3 SECTIONS NUMBER 32

Dr. James O'Neill accepts his Distinguished Service Award from Jaycee President, Robert Jones. A committee headed by Village President, Robert Wertman, chose this way to show Dr. O'Neill the appreciation of the community for his dedication. With Mr. Jones is Donald Hamaker internal vice president of the Jaycees.

Kieft Engineering will draw plans for village

A special meeting of the Village Council was held Monday night at which time the firm of Kieft Engineering was selected to make the Preliminary study for Sewer and Water lines within the village. The council voted to accept the proposal presented by Howard Kieft.

The Council is calling attention to the fact that the County is enforcing the laws regarding dogs running loose. Council members have received numerous complaints from individuals regarding the dog problem in the village.

Spring building plans

Independence township has released its Building Department figures for the month of March. Construction should spurt ahead with the number of permits issued and the beginning of good weather.

Permits were granted for construction of 15 houses. These will have a value of $261,050. Seven permits for the building of garages were also granted. They represent a value of $10,100.

$42,950 was the figure placed for value of permits issued for additions or alterations.

The total construction figure for March then is $314,100.

Likely be 27 supervisors, apportionment hearing Wed.

By Jim Sherman

If we were to guess at the outcome of Oakland County Apportionment Commission as to the number of supervisors they will recommend for Oakland we'd say 27.

This was the consensus of the four commissioners at Monday's meeting.

At previous meetings two plans had been drawn calling for 25 supervisors. The Act, 261 of Public Acts of 1966 permitted Oakland to have a minimum of 25 and maximum of 35.

Monday Commissioners Joe Farnham, GOP county chairman, and S. Jerome Bronson, county prosecutor, presented plans for 27 supervisors. The other two present, John Murphy, county clerk, and Jim Seeterlin, county treasurer, seemed to agree this was a good number. The other member, George Googasian, Democratic county chairman, missed the meeting.

With this basic agreement, the Commission has set a public hearing for Wednesday, April 12, 8 p.m., in the Board of Supervisor's Auditorium.

The Commission wants to hear any ideas the public might have. They're not ready to present their conclusions at this time. However, Bronson hinted the Commission might have a decision on apportionment by May 1. Deadline is May 15, 1967.

Setting the number of supervisors is but one step in the plan. The big decisions are coming on where to draw dividing lines. Farnham's plan called for divisions along precinct lines, primarily. Bronson hadn't detailed his map to definite supervisor areas, just broad groups of townships and pop-

Grinding crash hospitalizes five

Four cars were involved in an auto accident Saturday afternoon on M-15 and Dixie Highway. Five people were taken to Pontiac General Hospital when a driver careened across the center line and struck another car head on.

The pile-up occurred at 1:20 P.M., according to reports issued by the Sheriff's office. A car driven by Ivy Buchanan, 25 of 8615 Pontiac Lake Road, Pontiac smashed head-on into a car driven by Dennis Valone, 18 of 2680 Lake Ridge Road in Wixom. In Valone's car were 2 passengers. All three received injuries, but Valone's were the most serious. He was hospitalized with a broken leg and a splintered pelvis. Authorities state he faces a long hospitalization.

Another passenger in his car, Bernard Fling, 19 of 3351 Oak Leaf in Orchard Lake received type A injuries and John Kirm 18, of 9073 Longcroft in Union Lake escaped with only type C injuries.

Both Buchanan and his passenger James Brashear, 23 of the same address received type A injuries and were hospitalized.

The cars of both of these men were demolished. Officers cited Buchanan for driving while under the influence of liquor.

Two other cars were also involved in the accident, both receiving damage to the front end of their cars. Gerald Morrissey, 25 of 3275 Grinley Drive, Orchard Lake, one of the drivers received type B injuries.

Another driver, Linda Smith 18, of 6718 E. Holly Road, Holly did not receive injuries. All three drivers stated that they saw Buchanan cross the center-line and smash into the Valone auto.

Victim of a head-on collision, this car was completely demolished last Saturday on the Dixie Highway, just north of the M-15 intersection.

Three girls named delegates to Girls State

Girls chosen as delegates to Wolverine Girls State were chosen last week at the regular meeting of the Campbell Richmond Unit #63 of the American Legion.

Chosen were Susan Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bennett of Snow Apple Drive; Debbie Head, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Head Jr. of Maceday Lake, Waterford and Jean Willis, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Maurice Willis of Whipple Lake Road.

Alternates who were named were Nancy Chapman, Pattie Mulcrone and Janice Hanson.

Girls State will convene in Ann Arbor June 18-25. Mrs. John J. Lynch was the Girls State Chairman this year.

The TV drawing was also held at which time Tod Hess, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hess of Sashabaw Road was named the winner.

The set was taken that night.

Proceeds from the television raffle will be used to send two more girls to the Girls State conference next year.

Girls State, here they come. From Clarkston, these three girls will go to Ann Arbor this summer. Chosen by the American Legion to represent their community are Debbie Head, Sue Bennett, Joan Willis.

Annual meeting nets raises, budget approval

Independence township went along with the pattern set by most of the neighboring townships in their Annual Meeting held last Saturday afternoon.

Pay raises were granted to all of the township officials and most budget items were approved, although there were the usual questions asked concerning certain budget items.

A crowd estimated at between 50-55 attended the meeting which traditionally falls on the first Saturday in April. It lasted for 1 3/4 hours. Residents heard about the proposed budget which this year will amount to $225,695. Last year the figure was $195,000.

Salary increases were approved as follows: Supervisor Duane Hursfall from $9500 to $11,300; Clerk, Howard Altman from $8500 to $10,000 and Treasurer Kenneth Johnson from $7500 to $8700. Increases were also granted to the two trustees, Merle Bennett and Harold Bauer. Their salaries will go from $600 to $900 per year.

About $4500 was granted for pay increases for the 18 full time and 7 part time employees of the township.

Items on the budget that received the most questioning were the Police department item, the Deer Lake Beach, the Library, Recreation, Roads, Sanitary Land Fill and Street Lighting.

$15,000 had been allocated in the budget for the police department. Last year that item was $13,000. Much discussion centered around the setting up of a township department. Questions were asked about why the township ceased paying over $1,000 a month to the sheriff department for extra service. This action was taken several months ago when township officials felt that they were not getting the additional services that they were paying for.

$5,000 has been put in the proposed budget for the maintenance of Deer Lake Beach. However, the township are still awaiting approval from the Village Council from their latest proposal. When the details are finally approved, the township plans to install a fence around the area as the first step in improving conditions there. Final action with the village should be completed soon. It is expected when the township takes over the maintenance that the beach will be closed to all except township residents.

