An Arbor Week scene revisited. Just one year ago this week Beth Ronk and Mark Lindahl watched and helped as their school principal, Mr. Reabe, and Mr. Floyd Vincent planted this tree on the Bailey Lake school grounds.

Men injured on motorcycles

Two motorcycle accidents in the area on Sunday sent the two drivers to hospitals, Charles Simpkinson 22, of 454 Auburn in Pontiac was riding his in a field off Stickney Road one mile east of Pine Knob Road. As he left Stickney, he hit a rut which threw him to the ground. He was taken by private car to Pontiac General where his injuries were diagnosed as type C.

In another accident which occurred at the corner of Dixie Highway and White Lake Road at 9:45 P. M. on Sunday, Gerald Haggitt, 19 of 5835 Flemings Lake Road in Clarkston was taken to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital. His injuries were type A. He stated that a vehicle came up behind him and started to pass. Haggitt was afraid the vehicle was going to hit him, so he laid his cycle down. He was also taken to the hospital by private car.

One automobile accident was reported in the area over the weekend by the sheriff's department. This occurred at 10:15 A. M. on Sunday on Dixie Highway just north of Maybee Road. A car driven by Paul Powers, Jr. 27 of 6831 Saline Drive in Waterford backed onto the highway. He was struck by an auto driven by Joan Whiston, 37 of 3709 Warringham in Waterford who stated she could not avoid the collision. Powers was cited for failure to yield the right of way.

Water tests conducted in Twp. will aid planning program

The Layne-Northern Corporation is currently conducting tests of the various wells in Independence Township. This information which they are gathering will be used in the planning for the new water system which will serve the area.

It has been found that over 81 million gallons of water has been pumped out of the 3 systems during the last year. That amount has been used by just over 600 customers. In their testing they are determining how much water is available, and the quality of water. One test run at the Pelton Heights well near the Sportsmen's Club pumped 500 gallons a minute for 30 hours.

The company is currently working in Clarkston Gardens where they are half way through their tests. In that area, they have drilled 2 observation wells, one 50 feet south of the pump house and the other about 175 feet north of the pump house. Money for this testing program came from the water revenue fund.

Johnson and Anderson, planning engineers for the township state that as of April 18 they were 35% complete on the preliminary design for sewers and 25% complete on the water design for the township. Target date for completion of both plans is October 1st. The Oakland County Sportsmen's Club with Pete Rose as manager has notified the Township Board that they have applied for a special Beer and Wine license for May 27 and May 28--days on which there will be a special Road Racing Program at the club. The

M. L. C. C. will notify the township of their approval, then the township board must approve or disapprove. In prior years, the board have given the go-ahead. This event attracts spectators by the hundreds. Clarkston Area Jaycees run the concession stands for the races. Added this year are some permanent type of sanitary facilities with more to be constructed later.

Township officials are faced with what to do about 2 trees in front of the township office. They must be either taken down and replaced or extensive tree surgery and spraying must be done. In other township affairs, members of the Board will be appearing in Judge William Beer's court on May 12. Eaton and Humphreys have brought suit against the township regarding their proposed trailer park on Clintonville Road. Two planning consultants will be present in support of the township, Brandon Rodgers and Robert Dieball. Paul Mandel is the attorney representing the Township Board. Eaton and Humphreys took their case to Circuit Court when their proposal to construct a mobile home park was turned down by the Appeals Board.

Face examination on B & E charges

Two men were arraigned before Justice William H. Stamp last week. Their preliminary examinations will be held on Thursday. They are charged with breaking and entering Al's Hardware at 5880 Dixie Highway about 10 days ago.

Robert E. VanKleet 21, of 77 Clark, Pontiac and Leonard Irwin 26 of 3325 Genoa, Independence township stood mute at their arraignments. They were arrested in their car on Waterford Road near Dixie. Bond was set at $2,000 for each suspect.

Police officers from Waterford township, the Sheriff's Department and the State Police combined to apprehend the two.

The State Police and sheriff's officers had noted four persons riding in a car with a noisy muffler on Dixie Highway. When they stopped the car somewhat later on Waterford Road, two of the passengers were gone. Notified of a probable break-in, other officers found the back door of Al's Waterford Hardware ajar. One a 16 year old and the other, a 14 year old from Waterford township, they were both turned over to county juvenile authorities.

