get all the hot water you want, when you want it, you get all your money back, including any you may have spent on installation. And it doesn't matter where you bought your electric water heater. The Edison guarantee still applies. No strings attached. Fair enough?

EDISON

P.S. Average-size families with electric water heaters pay as little as $3.88 a month—a standard rate—for hot water. How much are you paying?

UP IN THE VILLAGE

Mrs. Frank Lambert of 43 N. Main Street has recently returned from a week in Little Rock, Arkansas (where she was called by a death in the family).

After three weeks motor-ing thru Portugal, Mr. & Mrs. Nelson Kimball are back at home on 72 N. Main Street. They flew from New York to Lisbon where they picked up a car and that was the last time they were in a big city. They traveled through the countryside, stopping at small villages and towns where they stayed at the beautiful pousadas, old castles that had been converted into government inns. The Kimball's visited everything from modern cork factories to ancient Roman ruins. Portugal is only about the size of Indiana but offers a wide variety of terrain—everything from mountains where skiing may be enjoyed to long, beautiful stretches of beaches along the ocean where they were able to swim. Mrs. Kimball brought back many pieces of pottery and found that each section made their own type, and if she didn't make a purchase in that particular village, that kind of pottery wasn't offered for sale anywhere else in Portugal. While close in culture to Spain, the Portuguese language and food is totally different. When staying at one of the pousadas along the border, the Kimball's could look over into Spain and see castles dotting the hilly countryside. They took many feet of film which some of their friends have already had the pleasure of viewing.

Dr. and Mrs. Rockwood Bullard of 6745 Park Lake Drive welcomed home for the week-end daughter Blair and her room-mate Nancy Russell from Hillsdale College. Among other guests were students from Massachusetts and Baghdad, Iraq who are attending Hillsdale.

OVER ON PLUM DRIVE
Little Anne Topolinski celebrated her eighth birthday Sunday and had as special guests her grandparents from Flint, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jakeway. With her parents, the Leonard Topolinski's of 6704 Plum, Anne had her older brothers Tom and David help her blow out the eight candles that decorated her cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kempf of 6683 Plum Drive had Ed and Marcella Brod-korb of 6681 Pear Street as week-end guests at their cabin in Clare, which is located on Five Lakes. They all wanted one last week-end to enjoy the beautiful fall scenery before the rush of hunting season begins.

Mrs. Ann Blagborn, daughter Wendy and son Fireman 1st/Class Barry Blagborn were dinner guests of the Richard Barry's of 6543 Plum Drive Sunday. Barry was injured in an accident in China while on tour of duty and is now on a 30 day leave from Great Lakes Naval Hospital.

We have missed seeing tiny Tina Whaley out playing with the other children and thought that she was only discouraged by the bad weather. Turns out she has been confined the past few weeks with scarletina and has only just returned to Kindergarten classes at Clarkston Elementary. Tina is the oldest daughter of the Robert Whaley's of 6604 Plum Drive.

AROUND ON ALMOND LANE

The Clayton Davis' of 6605 Almond Lane had a birthday party planned for five year old Rae Anne, complete with paper hats and cookies, to be held at school in her kindergarten class. This past Monday, the day of her birthday, she came down with flu. She's been assured that she can still have her party as soon as she returns to class. It's birthday week for the Davis'. Last Thursday Ethel, Mrs. Davis, celebrated her birthday also.

OUR READERS WRITE

Dear Editor:

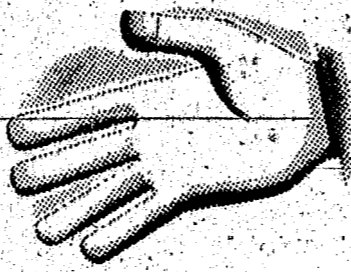

Why not make a clean sweep of the dump situation and establish a central Oakland County processing plant with no resultant soil, water or air pollution and with production of everything from wall board to fertilizer? Progressive communities throughout the nation, even in Europe, are following this method of disposal. Oakland County should and does have the leadership for progressive accomplishment.

Incinerators, like processing plants, require considerable capital outlay; however processing plants yield capital return from their products.

A recent editorial by one of the leading conservationists expressed, in part, this view: "It is noble of people to be concerned about the Redwoods—but incon-

FIRST THANKSGIVING DAY-

The autumn festival at Plymouth in Massachusetts in October of the year 1621 was a time of happiness and feasting and fun. Game had been abundant, the crops were good and the future looked very bright for the little band of English Pilgrims, who had gained a tenuous foothold on the edge of a wild new land.

The following year was one of dire misfortune and no festival was planned. Game was scarce; the crops had failed for lack of rain and there was hunger and much sickness. Yet behold, a special day of prayer was as by a miracle followed by heavy rain, and wonder of wonders, a ship laden with supplies and bringing new people from the old homeland put in wholly unexpected at Plymouth harbor!

There was rejoicing for so great a deliverance and forthwith the Governor set aside a day for public Thanksgiving and Prayer. Tradition says that the people came together in the meetinghouse some half an hour before nine in the morning and continued until well after high noon with singing, with prayer, with preaching and with reading, so profound was their gratitude.

The Reading was in part from the Psalter and let us try to go back in spirit to old Plymouth as we read Psalm 67, which tells of the greatness of God and of His wisdom and mercy and unending providence.

