Named residential chairman

Mrs. Carl Birkelo, 89 N. Holcomb has been appointed residential chairman of the Pontiac Area United Fund drive in Independence Township to be held in the fall. Her appointment was announced by Mrs. Robert C. Irwin, Pontiac, 1967 PAUF residential division chairman.

Mrs. Birkelo will head recruitment efforts to obtain some 200 workers during the next few months to call on area residents and local business firms during the 10-day drive scheduled for October 17-27.

Independence volunteers will join with some 1,300 women of the Pontiac area in efforts to provide support of the 55 agency services available to Independence residents included in the local drive. Other townships included are: Pontiac, Waterford, Orion, Oxford and Brandon.

Active in United Fund work during the past three years, Mrs. Birkelo has also served as an area chairman and neighborhood solicitor.

Last year Independence raised $5,944--an increase of 7% over the previous year.

Mrs. Birkelo said that among the 55 agency services available to area residents through the local drive, the Independence Citizen's Recreation Committee received $1,300 last year.

"The new Homemaker Service program available to area residents and the increased needs of the American Red Cross and USO for local boys in the Armed Services are particularly important to us this year."

Doctor's wife and mother of six, Mrs. Birkelo is a member of the Oakland County Medical Auxiliary, Calvary Lutheran Church and a former Cub Scout den mother.

She is a graduate of Mackenzie High School, Detroit and attended Highland Park Junior College.

Budget Hearing July 11

Township will have 3 more Precincts

Three additional voting precincts are to be created in Independence Township. The Board has given its approval to the purchase of 3 more automatic voting machines. They are to cost $1763 each plus 5% interest over a 3 year period.

Under the tentative plans, precinct 1 would be split creating a new precinct #8. Voting in those units would be done at the American Legion Hall on M-15.

The present precinct 4 would be divided, with residents living in the Greens Lake area being assigned to precinct 7. Precinct 4 voters would doubtless continue to vote at the Elementary School, but the new precinct 7 people would doubtless vote at the Junior High building.

Precinct 3 would be split to form precinct #6. Voters that would still be in #3 would continue to vote at the Fire Hall, but voters in #6 would doubtless vote at Bailey Lake School.

However these boundaries, divisions, and polling places are still tentative.

Last year's fall election found a goodly number of voters who had to stand in line waiting to vote during the busy hours. Township officials state that they would like to eliminate this waiting by the voters, and the fact that the population is expanding so rapidly in this area hastened their decision to get additional machines.

In other action, Supervisor Duane Hursfall reappointed Joseph Rhoades to serve on the Independence Township Planning Commission for a 3 year period with the term expiring on Dec. 31, 1969.

A pension plan which has been approved by the Michigan Township Association has been presented to the Township Board for its consideration. Burnham, Flower and Stoker Agcy. of Kalamazoo are handling the program. Individual board members now have copies to study before any action is taken.

July 11 is the date set for a Public Hearing in conjunction with the regular board meeting for the purpose of adopting the new budget for the new year.

A meeting held this Tuesday was held to finalize procedures and regulations regarding the operation of the Deer Lake Beach area. The fencing material arrived on Monday morning and the construction of the fence along White Lake Road was expected to start within a few days.

Annual meeting held

The annual meeting of the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance Committee was held on Monday evening at the Township Hall.

In addition to the annual installation of officers, Henry Schiffer, a Ferndale attorney was the speaker. "Crime Prevention" was the subject of his talk. Familiar with Assistance Groups' work, he is a member of the Ferndale city council.

Frank Tant served as Master of Ceremonies for the program and Township Supervisor Duane Hursfall installed the officers.

The Flag Ceremony was conducted by one of the Girl Scout Troops, Pastor Arlon K. Stubbe gave the invocation and a trio of girls, Debbie Head, Diane Wagner, and Sberal Mansfield provided music.

Miss Joette Schultz spoke to the group about a student's reaction to the Assistance program. Mrs. Richard Schouin presented the annual report for the group.

Guests present were Village President, Robert Wertman, Dr. L. F. Greene, Superintendent of Schools and Duane Hursfall, Township Supervisor.

Attending workshop

Brian DiPietro is attending a workshop in Creative Arts for high school students at Olivet College. The workshop is held from June 25th to July 15. Brian is interested in painting and drawing. Other students are taking classes in sculpturing and music.

July 4 parade to begin at 10 A.M.

Several of the Summer Recreation playground units are preparing floats for the 4th of July parade in the village. It is hoped that the parade scheduled for 10 A.M. will be one of the best and the biggest.

It will commence in the north end of town at Miller Road and M-15. Participants are urged to be there and ready to get in position at 9:30 A.M. John Ronk is the parade chairman. As is usual the parade is sponsored by the Independence Township Firemen.

Three cash prizes of $10 each will be offered. There

Named State Champs

A group of young Clarkston bowlers are a mighty happy bunch! They were named the State Champions in the Michigan Youth Bowling Association-Junior Division. They bowled in Benton Harbor on Sunday to gain the winning title.

The team which is sponsored by Howe's Lanes consists of Captain Mike Church, John Naumann, Dwight Conley, Bob Hodge, and Bill Hughson.

Thirty-six teams bowled in Benton Harbor that day. The Clarkston boys had previously won the Eastern Division title in Port Huron.

The boys bowled in the 12-15 age category.

will also be candy and treats for the kids.

Firemen are hoping that many clubs and organizations are planning to enter floats in the parade. The new Waterford Township Fire Truck which has never been used will be participating. There will also be antique cars, bicycle entries and about 18 cars of the Beattie Mustang Club. There are also 2 Reserve Units expected.

There will not be fireworks display this year in the village, however there will be a small display at Cranberry Lake, state the firemen.

At U.S. Naval Academy

L. Paul Hoxsie son of Mr. and Mrs. Llywellyn E. Hoxsie, 37 E. Washington, Clarkston, has reported to the U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Maryland as a member of the class of 1971. Paul reported there on June 28th.

Paul has been awarded the Naval Academy Foundation's Scholarship 1966-67 "Honor Scholar Award". Seven young men among the Seventy enrolled by the Foundation in nine cooperating Junior Colleges were selected for this honor on the basis of academic aptitude and achievement, leadership potential, physical fitness, and participation in extra-curricular activities.