Some of those attending felt that the $3,000 item car-marked for Recreation was too low. It was pointed out to them that nearly $1,000 is left over from last year.

There was also discussion relative to the "701" Planning program for the township. The township library now has on hand several copies of the General Development Plan as prepared for the township by Driker Associates.

The budget will not be adopted until the County Allocation Board makes their determination, which will take place in May. Following that a Public Hearing will be held in June prior to its adoption.

Pretty good, huh? After a couple of years of ZIP codes being on the market I can remember 2, Clarkston and Oxford. In time and enough correspondence I will probably remember more. I'm fairly good at remembering telephone digits and can even remember how to get Lansing information . . . 1-517-1212. Of course, I use the telephone more than I write letters.

But remembering ZIP codes isn't easy. In the first place I'm again 'em. I've talked to mail handlers on trains and post offices who pay no attention to them; it cost me a couple hundred bucks to change addresses on stencils; and I really haven't seen any increase in delivery time of our papers.

But, too, ZIP's are here and we're living with them. Now the Post Office Department is trying to get us to unlearn state abbreviations and learn new ones. You remember how you learned abbreviations when you went to school—that the abbreviation for Massachusetts was Mass., Michigan was Mich., Kansas was Kans., etc.

No deadline has been put on our having to adopt the new abbreviations for abbreviations, at least that I've heard of, but "brace yourself."

I don't have all the abbreviations, but here are a few. Michigan was Mich. and is now MI. Minnesota is MN. Massachusetts has become MS. Oh, no, MS is Mississippi.

You'll have to admit it is a little confusing, but think of the money the Post Office must be saving in rubber stamps and ink-usage by abbreviating abbreviations and insisting that all states, hereafter, be identified with two letters only. Ink-waster Calif., is now CA, Kans. is KS, Tenn. is cut down to TN and Ariz. is AZ.

You notice there is not pattern for easy remembering? Like you can't take the first and last letters of the former abbreviation for the new abbreviation.

Then, too, all dictionaries and reference books showing abbreviations for states are now obsolete. That will be a boon to some printers . . . and expense to publishers.

The way I write and print I hate to see more address changes. (And judging by the written material we receive, many have the same writing problems.) 3's and 5's, 7's and 9's will get misread and capitol letters I write are no easier to read than lower case.

Continued changes in the address requirements might be one way to lower the deficit of the P.O. People will get discouraged and fearful their letters won't get through properly and quit writing. Everytime we buy a stamp the P.O. goes further in debt, so if we don't buy stamps . . . no deficit.

A.A.A. Reports on Safety Lack

Clarkston Elementary PTA has obtained the services of the American Automobile Association to study the problems of elementary children getting to and from school.

The A.A.A.'s representative, Joseph Sadowski, will be at the regular PTA meeting on April 13th, 7:30 P.M.

At this time, Mr. Sadowski will report on the observations made by his organization and also give recommendations to their solution.

There will also be an election of officers for the coming school year. A slate of officers has been prepared, but additional nominations can be made at the meeting. Anyone wishing to nominate a member of the PTA for any office should have the consent of that member, before making the nomination.

Refreshments will be served immediately following the meeting.

All teachers will be at this meeting. So if you haven't met your child's teacher, here is the opportunity.

Local women will attend "Three Days in Spring"

Mrs. Charles Robertson of Clarkston is still taking reservations for the "Every Woman Has a House" conference at Oakland University. This is the second of three major conferences for women sponsored by the Division of Continuing Education and entitled "Three Days in Spring." The all-day session will be held Wednesday, April 12, at the Oakland University campus.

Mrs. Robertson says the entire conference was planned by a committee of active women interested in their homes. It is intended as an exploration into the meaning and use of the house as a serious concern, since women spend one-quarter of their lives on a house, and most of their lives in it.

The conference for wives and mothers, single girls, widows, career women or divorcees was designed for the woman who loves her home and is content to live out her life within it, the woman who may enjoy part of homemaking and dislike the rest, and the woman who hates housework and doesn't care who knows it.

The final conference will concern the dual role of working mothers and is scheduled for May 6.

At the April 12 meeting, Alden B. Dow, award-winning architect will highlight the conference. He will be inroduced by Mrs. Lynn Townsend, Mrs. Durward Varner will welcome the delegates. There will also be a symposium on homemaking as a profession. Fee for the entire day including tuition, registration and luncheon is just

Completes tour with MSU band

Dennis Urick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Urick, former Clarkston residents, will be one of the members of the Michigan State University Concert Band who will be performing at Pontiac Central High School on April 11. The concert, which will be open to the public will begin at 8 p.m. The band is under the direction of Leonard Falcone.

Dennis has just finished a tour as a member of the MSU Jazz Band. The group played concerts at St. Ignace, Gaylord, Saginaw, Flint, Detroit, and Grand Rapids. The tour concluded on Tuesday, March 28 at Holland. The Jazz Band is directed by Robert Curnow.

The Band had also competed in the 9th Annual Notre Dame Collegiate Jazz Festival on March 3rd and 4th. Dennis plays Baritone saxophone in both bands; the Tenor Sax in the Marching Band and in the Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Wind Ensemble.

Waterford-Drayton Rotarians play host

The golden anniversary of District 638 of Rotary International will be celebrated at the CAI Building in Waterford April 14 and 15. Hosting the members of all the clubs in the district will be the Waterford-Drayton Club with an assist from Clarkston Rotary.

Heading the list of guest speakers is the Honorable W. Darcy McKeough, member of provincial parliament of Ontario and Dr. Edgar Harden, president of Northern Michigan University.

A special treat for the wives of Rotarians is the matinee performance at Meadowbrook Theatre Saturday at Oakland University.

Rotarians and Rotary hung out his shingle in Clarkston, Doctor Nelson Abbey. And a welcome person he was.

Thomas Johnson was the first postmaster, taking a coach and horses to do part of the mail pick up. The mail remained at horse and buggy speed until 1851 when the first train made a memorable stop at the station on White Lake Road and revolutionized not only mail delivery but with the greater ease and speed of travel and freight transportation, changed a way of living.

