VOLUME 38 SINGLE COPY 10 CENTS CLARKSTON, MICHIGAN 48016 THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1966 3 SECTIONS NUMBER 13

"It was off to the races" for Clarkston Rotarians and their wives. Monday evening, November 14, this jolly group went to Windsor Raceway. It was their annual Ladies' Night and the group journeyed to Windsor by bus. Dinner was served in the clubhouse overlooking the track.

Clarkston Junior Miss to be crowned Saturday

Cathy Lessard, Clarkston's Junior Miss for 1966, will crown her successor in the Annual Clarkston Junior Miss Pageant Saturday evening. The event will begin at 8:00 p. m. in the Clarkston High School Little Theater.

This year's winner will be selected from 13 contestants, all of whom are seniors at Clarkston High School.

The candidates will be judged on their scholastic achievement, poise, personality, physical fitness, and talent.

A personal interview with the judges, rehearsals, luncheon and more rehearsals will make up most of the big day's activity, with the final judging scheduled to follow during the show portion of the pageant. The girls will participate in a group number for their physical fitness category, then individually display their talents. The final judging event will be evening gown competition.

Sponsors of the pageant along with the Clarkston Jaycees are Howe's Lanes; Haupt Pontiac; Haskins Chevrolet, Inc.; and the Clarkston Office, Pontiac State Bank. Judging this year's pageant are Mrs. Virginia Loveland of the Pontiac Area United Fund; Mrs. Patti Lance, the president of the Michigan Jaycee Auxiliary; and Mr. Jack Skriden, the immediate past president of the Michigan Jaycees.

Jaycee chairman for the event is Bill Gillow. Tickets will be available at the door.

Junior Miss potentials pose on the stage that one alone will cross this Saturday evening. One of the twelve will then claim the possessive title. The program will begin at eight p. m. at the Senior High's Little Theater. Tickets will be on sale at the door. Busy working on their talent presentation for the big night are (back row l. to r.) Karen Caldwell, Becky Smith, Kay Granger, Wanda Atkins, Catherine Hoffman, Virginia Underwood. Front row—Jeanne Shoots, Brenda Pawley, Sheilla Fox, Pricilla Wice, Pat Watterworth.

Proceeds from dinner aid area families

Termed a "huge success" was the Barbecue dinner held by the C. B. 'rs in Clarkston on Sunday, November 13. Proceeds from the various activities held during the day were turned over to families stricken with tragedy.

Six year old Ronnie Nebel, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William "Mike" Nebel of 900 W. Clarkston road in Orion township is suffering a malignant brain tumor. Much of the money raised Sunday will go to the family to help defray Ronnie's medical expenses. A similar affair was held in Novi earlier this month. His parents are both members of the organization (Citizen Band Radio people). The club here is known as the "Roaring Twenties".

Recipients of another $100 is the Palmateer family in Farmington township. Tragedy struck their family two weeks ago when several of their children died in a fire that swept their home. They too, are C. B. 'rs.

It took 450 pounds of pork to feed the more than 500 families who came to the Barbecue. The meat had been cooked over an open fire. Total money received that day was $1,094. President of the local group is Pete Wilbanks who states that a great deal of the success of the venture depended on the generosity of the Clarkston merchants.

C.A.P. Honors Township board

At their meeting on November 15th the Township Board of Independence Twp. received a Certificate of Merit and the sincere thanks of the Clarkston Composite Squadron, Civil Air Patrol, for the support given to C. A. P. by the township.

Independence Township provides a meeting place for the Squadron, letting them use the Annex Building each Wednesday evening. In presenting the certificate, Capt. Clifford Moore, Oakland County Group Commander, CAP, told the Board of the progress of the cadet and senior members and of the honors which have come to the Squadron during the past year.

In the concluding portion of his presentation Capt. Moore told the Board that he felt that the "outstanding young Americans who are members of Clarkston Squadron will continue, with their fine achievements, to thank the Board for its support."

Township Dump To open Saturday

"The dump will be open on Saturday, barring any unforeseen circumstances" stated Richard Wilcox, Brandon township supervisor on Monday.

It will be open to residents of the 3 townships—Independence, Groveland, and Brandon. It has been closed since August 19 when health authorities said it did not come up to standards required by Act 87 passed by the state legislature.

Russell Farmer of Rattalee Lake Road will operate it under contract to the township. A total of 5% of his gross receipts will go to the 3 townships.

To be operated on a fee basis, charges will be as follows: 50¢ per passenger car; $1.00 per pick-up truck; larger vehicles will pay proportionate amounts up to $5.00.

Hours that it will be open are 10 A. M. until 5 P. M. for 7 days a week. It will be operated as a landfill operation, with all refuse being covered daily by a layer of dirt. No burning will be allowed.

It was necessary for Brandon township (within whose boundary the dump lies) to make an application to the State Health department for a license to operate it. Then followed an inspection of the site by health officers to determine if the proposed operation complies with the rules and regulations of Act 87.

Keift Engineering of Clarkston had made a detailed survey and plan of the dump coming up with the conclusion that it could service the area for approximately 8 years.

Now under construction are these apartments on Madison Court. They are located at the end of W. Washington and W. Church streets. To be known as Clarkston Manor, the owner and developer Mike Michalcheon of 7211 Lake Lane, Waterford states that he hopes the building will be ready for occupancy sometime in January.

Junior High teacher leads discussion

Several Alma College graduates in their first and second years of teaching returned to the campus Saturday (Nov. 12) for the college's 15th annual Education Day.

The conference, featured four discussion groups, was attended by educators who served as supervisory teachers to the Alma graduates when they were teaching interns.

Discussion group chairmen were Mrs. Jennifer Fitch of Traverse City Public Schools, Janet Tucker of Bridgeport Community Schools, Linda Robison of Breckenridge High School, and Mrs. Nancy Woodruff of Clarkston Junior High School.

Seniors order Announcements

On Tuesday of this week the Senior class ordered their commencement announcements. On Wednesday, Powell Studio who took the Senior pictures were here to pick up the proofs of those students who were absent when the pictures were first taken or those who had re-takes.

The class year is speeding by—school will close on Wednesday for the Thanksgiving vacation. On December 9 a Sadie Hawkins dance is planned. The annual Pep Club "Play Night" which was scheduled for Wednesday, November 23 has been cancelled.

Township seeking firm to draw up sewer plans

Interviews are being conducted by the Independence board to select an engineering firm which will design the proposed internal sewer system for the township. At this week's special meeting Keift Engineering of Clarkston presented their plans for an engineering study.

At a special meeting to be held next Tuesday evening Johnson and Anderson of Pontiac will be interviewed. Financing for this study will be obtained through a federal "702" loan. It is also hoped that this phase of the work could begin soon so that work on it was done simultaneously with the $33.3 million Clinton-Oakland Sewage Disposal system. Inasmuch as a projected water system is needed, these plans might be drawn at the same time stated a township board member.

Repayment of this federal "702" loan would be made at the time of the actual construction.

During last week's board meeting it was decided to clear out a swampy area by widening a canal in Waterford Hill Golf Estates No. 1 subdivision. The canal will be widened from 12 ft. to 30 ft. for a distance of about 300 feet. It runs from Green Lake into the golf course. To be done at the same time is dredging and cleaning. In other action the board has sent a letter to Nicholas Manzella regarding the sale of his bar on Dixie highway. His (MLCC) license was revoked last spring following a fight in the bar. The board in the letter stated that they had no objections

Re-assigned

Appointment of Jim Rowland, of 6999 Snow Apple Drive, Clarkston, as a salesman in its Engineered Products Division has been announced by the Imperial-Eastman Corporation, Chicago.

George Tweed, manager of the Division, who made the announcement, said that Rowland has been assigned to the Eastern Pennsylvania territory.

Married and the father of three children, Rowland majored in mechanical en-engineering at Lawrence Institute of Technology, Detroit.

Rowland has more than 12 years in the pneumatics and hydraulics field and prior to joining Imperial-Eastman served as a project engineer and as sales engineer with manufacturers of hydraulic and pneumatic components in Lake Orion, Michigan and in Cleveland, Ohio.

Imperial-Eastman is one of the nation's largest manufacturers of components to connect, convey and control hydraulic, pneumatic and fluid flow systems.

WILL MEET MONDAY

Monday November 28, the Clarkston Youth Protective Service will hold its meeting at the Township Hall at 8:00 P. M. Adults who are interested in learning more about this service are invited to attend.

