To be honored at farewell reception

First Methodist Church Clarkston will honor the Rev. and Mrs. Lewis C. Sutton on Saturday, June 10, at a farewell reception on the occasion of their leaving Clarkston for re-assignment to Flint Central Methodist Church. The reception will be from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. in the North Wing of the new church building. The Womens Society for Christian Service will be in charge of the reception. Friends of the Rev. and Mrs. Sutton are invited to attend.

Voters to elect 2 board members, consider Voc-Ed millage Mon.

School electors will be asked to pick two out of four candidates for seats on the Board of Education when they vote in the annual school election next Monday. Hours of polling and locations are advertised elsewhere in this issue.

Also to be voted on in Monday's election is a proposal to establish Vocational Education Centers within the county. The voters will be asked to approve a 1/2 mill property tax to implement the program.

Of the four candidates running for office, two of them are incumbents. The other two sought the same office a year ago. Seeking the two seats are Ronald A. Weber, Melvin Pohlkotte, Mrs. Ingrid Smith and Richard Yarbrough.

Mr. Pohlkotte, a member of the board for the past 4 years has been Treasurer for the past 2 years. He wants continued emphasis on the quality of education obtained in the Clarkston school system. It takes continued progress and maturity to have an effective, efficient educational system, he believes.

He is manager of Engineering and Manufacturing at Lear Siegler Air Valves Division. With his wife, Rowena and 3 children, he lives at 6609 Shelley in Clarkston. He holds his Bachelors degree from GM and has been a Clarkston resident since 1958. He has been active in both the Clarkston Elementary PTA as well as the Bailey Lake PTA since its formulation in 1966. During the past year, he served that PTA as program chairman.

The only woman to seek a position on the board is Mrs. Ingrid Smith of 6360 Eastlawn. Having lived in Clarkston for the past 8 years, she is the mother of eight children, six of them of school age.

She states that as her purpose in seeking office that she would like to attempt to find the solution to the annual problem of keeping teachers in the system. She would like to incorporate a woman's perspective into the decisions of a previously all male Board of Education. She would also like to bring attention to the need of a full time nurse into the school system and study the adequacy of the physical fitness program beginning in grade school.

She feels that the board should attempt community participation in a meaningful team effort of taxpayer, Board of Education and Administration to meet the demands of a changing future in which today's children will have to compete.

Mrs. Smith attended the Heidelberg Medical School in Germany, the University of Michigan School of Education. She has done volunteer work on several educational opportunity programs and participated in various community fund raising projects. She is a member of member of the Clarkston P.T.A.

Mr. Weber states: "I have seen the Clarkston Schools grow from a 1949 enrollment of 596 students to its present enrollment of 5,615. The staff has increased to its present number of 206 certified teachers. There are five elementary schools operating this year; the sixth will open in the fall of 1967. The working drawings for a new Junior High School to be located in the Sashabaw Area have been completed and construction will begin as soon as the State approves the school bond application. The recently completed addition to the High School enables the staff to offer meaningful experiences to the students interested in a college career as well as vocationally oriented students. The Board of Education has purchased future building sites in anticipation of the expansion of the area with total acreage now amounting to 195 acres. We have been able to keep pace with the growth of our district and at the same time, maintain a balanced budget."

Richard Yarbrough who resides at 5220 Maybee Road is the fourth candidate. The father of 3 children, he has been employed for the past 15 years in Plant Protection at GM Truck and Coach. Stating his reasons for desiring a seat on the board he said, "My children are in the system, therefore I want the best education possible for them as well as the other students. We are long overdue for some changes. New people with new ideas, independent thinkers and voters will keep our system alive and advancing."

He would like to see the formation of a citizens committee to work with the Board in deciding the most urgent needs of our schools. He also questions whether the school board endorses the proposal for Vocational Education and why it is difficult for students to complete assignments because of the lack of reference materials.

Mr. Yarbrough also stated, "Our tax dollars, invested in new schools will only pay dividends through its heart--the classroom teacher."

Board approves non-teaching contracts

At the Board of Education meeting held Monday evening a week earlier than usual due to the school election and commencement exercises, routine business was taken care of as well as approval of various contracts.

A contract with the building secretaries was approved by the board after amending it to include three vacation days. A three year contract with the head custodians was also approved by the board.

This had previously been given their approval by the custodians. In a 3 year period, it sets salaries for custodians at elementary schools at $7,000 while in the same length of time in the secondary buildings would be $7,250. Other basic terms remain the same as before. The board also approved the salaries of the grounds keepers.

Discussion took place regarding the various detection devices planned for the various buildings. Because of the expense of these units, no decision was reached. The administration is currently relying on 24 hour coverage in the secondary buildings and nearly that in the others.

Also discussed and approved by the board was the salary schedules for administrative personnel. These salaries range from $11,081 to $17,250 yearly. This covers the Elementary Principals and on up.

The board was notified that negotiating sessions are going on weekly—a minimum of 2 hours per week to work out a teachers contract. Three people are representing the board in the negotiations. The status of state aid and fiscal reform in Lansing was also brought before the board by the administration.

The contractor for the High School running track was notified to return to finish the clean-up at the track after June 16. Because the track has seen daily use, it has been difficult for him to finish the job.

The High School athletic director has been asked to secure bids for preparing the high school baseball field. These will be presented to the board for further discussion and planning.

Another board session is scheduled for next Monday, June 12 to go over the election results. This will be held following the graduation exercises.

permits soar

The building report for Independence Township for the month of May has been issued showing permits issued totaling $623,907.00. This month's figure was swelled by one commercial permit with a valuation of $180,000.

Permits were issued for 20 houses totaling $394,650.00. Four permits to construct garages amounted to $7,157.00.

Additions and alterations accounted for $28,500. of the total amount. There were also 3 permits issued for the construction of swimming pools valued at $13,600.

Taking time out to relay words of caution and precaution to kindergarten students last Thursday was Trooper Robert Hagstrom. He is shown here, with the Pine Knob principal, about to hand out the words of wisdom to five of the attending children, Lori Tosto, Sharon Welch, Tim Brackett, Gregory Stevens and Craig Bond.

Road commission garage to be built in area

Announcement was made this week of a new District Maintenance Garage for the County Road Commission. Construction will start immediately on the facility which will be located on the northwest corner of Dixie Highway and Rattalee Lake Road. The new building will replace the present inadequate building in Davisburg.

Located in Springfield Township, the building will be 90 x 220 feet with attached office and mechanical rooms. The garage portion will be used for vehicle and maintenance storage.

The contract has been let to the H.F. Campbell Company at a cost of $263,127.00. The contract calls for a completion date of December 1st according to Dennis A. Grylicki of the Construction division of the engineering department of the road commission.

Salvation Army Holding Church Services Here

The Salvation Army are now holding Sunday School and Worship Services every Sunday afternoon in Clarkston. The services are being held in the Old Methodist Church--entrance on Church Street.

The services begin at 2 p.m. and are open to anyone. The group is looking for those who do not now belong to a church, those who like to sing gospel songs and all those of any age.

The Salvation Army operates in 70 countries and colonies with the gospel going out to the people in 167 languages and dialects. Salvationists have been singing their way around the world to bring hope to the helpless and hopeless.

The group hopes to be able to establish a permanent church in Clarkston.

Booklets distributed to kindergartners

Every Kindergarten youngster in the Clarkston school system was given a book to take home one day last week. Entitled "The Cautious Twins", the book tells about how to be careful with strangers. Parents are urged to take time to carefully read this book with their child.

One of the best books dealing with child molestation and its dangers, the books were made available locally by the Clarkston Area Jaycees. They are put out by the Los Angeles Crime Prevention Bureau.