Allen Hinz, owner of the hardware states that $40, sunglasses, knives and wrenches were reported missing. It is believed that the store had been broken into earlier.

Honors for 2 local Jaycees

Lewis E. Wint of Clarkston was elected a national director for Region G (Oakland County) of the State Jaycees last week. The annual dinner meeting was held at the C. A. I. building in Waterford with over 300 attending from 22 chapters.

Lew was also presented with the Key Man Award—a certificate from the group for his contributions to Jayceism and for promoting the Jaycee story. President of the local group during the 1964-65 year, he has been serving as state vice-president for his district for the past year.

He will be serving as a member of the Board of Directors of the United States Jaycees. He will also serve on the Executive Committee and the Finance Committee of the Michigan Jaycees.

The keynote speaker for the affair was Wendell E. Smith, President of the Michigan Jaycees from Plymouth.

mouth. Elected county district vice president to succeed Mr. Wint was Leonard DePauw of Lake Orion.

Named the outstanding District Chairman and also of the District was Robert Newlin of Clarkston. He was the President of the local Chapter during the 1965-66 year.

Antique show and sale plans announced Seniors in Washington and New York

Plans are materializing rapidly for Clarkston's annual affair—the Antique Show and Sale sponsored by the First Methodist Church's WSCS.

To be held this year on June 1st and 2nd the dealers have already reserved space where they will be showing China, glassware, books, Americana, woodenware, jewelry, primitives and furniture. All items will be for sale. Dealers look forward every year to exhibiting at the Clarkston show. More and more antique fanciers are coming from a distance to take in this show.

Another attraction is the selection of buffet foods prepared by the good cooks of Clarkston and served under the outdoor canopy.

It was up bright and early on Wednesday morning for 84 seniors and 4 chaperones! Time for the annual senior trip had arrived. The groups departed from Clarkston High School at 3:30 and 6:30 a.m. and from Metro Airport in Detroit about 2 hours later. The tour will take the group to Washington D. C. and New York City. They will return on Saturday night.

Accompanying the students were Mr. William Mackson, Mr. and Mrs. William Adams and Miss Janet Gabier.

Seniors who did not elect to go on the trip will not have to attend school.

Desks of all descriptions will be put into service this month as workers for the First Methodist Church's annual antique show and sale take on the task of addressing thousands of invitational cards for their June gathering of antique lovers. Sitting at a desk in the North Main home of Mrs. Henry Woolfenden, is Mrs. Ralph Kenyon, one of the many church workers involved.

School census takers at work

Twelve school bus drivers are taking the annual school census in the Clarkston Community School District. Required by state law the census started on Monday and will be completed by May 30.

The census takers are wearing an identifying tag and are doing the census taking by IBM pre-punched cards. All known data is punched on the cards, but when the enumerators come to a new family in the district, they make out new cards.

All children through ages 19 in the district are counted. This information is used to base growth projections and to aid in planning locations for new schools as well as planning for the enrollment in each school.

Student Government officers elected

Bob Nicoson is the new president of Student Government. Serving with him for next year will be Mark Cowen, Vice President; Leslie Bell, Secretary and Sue Vascasseno as Treasurer. These students were elected last Friday.

It is traditional that Seniors don't vote but over 900 Freshmen, Sophomores and Juniors voted in the annual election. Voting was done on voting machines furnished by the township. Bud McGrath, faculty member was in charge of the election.

CORRECTION
In a headline of last week's paper we stated incorrectly that Keith Leak had been appointed to fill a vacancy on the Village Council. It should have read: David K. Leak. We're sorry we erred!

Check signing time for the Clarkston Village Players and acceptance time for the Women's Club. Player's president, Mrs. Barry Breidenbaugh signs the $200 check before giving it to the Club's president, Mrs. Richard Johnston, while members of the Woman's Club look on. The play "Pinnocchio" helped the players realize the profit which they had earmarked for donation to the new library.

Jim's Jottings

We're trying some new picture-making machines, and I must say they are fascinating. Finished prints in 15 seconds, nearly dry, and ready for the next step (screening) for putting in the paper.

Just so we won't be called discriminatory we have three makes. There are more on the market, but we only needed three. We have an Agfa, made by Gevaert, Anken, sold by Chemco, and Fotorite made by Fotorite, Corp.