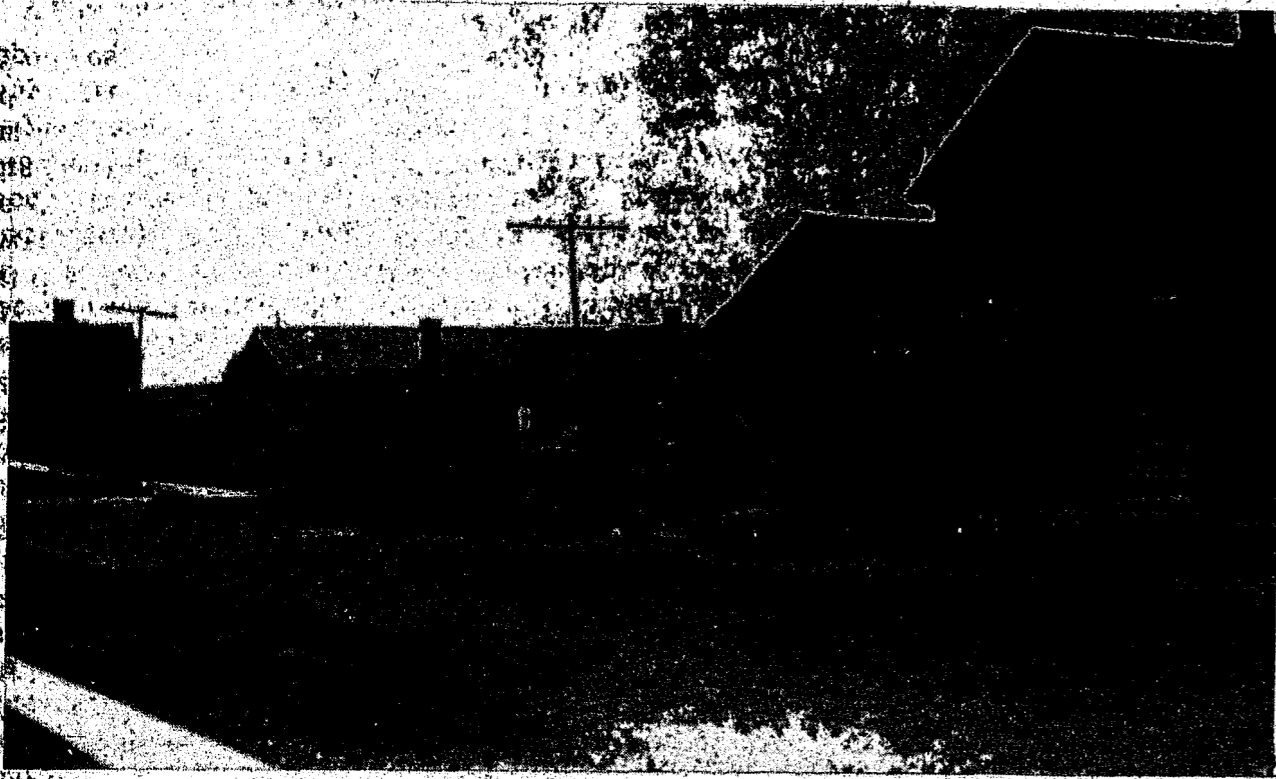

Ann's will begin registering for the 2-day event Friday morning and the close will be after the Governor's banquet Saturday evening.

Waterford-Drayton club president Harold Richardson will welcome the club representatives and district governor Proctor Dick will give the opening remarks.

Another Day By Constance Lektzian

Some early settlers

In all the rush of early settlers staking out land and filing claims, the first actual land purchase wasn't made until 1832 when Alpheus Williams bought ground for his farm. There had been people clearing farms as early as 1825 but apparently on a clear now-buy later basis. While the government unfortunately allowed more land to go into the hands of speculators than the general public was aware of, there seemed to be a lot of leniency in the matter of payments.

Two years before Alpheus came forward with his land money, Linus Jacox built the first house in Independence—a one room shanty made of cedar poles that not only served as shelter for him but for many of the other pioneers. Surprisingly, the house held up for a number of years. If a family, through some miscalculation in time or travel, arrived in Independence too late in the year to put up a cabin of their own, they stayed in Linus' shanty. Originally built without windows and with a dirt floor, a tenure in that place would have made any pioneer wife grateful for her own cabin. The first frame house wasn't put up until 1840 when John Hertwig built that and his tailor shop, another first.

Townsend Beardslee was the first white child born in Independence, son of J. W. Beardslee, whose cabin was out on Sash-a-bagh Plains. This was in 1831. Of course, the large families that the settlers brought with them needed some sort of schools immediately and they were built as soon as the farmers could turn away from the work of clearing their land. It was not until 1837 that the first actual public school came into being—a school that was tax supported. But the first district school, what today might be termed a consolidated school, opened in 1862 in the building originally used as a private academy, on the site of the township offices.

While there was a lot of parental interest in school progress, it was 1929 when Mrs. Ira Jones organized the first PTA. That was a year when money was hard to come by. The little group bought a minstrel show from the French Company who discounted the royalty and only asked $10. Their efforts brought in $104, and they bought a curtain for the stage of the new High School—which is now the Junior High.

Butler and William Holcomb had only been in Clarkston a year when they built the first sawmill in 1832. By 1838 Jeremiah and Nelson Clark had the first gristmill in operation, and, this apparently being a good year for business, William and John Axford opened the first store, and Albert Birdsell started the first blacksmith shop. During this time, one William Blake a shoemaker came to town and opened a shop. Some time in the next two years, a waggoner—yes, that's right, spelled with two 'g's, and a harness maker went into business. But it wasn't until 1899 that the first hardware store, owned and operated to this day by the Alger family, opened its doors and took over the sale of many of these metal and leather items that had formerly been obtainable only from the man that made them.

Early Clarkston had its own lawyer, too. Cyrus Pool opened his offices in the village in 1843. But the first settlers had to get along without a doctor for many years and they relied heavily on homemade remedies. They defied medical attention with concoctions such as the one stirred up for coughs, colds, aches, chillbains, etc. that consisted mainly of a pound of raw beef soaked for a week in a quart of 'good' whiskey. To this they added horehound and spices after removing the beef—and by the way, no recipe states what happened to the beef. This was administered to young and old alike and no doubt had many a staunch advocate. But there appeared to be a need for a doctor. Periodically, the township, as many another early settlement, was decimated by plague like sieges of typhoid or black diptheria, smallpox or scarlet fever. Finally in 1845, the first resident doctor

Counselors at O.U.

Mrs. Marilyn Hanson and Mrs. Margo Lay of Clarkston High School attended the eighth annual Principal-Counselor Freshman Conference on Wednesday at Oakland University. It was held in Vandenberg Hall.