The Michigan State Library was founded in 1828.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Planning Commission of Independence Township, Oakland County, Michigan, will hold a Public Hearing on December 15, 1966, 7:30 P. M. at the Township Hall, 90 North Main Street, Clarkston, Michigan, to consider the following changes in Township Zoning Districts:

To rezone from Suburban Farms to Residence-1:

The N 1/2 of NW 1/4 of NW 1/4 of Section 22 and the West 360 feet of North 315 feet of the S 1/2 of NW 1/4 of NW 1/4 of Section 22. Containing 24.0 acres.

To rezone from Suburban Farms to Residence-2:

The S 1/2 of the N 1/2 of the NW 1/4 of Section 22, except the West 360 feet of the North 315 feet thereof and except that part platted into "Sashabaw Heights". Containing 29.9 acres.

A map showing the proposed changes in the Zoning District may be examined at the Township Hall during regular office hours.

No, I didn't get a buck. I didn't see a buck. I saw 2 does together for about a minute. A minute later a shot rang out and there was 1 doe. It's time for someone to explain to me again how you can kill the potential mothers and improve, or is it increase, the herd. I've forgotten how that went.

I don't know why there aren't more resignations of public officials who were defeated for, or decided not to seek reelection last August, but have to serve until April 10, 1967. Only dedication to office and desire to see a job through, which we can be thankful for, can keep them from writing their notices.

Asking people to stay on a job that isn't going to be theirs for 8 months is ridiculous. Let's shorten the campaign time.

I wonder how widespread this philosophy of high school seniors is today. I asked a boy the other day if he planned to enter college or a training school after graduation.

He replied, "No, I don't see any sense in spending all that money on college and getting shot. I might as well go in the Army after high school and get it over with."

I can't decide if that's the pessimists way of looking at the war in Vietnam, the hard way, or practical way. But the way things are going I may hear the same from my son's lips 6 years from now, and I'm sure I'll be more chilled than when I heard it this week.

From time to time we like to look back and recall... Did Ma ever catch you lookin' over the ladies underwear section of the Sears-Roebuck catalog?... Remember ber when there were no snow suits? (Kids wore "leggings" and only mother or teacher could straighten 'em right)

...weren't you personally acquainted with the cow that supplied the milk your milkman brought in a quart can? ...weren't you the boy who hated to play "Postoffice" at the party—and stayed the longest... and who broke the chairs playing "Sly winkum"?

You mean you've forgotten the town where last year's circus posters stayed until covered by this year's posters? They're campaign posters now.

Midway in the second quarter of the MSU vs. Irish game a bird took fan's eyes from the field of indecision. Up there where Hazel and I sat, 2 rows from the top, was this crazy bird with a green and white banner tied to its tail. It fit right in with the airplanes and helicopters towing banners, but some advertiser missed a bet on not using the bird's streamers.

In behalf of 25 safety patrol boys, a banner for their safety record is accepted by Lieutenant's David Partlow, Mark Roy and Capt. Bruce Souby. Presenting the banner to the sixth graders, is Trooper Moyes. An accident-free year will keep the banner and safety flag at the Clarkston Elementary School.

AMENDMENT TO ZONING ORDINANCE

The Planning Commission of the TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE, County of Oakland, State of Michigan will hold a Public Hearing at Township Hall, 90 North Main Street, Clarkston, Michigan, at 7:30 P. M. o'clock on the 15th day of December, 1966 on an amendment to the Independence Township Zoning Ordinance No. 2:

Section 11. Suburban Farms District.

Amend Section 11.1 to read:

Section 11.1 Permitted Uses.

1. Uses permitted in R-1 Residential Districts.
2. Limited farming and gardening, provided the keeping and raising of poultry and animals is accessory to the residential use and such farming, poultry and animal raisings only for the use of the family residing on the subject parcel.
3. Accessory buildings necessary for permitted uses.

SPORTS

Last week the Clarkston Athletic Department under the direction of Dom Mauti, sponsored a fall Athletic Banquet. Honored at the banquet were football players, cross-country runners and coaches.

This has been a successful fall season for Clarkston athletes and coaches. The cross-country team finished the season with a record of 10-4 and 5th place in league competition. This is the finest record of any cross-country team at Clarkston. The J.V. cross-country team took 1st place in league competition.

The J.V. football team finished the season with a record of 6-1 for 1st place in league competition and the Varsity football team had a record of 6-2. This 6 wins ties the record for the most wins since the coaching days of Ralph "Doc" Thayer. The 6 wins enabled Clarkston to tie Clarenceville for 2nd place.

Cross-country coach Max Inman passed out awards to 18 boys. One award cost him 2 steak dinners for Neil Stalker. Coach Inman promised anybody a steak dinner if they ran 2 miles under 11 minutes. Stalker ran two of them.

Coaches Thompson and Hanson passed out awards to 33 boys. Thompson talked about the accomplishments of the team and Hanson had a few words of wisdom for all in attendance.

Head Coach Ralph Kenyon had awards for 35 boys on the team. He too spoke on the many accomplishments of the team. He also mentioned special awards for many members of the team—

Cecil Caverly—Honorable mention all league and winner of Hard-Nosed Award.

Richard Bass—2nd team all league as a defensive end.

George Lekas—voted by team-mates as the most improved player on the team.

Tom Bullard—2nd team all league tackle.

Mark Erickson—leading ground gainer and 2nd leading scorer on team.

Gary Stelmach—Honor-able mention offensive guard.

Tom Allen—All league selection at the end position. Scored 9 touchdowns and set a new Clarkston record with 8 td at an end position. Tom caught 41 passes good for 694 yards!

Dan Fife—voted most valuable by team-mates. All league selection at quarter-back. Passed for 800 yards, tossed 10 touchdown passes and scored 5 himself!

What can anyone say about the 10-10 tie between State and Notre Dame. I remember Duffy making a comment about a tie "Its like kissing your sister".

The tie left a kinda bad taste in your mouth, because it actually proved nothing. Here we have been waiting for about a month for the big game, and for the last week we have been telling our wives not to plan a thing between 1-4 on Saturday. In fact why not take the kids and go shopping or find something to do but please leave us experts alone. One o'clock finally arrived, we locked ourselves in our T.V. room with our favorite beverage and goodies. We sat with both eyes glued to the T.V. set. The only thing that could remove me from the set would be a house fire.

After State had a 10 point lead, I started to pat myself all over my back, because this column predicted a 12 point victory for State. I started to rehearse all kinds of lines for a victory column. But then the tide began to change. State had poor coverage on the kick-off and it was returned 38 yards to States 49 yard line. In four plays Notre Dame had a touchdown. The rest is history.

After the game was over, many people asked the same question, who is #1? Should it be Notre Dame? After all it was evident they were satisfied with the tie. But Notre Dame was voted #1, and State would have to defeat the fighting Irish to be acclaimed #1. Or should it be Michigan State? One could see State calling time-outs in the last minute and Notre Dame didn't even try for a long bomb when they had the chance. Clint Jones said, "I won't say that a team is great when it eats up the clock" and didn't everyone see State gamble on a 4th down attempt deep in their own territory late in the last Quarter!