With a special, rather expensive, photo paper, the negative is exposed through an enlarger and the paper is fed through the machine with chemicals. Presto, 15 seconds later, a print.

This is one drawback to this. The manufacturers say that in about 6 months the prints start turning brown. This won't bother us much since we use them for only a couple days, but we generally give our prints away and they won't be much good no more.

This printing process isn't really new to anyone but us. Some have been using it for years. Still others eliminate practically all the work except clicking the shutter.

Through the use of Polaroid film and a screen put next to the film, a printed picture, ready for the paper, can be produced in seconds.

We don't like this because of the screen. Definition: Screen dots that make the picture printable on paper. It's kind of technical (which gives us an out in trying to explain something we really know nothing about) but we think our pictures are sharper when we screen the negative than when screening the picture.

I'm sorry I brought the whole thing up.

I've heard of birdies, eagles, and even the albatross in connection with golf, but did you ever hear of alligator in reference to the game. Two friends recently returned from Florida and lied (told) about playing this golf course where an alligator was lying near one of the water hazards.

Up to then the boys had been wading in to retrieve their wayward shots. After that they just dropped another ball.

Can you imagine playing golf with a guy who insists you play each shot where they lie and having your ball roll up next to a dozing, 7 ft. alligator? About then I'd either take the pledge or give up the game.

Mediterranean Cruise for local Marine

Marine Sergeant Timothy R. Snitchler, son of Mrs. Mary E. Hopp of 4848 Lakeview Drive, Clarkston, Michigan, was promoted to his present rank during ceremonies held aboard the attack transport Fremont.

His promotion was based on time in service and rank, military appearance, and his knowledge of selected military subjects.

He is a member of the Third Battalion, Eighth Marine Regiment, Battalion Landing Team (BLT) deployed in the Mediterranean as the force-in-readiness for the U.S. Sixth Fleet.

The BLT has been out of the United States for five months. While in the Mediterranean area, the Marines have conducted extensive training exercises at Lovo Santo, Corsica, Porto Scuda, Sardinia, Ghajn Tuffieha, Malta and Timbakion, Crete.

The Marines have also visited the beautiful cities of Toulon and Marseilles, France, Naples and Toronto, Italy, Valletta, Malta and Corfu, Greece.

The Mediterranean Cruise is almost over for the Marines and when it ends the Marines will return to Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Before entering the service in September 1963, Snitchler attended St. Fredericks High School.

UNDERGOING TRAINING

Seaman Recruit John S. Bouck, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Bouck of 13450 Rattalee Lake Road, Davisburg is undergoing nine weeks of basic training at the Naval Training Center here.

He is receiving instructions in Naval customs, courtesies and organization, ordnance and gunnery, seamanship, damage control, first aid, swimming and survival, shipboard drills and sentry duty.

A program of physical fitness, military drill and inspections keeps the recruits mentally and physically alert during their training.

His Navy Classification tests will determine whether he will be assigned to a school, shore station or ship after his graduation.

Another Day

By Constance Lektzian

On the edge of Dixie Highway near the corner of M-15, sits a large, square white house. It is a remnant of the 200 acre John Green farm, the farm of one of our earliest settlers. The original log cabin that once stood on this site was, in its day, the only house between Clarkston and Pontiac.

John Green, a carpenter by trade and a farmer by upbringing, didn't decide to leave New Jersey for the west until 1832 when he was almost forty years old. Like many another emigrant, he might have made the move earlier in life but for the almost utter impossibility of reaching Michigan from the eastern seaboard. A man traveling alone and unencumbered could make the trip easily, a man burdened with household goods, a wife and family found the going rough.

Even before the Erie Canal was completed, it was put to use by the eager pioneers. John Green packed up his family and their belongings and made the trip from New Jersey to New York by horse and wagon. There is a strong likelihood that the Green's traveled in a group with other families, and since John and his wife, Elinor Addis, each had a brother that settled in Independence Township, possibly they traveled with their own relatives. It was no journey to make alone.

Daniel Green, one of the sons of John and Elinor, left records stating that from New York to Detroit, the trip was made by water. From Detroit to Pontiac, the way was not too difficult but at Pontiac, their team had to be disposed of. Only pairs of oxen could be used to pull the wagons to Independence. If Elinor had never had any misgivings before, she must have had them as they started down the Territorial Road, in most places only a wagon's width across. A dense woods stood thickly on either side of the trail which sometimes disappeared under water, was sometimes corduroyed and sometimes was nothing but deep ruts where the wheels sank to the hubs.