He attended Oklahoma Military Academy in Claremore, Oklahoma during the 66-67 school year.

New group forming

Those interested are urged to attend and to hear more about the aims and purposes of the group.

De Longchamp heads Rotary Club

Paul DeLongchamp will become President of the Clarkston Rotary Club at the club's first meeting in July--the 10th. He succeeds Roy Haskins to that office.

Mr. Haskins will serve next year as Vice President. Other officers will be Charles Robinson, Secretary; Jess Berg, Treasurer; Earl Davis, Assistant Treasurer. Directors will be Lou Lessard, Tudor Apmadoc, Earle Davis and Bob Skarrett.

The Club Service Director will be Lou Lessard and Community Activities Director will be Bob Skarrett. Les Greene will head the Vocational Service Committee; Howard Keiff the International Service committee and Frank Ronk will be in charge of Community Service.

A.E. Butters will continue as the Chaplain and Music will be in charge of Charles Robinson. W.H. Stamp will continue to be in charge of the Rotary Bulletin.

The Rotarians are planning to enter a float in the July 4th parade. Activities of the Labor Day celebration are under the direction of the Rotary Club.

Jim's Jottings

Goodyear is making a big thing out of their tires being on the winning car at the Indianapolis 500. Well they should. It's the first time in my memory anything but Firestone won.

When I was in St. Johns helping Ink White lose money on the Clinton County News one of my accounts was Jack Rhynard, Firestone dealer. A month before the big race Jack would give me his ad that was to appear the week following the 500.

It would read "Firestone Wins Again at Indy. Firestone drives to victory on Firestone tires." After this went on for a couple years I asked Jack "How come?" He told me Firestone owned the track, for testing tires, and car owners and drivers had to agree to use Firestones to get in the race.

If this was true, what happened? Did the Firestone people get worried about Federal interference, monopoly, etc.?

Headley Donovan, editor-in-chief of Time magazine, speaking before New York University's graduating class this year said, in part, "Perhaps it will be this generation of university graduates, your generation, that could teach Americans how to be wrong."

That would be something. Few of us like to admit we erred, even when pinned down. Some of us have to admit it. When we come out in this black type with a statement that is wrong, we try to correct it as soon as possible.

sible. We don't do it reluctantly, but willingly.

Not so with some. Donovan was talking about the war in Vietnam. He said in a year or '2 it will become clear if the U.S. policy there will ultimately fail or succeed. Either outcome will bring about a kind of crisis of integrity in which powerful and influential people will have to consider the possibility of saying out loud that they were wrong.

Many of them have never tried it before, and it would not come easy for them. These are the kind that help widen the credibility gap. Instead of flatly admitting they were wrong they have developed through practice a smooth way of taking a new position without ever noting they once held quite the opposite view.

I suppose these people hope the saying, "memory of the public is short" is true. But there is another saying about people who do anything make mistakes. Of course, some guys like me use this for an excuse. I do so much I make more mistakes than the average, but my percentage is better than average.

Regardless, I think Mr. Donovan has made a good point. "The ability to be wrong is not taught today at any major American university. To master the subject all it takes is courage, honesty, self respect, grace--and sometimes a sense of humor helps," he said.

Saying this is easy, but putting these essentials into practice everyday seems to lie beyond too many people. Like Donovan I, too, hope the present generation will make the effort to master the subject and learn the art of being wrong.

U.S. homeowners lose over $335,000,000 from fire, National Fire Protection Association figures show... The headaches and heartaches of fire destruction in the home are incalculable.

Lutheran Art, U.S.A. to be shown in Flint

"THE SIGN OF THE FISH," an experimental service to travelers, will be in operation over the long Fourth of July weekend. Calvary Lutheran Church in Clarkston is one of thirty LCA congregations distributing information about this unique service center to be located just off I-75 and M-23 at Salem Lutheran Church, 2610 Detroit Street, in Flint.

The center will be open from 9 a.m. until 8 p.m. over the holiday weekend, and will close at 10 p.m. on Friday, Sunday, and Tuesday evenings. Coffee conversation, a supervised play area for young children, and the only Michigan showing of LUTHERAN ART: USA will be available to give the traveler an interesting rest break.

LUTHERAN ART: USA is a special collection of 35 works by 21 artists in all media. The spirit of each work is captured by a large detailed photograph and shows how congregations have used every means possible to express the Christian faith. For the traveler who has time for more than a simple rest stop, there will be continual showings of these films: "Parable," from the Protestant pavillion at the New York World's Fair; "A Time For Burning," an award-winning film produced with the hidden camera to show how a church faces the issues relevant to its community; and "Men For Others," a National Educational Television film showing the church in action in communities around the world. Be sure to spend a few well-filled moments at Salem, Flint any day or evening from June 30 through July 4.

July 15 is St. Mary's Fair

St. Mary's Annual Country Fair will again be held on the third Saturday in July (July 15) this year on the church grounds, 2512 Joslyn Road at Greenshield.

The fair booths will open at 10:00 A.M., and the Country Auction, offering all sorts of timely items donated by the church members and their friends, will begin at 12:00 o'clock Noon. All sorts of snacks will be available on the grounds as well as homemade foods including baked goods, salad dressing, exotic teas and jams.