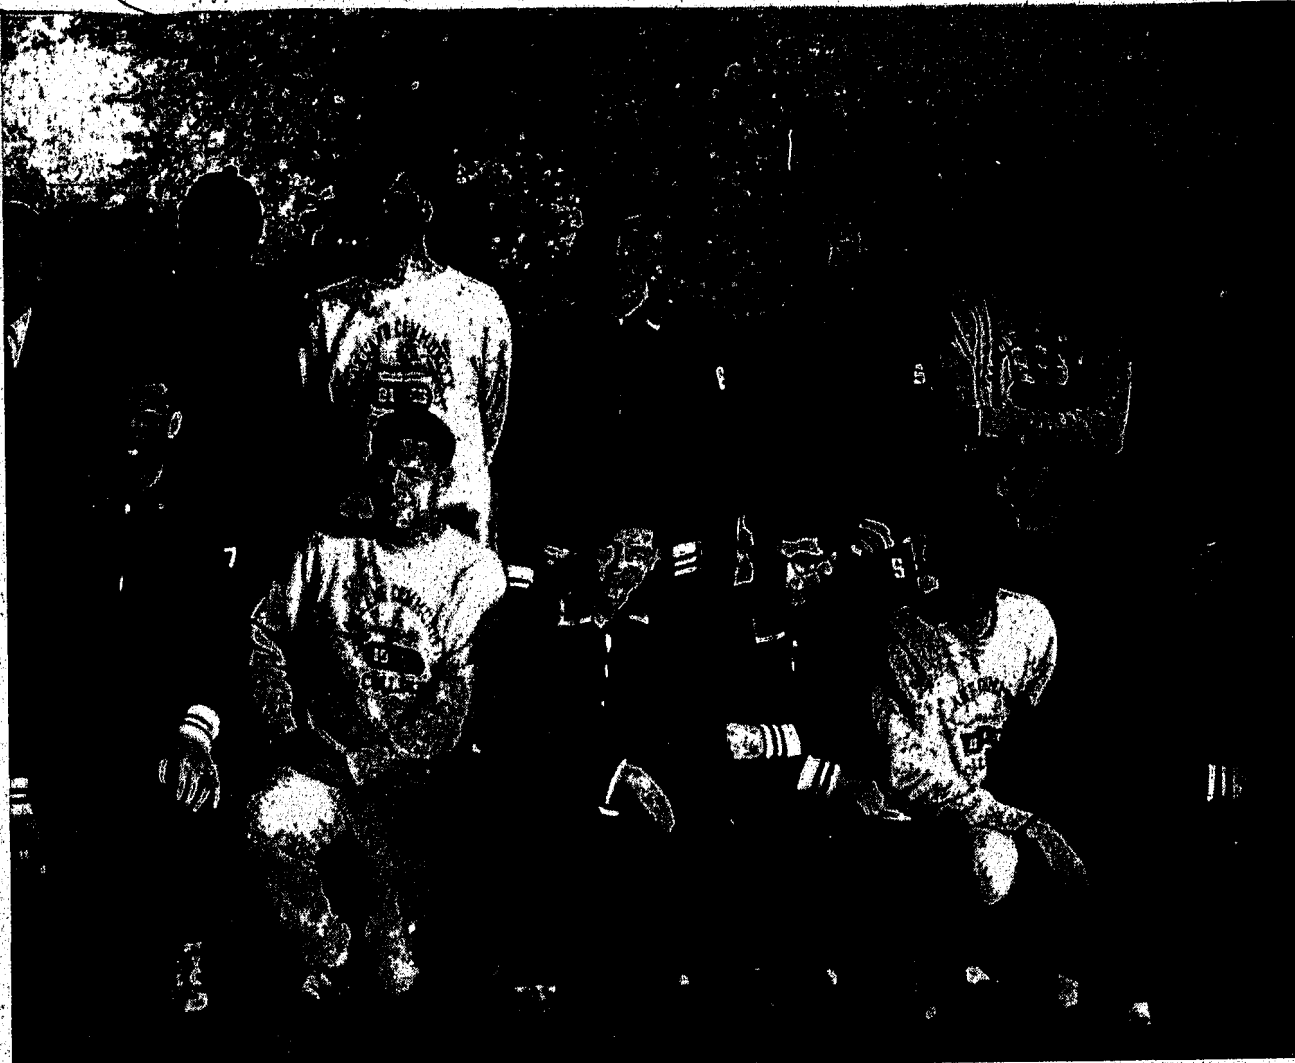

I hate to see any champion play the way Notre Dame did in the last 2 minutes of play. I feel a champion should always go down fighting and the Irish from Notre Dame did not live up to their name! My vote for #1 team is Michigan State. However, watch out for Alabama—do you remember what happened last year?

OUTSTANDING CADET

Gary L. Fitch of Clarkston has been awarded the Outstanding Basic Cadet Ribbon by Michigan Technological University's Army ROTC detachment. This award for the 1965-66 spring quarter marks the second time he has earned this recognition.

These ribbons are given each quarter at Michigan Tech to those freshmen and sophomores who rank in the upper 10 percent of the basic ROTC course.

Cadet Fitch is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Fitch of 5744 Hummingbird Lane, Clarkston. He received this award as a sophomore at Tech, majoring in metallurgy.

The Oakland Community College Highland Lakes Campus cross-country team cemented its claim as the best community college squad in the state by winning the Nat'l Junior College Athletic Assoc. regional meet on Nov. 5 at Jackson Junior College. They also placed 9th in the Nat'l Junior College Cross-Country Meet which was held in Pensacola, Fla, November 12. A total of 29 colleges with 162 runners competed. Ricks Junior College in Idaho won the meet. It was quite an auspicious first year for Coach Lynn Reed's harriers. Members of the team are: (l. to r.) Kneeling - Don Balkwell, Walled Lake; Gary Roerink, Pontiac; Dave Johnson, Pontiac; Nick Ochoa, Pontiac; Craig Stratchan, Detroit; Guy Riddle, Clarkston. (l. to r.) Standing - Prentice (Pin) Ryan, OCC Athletic Director; William Hollis, Pontiac; Frank Pierce, Ferndale; Mike McMartin, Union Lake; Dave Kay, Pontiac; Doug Metcalf, Detroit; and Coach Lynn Reed.

Drive for funds in second week

Friends and parents of Girl Scouts in Independence Township are in the second week of an appeal for funds. Next week's door to door appeal for funds will climax a two week effort to raise the Township goal of $4000. Mrs. Walter Norberg, area chairman, reports that the community appeal is doing very well although more volunteers are needed. Anyone interested in assisting with next weeks door to door solicitations should contact Mrs. Norberg, 625-2314, or co-chairman Jane Butters, 625-2895.

Approximately 250 girls are Scouts in Independence Township. Since it costs $16 per girl to provide programs and services, the $4000 goal came into being. Pledges are being sought from area residents and businessmen for the support of one Girl Scout or as high as a complete troop. This runs between $250 and $500.

NEW YEAR'S DANCE

The Don Pablo orchestra will be at the C. A. I. Building 5640 Williams Lake Road, New Years Eve. Tickets are being sold in advance at the C. A. I. office. Only a limited number of tickets will be sold. The price of admission will include breakfast at 2:00 a. m. Call Or 3-9102 for price and reservation.

ON HONOR ROLL

Cadet L. Paul Hoxsie, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Hoxsie, 37 East Washington, Clarkston, has been named to the dean's honor roll for the first nine weeks of school at Oklahoma Military Academy, Claremore.

WILL MEET IN DRAYTON PLAINS

The "Sew-Whats" of Jos. C. Bird Chapter #294 O. E. S. Clarkston will meet on Tuesday, November 29 at 10 A. M. at the home of Mrs. Grant Gilbert 2405 Pauline, Drayton Plains. Members are asked to bring a sandwich and their own table service.

Joan Powell wed in Saturday ceremony

New York City was the honeymoon destination of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Finman who were married on Saturday, November 19. The ceremony took place at Our Lady of the Lakes Church in Waterford at 1 p.m. with Father Kaiser officiating. The bride who was the former Joan Kay Powell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Eiden of 8274 Ellis Road, Clarkston. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Finman of 712 S. 15th street in Escanaba. The church was decorated with white glads and mums for the ceremony. The bride chose a gown of white satin with touches of alencón lace. It was fashioned sheath style and floor length with a full train. Her illusion veil was lace trimmed. She carried white gardenias on a satin-covered missal.

Janet Powell, the bride's sister was her Maid of Honor. The other attendants were Mrs. Gary Finman of Addison, Illinois; Sharon Pinho of Pontiac and Mrs. Edward Lauinger also of Pontiac. Their floor-length velvet gowns were in bottle green, and had satin accents. They all carried bronze mums.

The groom's twin brother, Gary Finman of Addison, Illinois was his Best Man. The other attendants were: Robert Peoples of Pontiac, Gary Hoppe of Flint and John Leppanen of Clarkston. Ushers were Don Keranen of Southfield and Dick LaMack of Keweenaw, Wisconsin.

Guests were greeted at a reception hosted by the bride's parents at their home on Ellis Road, Clarkston.

Following their honeymoon the couple will make their home at 91 E. Church street in Clarkston.

ATTEND 80th BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Wilford and family of North Main street were in Royal Oak over the week end for the 80th birthday celebration of her father, A.W. Vander Velde. Friends and neighbors dropped in during the day for coffee and to extend their best wishes. And during the evening relatives and friends gathered to wish him well.

Coming from a distance was Mrs. Wilford's brother, Henry Vander Velde who arrived from California. He was a house guest of the Wilford's for two days prior to the family celebration.

Al Robinson and son Alan have left for the hunting area near Cadillac with hopes of coming home with two deer.

Lee and Mark Carter have joined the many hunters from the Clarkston area in Northern Michigan that are planning on bringing down their deer this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. James Waters with Sidney and Arlene are planning on spending Thanksgiving with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Will Waters at their home in Charlotte.