Nearly 170 principals and counselors from 102 high schools participated. The purpose of the conference was to assist the high schools and the University in identifying strengths and weaknesses in their respective programs. The high school representatives interviewed graduates of their schools to learn how they are doing as OU freshmen.

Four workshops were conducted covering basic facts about the University and arrangements for financial aid, application processing and student services.

Principal speaker at a luncheon was John Fernald, artistic director of the Meadow Brook Theatre and head of Oakland's new Academy of Dramatic Art.

Breakaway Drivers

Hundreds of people die in Michigan every year when the cars they are riding in leave the road and hit a tree, utility pole or some other almost immovable object. Highway departments can't eliminate all of these hazards, but they are trying.

Trees are being removed along county as well as state roads. Now the State Highway Department is about to start using breakaway light poles and sign posts on new freeways. Theoretically, at least, the new poles will break when hit and the offending cars will suffer less damage.

A car traveling at 40 miles per hour will wind up with a two-foot gash in its front end if it hits the conventional-type pole, according to the State Highway Commission; but at the same speed it won't have more than a three inch dent to show for its misadventure if it hits one of the new poles.

This is encouraging—but not very. Motorists who hit light poles and such things are really traveling a lot faster than 40 miles an hour. That's the trouble in the first place. They probably would stick to the roadway if they weren't going so fast.

We are all for anything that helps to reduce highway fatalities. Breakaway poles may help. But no sane driver will count on it. Highways are getting safer all the time—but not motorists.

Let's have safe kite flying

We saw our first kites flying in the wind the other day—a sure sign of spring in these parts. There is nothing to give a child much more of a thrill, but a few "do's and don't's" are in order for safe construction of kites and flying.

You'll keep the fun in and the danger out of kite flying if you use the proper materials and observe the rules as listed.

Streets, highways, railroad rights-of-way and other areas used by moving vehicles must be avoided.

Selection of good-level, open space is very important.

Roof tops or other elevated structures are unsafe unless protected by an enclosure.

It is better to lose a kite than a life, and no attempt should be made to get kites that have become lodged in utility wires or high trees.

Lightning is electricity, and wet string is a good conductor. Rainy weather is no time for flying kites (Ben Franklin was lucky he didn't get electrocuted).

Kite string of wire or cord containing metal thread can cause a shock if it should come in contact with electrical equipment or wires.

The Christmas Sox Are Found

by Jim Fitzgerald

Starting with sox, this will be the sad tale of inequality in the bedroom.

Mother and Aunt Madeline and my wife will recall the sad column about my Christmas sox. I received 2 handsome pairs, guaranteed not to stick to my pants. But I never got to wear them. The new sox disappeared before dinner Christmas day. My wife accused me of burning them with the gift wrappings.

She was wrong, naturally. "Only an idiot would burn clean sox," I told her.

"Yes," she said. "Show me some sox ashes," I said.

She couldn't, although she got as sooty as Dick VanDyke in Mary Poppins pawing through the fireplace. But I couldn't find the unburned sox either, and I got dirtier than a chimney sweep peering under beds and crawling behind furniture (hello, dust balls, how have you been?).

For 3 months, it was a stalemate.

And then last week, success was mine. There were the sox. One brown pair and one black pair. Still in their package.

I found them in my sox drawer. "Those are not your Christmas sox," said my wife who obviously wouldn't mind being married to a liar.

"Nonsense," I said. "Smell them. They still smell of pine needles. These are it. Thank you for the sox and Merry Christmas."

You might well wonder why I didn't look sooner in such an obvious place as my sox drawer. You might even wonder if I go 3 months without changing my sox.

I am certainly glad you wondered. I did look in my sox drawer earlier. I looked there Christmas day. But I didn't see the sox that time. I also didn't see them the 90-odd other times I used that drawer between Christmas and Easter.

I didn't see them because they were under my shorts which were under my shirts which were under some belts which were under a box of golf balls which was under a manicure kit which was under a cuff link box which was under some birthday cards which were under a Life magazine which was under 23 unmatched sox and 6 matched sox which were under a box of shredded cigarr which was under my bowling ball.

You see, there are only 11 drawers in the bedroom I share with my wife. She uses 10 and I use one.

There is also a spacious shelf over my quarter of a huge closet. This is stacked to the ceiling with my wife's hat boxes. Every time I squeeze a pair of pants out of my close corner, the top box falls on my head.

In this world today, there is no more unequal arrangement than that between a husband and wife sharing a bedroom. My wife even hogs most of the bed. Often I wake up hanging to the hem of the mattress by my toenails. Whenever I suggest she get the devil over on her own side of the bed, she says I don't love her anymore.

Recently, when my wife was out of town, I decided to see if I could combine the contents of 2 of her drawers into one, thus making room for my handkerchiefs which are usually stored on top of the dryer in the basement—which is a long way to run especially if, after you get there, you find you don't have to sneeze after all.

Anyway, it couldn't be done. I would list all the things my wife has jammed into her drawers except this is only a 44 page paper. I wasn't surprised at all the frilly and silky and sparkly things, but the bottles and jars and tubes and hardware were too much. She is either an addict or a pusher.

The guy who puts toothpaste into tubes couldn't cram the contents of one of her drawers into another of her drawers. Even if there were room, I would hesitate to mix the merchandise for fear of causing an explosion, or an epidemic.

Defeated, I pried my hankies into my own drawer. And that's when I found my Christmas sox.

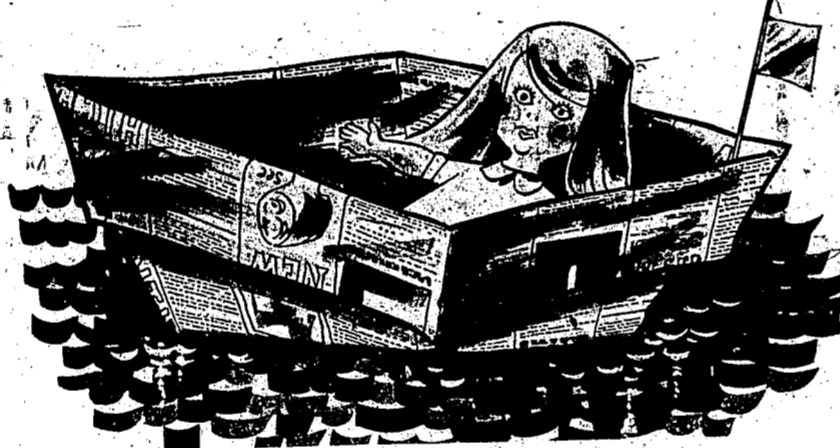

Onward and Upward and Happy New Year. △

For years I have heard the old saying that "A good thunderstorm would settle the roads". I never quite believed it until Monday morning when I travelled a road that had been nearly impassable before Sunday night's sudden electrical storm.