Additional booklets are available to anyone who would like another copy. Address your requests to P.O. Box 154, Clarkston.

Also included with the booklet was a pamphlet put out by the Humane Society on "Preventing Dog Bites."

Bob Hagstrom distributed the books through the various buildings for the Jaycees.

Jim's Jottings

I continue to be amazed at the guy on the tube who can open a bottle of pills and always drop out two. Just 2.

As a pill taker from way back I just can't believe this is possible with any degree of consistency. He's got to have a gimmick, like there being only 2 pills in the bottle, or they wasted a lot of film until they got the 2 to drop in his palm.

Aspirin and Saccharin are my popular pills. With the first I usually take 3 at a time. And, when I reach for them I'm in no mood for 4 or 5 or more to fall out. This just aggravates the condition, and the condition is always aggravated.

With Saccharin I want just 1. I get at least 6.

As soon as the guy invents a top that lets just 1 Saccharin and 3 aspirin come out I'm going to clean out the store.

I can get into all kinds of arguments and trouble with the next statement, but I can't help wondering . . . There are more counselors for us humans than ever before in history yet the crime rate climbs, so do divorce cases and the juvenile delinquency rate hasn't improved.

Wonder why that is? Everywhere we turn there are psychiatrists, private, public and school counselors, county and state social workers, and people connected with churches, in and out of the pulpit, giving aid to the anguished.

Many, probably most, are capable people, but somewhere they aren't getting through. There must be stronger advice from a stronger source getting to more people, better.

I know, you're thinking newspapers are the blame.

And, speaking of newspapers . . . we frequently hear that our trade gives too much space to actions of wayward youth and doesn't recognize in more prominent headlines or position the accomplishments of the majority, the good kids.

In answer to this one publisher wrote in his column, "Tuesday 2300 students of Ketchum High School went to their classes, studying mathematics, science and literature, and one of them murdered the principal."

This week the good kids get practically all the news. It's graduation week. Inside you'll find a composite picture of the graduating class. What a world lies ahead for them.

For the pessimist we have a war in Vietnam and a good chance of another one coming in the middle east. He can also look forward to the end of the world, as some predict.

But, for the others . . . opportunities unlimited. A world to work as hard as one wishes to make of himself what he might, a world of happiness with family and friends and a world for love.

The latter may be the most important. This new life can be so much better if the graduate, undergraduate and adults, would fill themselves with more brotherly love.

Caught in the act of being their own sweet selves are Linda O'Rourke, Julie Breckenridge, Doug Kotula, Mike Lee, David Chartier and Renee Hamlin. First grade students of Mrs. Heath at the Clarkston Elementary School, the group had made zoo posters from the memory of their zoo trip the day before, with their class.

at times by loss of key personnel, but they still won 7 games. He has some fine personnel on the team and they should be a valuable asset on the Varsity.

Coach Larry Thibault gave 13 Varsity letters and 15 J.V. awards. Mike Dougherty won the most valuable trophy.

The tennis team took all the marbles at the spring banquet. The team went undefeated with a record of 14-0. They won the league title, the Walled Lake Invitational, and the biggest prize a Regional title. This was the 1st in Class A competition. Yes, the tennis team was great and with many returning lettermen, the team has a good chance to repeat as the best around:

Bill Hanson the Dean on the coaching staff at Clarkston presented the Dom Mauti award to Dan Fife. Coach Hanson commented on Dan's many feats and also said, "In the 18-19 years of coaching, Dan in face of all the publicity was the hardest working athlete that he has ever met."

Bill went on to say, "Many young boys earned varsity awards here tonight. Just because you won a varsity letter tonight, don't quit and wither on a vine, you must lead the way for the remaining years and be a challenge for youth"--Amen Bill Hanson.

Milford Mason concluded the banquet by thanking the parents and community for their 100% support.

Yes, Clarkston has certainly done well in athletics and the man behind the success is Dom

In track Coach Inman gave 17 varsity awards and 22 J.V. awards. Eric Hood was awarded the team captain trophy and Freshman Bud Mumbower the award for Dedication to track.

This was a rebuilding year for the track team, with many promising freshmen and sophomore trackmen.

The baseball coach Pete Thompson handed out 12 Varsity letters with the great Dan Fife earning the most valuable award.

The baseball team provided many, many thrills for the fans. They won games and defeated the Pontiac Central in the Pontiac Press tournament. Northville defeated Clarkston on the last game of the year. All of you know that was a disappointing loss for the Wolves. The loss kept the Wolves from winning the title. One cannot really remember if the baseball team has ever won a baseball title outright. Some years ago a Gus Birtsas team tied Clarenceville for the league title.

Paul Tugate the J.V. coach handed out 21 awards. Tugate's hustling crew was hampered 120 boys earned awards at the spring banquet in track, golf, tennis, and baseball.

In golf Coach Kenyon awarded 6 Varsity letters and 14 J.V. letters. The Most Valuable award going to Larry Parker and most improved Jim Navarre. The golf team had a dual record of 3 wins, 6 loss. The finest achievement was the Pontiac Press tournament with

Spring Sports

Clarkston High School closed out their 1966-67 season with a spring sports banquet. As toastmaster Milford Mason stated, "This is an end of an era for Clarkston". Yes this has been a most successful year for Clarkston. They didn't win the all-sports trophy--Bloomfield Hills did--the Wolves certainly gave it a ride for the races. Clarkston came in 2nd place with Hills winning by some ten points. Here are their achievements:

1. Football--tied for second place--13 points.
2. Basketball--Wayne Oakland title--16 points.
3. Cross Country--5th place.
4. Baseball--tied for second place--13 points.

5. Tennis--Wayne Oakland title--8 points.
 6. Golf--fifth place--4 points.
 7. Track--8th place--2 points.
- TOTAL=60 points

Also the J.V. Football team lost only one non-league game and won all the league games for the un-official title. The J.V. basketball team took 2nd place in league play. The J.V. baseball team played many teams outside the league and one can tell exactly where the team finished.

120 boys earned awards at the spring banquet in track, golf, tennis, and baseball.

In golf Coach Kenyon awarded 6 Varsity letters and 14 J.V. letters. The Most Valuable award going to Larry Parker and most improved Jim Navarre. The golf team had a dual record of 3 wins, 6 loss. The finest achievement was the Pontiac Press tournament with

Girl Scout ceremony held on Sunday

The Clarkston Neighborhood Girl Scouts Bridging Ceremony was held in the Clarkston Methodist Church on Sunday, June 4. A program for the entire family, the affair began at 2 p.m. with the Flag Ceremony, Pledge of Allegiance and "God Bless America". The invocation was given by Robert Morse.

The welcome and introduction were given by Mrs. Kelly Burnette. The function of the bridging ceremony is to help ease the transition between each level of girl scouting. It is an honor for those completing one level and an inspiration for the younger girls to strive for in the coming year.

The guest speaker was Miss Marla Lambert of Waterford who was a delegate to the Senior Girl Scout Round-Up held in Miami, Florida. She talked to the group on "Girl Scouting Past and Present."

The Bridging Ceremony followed under the direction of Mrs. Easton. For their song the Brownies sang "When E'r you Make A Promise", while the Juniors sang "Follow the Piper" and the Cadettes sang "Girl Scouts Together". Troops involved included Brownie troops 757, 692 and 693; Juniors Troops 453 and 880; and Troop 547 of the Cadettes.

Credit will be applied toward graduation when credit is earned in a course to make up a deficiency. Credit earned other than to remove a deficiency will be recorded as additional accomplishment but will not be applied toward graduation requirements.