A family gathering was held at the Martin Bishops Sunday with forty two relatives from Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Florida present also able to attend were many from different parts of Michigan. A buffet with turkey as the main course and many other favorite dishes was enjoyed. This was followed by a large cake with forty-two candles—one for each person there.

John Adams and Lewis Seffens left for Northern Michigan where they will be hunting during the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Irons are visiting Mrs. Irons' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Mathews of Atlanta, Georgia. They plan on returning shortly after Thanksgiving.

The Ray Teals joined four other couples for dinner and dancing to celebrate Mrs. Teals' birthday, November 19. Mrs. Teal was presented with a lovely corsage and birthday cake with one candle.

A slumber party was held Friday evening in honor of Becky, daughter of the William Bakers. Seven girls enjoyed dinner followed by dancing, games and lots to eat before they finally fell asleep.

Floyd Tower, Chef de Gare of Voiture 811 and his wife, Dawn, John J. Lynch Jr. Vice Commander of the 18th District American Legion and his wife, Shirley, attended the Past Commanders and Presidents Dinner Dance at the Auburn Heights American Legion Post Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Klownnon and family left for New York where they will visit friends and relatives over the Thanksgiving holidays. The Klownnon's plan on attending at least one Broadway play while there.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith and sons visited friends in Lansing Sunday and enjoyed a lovely Chinese dinner before returning home.

A birthday party for Karl, six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Steiner, was held Friday after school with ice cream and cup cakes after games. Five boys came home with Karl after school.

Patty, two year old daughter of the Clark Wilsons, has joined her other sisters Mathila and Lucy with the measles. By Thanksgiving they should be almost over them so their grandparents will be able to join them for dinner. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George R. Wilson of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Purves and daughters, Cindy, Julie, Carrie and Shelley have moved into their new home on the Dixie this weekend. The Purves formerly lived on Allen Road.

William Danerk and son Danny are deer hunting in Northern Michigan but so far from reports they haven't even spotted a deer.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bowman and family spent the weekend visiting friends in Grand Rapids.

Karen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Johnson, spent Saturday entertaining six girls who helped Karen celebrate her fourteenth birthday. Lots of food, pop and music were the speciality.

Paul Young and son, James, have returned home after visiting Mr. Young's mother, Mrs. Larry L. Young in Maryland last week.

Lois Snyder has left for Lansing where she has taken a position with the P. L. Thompson firm as private secretary.

One year old Trudi was too young to blow out the candle on her birthday cake but brothers Jerry and Greg helped her out. A dinner in which the grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Farley Townsend of Detroit attended preceded the candle blowing. The children's parents are the Norman Townsends of Clarkston.

Jody and Tommy, children of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Spunder, spent the weekend with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spunder of Flint. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Spunder enjoyed a weekend of hunting.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY: Sara Doremus, Jeff Dawley, Ann Marie Matzelle, November 25; Cookie Smith, Pete Thompson, Patti Smith, John Morgan, Elaine Keeley, David Balousek, November 26; Andrew Rossano, Bonnie Olliffe, November 27; Linda Kennedy, Larry Kennedy, Susan O'Neill, Richard Har- ken, November 28; Jeremy Hickman, Bill Kreiner, Katie Hoff, Holly Radoye, November 29; Jean Bray, Bradley Kotula, November 30; Hillary Bell, Becky Spohn, Ron Jyleen, December 1.

ANNIVERSARIES: Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hagstrom November 25, Mr. and Mrs. Art Ripley November 28.

NEW BABY

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Durham II of Fern Creek Kentucky (former Frances Hancock of Clarkston) announce the birth of their son James Edward III, November 16, 1966. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Hancock, Westfield, N. J. and Mr. and Mrs. James E. Durham, Fern Creek, Kentucky. Great Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Parker, Clarkston and Mrs. H. V. Hancock, Pontiac.

ON HONOR ROLL

Kristin N. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean N. Smith of 69 E. Washington, Clarkston was one of the 536 students who achieved an all-A record at Michigan State University. This was during the spring and summer terms. These names are placed on the honor roll, which offers "recognition of the highest attainment in scholarship."

The students were feted at a dinner on November 1 by Dr. John A. Hannah, MSU president.

Sorority hears of Day Care Center

Mrs. Wayne Francisco, Rush Captain, opened her home Sunday afternoon for the Beta Mu Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha International Sorority membership tea.

Chapter President, Mrs. David Witt conducted the first degree ritual for Miss Maria Jimenez, Mrs. Troy Smith, and Miss Frances Chavez.

Finger sandwiches and petite fours were served from a lace covered table centered with a floral arrangement and tall white candles. Past President, Mrs. John Keller poured.

Mrs. Robert McClendon, director of the day care center for mentally retarded children at Covert Methodist Church was guest speaker. The center is conducted by the North Oakland Association for Retarded Children, is parent-operated, and licensed by the state. The center is the chapter's philanthropic project for the year. Mrs. McClendon told of the center's need for the cardboard that come inside men's shirts. Because of the cardboard's durability and size, the children find it easier to work with than on paper. They're also in need of empty thread spools which the children use to string, stack, etc. in exercising their finger muscles. Beta Mu will collect spools and cardboard for the center.

AT NORTHWOOD

Paulette Frechette, daughter of the Paul Frechettes of Clarkston is a second year student at Northwood Institute in Midland. She is majoring in Retail and Marketing and plans to make a career in the same field.

Northwood is a private coeducational college. It also has a 200 acre campus at Cedar Hill, in Texas. There is also a specialized program offered at the extension center in Alma. Other extensions are in Quito, Ecuador and in Lima, Peru.

State Water Authority Needed

Dependency means giving up a freedom of choice. Last week's election proved it. Communities accepting water from Detroit had no voice in the fluoridation question. These communities are bound to accept Detroit's water no matter what condition it may be in.

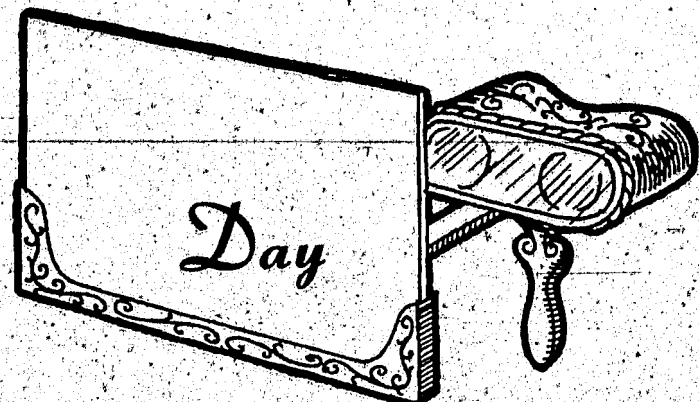

Michigan is unique. We can boast of our water supply. If we had a limitless supply of water, the implications of Detroit fluoridating its water would present no cause for worry. But, Detroit, in its role of mother to the founding communities of southeastern Michigan, is gaining power that in many ways surpasses that of the State of Michigan.

By a single vote, or hundreds of thousands of votes, Detroit acts for her self and in so doing affects the lives of all who are dependent on her. We are not scientists. Nor, are we able to foresee what effects this mass fluoridation will have on our water life of the Great Lakes.

Many states have created central authorities for water control and regulation, California, for one, has shown that some of its seemingly arid wasteland can be transformed into majestic, productive beauty. California accomplished this task through good judgment and a state water authority.

Today, Michigan still enjoys plentiful water. Pollution in our own area, is gradually turning this fresh sweet water into the spawning grounds for disease.

In the light of the recent election, we favor a State operated water authority.

By Constance Lektzian

The Thanksgiving season is a beautiful one and a busy one—huge family gatherings, lots of cooking and lots of work. But we also have modern stoves, electric roasters, automatic coffee makers, frozen vegetables, prepared pie crust, canned pumpkin, aerosol whipped cream—housewifery has come a ways since the day when vegetables were boiled in a black iron pot hung on a crane that was swung over an open fire. Meat was roasted on an open spit and bread baked in a hearth-side oven. Putting together pumpkin pies was a day long procedure that was squeezed in with other household tasks and started by having someone, usually the child closest at hand, drag in a couple of pumpkins from the barn.

The early settlers in this region were easterners, and even those who had come over from the old country had spent enough time in the East to become acquainted with the custom of observing Thanksgiving, for those York Staters and Yankees had observed the holiday with some semblance of regularity since Washington had first declared it a national holiday on November 26, 1789. Not that everyone who came here had too much to be thankful for during their first winter. But after a time, things got easier and some of the older settlers saw the results of their own hard work pay off.