Everything beloved and familiar had been left behind; everything that wouldn't be useful for a new life here in this raw new western land. Elinor might have been heartened had she had any way of knowing that five generations later this seemingly unyielding land still provided a home for her descendants.

When they reached the place of their new home, for which John had paid $1.25 an acre, they found squatters had built, and deserted, a 16 foot square cabin into which Elinor gratefully settled her children. Later, a larger and more comfortable cabin was built. Their nearest neighbors up and down the Territorial Road were Archibald Phillips, who ran a small sawmill at Waterford and Colonel Stannard, postmaster at Springfield, but no houses.

There was no fear of famine for deer passed by so closely on the trail they could be shot from the cabin door, there was good fishing nearby and the children found honey trees and wild berries in the woods. Ambitious and hard-working, traits they passed on to their family, John and Elinor bent their every effort to make their farm a going concern. They had a reputation for never turning a deaf ear to Peter Green, who ran a livery and bus service for more than two decades in Clarkston.

Margaret Green Scadding left, in front of her house which still stands today across from the old Methodist Church.

a plea for help, so while they prospered, they never achieved the wealth they might have had.

Of their ten children, Daniel later owned and operated the farm his parents had settled on, Hugh went into the printing and paper hanging business in Clarkston and Peter owned a livery stable, where the Town Shop now stands.

In addition to the livery business, Peter Green had charge of the American Express delivery for about ten years, hauled the U.S. mail to area offices for fourteen years and ran the bus line that carried passengers from the railroad to Clarkston. He also owned the hearses used in the town and besides the usual black hearse pulled by a black team he kept a white hearse with a white team for the funerals of children.

For years, Peter regaled his family and friends with a tale of the man who came to the livery and rented a horse and buggy to go on his honeymoon. The couple was gone for several days and when they returned, the man glumly handed over the reins and left—without paying his bill. And he never would pay it!

Four of John and Elinor's children, these three boys and a daughter, Margaret Scadding remained in Clarkston. Of their children nine lived to adulthood a vigorous record in the midst of the high mortality of those times. Frank Green, Hugh's great-grandson, still lives on Church Street in the house of his grandfather, Frank who adopted and raised him as his own son. Peter's only child, Mable, inherited her father's love of horses and married the owner of one of the largest horse farms in this area, Glen Ellis. Daniel, had a family of six children, most of whom spent their lives in Clarkston. The Green's left a proud pioneer heritage of hard work that carved a livelihood for the generations that came after them.

Frank Green, grandson of John and Elinor Green.

Our thanks to Frank Green of Church Street and Mrs. Glen Ellis of Ingomar Farms, Dixie Highway for information and pictures.

J.V. BASEBALL

Coach Tungate's nine won two of three games during the past week. Defeated Oxford 3-0, Bl. Hills 6-3 and lost to Brighton 7-5.

Tom Grace was the winning pitcher in the Brighton game. Tom struck out 13 batters and at one time struck out 8 in a row. Tom Lane and Rich Porritt drove in one each and the other scored on an error.

Grace was again the winner in the Bloomfield Hills contest. Allowing 7 hits and striking out 7 batters. Clarkston scored all the runs in the 1st inning when Tom Lane reached 1st base on a throwing error. Rich Porritt singled and Dennis Storrs knocked in both runs with a double. Bruce Hardy and Steve Warman continued the uprising with singles, John Craven wacked and Gary Mizé knocked in the last run when he reached 1st base via error.

The Wolves had a 4-3 lead in the Brighton game but Brighton came up with 4 runs in the last two games. Steve Warman and Marshall Sealy shared pitching duties with Warman taking the loss. Gary McMillan had three hits and John Craven had two. Porritt and Hardy had singles in the 1st inning.

The infield continued to impress the experts as they gobbed up everything sent their way, but Tungate still has only one 300 hitter, McMillan is hitting .308, followed by Dennis Storrs, .294 and Rich Porritt .250.

GOLF

The Golf Team coached by Ralph Kenyon won one match and lost two. They split with Troy and lost a sudden death match with Holly.