Classes will convene Thursday, June 22 and continue through Friday, August 4 from 8:00 a.m. until 12:00 o'clock noon. Each 2 hour session will operate 110 minutes and each 4 hour session will operate for 220 minutes. 2-hour course--1/2 credit; 4 hour course--1 credit.

Each enrollee will be expected to complete considerable homework as it is necessary to cover in 120 hours of class-time the same material that is covered in 200 hours during the regular school term.

Reports will be sent home after three weeks and at the end of the summer session. Students missing more than 2 sessions will not be granted credit.

Should the demand for a particular subject be insufficient the Board of Education reserves the right to consolidate classes, transfer classes to other buildings or cancel such classes and refund any collected enrollment fees.

Further, should there be sufficient interest in a non-listed area, the Board of Education will make every effort to make such a course available. Fifteen to twenty enrollees are generally considered as the minimum required enrollment.

The Benediction was given by Robert Morse and refreshments were served in the north wing of the Church following the program. Numerous sponsoring groups in addition to the parents and leaders were invited to attend.

Sunday, June 3rd, was the day chosen for the traditional Girl Scout ceremony known as Bridging. It is here a girl crosses over to reach her long sought after goal. Mrs. Homer Richmond (left) and Mrs. Ruth Alumbaugh (right) stand on each side of the nostalgic setting, which had just witnessed the transfer of these girls. Prepared to lead representatives of the three groups is Senior scout Ann Miller. Next to Miss Miller is Ann Chad, who joined the Senior ranks, Mary Butters, who left the junior division to become a Cadette, and Susie Ash, one of many Brownies moving up to Junior scouting.

Let's make a start!

It has been brought to our attention that a European visitor has suggested the flamboyant blooms of cleansing tissue be adopted as our national flower.

Perhaps the fragrant brown bottle, the scentless inflammable box, and the tossed-out non-wants should be added to the list.

This is the sad sight along our roadways that costs something like $500 million a year to clean up. Each year the average American throws away about half-a-ton of disposable beer cans, pop bottles, cleansing tissue, paper cartons and other stuff for which he has no use.

We have two suggestions on overcoming this situation. Maybe three. Penalize and enforce an anti-litter law. (Dearborn has little clean up problems from litterbums)

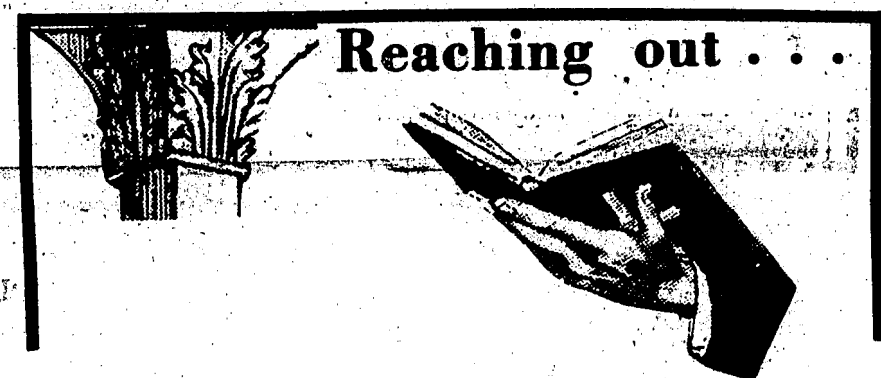

Since this won't be forthcoming soon, and the highways will still be strewn with debris, one or more groups organized nationally could adopt a project of "Let's clean up our highways."

One or two organizations have a "Get out the vote" drive, so such an idea isn't original. To date, there have been instances of groups taking on this project for a day or so. In Oxford recently, a girl scout troop took a hike along Draher road and picked up trash along the way.

During Michigan Week, a city council gave a half cent for each bottle picked up along their roadways and some 17,000 came in. High school classes have been known to do the same. Too often the emphasis has been just on bottles, mostly because they don't deteriorate. But, the whole darn ditch could be cleared if the project were adopted.

The other suggestion is that we think more about breaking this habit of throwing things out. The litterbugs are not always those too-lazy to go to the dump and young folks throwing their bottles at a mailbox. There are many adults who consciously or unconsciously litter our roadways.

Let's think about it and quit it.

-WHO IS MY NEIGHBOR?-

One of the Pharisees tempted Jesus, saying . . . Master, which is the great commandment of the law? And Jesus answered him . . . Man, the first and the greatest is, Thou shalt love God with all thy heart and mind and strength, and the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. On these two commandments hangeth the whole of the law, and the prophets. Matthew 22:35-40.

There should be no doubt concerning what Jesus meant when He used the term 'neighbor', for our neighbor is every person with whom we are brought into contact.

First of all, he is literally our neighbor who is of our own household. Then it is he that is close to us in our own village, in our own parish and on our own street. With these all true charity begins. To be kind to these is the very beginning of all true religion.

But beside these, as Jesus teaches, our neighbor is every one thrown across our path by the chance and change of life, whomsoever it may be, that we have any means of helping, the unfortunate stranger we may meet in traveling, the deserted friend who no one cares to serve. Truly these too are our neighbors.

Eternal God, our Father, our refuge and our strength, move us, we beseech Thee, to follow in the steps of Jesus and make the brotherhood of man, which he proclaimed, a reality and a truth. AMEN.

Meet a Reliable Sucker

by Jim Fitzgerald

There was nothing decent on TV, and I was through reading the newspaper, and she was sitting right there in front of me, so I thought I'd talk to my wife.

"Mother," I said, "you will be interested to learn that I am calm, relaxed, thoughtful, loyal, reliable and well integrated."

"I am not your mother," she said.

"I am a sucker," I said, "which means I am calm, relaxed . . ."

"Ok, ok," she interrupted, gazing wistfully at the blank TV. "I can see I'm going to have to listen to this, so what's it all about?"

"It is all about candy eaters," I explained. "It said in the newspaper that British psychologists studied the eating habits of 1,200 candy eaters. They broke them down into 3 categories — suckers, crunchers and chewers.

"You are very lucky you did not marry a cruncher. The psychologists say crunchers are emotional and subject to fits of jealousy and aggression," I said. "And the chewers aren't much better. They lack discipline and often overeat."

"But the suckers are perfectly splendid people. You've probably noticed how I suck the squares from my giant Hershey bars every night. I even suck the almonds until they crumble. You are a very lucky wife," I said.

"I admit you are a sucker," my wife admitted. "The neighbors have complained about the noise and I remember the time last summer when you sucked in 2 mosquitoes from across the room. You couldn't be a cruncher because the only time you have a jealous fit is Easter when the bunny brings candy for the kids and you don't get any. You couldn't be an over-eating chewer because you don't stay awake long enough."

This is the kind of lip a fellow must take just to have someone to melt his dinners and send his shirts to the laundry. And she wasn't finished yapping

"While we are on the subject," she continued, "I wonder what the psychologists think of a candy hider which is what you are. You make the kids eat hard candy left over from Christmas. You hide your expensive chocolates until after they have gone to bed. You hate to see summer come because you can't wear a coat under which you can hide Fanny Farmer boxes when you come into the house."

"There's something else interesting in the newspaper," I said. "A town in Ireland refused to let Jayne Mansfield come visiting. I have never been more ashamed of my kin. Who do they want, Twiggy?"