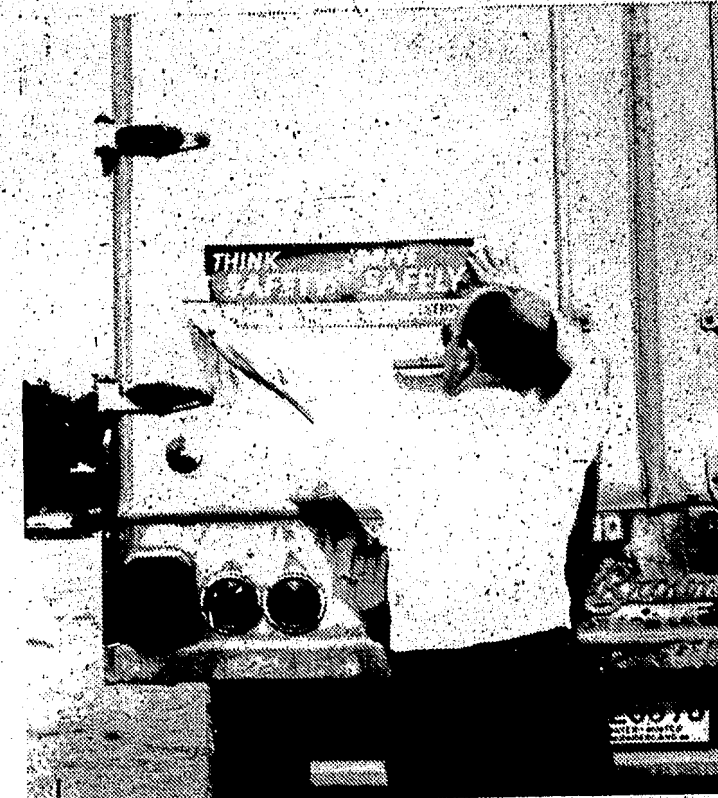

A wide variety of merchandise, as well as the excellent assortment of next-to-new clothes and household items for which the fair is famous, will be found in the booths.

There will be entertainment for young and old and, from 5:00 P.M. until 7:00 P.M., a ham dinner will be served in the undercroft.

The living room and kitchen are the rooms where three of every five home fires get their start, according to the National Fire Protection Association. At Spring Clean-Up time pay special attention to eliminating fire hazards in these rooms of your house.

50 years ago, 1 of every 10 babies died during its first year. Today, infant mortality has declined to 1 in 40 babies. Much credit belongs to new drugs that conquer infant diseases that once meant certain death. That's why today's prescription is the biggest bargain in history.

Be ready to say "charge it" when Hudson's opens

The opening date's set. We're right on schedule. And we can hardly wait to open your new complete Hudson's Pontiac Thursday, July 27. We've so many fascinating shops to show you, so many popular Hudson's services for your convenience. So, if you don't already have a Hudson's Charge, take time now to read about the many advantages it means for you.

Shopping's more convenient. You don't have to carry a lot of cash. If you suddenly see something you want or need—you don't have to wait, you can shop on the spot.

This is especially important when you want to make multiple purchases and you don't want to pay for them all at once.

Not only that, you can actually save money by using your Hudson Charge. Take advantage of special prices and sale reductions. Stock up on things you know you'll need—such as soaps, cosmetics and linens—when you find them at prices lower than usual.

What's more, Hudson Charge customers often receive advance notice of many sale opportunities not advertised any other way.

Then, too, it's so easy to shop by phone or mail when you have a Hudson Charge.

If you see something you want in our ads or booklets, call your Hudson toll-free number, 888-7251, simply say "charge it"

Plus—a Hudson Charge is handy identification and an excellent credit reference as well.

Best of all, you can use it as a conventional 30-day charge and pay the full amount each month (if you do this, there's no service charge) . . . OR, you can use it as a practical budget plan and pay as little as a quarter of your balance each month (for this convenience, you pay only a small service charge).

So, be ready to say "charge it" when Hudson's opens Thursday, July 27. Send us this coupon and we'll mail you an application . . . or come in or call Hudson's Pontiac Credit Department, Elizabeth Lake and Telegraph Roads.

I would like the convenience of

The Protest

On March 9th, at 9:05, I left San Francisco very much alive, bound for a land I knew little about.

Not only bugs and heat but a short little guy with mud on his feet.

He wears black pajamas and a rice paddy hat. They call him, Charlie, now how about that!

He sits in a tree a gun in his lap, and if that doesn't work he'll set a trap.

While back in our country is a brand new fight, striking our country with a sickening blight.

Come on gang let's march at dawn, we can post our signs on the White House lawn.

We are the ones who own this nation, let's start right now without hesitation.

"God is Dead" is the theme for today, let's start right now without delay.

All grow beards and wear dark glasses, wear ragged clothes and cut our classes.

What are we proving by this war? What are our men dying for? (STOP RIGHT THERE)

Where I come from these are the cries from an ignorant being.

I am an Air Borne Trooper, yes it's true, I hate to see good men die for you.

Out in the swamp where I come from, we don't get out until the fighting is done.

All the troopers say it's no fun to protect you life with a little black gun.

So go on protest and speak. Speak to protect the yellow streak.

But while you speak use some realism---Would you like to live under Communism?

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

The whole trouble with men is that they are not vain enough. Women spend most of their time primping up. It doesn't do them much good and they are called Broads.

Most of the women are slobs. They wear wigs, falsies, contact lenses, false teeth, foundations, make-up, rouge, weird lipsticks, stinking perfumes, powders, hair curlers, and ridiculous and crazy clothes. They giggle, are fat, wear clownish eye make-up, have varicose veins, use hair bleaches and dyes and are sneering, bossy, immoral, arrogant, snooty and have onery dispositions.

Jim certainly does not think much when he writes his column.

Sincerely yours,
James Irey
Wyandotte

Dear Mrs. Lektzian:
I was interested to read your column "Another Day" relative to Esidore Jossman in the June 1st issue.

(NOTE: Until the June 29 issue, Jim Fitzgerald will be vacationing at his villa in Lum. To fill this space, he has swiped the summer ferun-idea from TV. The 3 old columns were prize winners in state or national contests).

JULY 12, 1962

The wife is in the kitchen, the husband is in the living room, the kids are in the family room, and the dog is on the patio. But they can all see and hear each other. That's modern architecture.

You can have it. Give us an old fashioned home where you don't have to lock yourself in the bathroom to gain a little privacy. Give us a home with walls of plaster, not glass. Give us a home where a buffalo could roam without getting his snout stuck in a shadow box.

Recently we read about the "American Home of the Immediate Future" which is getting much attention at the Seattle World's Fair. It sounds as if it would give a goldfish a nervous breakdown. A mother who let her family run loose in this model structure later gushed to the architect:

You mentioned Mr. Jossmans purchasing the general store and produce business from a Captain John Knox in 1864.