We felt quite flattered last week when school officials came after many copies of "The News" which featured the Open House and tour of the new facilities there. The reason—they were being sent to some of the prospective teachers for next year.

Liberty Bell awards to be presented

The Oakland County Bar Association, through its Law Day Committee, again plans the presentation of three Liberty Bell Awards. These Awards will be given at a joint session of the nine Circuit Court Judges on May 1, 1967 at 11:00 A. M. in the Oakland County Supervisors' auditorium in Pontiac, Michigan.

The purpose of the Liberty Bell Awards is to recognize community service which strengthens the effectiveness of the American system of freedom under law. Criteria for the awards are as follows:

The awards will recognize outstanding service performed in keeping with the spirit of our constitution imposing upon citizens the duty to strengthen and safeguard the "blessings of liberty" for themselves and succeeding generations. Such service would include activities which (1) promote a better understanding of our form of government, and especially the Bill of Rights; (2) encourage greater respect for law and the courts; (3) educate our people in the contrasts between Communism and freedom under law; (4) stimulate a deeper sense of individual responsibility, to the end that citizens recognize their duties as well as their rights; (5) contribute to the effective functioning of our institutions of govern-

-HUMANITY'S HYMNBOOK-

The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? The Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid? One thing I desire and that will I seek after; that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the Lord, and to inquire in His temple. Psalm 27:1-4.

In this bright new day of our enlightenment, when people of differing religious faiths are striving for mutual understanding, many are turning with renewed devotion to the Psalms, to those beautiful hymns of adoration and praise which for centuries have shaped the public prayers and private meditations of God-conscious men.

The Psalms are the work of the ancient Hebrew poets and may be found today in any Jewish, Roman Catholic, Protestant or Greek Orthodox Bible. They are reverently quoted in all the milestone ceremonies of life, from baptism, confirmation and bar mitzvah, to marriage and the final rites.

In the Old Testament Law and in the Prophets, God speaks to man to guide and to restrain him, but in the great Book of Psalms the reverse is true. Here man speaks to God in prayer and in praise; here he cries out for release from the drag of his lesser self, for light upon his path, and again with joy when he greets that light as a great deliverance. Thus the Psalms spring from life and speak to life.

The Psalter was the hymnbook of the great Temple at Jerusalem in Jesus' day in Israel. It subsequently came to be the hymnbook of the early Christian Church, the primer of her basic religious teaching and, later still and to this day, the hymnbook of the Church Universal. That Jesus was both a student and a lover of the Psalms we are certain and surely there does exist a true spiritual affinity between the beauty of His marvelous Teaching and the devotional tone of this great Book of Prayer and Praise. Man cannot live by bread alone and here the spirit of man, of the Jew and of the Gentile, has always found strength, has found those realities by which men really live.

Eternal God, our Father: Let all who put their trust in Thee rejoice, for Thou defendest them. Let all that love Thy name be forever joyful in Thee. AMEN.

Everett Butters

Chartier training a replacement dog

State Police Trooper Richard L. Chartier of Clarkston is undergoing a 14 week training program with his new tracking dog, "Yul".

"Yul" replaces a dog that Chartier had that was accidentally killed by a car last fall.

There are six teams of State Police trooper-handlers and German shepherd tracking dogs taking part in the school. Most of the training will be done in the Houghton Lake area. Officers and dogs are being quartered at the Houghton-Lake post.

August Schiner of Southfield was the donor of "Yul". About 150 dogs were offered to the State Police as donations. Thirty-two troopers volunteered for handler assignments.

Several teams will be replacements for some now on active assignment while the others will be stationed at new locations yet to be selected.

The children and grandchildren to the number of 22 accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Roland Weichert of Dixie Highway to the Chuck Wagon at Dryden for dinner Saturday evening to honor their 43rd anniversary.

Rodney Allen has been home for a week from college for Easter recess. Rodney has made 1st base on the college baseball team.

Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Stamp were pleasantly surprised last Tuesday evening when Mr. and Mrs. D.M. Winn former Superintendent of Clarkston School stopped for the evening. To those who knew the family, Mary Kay lives in Midland, Miles is a teacher at Inkster and Harriet lives in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bauer left Saturday evening for a vacation trip toward the South. They intend to take in Williamsburg. Mr. and Mrs. Gar Wilson are occupying their home while they are gone.

The three storage areas of the home—attic, basement, closets—are the spots where 16.4% of all dwelling fires originate, according to National Fire Protection Association studies.

Spring classes starting

Swing into Spring with the Y! The Pontiac YWCA Spring classes begin Monday, April 10 with a sprinkling of exciting new classes included in the roster of year-round favorites.

A second swimming program has been added, allowing members to swim in the beautiful Oakland University pool on Mondays from 9:30 until 11:30 A.M. A chance to get back into shape for spring and summer is offered in the new Exercise for Fun and Figure class to meet on Tuesdays at 10 A.M.

Sports enthusiasts will welcome the regular YWCA Spring Golf classes to be held on Thursdays at 10 A.M. Bob Young, well known Pontiac Pro, will instruct the beginners. Mrs. Jame Christensen brings the popular French art of Decoupage to the YWCA with a Thursday morning class.

A Saturday morning program for girls is scheduled as well as the Wee Y Program on Fridays from 3 to 5 P.M.

Picking up their prizes, attractive mounted trophies, are five of the ten winners in the recent model car contest. Entries totaled 103, with 67 completed cars returned. The contest is sponsored each year by the Clarkston Sporting Goods store in Clarkston. Pictured are: Bob MacNeill, Jim Tallenger, David Erickson, Chuck Leaf and Jeff Doremus. Absent were Jeff Wyckoff, Dave Tallenger, Rick Leaf, Steve Philpott and Robert Filhart.

No Pancakes!

The maple sap is running! Residents of southeastern Michigan can see it on a maple tree on Aspen nature trail in Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford.

Park naturalist Lee Curtis has devised a "Taste It Yourself" exhibit on a maple tree. By turning a small petcock, visitors can let a few drops fall into their mouth.

Persons who have never tasted maple sap before may be surprised to learn that it is not really very sweet. Only after the water is boiled off does the maple sap become syrupy and taste sweet.