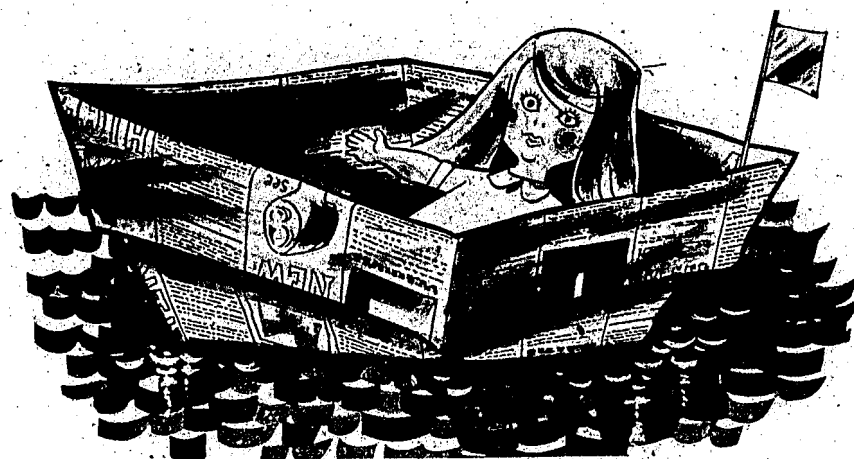

"Don't change the subject," said the old nag. "Do the psychologists say anything about a candy eater who would wake his wife up at 2 a.m. because he can't remember where he hid his Hershey bar? And I wonder what they would think about Valentine's Day as celebrated around here? Every year you give each of the kids a $2 heart box of chocolates and every year, within a week, you buy back each box for 50 cents. The kids don't get a bite. I would like to hear the psychologists talk about that."

"Say, it says here that Patrick Nugent, LBJ's son-in-law, has been elected a director of the Citizens National Bank of Austin, Texas. I certainly like to see a hard-working young fellow get ahead in the world, don't you?" I asked.

"I don't know how the psychologists would class you as a candy eater," my wife said, "but I would call you a Stingy Hog."

I certainly wish that girl would quit beating around the bush and say what she means.

Ripples from the Pool

Space limitations and the elapsed time prevent our using several good pictures of the Memorial Day observance in the village.

Some people have all the luck! Just when he managed to get a 4-day holiday, Tink Ronk also won a new set of golf clubs at the Legion drawing.

After this issue A.E. Butters takes a brief respite from writing his column "Reaching Out". We envy him the vacation, but hope he resumes his writing before too many weeks elapse.

The Jones family subscriptions are paid up! Mrs. Forrest Jones brightened our day on Monday when she came in with a list of four Jones families—all to have their subscriptions renewed or a new subscription started. The nicest part of all was that she had some kind things to say about the newspaper as she parted with her money.

This week the unusual in dresses sprung forth here. Tents were appearing at the News office. Rustie wanted to hang a sign on hers proclaiming "No, I'm not!" But Isabel Butler copied us all, as she cautioned smokers not to go near her—her attractive gown was, you guessed—paper!

Another successful anti-que show is over! We know a little of the hard work that goes into such a show—it's quality was matched only by the weather!

Just when Howard and I are about to fall into a pattern of quiet living—college swings open the doors and our daughter lights at home again. Everything really "swings"—the radio—the TV—the telephone and the refrigerator door. Seems good though that everything burst forth at once, including summer.

Wedding trip via trolley

At the turn of the century, another means of transportation came into the area--the DUR-- a trolley line that gave greater flexibility to travel. True, the train, that had been here since 1851, went to all the larger towns. The depots however, were located on the outskirts and travelers had to depend on their own foot power or rent a rig to get to the stores and shops.

Something else was needed and the electric cars seemed to be the answer. There was nothing spur of the moment about its construction. It had been discussed and promoted for many years before it actually came into operation. One route had been planned for a long U.S. 10, then up Main street into Clarkston village. For some reason this never materialized and the nearest stop was north of Seymour Lake.

Miles and miles of track had to be laid and the overhead wires strung before the cars could be put into operation. A great many local men worked on this but the bulk of the section hands were eastern European immigrants. These men, farmers and field workers in their native countries, tended to group together in the bigger cities. Instead of taking up government land, they lent their muscles and brawn to construction and railroad work. They could be seen, in the early morning hours on their way to work, a half of a long loaf of bread tied in a bandana on the end of a stick over their shoulder. When noon time came, they built a fire at whatever point their work had taken them and toasted this loaf of bread over it for their lunch.

Soon a network of these trolleys covered a great share of Oakland County and became a preferred method of travel. The ride was free of the usual soot that trains gave off and much smoother. Where a train had to be boarded at the depot, a trolley picked up any passenger that flagged a ride anywhere along the track. Fifty-five cents took you to Detroit in an hour and a half and a ride to Oxford was fifteen cents. These locals consisted of one car, usually with the rear section marked off for smoking, but there were express trolleys which stopped only at the villages that had a second car hooked on.

Many a Clarkston honeymoon couple took their wedding trips to Rochester or Oxford or Detroit via the trolley. College youngsters returning to Ypsilanti from here took the train or horse and buggy into Pontiac and from there boarded a trolley to Detroit. Here they transferred to another trolley that went all the way to Ypsilanti, the entire trip costing less than a $1.00. While the trolley didn't offer a dining car as the trains did, these plush seated cars were comfortable and quiet--and cheap.

Outside of a few brushes with livestock that insisted on wandering across the tracks, the DUR got through its first decade of operation with a minimum of trouble. Then a truly tragic accident occurred. It was summer and plans had been made for the Orangemen organizations in this area to meet in Detroit along with clubs from other towns. For these Ulster immigrants and descendants of the North Irish, this was a big event. They celebrated July 12 with as much fervor as they had in the old country. A group of them met in Flint and left from there early in the day. Some signals didn't get through properly and as a consequence the tracks weren't cleared in time for the special trolley. This express car collided with another trolley going north and thirty-four people were killed and many others injured. Despite this tragedy, the electric cars continued to service communities throughout Oakland County for many years.

Prior to the 1900's there were three lines running. The "Detroit and Northwestern" went into Farmington, the "Detroit and Flint" which could be boarded from Sashabaw Road and the "Detroit and Pontiac." In 1901 on January 1, the Detroit United Railway took over all lines. This was later the Eastern Michigan Railroads. Then, in 1939, in an effort to spur slackening business, the trolleys were bought up under the Eastern Michigan Transportation Company. By then however automobile ownership had become so wide spread that there were no longer crowds waiting at every stop; there were no longer 'trolley parties' where picnicking groups were dropped off at a park or woods and picked up later in the day, and there were no longer groups of housewives visiting the big city for shopping sprees via electric cars. It was in 1939 that the trolleys closed and ended an era of another day.

Our thanks to Mrs. Theodore Cleveland and Mr. Lee Clark for some of the information contained in this article.

An open letter from Joseph L. Hudson, Jr.

Dear Neighbor,

We'll be opening the new complete Hudson's Pontiac store in late July and I thought you'd be interested in its progress.

As you know, it's in the mall at Elizabeth Lake and Telegraph Roads. The actual construction is complete and we're in the finishing stages—putting up the fixtures and installing the carpeting.

Hudson's Budget Store is already in operation in its beautiful new setting on the lower level. When the new complete Hudson's opens in July, the lower level will also house such popular Hudson's services as the beauty salon, repair center, ticket service and photo studio.

The first floor is rapidly taking shape. Here you'll find fashions and accessories for everyone in the family. We think you'll be particularly pleased with the elegance of the Woodward Shops which are decorated in soft French hues that add a glow to the entire area. Almost all the fashion shops are finished—from the Junior High with its 1920 motif to Sportswear with its charming Early Americana. As a matter of fact, the artists from New York who did the hand painted murals finished just in time to get back home for Memorial Day.

Also complete are these first floor shops—the Pharmacy, Sporting Goods Center, Men's Store and a Pantry Shop that will have gourmet foods, a delicatessen and fine wines.