My grandfather was a Captain John Knox serving in the 5th Michigan Infantry (later acquiring a Major's Commission.) We were unaware that he owned a business in the village of Clarkston at that time, although it could have been a possibility. I would appreciate any further information you have at your command regarding this transaction and am curious to know if it could be my grandfather. He had 2 sons John and Charles Knox (twins) who were raised by a paternal Uncle and Aunt (William and Martha Knox) on a farm in Springfield Township following the death of their mother in childbirth.

Was this article based on research of the early history of Clarkston in a book owned by Harold Goyette's wife's great grandfather, Henry Hoyt? I understand such a book is in the hands of Mrs. Earl Terry at this time.

I would very much like to have further details.
Jeannette Knox Atkins

Camp for the deaf

A camp for the deaf and hard of hearing is to be held at Grass Lake, Michigan from August 6-13, 1967. The camp is for children, young people and adults. However, children under nine years of age must be accompanied by an adult. The camp is sponsored by the Michigan District Council of the Assemblies of God. However, deaf people from all churches are welcome and invited to attend.

Campers may attend for the full week or for any part thereof. Many activities will be provided, including recreation, handicraft, etc. All deaf or hard of hearing persons are welcome and are invited to attend.

For a free brochure giving further information, write to: Ray L. Jones, 36970 South Huron, New Boston, Michigan 48164.

"It was wonderful. Wherever they were, we could always keep an eye on the kids."

Who needs it? We're as goofy about our kids as any other parent but, let's face it, there's much truth to the old cliché. "Absence makes the heart grow fonder." We like to know where the kids are but we also like to know where they aren't. And many times, where they aren't, we are—on purpose.

Too many architects have been hypnotized by Togetherness. They think members of a family should be in constant touch with each other. If Ma is cooking, Pa is reading, and the kids are fighting, none of them should enjoy blessed isolation. Nuts.

In our house, there's nothing between the kitchen and living room except some two-way shelves full of plants which the cat knocks over every day. We're sure that the architect thought this arrangement would improve domestic communications. It does.

Pat doesn't have to open a pesky door to tell us to turn down the hi-fi so she'll be able to hear the timer on the stove. She just has to yell. Of course, if there were a door and a wall between us, she couldn't hear the hi-fi in the first place. But the architect didn't think of that.

This merger of kitchen and living room is really lovely when there's cabbage for dinner. Phew. And it gives us a feeling of security to always know when the refrigerator goes on and off. Our wife's sewing machine is in the kitchen and it also makes delightful noises we'd be happy not to hear.

Often we shut our eyes and day-dream of striding forcefully to the kitchen border, grabbing an open door with a manly fist, and slamming it shut with a fearful crash. There is nothing more satisfying than slamming a door in anger and nothing more frustrating than having no door to slam.

We couldn't afford a completely modern home, thank God. There are doors on our bedrooms and we have none of those sliding glass walls which invite all the world to see the holes in your socks.

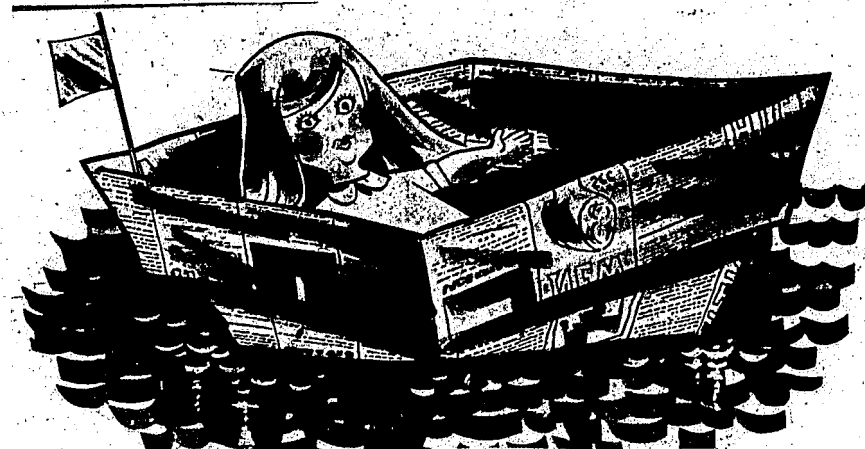

But we are lousy with huge windows, which are the next worse thing. The idea, of course, is to "let in the wonderful outdoors." Every woman wants to be surrounded by glass so she can buy $2,500 worth of draperies to cover it up.

The only time the outdoors gets in is when the drapes are down for house-cleaning.

In cases of average and low-priced homes, the modern architect and builder merge the rooms and "let in the outdoors" in an effort to mask the fact that the house is too damn small. A fair-sized family would be cramped in the shoe-box living room, so a dining area is tacked on. There's a washer and dryer in the "family room" and a ping pong table in the utility room.

We grew up in a square house that could have been designed by anyone with a pencil and a straight ruler. By today's "California Contemporary" styles it was ugly. But we loved it. There were many big rooms and each one had four walls, a sensible window or two, and one door. There was an upstairs (not a level) and whatever happened to them? When we were a kid, people lived downstairs and slept upstairs and that still seems like a mighty sensible idea.

Seven persons lived in that old house but it was possible, by God, to walk inside and not know if anyone was home. You couldn't always keep an eye on the kids and it was wonderful.

Ripples from the Pool

By Faith Poole

The poem written by the soldier in Vietnam used as our editorial feature this week is one furnished the News by the mother of Spec./4 Jerry L. Hobson who is stationed with him in Vietnam.

It was off to Baltimore, Maryland for several area couples on Sunday morning. They are in that eastern city attending the National Jaycee convention—last year it was close by, in Detroit to be exact. Next week should see a report from some of those participating including the announcement of plans for next year's which will be in the West.

While Rustie Leaf spends time with her family this summer, our daughter Alyce takes over the advertising end of the News. Biggest problem she had this week was what to do with over 12 pages of ad copy, but not enough for 16, yet the press will print only in multiples of 4. Count your pages this week for the answer to the riddle! Alyce, who did the advertising run last summer too is surprised at the number of new businesses that have sprung up in the 9 1/2 months that she has been away at school.

The Firemen happily report that it has been very quiet for them for the past several days. Numerous rains have surely put a damper on grass fires.