The score of the Holly match played at Holly Greens was 179-179 after 9 holes, but Larry Parker and Kurt Maslowski lost the match on the extra hole. Larry Parker had the best score 42, followed by Tracy Tuscon 45; Ray Hipsher 46; Jim Navarre 46; Kurt Maslowski 46.

In the 1st Troy match played at Waterford Hill Clarkston won 204-218. Jim Navarre playing on his home course had a very enviable score of 36, pretty good for only a sophomore. Jim was followed by: Ray Hipsher, 41; Larry Parker, 42; Tracy Tuscon, 42; and Kurt Maslowski, 44.

Clarkston lost to Troy played at Sylvan Glen 216-224. Larry Parker again had top honors of 43, followed by Kurt Maslowski 44; Tracy Tuscon 45; Lyle Walters 45; and Jim Navarre 47.

mile with a time of 11:32. Dana Carlsen took the other 1st place with a 24 second effort in the 220.

Two Mile: 1st, Bud Mumbower; 4th, Mark Cowen; 5th, Bill Perkins.

Tom Bullard and Kim Beattie-- Brian Gallipo and Jack Sanson won the doubles play 6-0 6-0.

In the Holly match, Dougherty and Erickson had a little more trouble than anticipated, but won going away 6-1 and 6-3 --7-5 and 6-2. Kirk Beattie and Bill Bullard won in singles play. Tom Bullard and Kim Beattie-- Brian Gallipo and Jack Sanson blanked their opponents in doubles play.

Mark Erickson lost two matches in the Northville Match 4-6 and 3-6. Dougherty and Beattie won in the singles. Bullard, Beattie, Sanson and Gallipo won in Doubles. Bullard and Beattie lost their 1st set so far this year 6-8, but came back and won 6-2 and 6-1.

BASEBALL

Coach Thompson's nine had a productive week as they won three games. Defeating Brighton 7-1, Milford 7-0 and Bloomfield Hills 7-1, straight sevens across the board.

These victories give Clarkston the lead in the W.O. League, record of 5-0. Overall record is 6-2.

Northville, Milford and Bloomfield Hills have each lost one game so Clarkston has the upper hand. But--the seniors are leaving on their trip to Washington this week, so Thompson will be losing 3/4 of his team. He is going to dip into Tungate's JV team for two games, a none league affair against Waterford and a key league game at Northville on

Thursday.

In Clarkstons win against Brighton, Fife was the winning pitcher but had relief help from Randy Nicoson. It was a horribly cold day for baseball, but the Wolves had a hot bat and pounded out 9 hits.

Nicoson did a surprisingly fine job in his three innings of work, struck out 4 hitters and allowed only 1 walk. Fife had 11 strike outs in 4 innings of work and allowed only 1 hit. The Gold Dust Twins Fife and Allen had 5 of the 9 hits.

Clarkston's defeat over Milford was a long time in coming --its been many a moon since the last victory over Milford. Dan Fife was again the winning pitcher as he limited the Redskins to only 3 hits and struck out 11. Clarkston had only 5 hits, but Milford contributed 5 errors, which is surprising for a Milford team.

Rich Johnson pitched one of his finest games in a Clarkston uniform. Rich limited Bloomfield Hills to only two hits and struck out 5. Johnson's victory was certainly a big one and Coach Thompson will need him for the Northville game.

Allen had two hits in the Hills game, one a towering home run. Tom was also robbed of another hit in the 4th inning. Tom is now the leading hitter with an average of .333.

Little Valeta Mauk's grandma Greene, back in Hutchinson, Kansas, like to sew. So she made little Vicci these play dresses and the family of cloth pigs. Little Vicci grew up and married Alfred Hamilton. The christening dress in which he was christened has been in the Hamilton family 121 years, and was first worn by Dr. Hamilton's great grandfather. It was made by Aunt Nora LeMaistre on the Isle of Guernsey, off the coast of France where the family lived. Eighteen children in the Hamilton family have been christened in this dress. Now, years later, five year old Linda Hamilton tenderly holds a life size doll that is wearing the precious heirloom.

Alone in a Field

A man alone in a field . . . making the field ready for spring planting . . . perhaps is closer to God than he realizes.

The field didn't "just happen." The earth didn't "just happen." Those fruit trees, laden with blossoms, didn't choose to bloom just because they wanted to look pretty.

Stop and think about it. In the natural order of life, little is left to chance. There is a precision about the very rotation of the earth itself. There is a miracle embedded in each blade of grass.