Suzy Sherwood thought about this as she got her little twin daughters ready for the Thanksgiving dinner at her parents'. Her father, Orsamus Beardslee, still occasionally muttered that just when he could have made life easier for his children, they up and got married and left home.

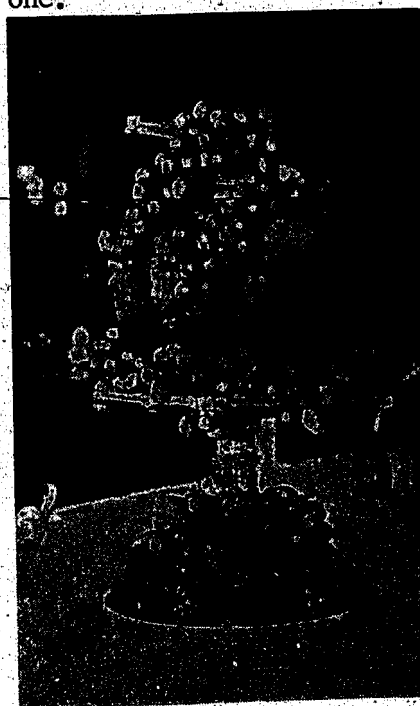

One of the first things Suzy did to make the trip from Oxford to the family farm more comfortable was to get out the soapstones and bricks and heat them in the oven. These soapstones came in all shapes; small ones to be clutched in little hands, fist sized ones to be slipped into pockets and still larger ones to be packed around the little girls once they were seated in the sleigh. Then the bricks came out of the hot oven to be wrapped and put up front where she and Seeley, her husband rested their feet. Only the soft whistling of the runners as they cut through the snow and the jingle of the sleigh bells disturbed the silence of the long cold miles. It hurt to talk with the cold air rushing in their faces and they saved their conversation for the dinner table.

And what a table it was! Opened to its fullest length, it easily seated 20 people and looked as if it would bend under its burden of food. The house was redolent with the odors of fresh baked breads and cakes, steamed puddings and roasting turkeys with a sharp tang in the air that comes from newly opened jars of pickles and preserves. These good smells brought the twins and all their cousins wandering hungrily from the parlor where they had been banished to stand at the kitchen door.

Then bundled against the cold, the children were sent outside to play and the parents ate first. Someone stuffed cookies into their pockets as they went out the door but nevertheless they waited on their parents. There was an adult world a child's world and no one ever confused the two. Stomping through the snow filled yard, the children played games and explored the barns until driven in by the cold.

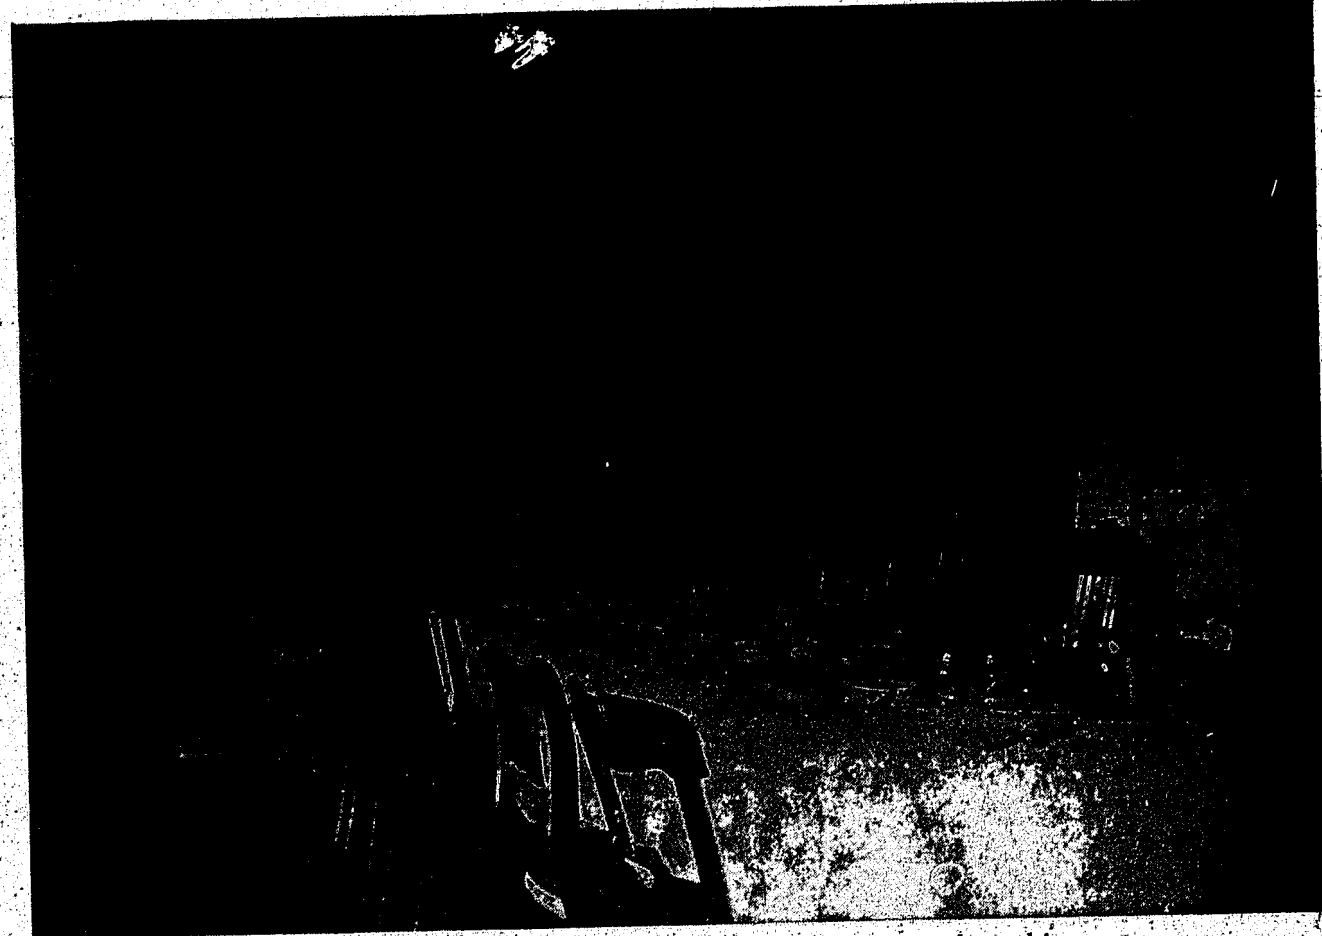

The seldom used parlor had been opened and aired for the occasion and a fire was burning warmly in the stove. Here were hung the pictures of long dead ancestors, and here also were kept the treasures of painted china knick-knacks and the shell that roared with the sound of the ocean when you held it to your ear. With the dominoes that had been gotten out for them and the slippery horsehair furniture to slide down, the children could have kept busy. But there were important side trips to take, to the dining room, where peering around the door, they could see their grown-ups doing away with such delicacies as venison pastry and parsnip fritters. Finally their turn came! By now their grandmother pulled down the hanging lamp over the table and lit it, and in its pool of warm yellow light, they dug into their heaping plates to find that their grandfather had seen to it there were enough drumsticks for every-

An enterprising homemaker, using the materials she had on hand, carved a basket from a small pumpkin and filled it with fruit for her Thanksgiving center piece.

All the chickens, geese and turkeys that had been prepared would never go to waste, for what the family didn't eat, the tramps would. Orsamus had a reputation for never turning away a hungry man. His generosity kept his wood pile high for these men repaid him by sawing wood in exchange for a bath and a hot meal. These itinerants criss-crossed Michigan in a steady stream in those times, working here a day, there a day. Occasionally one would stay on somewhere for years as the hired man, working for people who never knew where he came from or who his family was. Most of them were none too clean and Clarissa Beardslee kept a small room upstairs for the express purpose of letting these men scrub up before sitting down at her table. Even on this holiday, there were several of these strays eating in her kitchen.

Finally the day came to an end, and warmed against the cold journey home, the twins dozed in their mother's arms, mulling in their minds the plans for Christmas they had overheard their elders making.

In an old cookbook loaned us, we found a recipe for pastry that was enjoyed at holiday dinners years ago. It sounds delicious, but the directions are a little vague, apparently they leaned heavily on the cook's good judgment.