It was most interesting to talk to Trooper Chartier about his new tracking dog, but when he offered to introduce me to "Yul" who work only 1 hour and 26 minutes to provide for our housing, 1 hour and 14 minutes for food and tobacco, 40 minutes for transportation, 30 minutes for clothing, 19 minutes for recreation, and 21 minutes for medical expenses. All other expenses take up only 1 hour and six minutes of our day.

Our thanks to Connie Lektzian for hurrying in with some more of her material when we realized we were going to have to go extra pages.

Summer recreation

Activities for the young

Youngsters gather around Priscilla Wice at Sashabaw.

Karen Caldwell works on painting with a youngster at Andersonville.

The full summer recreation program for Independence Township is in full swing. Recreation centers are set up in three schools in the district and seven baseball fields are being used at the Junior and Senior High Schools.

In 1966 2,000 youngsters took advantage of the programs offered and it is expected the number will increase this year. This program, which has been running 12 years, is financed through the Independence Township Board under their recreation department and is governed by a 9-member board. Prior to that it was done on a voluntary basis with public donations.

Serving on this board as president is William Mansfield, vice president, LeRoy Davis, and secretary Jane Butters. Filling out the board are: Edmund Gunter, Duayne Fife, Jack Hess, Robert Pearson and Richard Warren.

They have appointed Harry "Bud" McGrath as recreation director, a post he has held for 2 years.

Assisting Bud as playground director in the handicraft area is Cathy Richardson.

board of education one room at three schools plus their playground has been made available for a morning program.

Directing activity at the Andersonville School is Karen Caldwell, Joette Schultz is at the Junior High and Nancy Wice is at Sashabaw. They include practically every activity except swimming in their program, such as various arts and crafts, group games and Tball. Also offered during the day are tennis instruction by Mark Erickson. Free lessons are given daily at the high school courts.

An intramural softball league is another summertime program, however the recreation department participated only to the extent of supplying umpires.

In the evening the young baseball players go into action. Beginning at 6:00 seven fields are made available. Two are at the Junior High and five at the senior high. Games are played Monday through Thursday.

Helping Bud coordinate this program is John Heald. Through his Clarkston Sporting Goods store players are signed prior to the season, uniforms ordered and equipment provided where needed.

Since the baseball fields are not lighted only one game is played each evening.

A lighted field is one of the goals of director McGrath. He said, "We have a fine summer recreation program now, offering activity to hundreds of youngsters, but it could be made better by having a larger recreation center with lighted ball fields. This is something I'd like to see, but, of course, it takes money and time to get these things."

Joette Schultz pours Kool-Aid on a hot day at the Junior High.

The Clark and Walter families--early village settlers

When Sarah Clark Walter left her home in central New York in 1836 for the long journey to Michigan, she carried in her arms tiny three week old Emeline. It was already September, not a good time to start westward. Jacob Walter, knowing the discomfort of the trip ahead, had delayed their departure as long as possible.

This migration to the western state of Michigan had been in the planning for several years, at a time when Sarah and Jacob had only small Julia to consider. Sarah's father and uncle Nelson and Jeremiah Clark and their families had already left New York and settled in Detroit where they had a store and a bakery.

Not finding city life to their liking, Nelson and his brother had bought land in Independence. They later bought and enlarged the saw mill that stood in the center of the village. In late fall of 1836, when an exhausted Sarah finally arrived at the little settlement with her husband and two daughters, it was to find her own family already firmly established. They were in fact, held in such high esteem that the village was named Clarkston in their honor.

Samuel Walter, with a thriving silversmith shop in England, had hoped to persuade his son to stay in his mother country. Jacob, at twenty-one, was possessed with the same fever for adventure and travel that seemed to sweep over the world's young people at that time and he had a dream of carving out a new life in America. In those times, whole families would sometimes emigrate together, but in Jacob's case, inclinations and fortunes deemed otherwise, and he sailed to New York alone.

Sarah's family, with their close-knit affection for one another, were a help to Jacob. He left his young wife and babies with them while he spent the weeks remaining before winter in looking for land for them to settle on. Finally, on section 8, two miles north of the village, he found what he wanted.

It was here that Sarah and Jacob settled down to the life of pioneering, different only in the respect that they weren't as lonely as many of the settlers with her family so close to them, and perhaps they were a little more prosperous. In time their family numbered eight children and they impressed on them the vital necessity of a good education. All of them attended the nearby schools and then in time, a private academy run by Professor Cochran. This school had been built by their grandfather, Nelson Clark and was later sold to the district as a public school.

Sarah and Jacob knew the sadness of losing two of their daughters. In July of 1845, both of Sarah's parents passed away. When their youngest son was born two years later, he was named Nelson for his grandfather.

Nelson Walter had what was described as an Englishman's love of the land and farming. He had an apple orchard that covered 20 acres and was a highly successful sheep farmer. Over the years he served as the highway commissioner and for ten years was a member of the School Board. Perhaps it was while he was serving in this capacity that he met Josephine Ainsworth, a young and attractive high school teacher with an amazing talent for handling young people and their problems. After their marriage they spent about ten years on their farm. Then, leasing the land to tenants, Nelson built a house in the village, considered at that time one of the most beautiful and convenient homes in Clarkston from where he continued to manage his farm. This house still stands today, occupied by Nelson's second son.

THE DIMENSIONS OF LIBERTY

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Have you ever taken her measure?
— from base to torch: 151' 1"
— from heel to top of head: 111' 1" length of hand: 16' 5" index finger: 8' 0"
finger nail: 13" x 10"

But these are the dimensions of a statue only. The dimensions of liberty are greater.

And one of these is faith in God!
The desire to worship faithfully and freely according to the dictates of one's own conscience inspired the birth of our Nation.

And to this day, every hymn, every prayer, every act of reverence and service and sacrifice which flows from our hearts toward God...

We have examined the statements of assets and liabilities on a cash basis, of the various funds of the Township of Independence as of March 31, 1967, and the related statements of cash receipts and disbursements and fund equities for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, the accompanying statements of assets and liabilities and the related statements of cash receipts and disbursements and fund equities present fairly, on a cash basis, the financial position of the various funds of the Township of Independence as of March 31, 1967, and the results of operations for the year then ended in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Very truly yours,

"Yul", new tracking dog for Trooper Chartier

A beautiful black German Shepherd dog has come to the Richard Chartier home on Peach Drive to live. Trooper Chartier, who is stationed at the Pontiac Post of the State Police is the trooper-handler for this tracking dog. Fourteen weeks of intensive training for the dog and handler have just been completed.