On the second floor work is equally well ahead. This is the complete home store with everything from a thumb tack to a freezer. You'll find many imports here, too, even superb paintings. Included on this floor are such famous Hudson's services as the Bride's Registry, Interior Decorating Studio and Home Modernization Center.

Just a few steps away on the second floor we're putting the finishing touches on an exciting restaurant. It's called The Pontiac Room and the stately wood-carved 6-ft. Indian who will be greeting guests at the entrance, is already standing patiently in place.

For your convenience, we'll also be adding parking facilities for an additional 2500 cars and expanding our delivery service to include more of your homes more often.

If you'd like to work at Hudson's Pontiac full or part-time, make it a point to apply as soon as possible at Hudson's Employment Office. You'll find it in Hudson's Budget Store on the lower level, open Monday through Saturday 9:30 a.m. to 9:00 p.m.

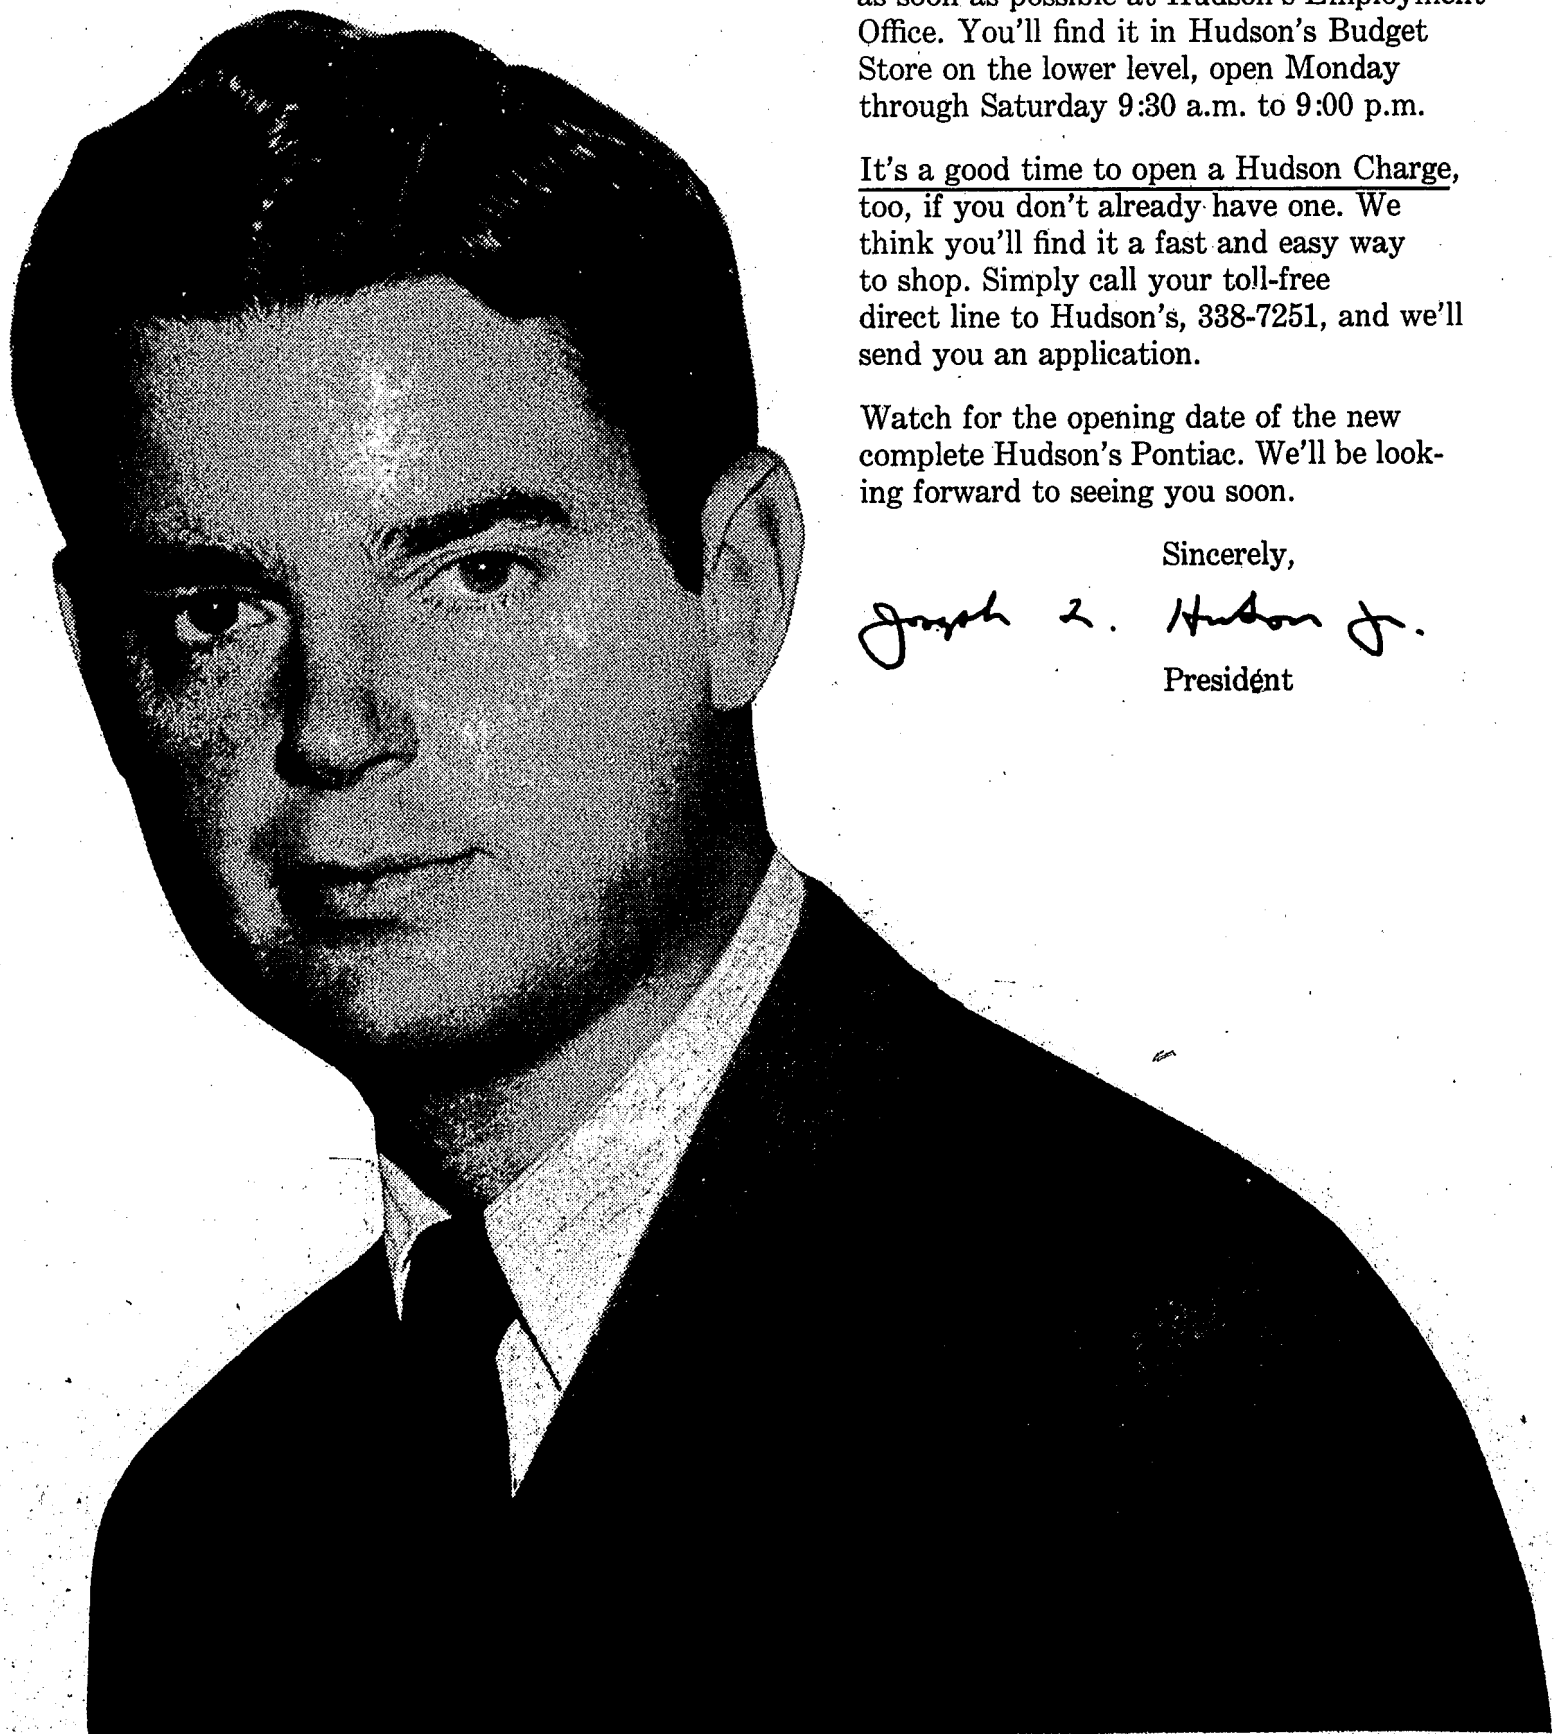

It's a good time to open a Hudson Charge, too, if you don't already have one. We think you'll find it a fast and easy way to shop. Simply call your toll-free direct line to Hudson's, 338-7251, and we'll send you an application.

Watch for the opening date of the new complete Hudson's Pontiac. We'll be looking forward to seeing you soon.

Sincerely,

Joseph L. Hudson, Jr.

Graduates Named to Blue Key

Two Clarkston students have been awarded membership to Blue Key for the 1966-67 academic year at Oakland Community College's Auburn Hills Campus. They are Yvonne Weir of 9540 Woodside and Brian Thorpe, 4715 Monterey.

Blue Key is a national service organization dedicated to the service of the school and the community and students are recommended for membership by the faculty. Criteria for admission are service, scholarship and citizenship, according to faculty advisor Marion Rice.

Our man with the Armed Forces

Because beer is such a favorite with service men, we brewers like to do all we can to keep its surroundings right. So USBA representatives serve as adviser members of the Armed Forces Disciplinary Control Boards throughout the country. These men from the USBA operate hand in hand with service and civilian police, with malt beverage licensees, public boards and committees: military, civil, professional. Object: to protect those who are underage, and to insure strict observance of the law.

We're proud of the work they do.

College week classes fit three needs

Classes offered to Michigan's homemakers through College Week for Women fall into three categories, according to June L. Sears, Extension Home Economist with the Cooperative Extension Service at Michigan State University.

"The annual event at MSU offers information for leadership and community development, home and family life in individual enrichment," June Sears said.

The week is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service, and is scheduled for July 25-28 this year. Homemakers who attend the entire session may register for three classes specially designed for them. The classes meet three times, and are taught predominantly by Michigan State University Staff members.

Topics of continuing interest to homemakers include: "Improving International Understanding," "Safe Food Handling Pays Off," "The Changing World of the Consumer," "Making Marriage and the Family More Meaningful," and "Art in the Home." Over 30 classes are offered for homemakers to choose from. Attendance is expected to top 1,000, June Sears said.

In addition to classes, the homemakers have an opportunity to attend special programs. Rounding out this year's theme, "Michigan Yesterday and Today," will be a pageant of Michigan history, written, costumed and presented by the homemakers themselves. This project has been in preparation since early 1967, June Sears noted. In addition, the homemakers will hear Robert Thom, a noted illustrator of Michigan history, and Dirk Gringhuls, current artist at MSU's museum.