Venison Pastry—Cut the neck, breast and shoulder of venison into small pieces, add bones and trimmings, cover with water, simmer until tender. Cover sides and bottom of a deep baking dish with a sheet of rich pastry, rather thick. Place into this the pieces of meat, season with salt, pepper, mace and nutmeg; add a glass of port wine. Pour over this a gravy made from the liquid, cover with pastry. Bake for two hours or more, depending on the size of the pan, just before removing from the oven, brush beaten egg over the top of the crust and bake a few minutes longer.

The book also advises that the best time to kill and dress buck venison was from June to September, for deer venison the best months were from October to December. Imagine a deer season six months long!

We are indebted to the memories of Mrs. Addie Allen of Oxford who on that long ago Thanksgiving Day was one of the twins; and to Mrs. Russell Maybee who loaned us her grandmother's cookbook.

Our readers write

Dear Editor:

May I Herewith enter for the record my own particular and vigorous protest, pursuant to your latest column.

At our little establishment, it is I who must labor and bring forth an ad each week for your illustrious sheet. It's not easy. Very often there's more gray hair on the office floor than there are discarded ads. And it's all mine. Accordingly, when a little piece of prose finally is assembled and placed in the "Ad Tree" I hopefully assume that it will appear in the News as it is written.

You can imagine my dismay upon reading our ad this past week to find that the legitimate contraction, "you're" had been changed to the possessive pronoun, "your", thereby proclaiming to the readers in large black type that Mrs. Bob is slipping. This will never do. Please advise whoever takes over my tortured little pieces of paper and sets the type—or whatever it is that happens once it's out of my hands—that he or she is not, repeat NOT, to alter the spelling or composition of said ad. I would appreciate this very much.

It has been such a pleasure these past months to pick up a nice, fat News, full of pictures and information. We have heard so many good and complimentary remarks about the paper that I cannot bear to see any mistakes. At least not in MY ad. (A little humor there, son.)

Thank you, and, as it should have said in the ad, YOU'RE DOING FINE!

Really you are.

Sincerely,
"Mrs. Bob"

Jess Berg, chairman of the Rotary sponsored Good-fellow edition of the Clarkston News states that he has his two teams all lined up to start selling the papers. They will be on the street at 6:30 A.M. on December 2 and 3rd. It is an annual contest between the two teams to see who can sell the most papers. And speaking of the Rotarians, have you tried one of their delicious fruit cakes? See any teatious food and good health club member—they all have a supply and a slice of that wonderful cake gives you the necessary energy to keep on with activities pertaining to the Christmas season.

As some read this, they will be resting from the joys and pleasures of Thanksgiving. It has always been perhaps my favorite holiday—a day of rejoicing over the many things for which we are thankful. Near the top of my list are the wonderful new friendships I have made in Clarkston this year.

Then there are "wonderful families" happy together at this holiday time. Bounteous food and good health are grateful for too! And no doubt my son-in-law is thankful that there are 2 football games scheduled for that day—he is a nice guest to entertain—he brings his own T.V.

PEEKIN' into the PAST

25 YEARS AGO IN THE CLARKSTON NEWS

Fire, believed to have caught from an overheated stove pipe, totally destroyed the White Lake Presbyterian Church Sunday with an estimated loss of $6,000. Flames were discovered in a second floor room as children entered class rooms to attend Sunday School. Fire swept unchecked through the wooden structure, while some of the men in the congregation, which had just completed its morning services, worked desperately to save some of the pews and a few hymnals. No fire equipment was available.

The members of the Seymour Lake Church were pleased on Sunday to hear their new Choir composed of the youth of the Congregation. It was their first presentation.

-SUCCESS-

Be thou faithful and I will give to thee the crown of life. Revelations 2:10.

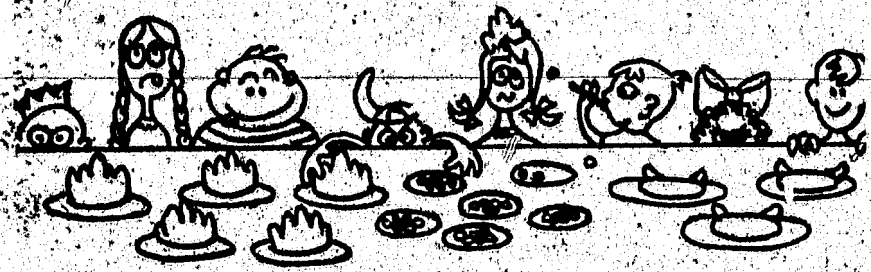

Jonathan Edwards, very able 18th century American clergyman, once made a vow that inspired him and helped him serve God and man in his day. 'I resolve', said Edwards, 'to live every day with all my might and never to waste a moment of time, which is the great gift of God'.

Great resolutions can lead to highly successful living and he is a strong man who is determined to endure life's harshness and to use its adversities as stepping stones to positions of benign influence among his fellow men. This is not an easy way of life, yet with God's help and approval many seemingly impossible goals may be reached, provided one begins with a definite resolve and a definite purpose which is like unto a vision beckoning, and never weakens or turns back.

The basic requirements for success in life are un-failing faith in God and in His gracious Will, confidence in one's self as a child of God, and a high resolve to gain the Crown of Life which is given to those who, like unto Jesus, have overcome the world.

Eternal God, our Father, Render us sensitive, we beseech Thee, to the perfection that we see in Jesus, that we may live successfully in Thy sight. AMEN.

COMPLETES TRAINING

Army Private Jeffrey L. Hetherington, 20, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce A. Hetherington, and wife, Jorja, live at 5731 Flemings Lake Road, Clarkston, completed advanced training as a combat engineer November 10 at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

During his eight weeks of training, he received instruction in combat squad tactics, use of infantry weapons, and engineer reconnaissance.

He also was trained in the techniques of road and bridge building, camouflage and demolitions.

Lutherans to hold Advent workshop

This coming Saturday, November 26, from 2:00 until 6:00 p.m. Calvary Lutheran Church will hold its first annual Advent Family Workshop.

Since the season of Advent begins the cycle of the Christian Church Year and comes immediately before the festival of Christmas, it is a time of preparation for Christ's coming.

Traditionally, the Advent wreath has been used in home devotions as one way of celebrating this season. Four candles on an evergreen wreath are lit consecutively during the four weeks of Advent (Nov. 27-Dec. 23) to symbolize the Light of Christ coming into the world. Other items of traditional use include Advent calendars, Jesse trees, paper Christmas-tree ornaments, and manger scenes or creches.

Sponsored by Unit #2 of Calvary Lutheran Church Women, the workshop will give families an opportunity to work together in making articles for use in the home during Advent. It is hoped that such a project will encourage family religious celebrations, and provide the materials and motivation for a positive approach to meaningful Christmas preparation.

Everyone is welcome to attend the workshop, held in the church's education unit at 6805 Bluegrass Drive in Clarkston. A minimal charge will be made for materials used. Families may come or leave at any time during the four-hour period.

90 Year Old House Contains Many Unique Features

By Constance Lektzian

Custom changes slowly—and sometimes it never makes it. The house at 91 N. Main Street in Clarkston that has been occupied by the Jerome Wilford family for the past 12 years is still generally known as the Foster house. Between the last Foster, in about 1910, and the Wilford's, there were about three other families that lived here. It was built by Harmon Howe almost 90 years ago—and his daughter who is still living, recalls her father saying it cost him about $1400.00 to build. It was sold to Frederick Foster several years after it was built.

We got our first good view of the house through the drizzling rain that had started just as we arrived. Looking at it, we remembered Mrs. Wilford telling us when we called to make an appointment that an architect had designated the house as masculine Victorian—a sound appellation. Victorian it is—but completely devoid of the frippery and gingerbread that marks so many houses of that period. Standing outside the heavy double front doors, we wondered at the strange looking door-knob, only to find out later that the one on the left is a bell. We examined it with great curiosity, not realizing that every time we touched it, it rang somewhere in the house. Mr. Wilford, a publisher, was not at home but his wife, Lucia, a talented woman who bubbles with a love of living that is infectious, was there to welcome us.

One of the first things we asked to see was the stairway which stands on one side of the entry hall. We have talked to at least a half dozen older residents who remembered having been in the house as children, and this stairway is one of the things that has stayed in their memories. Starting from an area about the diameter of a large round table, the steps spiral upward to the second floor. They give the appearance of being partially enclosed in a column but are unsupported by the house walls. As far as we could see, everyone of the treads are triangular. A fireman's twist all the way.