"Yul" who is two years old replaces "Hans" a five year old German Shepherd who was accidentally killed by a car last fall on I-75. "Hans" had been with Chartier for 3 years.

The training program which began March 27 was done primarily in the Houghton Lake Area. It was done under the supervision of Cpl. Richard H. Abbott of the East Lansing post.

"Yul" was given to the State Police by August Schiner of Southfield. Mr. Schiner had read a newspaper account of the loss of Chartier's dog and offered this one as a replacement.

The training consists of conditioning the dog, teaching him to search buildings, to chase and hold, training him in a basic obedience course. He is also taught to protect his handler, to chase and hold, to look for lost or stolen property, to free search (by following a human scent) and is also taught crowd control.

Two of the primary uses of these dogs is to hunt for missing persons and escaped fugitives.

Six teams of trooper-handlers and tracking dogs were involved in the training program. They will be assigned to State Police Posts at Cheboygan, Bay City, Marquette, Battle Creek and Brighton. Two team locations are new, Brighton and Battle Creek, the others are replacement teams. Teams already on active duty are located at East Lansing, Ionia, Flat Rock, Flint, Jackson, PawPaw, Mt. Pleasant, Grand Haven, Houghton Lake and Marquette.

Trooper Chartier has been stationed at the Pontiac Post for the past four years. Prior to that he was at East Lansing.

Ferris students are wed Saturday

White glads flanked the altar at the Christ Lutheran Church in Waterford for the wedding of Sue Ellen Kirby and Steven Kyle Parrott on Saturday, June 24. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd G. Kirby, 6465 Lakeview, Clarkston and her husband is the son of the Bernard P. Parrots of 5995 Middle Lake Road, Clarkston. Pastor Arlon K. Stubbe performed the six-thirty double ring ceremony before 225 guests.

A Clarkston High School graduate and sophomore at Ferris State University, the bride chose a white silk organza peau ange lace appliqued gown accented with fine seed pearls on the bodice and skirt. Her chapel length train was detachable and her veil of silk illusion was shoulder length.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade fashion of white roses, lily of the valley and a white orchid.

Mrs. Michael Mathews served as matron of honor wearing a yellow silk chiffon gown. The empire styled dress was trimmed with white daisy appliques. Other maids, dressed identically, were Caroline Giles, Catherine Lessard and the groom's sister Linda Parrott.

The groom, also a Clarkston graduate and a junior at Ferris chose as his best man his brother, Jon Parrott. Mark Parrott, another brother, Daniel Larkin, Paul Hinkley and Michael Mathews were other attendants.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the Pine Knob Country Club. The bride's mother received guests wearing an aqua street length, sheath dress featuring a lace bodice.

Her accessories were matching and her corsage was of pink cymbidiums. Mrs. Parrott wore a powder blue dress embroidered with pearls. Her accessories were also matching and her corsage also pink cymbidiums.

The newlywed couple took a honeymoon trip to Grand Traverse Bay and will return to their college study at Ferris in the fall.

Reception honors couple married in Providence, R.I.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Steel entertained at a wedding reception on Saturday June 17 in honor of their daughter and son-in-law, Lieutenant and Mrs. Robert Dee Curtis.

Will live in Oscoda following honeymoon

Frances Ellen Hungerford spoke her wedding vows to Daryl L. Kay at Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church Saturday evening, June 23. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert W. Hungerford of 5607 Warbler Drive in Clarkston and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth V. Kay of 6465 Waldon Road.

The Reverend Father Frederick J. Delaney officiated at the 7:00 o'clock service. The altar was decorated with white gladiolus and lilac mums for the candlelight double ring ceremony.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of white silk organza. It was trimmed with alencon lace accented with seed pearls. A cluster of pearls held her elbow length bouffant veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of lilac mums interspersed with white gladiolus.

Mrs. Michael Stevens was Matron of Honor for her sister while Cynthia Ann James of Waterford and Mrs. Ingo Zietlow of Clarkston were her other attendants. The honor attendants all wore gowns of lilac.

Serving as best man was Michael Stevens, brother-in-law of the groom. The ushers were Michael Crowley and Berry Fortin.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Pine Knob Golf and Country Club. Following a honeymoon in Northern Michigan and Canada, the couple will make their home in Oscoda.

Cleveland, Ohio, where Elizabeth will stay with her other sister and husband Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCurry. Accompanying Mrs. Stark for the two day trip were Mrs. Richard Brown and Mrs. Allan Biehl.

Celebrating her first birthday Thursday was Stacey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Achten of Eston Road. Naturally, grandma Mrs. Robert Parker of Almond Lane baked her granddaughter her own cake, which Stacey managed to consume the most of while creating a slight mess.

Travelling to Expo for two days and then to Northern Canada for a week were Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Lucke and Mr. and Mrs. William Lash of Almond Lane. The two couples camped out while at Expo and claim the attraction was great. They were not the least disappointed and highly recommend everyone to go. The American Pavilion was very impressive, although all of Expo was extremely interesting. After the trip Mr. and Mrs. Lucke with Debbie and Denise helped Mr. and Mrs. Lash with Darlene and Brian move from Almond Lane to Columbus, Ohio.

By the way, Jeffrey Stark did not escape chicken pox as was stated in the last issue--he is now recovering after getting them Monday.

A birthday party in honor of Theresa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cassin of Almond Lane, was held last Sunday. Helping Theresa celebrate were a great grandmother Mrs. Laura Cassin, grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cassin of Pontiac and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bundry of Berkley. Also there were aunts Colleen and Helen, uncles George and Walter and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bundry of Lansing. Besides the lovely cake that mother baked and decorated with three candles, Theresa especially enjoyed her new swing set with a slide.

Moving to Arkansas from their home on Flemings Lake Road are Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ball with Lewis, Jr., Larry, Dennis and Deborah Lynn.