The golfing greens of the Pine Knob Country Club are opening for the first season with Mr. Herb Schaefer, Manager-Treasurer, Mr. Gerald Savoie, President and Golf Pro, Mr. Gordon Booker extending their welcome to persons interested in joining the private club, located on Maybee Road. Mr. Booker will provide Golf Clinic services for any member requesting them.

The welcome mat is down for another new service to the community, this time the Town and Country Delicatessen at the North Pointe Plaza on M-15. Visitors to the shop, which also feature baked goods and other specialties will probably find one of the Poplawski family ready to serve them. Special Crab Spaghetti

The warm sea breezes of Sorrento, Italy, inspire this combination of time tested spaghetti sauce and newly found gourmet fare, Alaska King crab.

Italians, who created spaghetti sauce, begin by gently sauteing onion and garlic in olive oil. The aroma flourishes with the addition of marjoram and sweet basil. Nippy parsley completes the blend of herbs and all are simmered in a rich tomato sauce. As a variation on age-old Italian cuisine, Alaska King crab adds fresh ocean flavor that will delight even the most conventional Italians.

Crab Spaghetti Sorrento

2 (7 1/2 oz.) cans Alaska King crab or 1 lb. frozen Alaska King crab
 1/4 cup olive oil
 1 clove garlic, chopped
 1/2 cup onion, diced
 2 tablespoons minced parsley
 1/2 teaspoon dried marjoram
 1/2 teaspoon dried basil
 1 (1 lb. 12 oz.) can tomatoes
 1 (6 oz.) can tomato paste
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 1/2 pound spaghetti
 Grated Parmesan cheese

Heat olive oil in saucepan. Add garlic and onion and cook over low heat until golden. Stir in parsley, herbs, canned tomatoes and tomato paste. Add salt and pepper. Simmer for 45 minutes. Drain crab and slice into bite-size pieces. Add and heat through. Meanwhile, boil spaghetti in salted water until tender. Drain. Serve with crab sauce and pass grated Parmesan cheese. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

MLCC FINE

The Pine Cone Inc. located at 7777 Pine Knob Road has been fined $50 by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission. They were charged with selling to minors and minors consuming on the premises. This happened on January 14, 1967. The hearing was held in Lincoln Park on May 17 and the fine was due on June 26.

Michigan milk drinkers consume more than one billion quarts a year. Milk is Michigan's largest farm crop, worth more than $200 million a year to dairy farmers.

Dear Editor:

We like your paper very much. It is interesting and enjoyable to read, we also pass our paper on to another family in Detroit, (who are thinking of moving to Clarkston). They too, enjoy our friendly newspaper.

Sincerely,
Mrs. A. Klemm
P.S. Keep up the good work.

Fellow Citizens:

An article appeared in the Clarkston News on May 18, 1967 asking the approval of a 1/2 mill tax increase for an area Vocation-Technical Education program. This article was worded in a very confusing manner. I feel it says nothing but hints at many things to come financially.

First is the 1/2 mill increase for 1 year only, or a continuing increase, with a 1/2 mill added each year? It says a center will be built in each of four County quadrants. What quadrant are we in, and what other school systems are with us? Also it goes on to say programs and facilities, best handled in the local high school will not be duplicated at the center We

There have been many other activities outside of the classroom in the form of field trips for these children.

They have toured the Nye Dairy in Pontiac, have watched the assembly line at Pontiac Motors and have gone to the Detroit Zoo in Royal Oak. In addition there were two trips to Northland Shopping Center--one at Christmas time and another at Easter to see the special exhibits there.