Thru the entry hall to the south parlor was another set of double doors, identical to the front doors but without the glass, and having the same high arched frame. Then between the two front parlors is still another pair of these doors. This continuity of arches seemed to lead us into the house. It was these doors between the two parlors that presented a problem for a while. The Wilford's didn't like them closed; but opened they blocked off the corners on either side in the north parlor. Mrs. Wilford has solved that with a very artistic flair. She opened the doors back as far as they would go—and hung pictures on them. There is a small antique table in front of one with an arrangement of bric-a-brac, a very attractive and eye-catching spot. Used as a study, the walls in the north parlor are filled with books and cupboards. A long-ago decorator painted the woodwork in a pine finish, feathering the grain, complete with knot holes and swirls. Until we touched the surface, we thought we were seeing the actual grain of the wood.

At one end of the 'L' shaped, compact kitchen is a white brick fireplace with a brightly polished brass hood. Maybe it was because the rain was beating so hard on the windows outside, but never have we seen such an inviting spot. There was even a sleek shiny cat curled up in front of the blaze. The fireplace is in what used to be a utility room, but the Wilford's tore out the connecting wall and made it one spacious room. Even the long, harvest-type table that easily accommodates the Wilford's and their six children doesn't crowd the room. The paneling is done in a warm walnut and conceals many cupboards and closets as well as what would be a delight to any homemaker—a walk in pantry.

When the house was built there were no bathrooms and no clothes closets. This last may be the reason Frederick Foster brought along his mother's walnut wardrobe when he moved in.

For many years it stood in the upstairs hall. Mrs. Wilford took us up a second stairway, this one enclosed, to the top floor where there are four large bedrooms and another bath. She opened a door at the end of a long hall and to our utter amazement, there was a greenhouse—on the second floor—a regular glass enclosed green house complete with blooming marigolds, azaleas, mums and flats of thrifty looking green plants. Built at the back of the house, there is not only plenty of sunlight but a beautiful view as well.

All through the house are many beautiful paintings, done not only by Mrs. Wilford but by her brother and mother as well. Her brother, Henry Vander Velde, who had arrived at the Wilford's just ahead of us, is an artist who numbers among his customers our Vice President, Hubert Humphrey. Johanna (Hanny) Vander Velde, their mother, has paintings in many art museums throughout the country, including the Detroit Institute of Arts. This artistic strain comes from a long way back: in Holland in 1620 there were two Vander Velde's, father and son, Vander Velde the Elder and the Younger, both artists of renown.

While the family has dwindled since the two oldest, Johanna (Mrs. Tyars Licitis) and Peter are grown and away from home, and 18 year old Lucia Ann is attending Michigan State, there are still 15 year old Tom, 12 year old Julia and Jerome, Jr., known as Jay who is 9. And of course the family circle takes in Mariah, the fireside cat and Morpheus, an ambling, utterly relaxed dog, who has more character than most people.

As Mrs. Wilford pointed out, in an older house, there seems to be a frequent need for repairs or remodeling. Yet anyone who has lived in one of these contemporary 'open' houses would appreciate the one feature of this 90 year old house that we haven't even mentioned—peace and quiet. The high ceilings, thick walls and heavy doors muffle all traffic noises from the nearby state highway, the sounds on one level don't penetrate to the next floor and there are plenty of places where a child could go to play or just to be alone, without ever having to ask anyone else to move over. It is houses such as this one that spell out serene living.

The chairs flanking the high butternut china cabinet are two of a set of six. Mrs. Wilford knew the chairs were quite old at the time she bought them, but it was not until she had them refinished did she discover they date back to 1820.

Community service has been goal of Clarkston Women's Club

By Faith Poole

It was a little over 12 years ago that a group of community-minded women got together and decided to organize a club that would have as its goal—the making of Clarkston a better place in which to live. It was known as the Clarkston Women's Club and the first president was Mrs. A. L. Rose, Jr.

The main objectives of the club were stated as follows: First, the club would promote worthwhile projects for Clarkston with the establishment of a library as one of the first aims. Second, the Club would help to inform the women of the community about their government from the local to the national level.

In this way they would help in a non-partisan manner to make this membership better informed citizens. It was also planned that the club would bring to the women stimulating programs of book review and speakers of merit. The greatest contribution was to be friendship. An open membership was to be maintained, so that there was an opportunity for new residents in the community to become acquainted.

The club quickly went about their task of establishing a library. The Open House for the first public library was held a short six months after the formation of the Club. The opening of the library, which was an old schoolhouse, which had been renovated, demonstrated what an alert group of 20 members could accomplish when started on a program of civic improvement.

A continual drive for books with which to stock the shelves was carried on. Then came the monumental job of cataloging these volumes and preparing them for public use. This was handled by Mrs. Philip Smith. The next big task was staffing the library for the limited schedule during which it would be open. Five or six college trained people in library work formed the nucleus to train other volunteers.

On display for the Silver Tea which officially opened the library was a special exhibit of pictures, maps and books relating to the history of old Clarkston.

Men of the community assisted Women's club members to help renovate this old schoolhouse to become Clarkston's first library. Interested residents donated desks and tables and a book drive netted over 500 volumes. Outside of a single $50 cash donation, most of the money needed to open the library was derived from bake sales, home card parties and assorted projects. There were no tax funds to fall back on when the library first opened.

Soon after the opening a story-telling hour for children was started. This is a continuing project of the club. An experienced person has always entertained the children from books that are available in the library.

It was soon realized that the club must institute some type of money-raising project that would assure financial assistance for the struggling venture. Plans for the annual publication of a birthday calendar ensued with profits raised from the listings of birthdays and special events being used for the benefit of the library. These calendars are on sale by the club members every year.

Collections of books from the Michigan State Library soon began arriving with a continuing emphasis on volumes which would interest the children of the community. A rental shelf was soon inaugurated and within a year after it opened the book collection soared to over 2500, most of which had been donated. Many people gave Memorial books and a Pioneer book collection was started.

Within a short time the Independence township board gave their assistance and new aluminum siding was put on the stucco building.

Merle Bennett, still serving on the library board finished chairs and members of the Pioneer club assisted in building shelves.

For several years or until April of 1965, the Women's Club through their various drives and projects provided the funds to keep the library open. Then it officially became a public library and it was placed under the jurisdiction of the township. With funds expended from the budget and a Library Advisory Board set up, the Women's Club members could draw a long breath—their library was on firm ground.

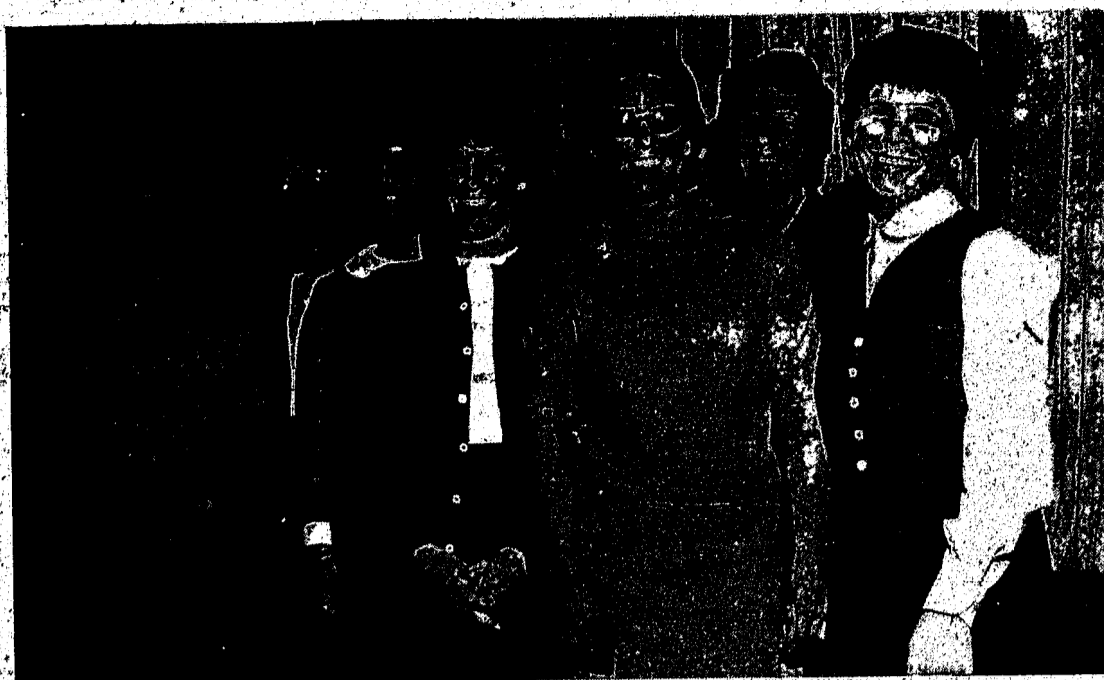

And as that had been their single largest project, it was far from being their only contribution to Clarkston. Feeling the need for supervised entertainment for children outside of school, the club formed the Twenty-One Club. To encourage dancing instruction and an introduction to social activities were the aims, and a membership of 300 developed. Out of this came other recreation programs for young people of all ages. The club sponsored swimming lessons, art lessons and ice skating for all ages. They also sponsored UNICEF drives and helped with the Student Aid Fund.