This exhibit will be in place only as long as the sap flows, which may be two or three weeks.

Naturalist Curtis says that "No pancakes are furnished."

GRADUATED FROM BOOT CAMP

Seaman Recruit Steven C. Meredith, 18, USN, son of Mrs. Thelma Ball 9376 Sashabaw, Clarkston, has been graduated from nine weeks of Navy basic training at the Naval Training center at Great Lakes, Ill. In the first weeks of his naval service he studied military subjects and lived and worked under conditions similar to those he will encounter on his first ship or at his first shore station.

In making the transition from civilian life to Naval service, he received instruction under veteran Navy petty officers. He studied seamanship, as well as survival techniques, military drill and other subjects.

UNDERGOES SCREENING Marine Private James Scott Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Scott of 4901 White Lake Road, Davisburg, ended a week long screening process designed to evaluate him for possible aviation duties with the Marine Corps, at the Naval Air Technical Training Center, Memphis, Tenn.

Throughout the week, he completed a battery of aptitude tests, and was interviewed by senior staff non-commissioned officers. The end results will determine whether or not he will be sent to various technical aviation schools.

Taking advantage of spring vacation by visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Loucks in Flint for three days were Jane and Tommy Meeker of Almond Lane. Mrs. Harold Hawkins of Snow Apple Drive is still under doctor's care for injuries sustained in a car Gathering together for an Easter dinner at their home in Pontiac were the children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lewis. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eagan of Pontiac, Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis and Johnnie of Pontiac, and Mr. and Mrs.

Eugene Meade with Brenda, Mike and Tim of Almond Lane. Also there were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lewis with Tracie and Chris who are moving from Pontiac this week to California.

Linda Parker of Almond Lane was a house guest of her cousin Mary Pohl of Union Lake last week. She enjoyed attending school one day as a visitor with Mary. Uncle John's Pancake House in Birmingham is where Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Smith with daughters Wendy, Kelly and Heidi of Plum Drive had their Easter dinner. Afterwards, they headed home to fly kites in the lovely spring weather.

Since Pam and Patty Davis of Almond Lane spent Easter weekend with their cousins Judy and Robin Bacon in Fenton, Judy and Robin spent the next three days as guests of Pam and Patty.

Lots of fried chicken was served buffet style Easter Sunday by Mrs. Ray Butler of Almond Lane to her husband and family Toole, Dutchie, Cindy and Tina and guests, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Warden and children Tony, Gus, Jay and Robin, and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Banks and daughter Peggy from Hillman. Also there were Mr. Charles Butler from Drayton Plains and his brother-in-law, Norm.

Busily enjoying and entertaining out-of-town guests this past week were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Simonson of Amy Drive. Visiting from Ewin was Mrs. Simonson's sister Mrs. George Smith, and from L'Anse was her aunt Mrs. August Strieter. Then Mr. Simonson's sister, Mrs. Ora Rostad flew from Denver, Colorado, to spend a couple days. Needless to say, the Simonsons did a great deal of travelling with their guests to Flint, Frankmuth, St. Johns and Detroit visiting scattered relatives and friends.

A family dinner served by his mother Easter Sunday helped Russ Simonson Jr. celebrate his 19th birthday. Beside brother Danny, a sister and husband Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Smith of Ypsilanti and another sister and family

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whaley with Mark, Tina, and Barbie of Plum Drive attended.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ruppe of Plum Drive for a week was Mrs. Ruppe's dad, Mr. Eugene McDonald from Bloomington, Illinois. Also arriving for the weekend from Keokuk, Iowa was her brother, Mr. Robert McDonald. Mrs. Ruppe is happy to report that her new set of twins now weigh four pounds and should be home from the hospital shortly to join Kathleen and Bobby.

Pastor Paul Vanaman of Almond Lane was surprised on his birthday March 23 by the birth of triplets—goats, that is. The nanny killed one, but the other two are doing fine. Pastor Vanaman and his wife had just returned two days before from a three-week's tour of the Holy Land. They showed slides Easter night at Dixie Baptist Church of things they saw pertaining to Easter and will continue to show slides two more Sundays of Greece, London, Egypt and Rome.

An open house and house warming was held Friday by members and friends of Maranatha Baptist Church for Pastor and Mrs. Phillip Somers of Flemings Lake Road. The women of the Church provided and served the refreshments including sandwiches, cookies, coffee and punch. Mrs. Floyd Bartley and Mrs. Albert Tomanek did a very lovely job decorating the table with a yellow floral centerpiece and candles on a fern green tablecloth.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Thompson for an Easter dinner of turkey were Larry's folks and grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Thomson and Mrs. Gertie Thompson of Drayton Plains, and Joyce's folks Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hiske and Carol and David from Grosse Ile. That afternoon Larry's aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Howard Thalen and Gale came from Freeport to stay the night with the Basil Thompsons.

Friday evening at Airway Lanes Larry Thompson, who was substituting, on the Interlakes #1 team bowled a 560 actual series. He carries a 153 average and had the week previous bowled a 245 actual game. Must be he bowls for his wife too!

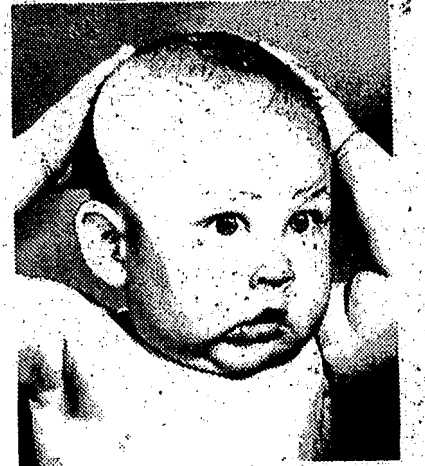

Mr. and Mrs. John Womack with Lori Jo and Teddy of Shelly Drive were guests of Mrs. Womack's folks Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith in Pontiac for Easter dinner. Also enjoying the lovely meal were Mrs. Womack's sister and husband Mr. and Mrs. Mark Thatcher of Bloomfield Hills.

Renee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Weaver of Church, was confined to home last week with the chicken pox. Now that she is over them, brother Scott broke out this week.

A big surprise was in store for Mrs. Douglas Griffiths by her third grade students when they decorated their classroom to celebrate their teacher's birthday without her knowing it. They each donated a quarter to provide cupcakes, baked and decorated by Mrs. Douglas Smith, and to purchase a very nice gift. The children were very excited preparing for the occasion during their last recess Thursday while Mrs. Griffiths was summoned to the office.