To see farm animals in their own environment, they travelled to Upland Farms at Oxford. Numerous trips to area restaurants have been made so that the children would have a chance to practice etiquette and manners that they have learned. There was also a trip to the Shrine Circus and cook-outs at the Davisburg Park.

Mrs. Carmichael received her special education training at Michigan State University and her Masters Degree from Wayne State. Mrs. Torr helped to take the children to other school areas where the program had been adopted earlier prior to its opening here last year.

Bowling Banquet-a highlight for ten youngsters

By Faith Poole

An important event was observed in the lives of 10 Clarkston Area youngsters last Friday morning. They had their first bowling banquet at Howe's Lanes. In addition to the meal and fun, they received their awards for the culmination of the bowling season.

The unusual comes in the fact that these 10 youngsters have only just learned to bowl--to the families of many it was a far distant dream. They are members of the Type B Trainable Retarded Classroom at the Bailey Lake school. This type B classroom was just started in the Clarkston system last February. To some of these youngsters it is their first experience in any type of class room.

They have been bowling every Friday morning for the past 12 weeks. Every week they bowled 6 frames. The bowling program was carried on under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Diane Carmichael and her assistant, Mrs. Vera Torr. The use of Howe's Lanes was given to the youngsters by Les and Barb Howe for a very nominal fee--really more for the experience that each child had of paying for the privilege of playing and for the down to earth experience of handling money and making change.

The children progressed from complete inability to bowl to quite a degree of proficiency for others.

Points were accumulated as follows:

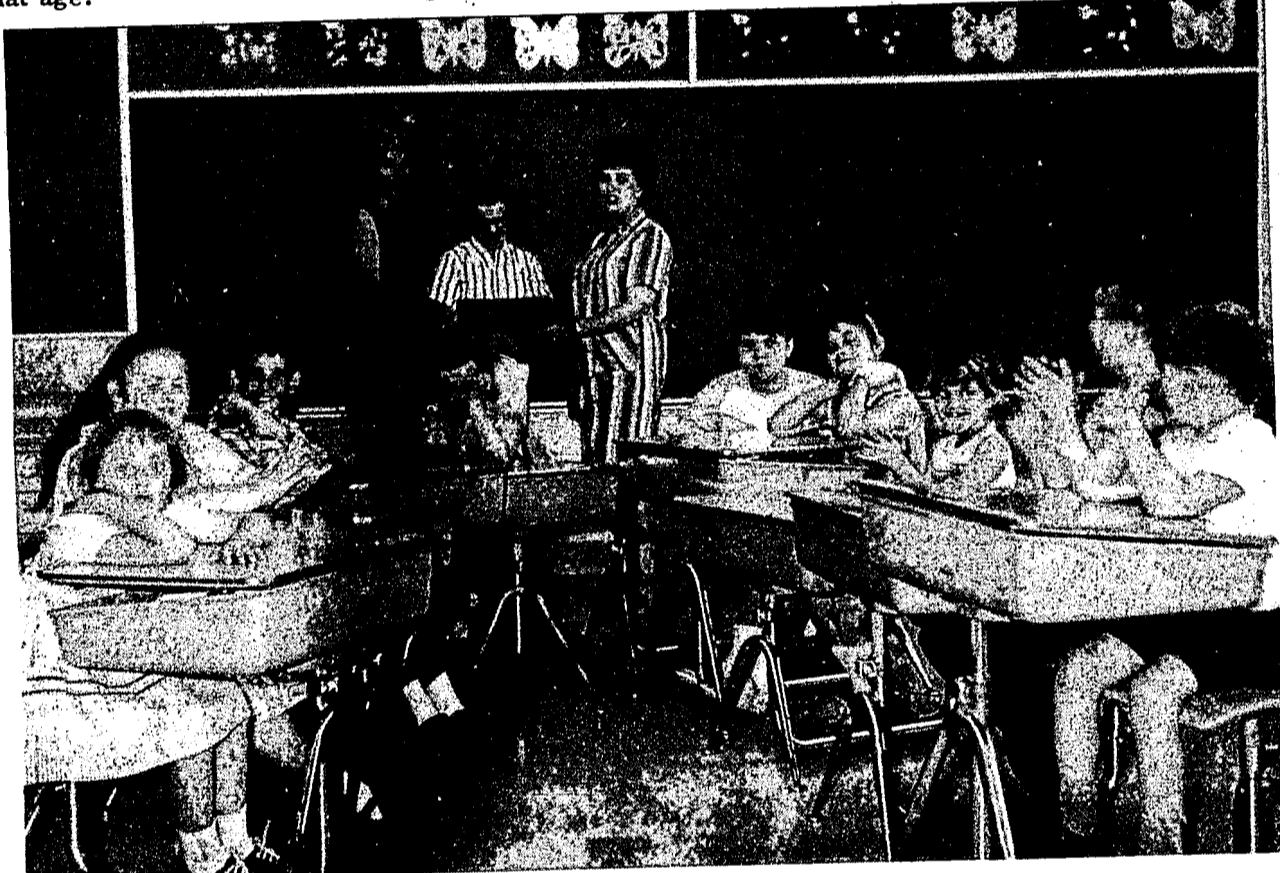

Dale Woodard	362
John Underwood	256
Mary Moore	245
Louise Sabato	240
Suzanne Ball	218
Kelly Newman	183
Bonnie Perigo	170
Gary Jones	117
Linda Frasier	87
Joey Sanders	50

All of these children are from the Clarkston area with the exception of Louise who is from Lake Orion and Gary who is from Ortonville. Two mothers assisted Mrs. Carmichael and Mrs. Torr. They were Mrs. Wallace Newman and Mrs. Edward Ball.

In analyzing the program, Mrs. Carmichael, the teacher feels that three very important goals have been reached. First, the children have discovered a life-long hobby that they can enjoy. Secondly, they have developed self-confidence because they can now participate in a hobby and sport that perhaps other members of their families have long since been doing. And they have taken part in an activity where they must conform to rules and etiquette that they learn daily in their class room. Lastly, the trip to the bowling alley has given them a chance to practice simple money management.

Their class day consists of one half day in school. There, they are taught social habits such as manners and grooming. It is the first school experience of any kind for eight of these children. Many of them will return to the same class room next fall. One 14 year old boy will go on to take part in the county program. There he will receive the vocational training which is available for any county child once they reach that age.

Mrs. Carmichael and Mrs. Torr proudly make their presentation to Dale Woodward, for his victory at the bowling alley last week. Dale accepted the certificate in exchange for having the highest accumulative score.

ing of an endorsement of this program by our school board. If they did I stand corrected.

In closing I would like to ask, Do you know what Section 307A to 324A of the School Code of 1955, as amended really says? Richard Yarbrough 5220 Maybee Road Clarkston, Michigan 8550 Pine Knob Road. Hosting the affair were their ten children with the exception of their son, Carl Jr. who is stationed in Vietnam. However, his wife, Mrs. Carl Wentz, Jr. of Pontiac assisted with the affair.

The affair which was held from 2-6 p.m. was in the form of an Open House. Buffet lunch was served to the assembled guests. The silver theme was used throughout the decorations and on the anniversary cake.

The couple were married on June 6, 1942 in Napoleon, Ohio and have resided in this area since their marriage. Mr. Wentz is employed at Pontiac Motors.

With the exception of Carl Jr. all of the children are at home.

Larry is in seventh heaven. He got his baseball suit yesterday, and is finally a full-fledged member of the neighborhood team.