All about us is the unmistakable evidence of Creation, by a Master Hand. The man in the field is, in some ways, closer to this creation than many of us, yet he too may very well be unaware of it. We can all capture or recapture this awareness by going to church regularly.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

This could be the answer

Imagine a sparkling waterway extending across Michigan—a 900-mile superhighway for boating and water sports. And imagine, too, that with it Michigan could solve pressing problems of water conservation and clean-up of rivers and lakes.

Such a major public works project is far less fanciful than it seems and an increasing number of national, state, and local governmental officials are taking a harder look at preliminary studies of the proposed trans-Michigan waterway which have been developed by a Lansing engineering firm.

John R. Snell, president of the consulting firm, calls it an "urban renewal program in reverse."

The water route would start near Port Huron where Lake Huron water could be pumped into a series of dams and reservoirs, flowing eventually into a widened Looking Glass River near Lansing. From there it would flow through improved existing river and lake systems to Lake Michigan, emptying at St. Joseph, Saugatuck, and Grand Haven. This interconnecting system, providing a clean-water channel 300 feet wide and 15 feet deep, would extend 560 miles. A second system including 350 miles of existing rivers and lakes then could be cleaned to augment the first project.

The waterway would provide a bountiful supply of clean water, power, flood control, more than 1,800 miles of attractive shoreline for commercial and private development, and tourist-attracting recreation. Total cost is estimated at $90 million but Snell proposes that it be self-liquidating and eventually a profit-maker for the state.

Sounds interesting, and perhaps could be the answer to the pollution problem!

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I am writing this letter to answer your sports writer and his comments on "quitters", as written in the April 28th edition of the Clarkston News.

I think that before he writes another article like that again, that he should get the feelings of the boys, and maybe he would understand why three boys quit the high school baseball team. There has been talk of others expressing the desire to quit also. These three lettermen probably would not have quit if there was some indication by the coach that they would get to play rather than sitting on the bench.

If I were the only person to think that my son was good enough to play regularly, then I would not have been so surprised to see him bat only 4 times in the teams first four games. He played one inning in the last three games.

My son went to the coach to tell him he was quitting and there was no attempt of any kind by the coach to persuade him to stay on the team. I am positive that any encouragement by the coach would have changed the boy's mind as he really wanted to play baseball.

I wonder who quit who?

Avoid the glare from the driver who is getting a glare from his mirror when you drive too closely to the car ahead of you with your high beams on! Low beams should always be used when overtaking or meeting another car. Switch to low beams early enough to be on low beams when the car ahead or the oncoming car is 500 feet away. Even though the oncoming driver may not lower his lights, don't retaliate by switching to high beams.

"If It Fitz . . ."

She Plays Hide the Garbage

by Jim Fitzgerald

It was last Thursday, on the eve of our 12th wedding anniversary, when my wife screamed so loud I cut myself shaving.

I stuck my bloody head outside the bathroom and interrupted her terrible anguish long enough to ask what was wrong.

"I missed the garbage man," she moaned.

You can see what kind of a 12-year stretch this has been.

My wife is emotional. She wept when some old Edison poles were replaced in our block. She was touched to tears when she read about the grand opening of an automatic camel wash in Egypt. At a school open house she saw a flunking grade marked on the paper of a little boy; she never met and she cried herself to sleep that night.

And nothing bothers my wife more than missing the garbage man. To understand this phenomenon, you must understand how it is with my wife and her garbage . . .

IN THE FIRST PLACE, it is not really garbage as I was brought up to understand the term. My mother's garbage was always coffee grounds and bread crusts (that's why I don't have curly hair) and potato peels and rejected tapoca and other assorted gloop and gloop. She used to put it in one of those big pans with holes in the bottom—a drainer, I guess you'd call it. My job was to move that pan of garbage from the sink to the garbage pail so swiftly that there was no time for gloop to ooze through the holes. I never really made it, but I always ran in a crouch, so that my knees were under the pan and the gloop went on my pants instead of Mother's floor. I preferred scraping my pants once a week to washing her floor every night.

My wife's garbage is not like Mother's. Pat has a disposal in her sink to eat flat and gloop. Only cans and bottles and boxes go into the garbage cans. Being one of the world's great spenders, my wife has 2 garbage cans. How many people do you know with 2 garbage cans? Anyway, under such affluent circumstances, you would probably assume that she empties the garbage every day, wouldn't you?