An outdoor barbeque was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Davis on Almond Lane in honor of Mr. Davis' brother and family Mr. and Mrs. James Davis with Norma and Gregg who just returned from two years in Ecuador. Their other son John returned a year ago to attend a naval school. He took his grandmother Mrs. Pearl Davis from the barbeque to Wisconsin to continue her three months' vacation from Florida. Several people attended the picnic including Mrs. Don Papinger with her four children and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Davis with Bobby and Sharon from Pontiac. Surely Dennis, Pam, Linda and Pattie will be wanting to go to Hawaii now, where their uncle and aunt will be staying for the next two years at Honolulu.

Recently back from a six day trip to Alaska sponsored by the Birmingham and Oakland Travel Bureau, for which she is an agent, is Mrs. John Womack of Shelley Drive. Several area agents were sent in order that they can plan customer's trips and tours with knowledge and more confidence. The group flew first to Seattle on a Northwest Airliner Wednesday and were guests of the Chamber of Commerce on a boat-trip visit to an Indian Village called Tillum Village, where salmon was baked over an open fire and served. Thursday the group took an Inaugural Flight to Anchorage. The stewardesses on the flight were in beautiful red velvet gay-ninety outfits. At Anchorage the agents toured the earthquake area and were very impressed with the remodeling that has been done. A trip to Katzebue, the second largest Eskimo village, was Friday's fare. Before reaching the village by crossing the North Pole, each person was given an authentic parka to wear and definitely needed it. An Eskimo blanket toss and the Eskimo dances were very interesting to watch. At Nome on Saturday the agents couldn't pan for gold as the mine was closed, and slushy snow prevented a dog sled ride, so they went to Fairbanks which is a very modern town and toured the nightclubs depicting the gay nineties during the 24 hours of daylight. A bus tour of points of interest Sunday in Fairbanks included the University of Fairbanks and the grounds of the centennial, which was due to open in four days. Here the residents have recreated a working gold mine and an Eskimo Village with inhabitants performing daily routine tasks. On Monday the agents with Mrs. Womack returned to Detroit very exhausted but much educated after flying in eleven different planes in the six days.

Meeting was held at the Goodrich Community Hall. Mrs. Christine Gulick was hostess last Friday evening for luncheon and cards for Mrs. E. Young, Mrs. F. Hubbard and Ada Scrace.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Jones of North Holcomb entertained a group of the Jones family on Friday to honor Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Jones, Sr. who have sold their local home and will be making their permanent home in Northern Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. John Skarritt III, of Drayton Plains were hoping that they would become parents on their anniversary May 10 but Julie Lynn arrived May 24 upsetting their plans for a joint celebration. Julie Lynn weighed 7 lbs. 10 ozs. at birth: Mr. and Mrs. John (Jack) Skarritt of Clarkston and Mr. and Mrs. Kismet Wright of Georgia are the grandparents. Mr. Kim Skarritt and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ash of Seymour Lake are Great Grandparents.

VISITS ROSE FESTIVAL

Seaman William P. Piper, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Piper of 2769 Raven Glass, Waterford, visited Portland, Oregon during that city's annual Rose Festival, as a crewman aboard the Pacific Fleet guided missile frigate USS King.

Observing the Rose Festival is the way citizens of Portland mark the arrival of spring. This year the Festival ran from June 8 through June 12.

Dating back to 1905, the community celebration includes parades, dances, and the appearance of well known personalities. The week-long program climaxed by the crowning of a Rose Festival Queen.

Ships of the Pacific Fleet have traditionally represented the Navy at Portland's yearly event. This year, 13 Navy ships visited Portland and held "open house" to acquaint the people of the Pacific Northwest with their Navy and its ships.

HEALTH

By Albert E. Heustis, M.D. Director
Michigan Department of Public Health

Just the other day I was asked by an acquaintance of mine if I thought Michigan had enough water. He had been reading a great deal about serious water shortages that had occurred in other parts of the country. He was frankly worried that our state might be facing a water shortage problem like some of our coastal states are and wanted to know what was being done to guarantee our water supply.

My answer to him was that Michigan, as a whole, has an ample supply of water. Our Great Lakes constitute a source that is practically inexhaustible, and our inland rivers also provide water that is used by some municipalities in the state. In addition, many states would be envious of the well-water potential in many Michigan locations. But that's not to say the whole picture is rosy. We do have our problems.

Ground water--that is, water we get from wells--has served as an adequate supply in the early development of an area, but has become insufficient in some cases as the population of that area continued to increase. Some communities are abandoning their wells, and drawing water from local rivers or the Great Lakes, or entering into contracts with their neighbors. But on the other hand, other cities have found that efficient handling of ground water supplies will enable them to count on these sources for years to come.

Surface water--that is, water we get from rivers and lakes--continues to supply the largest volume for our municipalities, most from the Great Lakes. Cities have proved that they can draw water from the Great Lakes, and pipe it many miles inland. For instance, Grand Rapids, an inland city, has been using Lake Michigan water for the past 26 years, and Detroit's 98-million-dollar Lake Huron water project is now under construction. This involves approximately 57 miles of water mains, in addition to another 12 miles that Flint will attach to the main line.

Financing, or the decision to spend money, is often the main reason that many useful and needed projects are not carried through. Where water must be piped a considerable distance, and treated, a large expense is involved, and one small municipality may not be able to afford this large outlay of money all by itself. The usual answer is for one or two of the larger communities to finance the project, and sell water to the smaller communities.

So you see, our problem is certainly not a lack of water, but in many cases, a lack of adequate funds for construction of worthwhile projects designed to make effective use of the water we have. Once we get over this hurdle, our rich water resources, under proper management, will be capable of supporting large increases in population, and a substantial industrial expansion.

In most instances, it's up to you, the voter--the taxpayer--to make the decision as to whether or not to spend the necessary money, and to raise rates to a reasonable level to do those things that are needed. I firmly believe that an ample supply of healthful water is worth it--and I hope you agree with me.

Boating Tips...

DISTRESS SIGNALS

With today's finely engineered motors and modern boats there's seldom need to summon aid while afloat. Statistics show the major reason for distress cries is simply "running out of gas."

If you ever find yourself in this embarrassing position, here's how to attract attention, say the Mercury outboard people. If other boats are in sight, stand with your arms spread and wave them up and down like a bird's wings. Or you can attach a white shirt to a fish pole or oar and wave it back and forth above your head.