The contribution list goes on and on—Blood Bank, publication of a community booklet, art exhibits and the obtaining of speakers of community interest. They built and decorated floats for parades and even sponsored a class in baby-sitting for junior high girls.

There were the fun times too! Husband's night was an annual affair and there were Membership teas when new members were greeted and the annual installation of officers was usually in the form of a luncheon or a dinner. There was a variety show known as "Syncopated Skirts" one year and other programs which provided lots of fun.

The library is still one of their pet projects, so that the community can enjoy the best of library service. Ultimately they hope to see the day when there is a new building to house a library and its expanded services.

Mrs. Colleen Smith, Independence township librarian is shown with part of the vast collection of materials available in the local library.

Hence their special Library Fund now has over $900—money which will be ready when a decision is made to go ahead with plans for such a facility. This fund is open for donations from anyone or from any civic organization or club.

The club's membership is currently limited to 60 members, with approximately 56 members now on the roll. So when the projects are itemized it shows how well the club is fulfilling its original goal—that of making Clarkston a better place in which to live.

Scout jamboree to be in Idaho

Nine Scouts and Explorers from the Clinton Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America have been officially approved by Scouting's Region Seven World Jamboree contingent. The World Jamboree will be held at Farragut State Park, Idaho August 1 through 9, 1967.

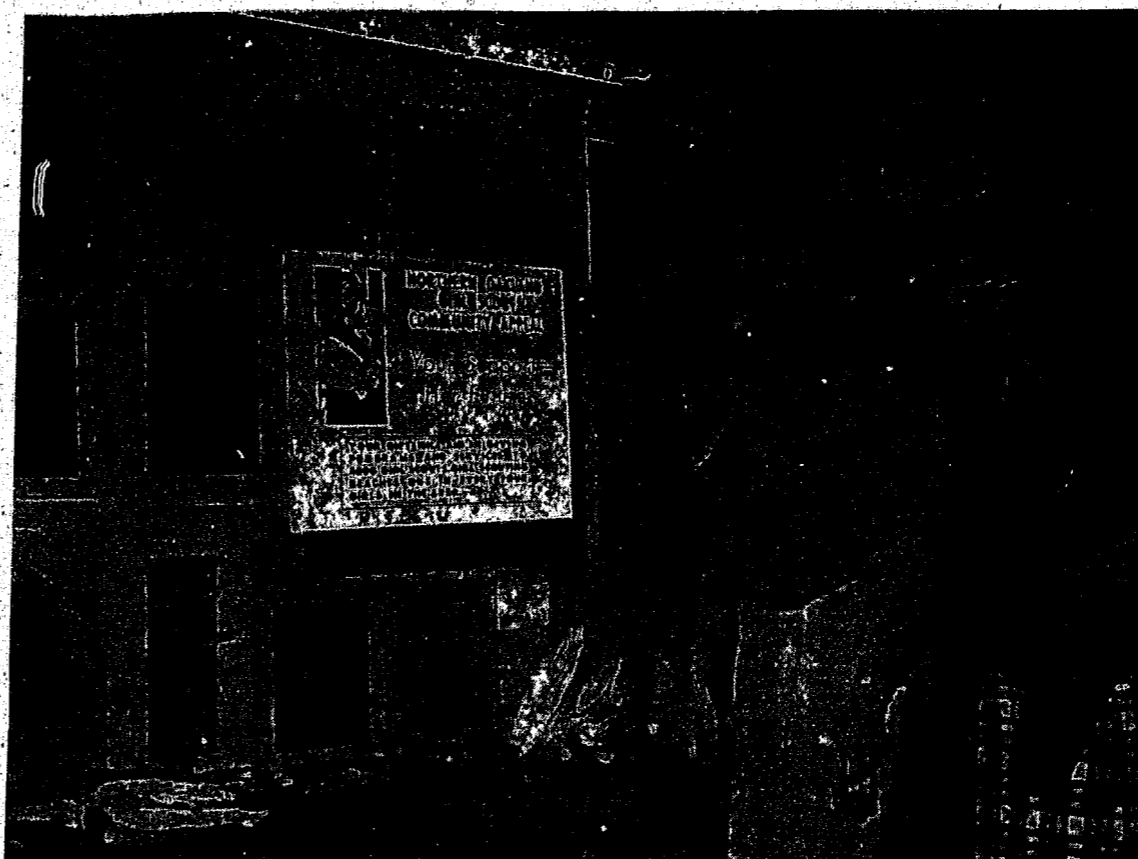

Scout Lawrence Bacow of Troop 7, Pontiac, has been chosen to serve with the World Jamboree Host Corp. Other delegates from the local council include James Wagner, Jr. and John Axelson of Birmingham, Chris Baldwin of Orchard Lake, Tim Huemiller, Gary Edwards, and Daniel Arnold of Pontiac, Bruce Brys of Mt. Clemens, and Bruce Maxim of St. Clair Shores.

The Region Seven Jamboree contingent will consist of 540 boys and leaders. The group will depart from Chicago with a stop at Yorkville, Illinois for a weekend pre-jamboree training session before leaving on a sight seeing tour including St. Paul, Glacier National Park, Seattle, Victoria, B. C., and Spokane prior to their arrival at the Jamboree. A stop at Yellowstone National Park is planned during the return trip home following the Jamboree. Transportation will be by railroad.

N. Reid Graham, Chairman of the Council World Jamboree Committee said he has no word to date concerning the possibility of hosting Scouts from foreign countries by local Jamboree Scouts prior to, or following the Jamboree.

YW to host Tea

World Fellowship Week, will be celebrated by members of the YWCA all over the world. The theme for World Fellowship Week this year is "Blessed Are The Peacemakers."

In keeping with the continuing efforts of the worldwide YW organization to promote peace among all peoples, the Pontiac YW will sponsor an open house and tea Friday, November 18.

The program will be conducted by the Pontiac YWCA-sponsored International Club, an organization composed of foreign born men and women now residing in the Pontiac area. Mrs.

Leo Petruska, a native of Germany and Mrs. Dennis Holloway, a native of Japan, will be in charge of the music. Mrs. V. N. Samuel, a native of India, will give the devotionals and Mrs. Dennis Kendel, a native of Norway, will offer special prayers.

Tea, coffee and cookies will be served to guests. During refreshments, a special offering will be made and handmade gift items from the Holy Land will be offered for sale. All proceeds go to promote the YWCA fellowship work around the world. All friends of the YW are cordially invited to participate

Club holds husbands' night

The Clarkston Women's Club held their annual Husband's Night at the Railroad Depot on Thursday, November 17.

Following a short business meeting, Mrs. Barry Briedenbaugh, president of the Clarkston Village Players, was asked to introduce the cast and announce the program for the evening.

The village players presented a one act play entitled: "Sorry, Wrong Number". Starring in the lead role was Nancy Frady. Those in the supporting cast were: Vi Biondi, Norton Redwood, Homer Biondi, Pat Thomas, Harry Fahrner, and Jim Frady. The play was produced by Marlene Sewick.

Refreshments were served following the play and an enjoyable evening for the club and their husbands was drawn to a close.

Clarkston's

share is $1,538

Third quarter Motor Vehicle Highway Fund collections are being distributed to Michigan counties and cities and villages, the State Highway Commission reported today:

State Highway Director Howard E. Hill said net receipts of the Highway Fund during July, August, and September of 1966 amounted to $2,409,742, or 4.6 per cent, compared to the same period of 1965.

Oakland County's share totaled $1,196,730 while Clarkston received $1,538.

All state gasoline and diesel fuel taxes and license plate fees go to the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund.

After deduction of collection costs and the Waterways Commission's share, the money is distributed with 47 per cent to the Department of State Highways, 35 per cent to the State's 83 counties and 18 per cent to 522 incorporated cities and villages.

Under this formula, the Highway Department will receive $25,777,515 as its share of the third quarter collections. The counties will receive $19,196,022 and the incorporated cities and villages will get $9,872,240.