You are wrong.

The garbage man comes only twice a week—Monday morning and Thursday morning. My wife likes her garbage put in the cans no more than 1 minute before he arrives. She often stations a child at the front window to yell when the garbage truck approaches. She then points to 8 full grocery bags stacked in front of the back door and instructs me to get them into the garbage cans quickly, before it is too late.

You are probably wondering why my wife insists on suspense with her garbage. You are now eligible to join the club of which I have been president for 12 years. The only other member is the garbage man who I signed up the day he asked me how come it is always feast or famine at my house. If the cans aren't overflowing, they are empty.

There are no sensible answers to these questions. I suspect the whole mess is a result of Pat's childhood. Her mother probably wouldn't let her play Hide the Peanut. So now she is catching up by playing Hide the Garbage. You see, this bagged garbage does not sit by the back door until garbage day. This wouldn't look nice and besides, you wouldn't be able to find the door. The garbage doesn't get to the door until the countdown reaches about 10 minutes until G-hour. Before then the bags are hid in cupboards and closets.

Have you ever gone to the kitchen for a bag of potato chips and come back with a bag of empty beer cans? Have you ever reached into a bag for a candy bar and grabbed a candy wrapper full of cigar ashes? One day I brought home a fresh bag of groceries and accidentally put it down next to a garbage bag. That night we had a fried corn flakes box for dinner. Five empty juice cans were stored in the freezer for 2 months.

Now you can understand the walling of my wife when she misses the garbage man. If it happens twice in a row, she runs out of hiding places and there are so many garbage bags in the kitchen you have to walk sideways and chew on only one side of your mouth at a time.

Onward and Upward for 12 more years? I'll never make it. Δ

Ripples from the Pool

By Faith Poole

A new business is about to spring forth in the area. To be known as the Carriage House Antiques it will be located on Big Lake Road. Alicia Duñan and Duffy Bell will be the proprietors and are busily getting ready for their opening on this Friday. There will be some interesting pieces for sale from all that we have been able to glean—many of the pieces beautifully refinished by Mrs. Duncan herself.

Winging her way back to her home in St. John, New Brunswick was Doreen Marney on Monday. She has spent the past 7 months living with the Wilburn Trent family on Big Lake Road. She has been serving as a Missionary intern working at Andersonville Community Church. She hopes to be able to return to Michigan in the fall where she will do further study in Child Evangelism, in Muskegon.

After a weekend of being stabbed and poked while wrestling with the job of pruning rosebushes, pulling quack grass and other assorted undesirables that find their way into perennial beds, trying to dodge Saturday's chilly rain showers, and getting all mixed up on Sunday's TV programs and daylight savings time, I assumed that Monday would be a better day.

Even that couldn't start right—as I sliced by banana on my dry cereal and read about the "love-in" I realized I was probably depriving one of the "hippies" of a smoke—foul thoughts so early in the day.

Then I began to scan the pile of mail on my desk that had accumulated over the weekend. Here's a sampling: According to a member of the Michigan House of Representatives, Michigan is currently spending about $400,000 more per day than taken in.

A 14-year old suspect in the murder of 2 little girls can't be tried and even if he is would have to be released when he reached the age of 19.

Gangs of motorcycle riders wielding chains and beer bottles contributed to making a real riot on Belle Isle.

And then I turned from the paper back to the mail and what do I find but a news release from the Professional Golfers Association stating that Governor Romney has proclaimed Tuesday, May 30 as National Golf Day in the state. But that is news? Is there any golfer who doesn't proclaim a holiday as "Golf Day"? Seriously though previously that day has realized nearly $1.2 million since 1952 for worthy projects and charities.

Had the opportunity recently of sitting in on a planning session for the Annual Clarkston Antique Show. It sounds like another good one they have planned. Many outstanding dealers are lined up for June 1st and 2nd. Watch this paper for more details as they develop.