Why do people with hard-to-heat rooms turn to electric heat?

It's pure and simple

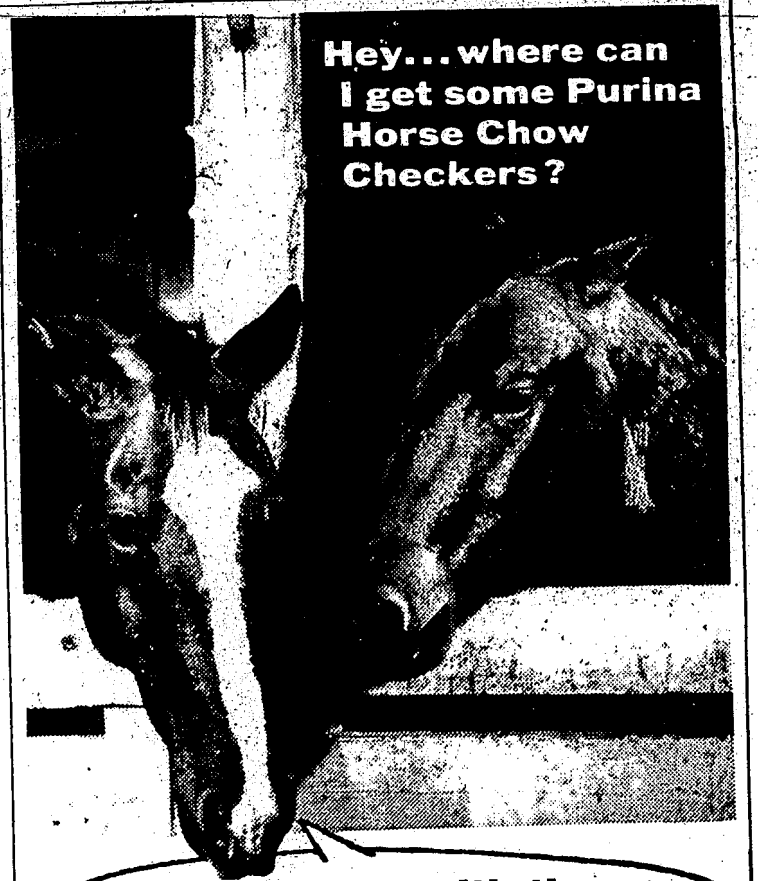

Electric heat is the clean, modern heat—no flame, no fumes. It's a snap to install—costs less, too—because it's more compact and needs no fuel. And only electric heat is 100% efficient: the heat is created right where it's used. It's also economical. You can buy an attractive, low-operating-cost unit for as little as $35-$40 (plus thermostat and installation). And we're talking about a unit that can turn a 12' x 20' polar region into a tropical delight. Just dial the warmth you want, and you get it. Give us a call. We'll send an Edison Heating Specialist to discuss equipment, installation, and operating cost with you. No obligation, of course.

EASTERN STAR NEWS

Austin Chapter No. 396 Order of The Eastern Star of Davisburg will have an open Friendship Night on Saturday, April 8 at 8 p.m. at the Masonic Temple in Davisburg.

There will be a program with refreshments to be served afterwards.

WILL RECEIVE SPECIALIST TRAINING

Marine Private First Class Andrew D. Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon C. Gray of 3893 Percy King Road, Waterford, has completed four weeks of individual combat training at this Marine Corps Base.

During his more than 200 hours of training, he learned about weapons and combat techniques from combat veteran instructors. They taught him how to conduct combat patrols, detect and remove mines and booby traps and use the standard Marine Corps infantry weapons.

He will now receive at least four weeks of specialist training before being assigned to his first permanent unit. Marines going to combat units will get de-training in the particular combat skill they are designated for. Those who are going into technical fields will receive their advanced training at one of a variety of technical schools throughout the country.

Michigan Gun Show

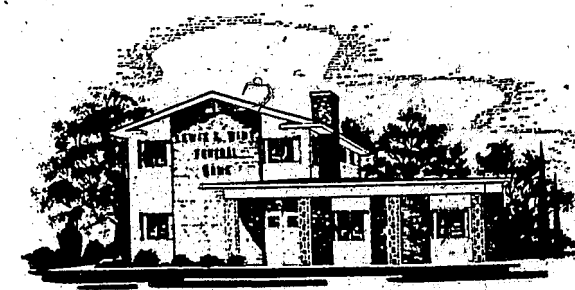

Michigan Sportsmen will get a preview of all the new firearms and accessories being introduced for the 1967-68 season.

Representatives from all of the leading gun and accessory firms will be on hand to demonstrate their new products. Among those exhibiting are: Winchester, Remington, Savage, Weaver, Marble Arms, Pacific Gun Sight, Norma, Ruger, Lyman, Mayville, RCBS, Polychoke, Smith & Wesson, Stoeger, Brauer, Mossberg, Anschutz, Leopold, Du Pont etc.

The third annual "Michigan Gun Show" will be hosted by the Williams Gun Sight Company, 7389 Lapeer Road, Davison, Michigan, on Sunday, April 9th from 10 A. M. to 6 P.M. Bring the family. There is no charge of any kind, and light refreshments will be served throughout the day.

Each day in the United States an average of 1,520 are damaged or destroyed by fire, according to the National Fire Protection Association. Don't let fire hit your home. Remember, NFPA says "A Clean House seldom burns."

HERE'S THE STEEPLE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

When Jimmy Clark crowned the tiny church with the steeple it touched my heart.

Incidentally, I admire Jimmy Clark and I am interested in everything he does. When he brushes his teeth or rides his tricycle, or climbs the sliding board at the playground I admire his concentration and his careful workmanship. And when he cuddles into his Daddy's lap at bedtime or walks hand in hand with him up the church steps on Sunday he looks like an angel.

I think you have guessed it by now, haven't you? I'm Jimmy's mother—and a doting mother at that. I think Jimmy could accomplish just about anything . . . doctor, lawyer, merchant; why he might be President some-day!

But whatever he becomes, I want him to be a good man; strong and true of character; firm in his principles. I want him to have God as his partner. That's why I go to church every Sunday and take Jimmy. It's the best insurance I know for a happy and fulfilled life.

Will head UF residential drive

Mrs. Robert C. Irwin of Pontiac succeeds Mrs. James Cowen of Clarkston as head of the Pontiac Area United Fund Residential Campaign Division.

Under Mrs. Cowen's direction the residential United Fund solicitation netted $35,997 of the $1,042,107 raised toward operating expenses of the 55 agencies affiliated with the once-a-year campaign.