Some other ways are: signal "SOS" (three dots, three dashes, three dots) with a flashlight; act like one of the smoke flares designed for just such situations; continuously sound any fog-signal apparatus; raise a square flag with a ball or something resembling a ball underneath it; carry emergency flares with you and set one off whenever anyone approaches in a boat or airplane. Better still, carry enough gas.

New Career for an Old House

living room. It is here that the Boothby's have several beautiful chests and tables, heirlooms brought from the east to Michigan by oxcart. Gleaming from years of polishing, they hold treasures from Boothby's own store. Including some of those Lalique birds. Beside an old melodeon is a comback Windsor chair and Tom Boothby chuckled when we admired this 'antique'. It seems the chair came from the card room in a now defunct yacht club!

With one of the other upstairs rooms, the Boothby's created a kitchen, not for household function but for entertainment purposes. The downstairs kitchen remains for family use, a wonderfully large farm kitchen, modernized to be sure, but still the roomy place in which Jane Addis cooked for and fed her family of five children.

If old houses have feelings, this one must be feeling lucky. With no deteriorating signs of Betty Verhey of 6606 Plum Drive decided on the spur of the moment to give her husband, Bud, a surprise party for his birthday Monday, June 26. At the crucial moment, a cooperative neighbor called Bud over to look at some vacation pictures. While he was gone, Betty rolled out decorations, chairs, refreshments, etc. and had the patio all set up for the party. We call that organization! When Bud got home, twenty guests were

Notes on the Orchard

By Constance Lektzian

Chilly week-end wasn't it? But that didn't stop the Jack Dougherty's of 6562 Pear Street from going north with the Robert Kempf's of 6683 Plum Drive to the Kempf cabin at Clare, Michigan on beautiful Five Fingers Lake. Bridge enthusiasts, all of them, they were able to completely ignore the cold, well almost, while the rest of us wandered around down here wondering if we should turn on the furnace.

Andrea Hayden, daughter of the Peter Lektzian's of Plum Drive, returned Friday the 23 from a week at University of Toledo, at Toledo, Ohio for a study of alcoholism and its attendant problems. Grants for the week included room, board and tuition. The group was comprised of clergymen, nurses, social workers, volunteer workers and some of the staff of Detroit's Halfway House. A very informative week-end. Andrea's Saturday birthday was celebrated on Sunday the 25th.

The Nick Lekas family of 6655 Plum Drive were among those that went northward over the past week-end. Son George, a recent graduate of Clarkston High, is attending Ferris Institute in September. Orientation was June 26 and 27 so his parents and young brother drove with him to Big Rapids. While they were there, the Lekas' took a tour of the beautiful Ferris campus and buildings.

We Orchard dwellers have often wondered from which farm our subdivision was carved out of. It seems we are a part of the old Peter Addis farm, which he claimed in 1836. The original farm house is still standing on Waldon Road, now the Spenceley Butters house. Clarkston Gardens was part of the orchard lands. Any of us who have those huge old apple trees in their yard are eating fruit from trees set out by Peter Addis and his wife Mary. (Or maybe we-

Some fine old homes suffer the unhappy fate of being abandoned or torn down. Not so with the Ephraim Addis house that still stands on the corner of White Lake Road and Dixie Highway. White painted and sturdily constructed, it shows every evidence of having received years of loving care. Only it's no longer just a house -- as the tidy black and white sign says, it's "Boothby's Old Farm Shop".

As you enter the door, the tinkle of a bell announces your arrival. You step into the fragrance of bayberry candles, lemon verbena and spiced teas. There are jars of old fashioned stick candy, in flavors such as sassafras and root beer. It's a delightful browsy shop where you can wander for hours if you like and no one will breathe down your neck.

When the house was built in 1876, Jane Addis, as every other woman of that day, wanted two front parlors. The one to the right of the front door, no doubt the company parlor that was kept closed off awaiting the arrival of company, now houses beautiful linens such as bright Vera towels and imported Irish tablecloths. Here too, are the gay enameled Finnish cups and coffee pots and cooking utensils.

The main parlor now contains tables of Waterford glass, another beautiful import from Ireland. There is lovely stainless steel tableware from Sweden and Denmark, and among exquisite centerpieces of wrought iron from Mexico are wood carved Italian figures containing Swiss music boxes. In the dining room where Ephraim and Jane sat with their family for their traditional holiday dinners, there is now displayed place settings of world famous Spode china. Here also are shelves and rows of candles in every size, shape and color.

The Boothby's son, Tom who has a very active part in running the store and is their buyer, says they carry items from at least twenty-five different countries. This includes remote spots in such countries as Mexico and Hungary, the tiny island of Bermuda and of course, England and France as well as all the Scandinavian countries. Outstanding are the exquisite frosted birds from France--the beautiful Lalique glass. So justly proud are the French of this product that General DeGaulle gifted Lady Winston Spencer-Churchill with a two foot high Lalique clarion.

This was the Boothby's home for many years before part of it became the Old Farm Shop. The actual beginning of the store was a rather nebulous thing, growing out of Mrs. Boothby's love for fine and unusual things. They date their store as having started about ten years ago, at which time the now familiar silhouette of the farm house and some of its surrounding trees became their trade mark.

Of course, the Boothby's had grown very attached to this house and really couldn't see themselves living anywhere else. Having given up the living space of two parlors and a dining room for the store, now a family room was needed. A local carpenter came up with the idea of reversing the direction of the stairway, thus giving them more space in the upper hall, which added to one of the upstairs rooms, created a spacious airy

Why the big switch to electric heat?

Good news travels fast.

Talk about your bargains! Edison has again lowered the rates on electric home heat. This time, a healthy 10% over the previous rate. Altogether a 30.5% reduction in the last eight years. No-wonder the big switch to electric heat is on. The low rate's only part of it. People also like our three-year, money-back guarantee. We give you a written estimate of operating cost; your heating bill may be less than the estimate, but not a penny higher. It's guaranteed, provided installation is made by an Edison-approved contractor on Edison lines. New low rates. A three-year, money-back guarantee. Pretty good reasons to investigate electric heat. There're others. Give us a call. We'll give you all of them. And without obligation.