Can see it all now. This fabulous water skier floating across Parke Lake, gliding on one leg, tow rope in mouth, wearing the latest swim trunks . . . and a turtle neck dickey. I know it's time for the dickeys to be put away and he knows it's time for the dickeys to be put away, but that's as far as our "knows" goes. Ever since the winter I rather misplaced the pants to Dicks brown suit, the bedpan and a few other minor items, nobody trusts me to store their stuff. Frankly I think a mouse made himself a house out of my Dicks pants, but all I have for proof is a neat pile of colored cloth dots. Anyway back at the kids. It's no secret to them that I loathe organized people BUT do try hard to make the spring and fall clothing changeover without everyone running around naked. They have already forgotten the times I risked my one and only neck for their fig leaves. Up I would go through a small opening in the closet ceiling from whence clothes would rain for hours. Anything this organized just has to be for me. The danger would close in when fierce argument would break out below on who owned what this season. Eventually I would be forced to stick my head back down through the trapdoor, just far enough to suggest I might even fall out. Those smart cookies realized this would delay the unpacking a wee bit, so the arguments shifted to silent fistfights. Many a season was officially changed for us this way. Now here we are, blessed with a wonderful storage attic off the upstairs hall and all I get is motherly distrust. The head of the union just paraded off to bed, the pic-

-FOLLOW THOU ME-

Jesus saw James and John, the two sons of the man Zebedee, in a boat mending their nets, for they were fishermen. He called them, and forthwith they left their father and followed Him. Matthew 4:18-20.

A young English writer lends voice to the Pharisee Nicodemus, he to whom Jesus had spoken at length concerning the rebirth of the spirit as the essential initial experience of all those who would be His followers.

"Tell me, John," said Nicodemus, "why did you and James leave home that day and follow Jesus?"

"I think," said John, "it was just our feet that followed Him, for our hearts were sore afraid. Perhaps it was not our own will to do so. He came to us as a stranger saying we had not chosen Him, that He had chosen us, and I know that as we went forth with Him that day we were not walking on the earth at all; it was another world, where everything was new and strange and shining."

"Perhaps," said Nicodemus, "it was some miracle He did?"

"It was indeed a miracle," said John, "I was not blind and yet He gave me sight; I was not deaf and yet He gave me hearing; nor was I dead, yet He raised me to life."

The man Albert Schweitzer of our own day, who was moved by the spirit of Jesus to live out his working years as a medical missionary in central Africa, spoke with deep conviction concerning Him. "Any man," said Schweitzer, "who will look Jesus in the face and listen for what He has to teach will not for long see Him as a stranger. He will soon know Jesus as the One who claims authority over him. Jesus asked this one thing of James and John, that they prove themselves men compelled by Him to cease from being as the world is to being apart from it in spirit, and He asks the same of us today. His words are the same . . . Follow thou Me! He commands, and to those who obey He will reveal Himself through all that they are privileged to experience in His fellowship of toil and trial, till all come to know, as an inexpressible secret, exactly who He is.

Eternal God, our Father: Create within us a new spirit, we beseech Thee, and lead us, through Jesus, in the Way Everlasting. AMEN.

Named "Outstanding Jaycee"

Jerry Hennig, 30 South Holcomb Street, was named "Outstanding Jaycee of the Month" at the monthly General Membership Meeting of Clarkston Area Jaycees, April 19, at the American Legion Hall on M-15.

Hennig, according to president Bob Jones, completing his first year in Jaycees, was selected by the Board of Directors because of his enthusiastic involvement in so many of the organization's activities and projects this past year, and especially for his outstanding performance as chairman of the recent District 18 Basketball Tournament, hosted by Clarkston.

In addition, he played an instrumental role on the local Jaycee softball team last summer in district competition, is presently Jaycee chairman in charge of the community bulletin board, and has received the SPOKE Award, which is given to first-year Jaycees for completing a number of chapter requirements.

He is married, the father of two children, and attends St. Daniel's Mission in Clarkston. His occupation is a carpenter.

Monday brought more than the first day of a new month at the Richard Surre home on Perry Lake Road. To the subtle surprise of the family is also unfolded this little one. Less than twenty-four hours old, he's just a little uncertain, but then so is she. It's her first.

Making the presentation of "Outstanding Jaycee of the Month" to Jerry Hennig was R. Barrie Fell who was Jaycee of the month in March. Fell stated "Jerry Hennig possesses the many qualities of excellence rarely found in young men of his age. He has participated with great vigor in innumerable Jaycee projects and, on each occasion has completed all duties in an exemplary manner."

Getting to the bottom of how a church card party became a success, is Carol Ann Hunter. The one year old carefully gave her mother and friends all the help they needed.