He is the youngest one in the lot, and certainly the smallest. But he packs a great deal of leadership ability in that half-pint frame. We had not lived in our neighborhood one month, before he was bat boy and unofficial mascot. In just a few short weeks, morale improved. Two of the boys nicknamed, "Loudmouth" and "Fats" became "Speed" and "Lefty." The boys began to cooperate and play better as a team. They moved steadily upward in the league.

You can imagine what this did to our spirits. How proud we were, and yet humble too, for we knew we could not take complete credit for his sense of fair play. You see, he has been brought up in the Church as well as in our home. It's a wonderful feeling to realize that in such a few short years our son has shown the influence of Christian training.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Mr. and Mrs. James Fish with daughters Tawny and Tamara are home on Snow Apple Drive after a month's vacation in Florida. Mrs. Fish and her sister-in-law Mrs. Joseph Fish of Pontiac were able to get a head start with a Florida suntan, as they drove down a week before their husbands, who are brothers, drove down to join them. The families especially enjoyed the underground mermaid show at Weeki Wachee Springs, and Jim Fish was very proud of the three and a half pound Kingfish he caught while deep-sea fishing.

On Memorial Day a couple, Sue Allen from Holly and Phil Hunter from Warren, who will be married in August, picnicked with the Jim Fish family.

Finally home after a three and a half week's stay in Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital is Mr. Harold Hawkins of Snow Apple Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Barry of Plum Drive recently returned from a pleasant trip to Lee Summit, Missouri. While there they visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Honeycutt and sons Tim and Mike, who moved from Pontiac to Missouri nine years ago. A visit to the Truman Library and a shopping spree at Macy's in Kansas City highlighted the week's visit.

After attending the local parade Memorial Day Mr. and Mrs. Barry entertained Mr. and Mrs. Jack Phillip of Pontiac in the evening of playing euchre.

A cook out took place Memorial Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Butler and family Toole, Dutchie, Cindy and Tina with guests Ray's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Butler of Pontiac and Mrs. Dean Hetherington and sons Mark and Mike.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parker with Linda and Ron of Almond

Lane attended the weddings of two nieces the last two weekends. The first wedding uniting Kathy Vangeloff of Waterford and Thomas Stark of Lincoln Park took place at the Kingdom Hall in Waterford May 27th with the reception following at the Dublin Community Center in Union Lake. The marriage of Ruth Ann Pohl of White Lake Township and Donald Hoffman of Ortonville, took place at St. Patrick's Church in Union Lake June 3 with the reception following at the White Lake Township Community Hall. Ron Parker was an usher for his cousin Ruth Ann.

Mr. and Mrs. Cedrick Tyler with Gail, Don and Mike of Ascension and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Achten of Eston Road also attended the above weddings.

Baptized May 28th at Our Lady of the Lakes Church by Reverend Lawrence Kaiser were the twins Michael Francis and Theresa Ellen, children of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ruppe of Plum Drive. Sponsoring Michael by proxy were an uncle Mr. Chester Ruppe of Bloomington, Illinois, and an aunt Mrs. William Yoder of Minneapolis, Minnesota. Theresa's sponsors, also by proxy, were Dr. and Mrs. David Hoover of Omaha, Nebraska. Coffee and cake were served to relatives and friends following the service. During all the activity Bobby and Kathleen (also twins) especially enjoyed the attention of grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Ruppe who were visiting for the weekend from St. Joseph, Michigan.

Parents in the Almond Lane and Plum Drive area are watching for new cases of chicken pox since Karen Davis, Tina Whaley, Christy Crusinberry and Wendy Thompson just got over them.

The confirmation of Diane, the fourteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Humbert of Snow Apple Drive, took place at St. Stephens Lutheran Church May 14th. Guests for dinner at home after the service, besides sister Carol and brother Dale from Ferris College, were an uncle who is Diane's godfather, and an aunt Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Humbert of Pontiac, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Ford, and Mr. and Mrs.

given to volunteers, honoring them for their hours of service and assistance to agencies associated with the Fund.

One of Detroit's outstanding women speakers, Mrs. John Shada was the speaker for the affair.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Boy Scouts of Troop 105 have just recently taken part in the N. R. A. hunter safety course. Its purpose was to teach the boys how to handle firearms safely. The course was administered by Joseph Rath. The boys who received the instruction were: Jack Boyd, Howard Bliss, Alan Klein, Brent Agar, Bruce Agar, Al Watson, James Baker, Chuck Baker, Chuck Rowan, Murray Derryberry, and Dennis Pine. After the course was over, each boy was given a test. Those who passed will receive a patch and hunter safety certificate.

Troop 105 marched in the Clarkston Memorial Day Parade along with several other scouting units. Eighteen boys were present for the occasion with all but one wearing the complete scout uniform. Both Roger Derosia, carrying the American Flag, and Richard Calhoun, carrying the troop flag, did a good job as the color guard during the parade. Harold Schoff delivered the marching commands to the unit. Victor VanHenteryck, scoutmaster, and Richard Hagle and Dennis Pine, assistant scoutmasters brought up the rear.

Troop 105 is presently carrying on a within-the-troop archery contest. Approximately 15 scouts are taking part. The contest is being run under the supervision of Mr. Alfred S. Watson, at his home on the corner of Oakpark Street and Sunnyside.

Troop 105 is also getting up a softball team for its interested scouts for some friendly competition with other troops. We cordially ask any troop wishing to play our boys to please contact Dennis R. Pine at 625-2459.

Threat of Wolves' Extinction In State Seen By WSU Professor

DETROIT—State residents who are in the right place at the right time may chance to hear a most chilling sound—the call of a vanishing animal species in Michigan—the timber wolf.

Michigan is one of the last places in the U.S. where timber wolves survive. Those sighted have been in the Upper Peninsula, reports Wayne State University biologist, Prof. William Prychodko.

Most of Michigan's remaining wolves roam the Tahquamenon River Valley in northern Luce and Chippewa counties.

Packs have also been seen in the foothills of the Huron Mountains, in Marquette and Baraga counties. Sightings of strays have been reported in other counties during winter months.

Dr. Prychodko asserts there is a stable, breeding population of timber or grey wolves in Canada and Alaska but the packs of the Upper Peninsula, including Isle Royale, are few in number.

"The pack on Isle Royale of 15 or 20 has lived a stable existence for a number of years, but it is questionable whether UP wolves are reproducing normally. The Isle Royale population has remained nearly static since they crossed the ice from Canada in the 1940's," Dr. Prychodko says.

The Isle Royale wolves feed mostly on moose; the other UP wolves on deer, rabbits, grouse and small rodents. Fortunately, wolves rarely attack man.

Wolves prey mostly on old, weak or diseased animals, thus contributing to the health of game populations, Dr. Prychodko says. Protected by state and federal law, the wolves have decreased Isle Royale's moose population since the 40's and now the kill approximates the annual birth rate of the moose.

From 1838 to 1959, the bounties paid on wolves in Michigan totalled $164,000. The bounty was then abolished, and in 1965 an omnibus conservation bill became effective which, among other changes, makes it unlawful to kill a wolf at any time.

Protection for the wolf was a major legislative goal of the Michigan Audubon Society. The Audubon action was prompted by the shooting of a lone animal which once roamed east of Lake Gogebic in the western UP. Even under the protective legislation, says Dr. Prychodko, the timber wolf is in serious danger of extinction, except in Alaska and Canada.

A study in 1962 by the New York Zoological Society showed only 500 to 850 wolves surviving in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Montana.

The species has been exterminated throughout the rest of its former range or pushed by civilization into the wilderness of these four states.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service lists the wolf among rare and endangered American wildlife—the ranks of which include the whooping crane, black-footed ferret, bald eagle, grizzly bear, and Michigan's own Kirtland Warbler.