God be merciful unto us and bless us, and cause His face to shine upon us.

That Thy way may be known upon the earth, and Thy saving health among all nations.

Let the people praise Thee, O God, let all the people praise Thee.

sistent to overlook—trees dying from gas fumes." At the last election people voted to create more parks in Oakland County. Is it "consistent" to erect incinerators which unavoidably produce fumes?

People who are interested in the above proposal might contact local supervisors, county and state health officials and especially the county Drain Commissioner who is making an 8-month study of incinerators. A Conservationist

O let the nations be glad and sing for joy, for Thou shalt judge the people righteously and govern the nations of the earth. Then shall the earth yield her increase, and the God of our the God of our Fathers shall bless us. God shall bless us and the ends of the earth shall know His mercy. Psalm 67.

Another Day

A bantering question and a half-serious reply, all on a summer day at a country fair in England, took a young couple half way around the world to make their home first in eastern America and finally in Michigan. Horatio Foster, strolling with some of his other bachelor friends at the County Kent summer fair, was, in the way of bachelors since the beginning of time, looking over the groups of pretty girls. Spying young, attractive Ann Pleydell, he stopped to talk. Noting that some of her friends had recently been married, he asked, "Why aren't you getting married?" Her answer startled him. "You haven't asked me!" With his friends laughing at his confusion, he stumbled out a request for another meeting—sometime. Ann thought it would be very pleasant if they went walking about the fair—right then. She only intended to tease him for asking such a blunt question but the more she saw of this Mr. Foster, the more impressed she became. They had what was considered in that day to be a whirlwind courtship and were married a short time afterwards, causing some of the more timorous maidens who attended the wedding to wonder if perhaps mama was wrong in telling them not to be too forward with the young men.

As now, County Kent in England was a beautiful spot and Ann was very obstinate, when, several years later, her husband suggested that they emigrate to America. He finally convinced her that his best opportunities lay on the other side of the ocean. Only rarely was there a good farm for sale in England, and then never at a price they could afford. Besides, England was an old, settled country, —there was freedom and adventure in the new country. Those arguments didn't appeal to Ann—she wanted security and comfort for her small family. Could they have that in the new country? Certainly, her husband told her. And all their household goods, could they take everything? Everything?—even that huge wardrobe she took such pride in? If that wardrobe stayed behind, Ann declared darkly, she herself might think twice about going. So the walnut wardrobe, all of eight feet high, was tenderly wrapped and put on board ship with the rest of the family. For eleven years, it stood in Ann and Horatio's home in Utica, New York.

Utica was a bustling prosperous town but primarily concerned with the commerce of its barge canal. And it was thru people traveling that Erie Canal that Horatio began to hear of farms in the wilds of Michigan, farms that were measured not in acres but in quarter and half sections. He began to suffer from that closed in feeling that had attacked him in England. After all, he explained to Ann, hadn't they come to the new country to find land for themselves?—lots of land and had they been able to do that in Utica? Never mind the land, Ann told him, what about the Indians and wild animals? She had heard stories, too. Assured that the Indians had signed a treaty and that the only wild animals left were the game the settlers hunted for their table, Ann began reluctant preparations. Again the walnut wardrobe was polished and packed, and tied up in old quilts, it began the journey in 1837 with the Foster family down the Erie Canal. From there it was wrestled on board a lake steamer for the trip across Lake Erie, and on arrival in Detroit, lay in the bottom of the ox-drawn wagon, providing a perch for the Foster children as they made the journey of several days to Independence.

Accustomed to the order of County Kent and the bustle of Utica, Ann's new home was a shock to her. There were empty miles of woods between her and the nearest neighbor. On the other side of the Territorial road, that was sometimes corduroy and sometimes swamp, lay a little village, called Independence at that time, a sparse, straggling community that straddled an Indian trail that did duty as the main street. Their first home, a soddy thrown up quickly so Horatio could expend most of his energy getting in a crop, wasn't even high enough to accommodate the wardrobe. But things did improve. There was a better home built on the road that bears the family name and for all of Ann's life, Horatio and her children did everything in their power to make life pleasant for her.

Even to the extent of keeping stories from her that might upset her. One evening several years after they had built their new home, Horatio was walking home from a nearby farm, following the railroad tracks that lay through the top section of his land. Suddenly, thru the dusk he spied a bear! He had heard that the bears, driven out of the woods by hunger, had been raiding the gardens in nearby townships. Unarmed, he stood still, hardly daring to breathe, protected only by the bear's notoriously poor eyesight. After what seemed hours, the bear turned and still snuffling hungrily waddled off into the woods. Horatio dashed home, eager to tell his family of his brush with danger. At the door he stopped. He didn't dare tell Ann! She might just pack up the children and go back East. And it was years later before the story ever reached her ears.

Frederick Foster, one of Ann and Horatio's children who had been born in England, built a house across the road from his parents and eventually the walnut wardrobe found its way over there. This house still stands but the house of Ann and Horatio had burned years ago. When Frederick Foster sold his farm he bought the house in Clarkston village at 91 N. Main street, where, until a few years back, the walnut wardrobe stood in the upper hall.

We are indebted to Mrs. Frank Lambert of 43 N. Main Street, Clarkston for the story of Ann and Horatio Foster.