Mrs. Irwin will be responsible for major campaign appointments in Independence, Waterford, Pontiac, Orion and Lake Angelus areas and in overall planning of residential campaign activities. Some 1,500 volunteers will be recruited before the drive begins in October. This division also handles some 1,500 small business calls.

Mrs. Irwin was recently named "Most Outstanding Young Woman Active in Community Service" by the Pontiac Jaycee Auxiliary.

Surprise, surprise. Third graders at the Clarkston Elementary school showered love and affection on their teacher in a surprise birthday party the day Easter vacation began. Receiving the tribute was Mrs. Griffiths, just one on a long list of favorite teachers at the school.

Horsepower Guide for Your Boat

Every spring, many landlubbers turned water-goers get the boat-buying bug. Problem is, some of them literally go overboard by choosing motors that are too big for their boats. To help them pick the size motor they can safely use on their craft, the Conservation Department's boat and water safety section offers this handy guide. The way to use it is simple: First, multiply the length of your boat by the width of its stern, not counting the fins. With the figure from that find the same numbered position at the bottom of this graph. Now, follow in a vertical line up from that number until it meets the bolded curved line. At this point, follow in a horizontal line until you come to the left hand column. The figure there gives you the maximum horsepower needed for your boat. Here's an easy example. Say your boat is 15 feet long and has a stern width of 5 feet. Multiplying those two figures, you come up with 75 as your base number at the bottom of the graph. Following the simple formula we've given, your boat's motor should be no more than 55 horsepower.

Cookies That Travel

Cookies like these are natural travelers—carried to friends and neighbors or to send to youngsters away at school or in the service. Moist and full of tender flaked coconut and chopped dates, these Spicy Date Chews won't crumble and break before they reach their destination. Sturdy plastic or cardboard boxes or empty coffee cans make perfect containers.

Spicy Date Chews

4 cups (about) Baker's Angel Flake Coconut
1 package (8 oz.) pitted dates, cut

1 cup chopped nuts
1 1/4 cups (15-oz. can) sweetened condensed milk
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Mix all ingredients thoroughly. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheet. Bake at 350° for 12 to 15 minutes, or until lightly browned. Let cool about 5 minutes before removing from baking sheet. If cookies stick, hold baking sheet over low heat a few seconds. Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

Combat Ready for Spring Fires

Conservation Department forces are combat ready statewide for another forest fire season which may hit one of its most dangerous heights during the next several weeks before the spring green-up. The Department's air arm of 13 pilots and planes, backed up by 50 towmen on standby alert in northern Michigan, is logging thousands of miles each day, monitoring the forest fire situation from the skies. On the ground, about 130 fire officers, the hard core of the Department's fire-fighting attack, stand poised for action with rugged, mobile equipment. New to their mechanized might is this large tanker (bottom photo) with its wide-angle spraying boom which will be field tested this year against explosive crown fires. Also to be added to the fire scene this spring is a helicopter. The 'copter, to be based at Marquette, will be used as a "rover" in the Department's air detection work over northern Michigan. Hard hitting as the Department's program will again be, Michigan's best line of defense against runaway fires continues to be people who play it safe with their spring burning and who use good common sense with campfires and cigarettes. —Michigan Department of Conservation Adding spice to the window at Kings Insurance Agency, on Main Street in Clarkston, is this partial display of the prize sugar bowl collection belonging to Faith Poole. Mrs. Poole, who lives in Davison, is the Editor of the Clarkston News.

New Display in King's Window

By Ann Richards

Numerous china antique sugar bowls, part of a collection numbering over 30, are now on display in the windows at King's Insurance, Main Street, Clarkston. The hobby was started nearly 20 years ago when Mrs. Howard (Faith) Poole of Davison attended an estate auction sale during 1948 in Brown City, where her husband was then publisher of the newspaper there.

At the sale Mrs. Poole purchased a box of junk for 25¢ in which was a brass candle stick she wanted, a floral china sugar bowl and several other miscellaneous items. At that time, she had a few other antique things including a hand painted china tea set, complete with sugar bowl, which had been a wedding gift from her grandmother.

Mrs. Poole then began looking with interest for sugar bowls on trips to various antique shops and discovered it was rather easy to find sugar bowls and not cream pitchers. She explained that the creamer was apparently washed more often and was more apt to have been broken. She was able to purchase several sugar bowls at very reasonable prices and thus it became a hobby. Many more bowls were brought home from trips. Mrs. Poole has also found several dinner plates to match some of the bowls—all discovered by coincidence at different places. Makes you wonder if the two pieces were once a complete set of china.

As her friends heard of her new found interest she was the recipient of many new gifts. One friend gave her a very unusual bowl following a vacation in which Mrs. Poole had cared for her house plants. Another gift was from her mother—a sugar bowl with the R. S. Prussia mark on the bottom which had belonged to Mrs. Poole's grandmother. Shortly after wards she purchased two more with the Prussia mark and later has discovered that they are very rare, very expensive and extremely hard to find. In recent years she has concentrated on those with this mark because of their unusual delicacy and lustre.

Mrs. Poole explains that blue china sugar bowls are very rarely found and that she is now searching for a "flow blue" bowl to add to her collection of that type of antique china, a more recent hobby. She also explains that as her collection grows, the shape of the bowl is of as much interest as the size, color and pattern. Her hobby is displayed on shelves specially built in the family dining area of a century old farm house she and her husband remodeled a few years ago.

During her 20 years of collecting sugar bowls, Mrs. Poole has taken some excessive family kidding. When teenagers, her two daughters thought the hobby quite "out of it" to say the least. Her father, who had come to visit not long after Mrs. Poole returned from a Canadian trip with four of her treasures, was horrified and told her so. Her son-in-law, the only family member who insists on sugar in his coffee, has a habit of getting up from the table and lifting the lids of each bowl (all 30) looking for sugar. And Mr. Poole is quick to tell all guests that you will find neither money nor sugar in them. But Mrs. Poole always quickly adds that "my most expensive bowl was a gift from my husband."

But in spite of the kidding, when Mrs. Poole, editor of the News, was asked to bring her collection to Clarkston, it was her youngest daughter Ailyce who helped wash and pack the bowls for the trip. And myself, another daughter, volunteered to write the feature article for the paper because we knew mother would be too modest to write of her own hobby which is a pleasure to admire for all who see.

SUNDAY SERVICE

"Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases; who redeemeth thy life from destruction; who crowneth thee with lovingkindness and tender mercies."
