Clarkston News plans move to larger quarters

The Clarkston News will be making one more move, then it should be set for a few years. Monday, August 14 this paper's offices will be changed to 5 South Main.

This is the building most recently occupied by Do-It-Yourself Shop and prior to that by Auten's Furniture. The Do-It-Yourself Shop, owned by Clarkston Lumber Co., has been incorporated in the parent offices on Holcomb street.

For several years The Clarkston News made its home on 5818 S. Ortonville road. In June 1966 the offices were moved to the present address, 55 S. Main.

The increase in customer traffic and additional equipment purchases have necessitated the move to larger quarters. Jim Sherman, publisher of The News, said, "We don't need as much room as the new quarters will provide, so we will expand in other areas. We are presently considering office supplies and increased bridal stationery selections. We will make this move after a little more investigating."

The Clarkston News is prepared for printing in the Clarkston office. Only the camera work and actual printing is done at The Oxford Leader. In Clarkston there are automatic type setting machine, a photo-headliner, advertising layout area, and composing department besides the editorial room.

The building at 5 S. Main has been leased for 3 years from Ron Walter, owner of the store. No changes in the exterior are planned except for signs. Only a few changes will be required on the interior.

Preparatory to school opening, construction moves along rapidly in the parking area near the High School.

Status report issued for sewers

A project status report has been issued by the Oakland County Department of Public Works regarding the Clinton-Oakland Sewage Disposal System.

According to the report, all participating municipalities have signed the Agreement. The Michigan Department of Public Health construction permit has been issued. Easement acquisition has commenced and 80% of 380 required title searches have been received. Approximately 180 easement descriptions have been computed and described. Field work on revised portions of the project is underway.

Cost of the project is to be $16,900,000. A FWPCA grant application is pending in the amount of $5,048,175. So far five of six communities have signed the amended agreement. Engineer for the project is Frank Naglich.

Local police assist sheriff patrols

Clarkston police officers spent Monday night and Tuesday night re-inforcing the sheriff's patrol in the north end of the county. According to Police Chief Robert Phillips, this will continue until the present emergency has passed.

"It is a progressive type of action" Phillips said. "We are taking general calls for the sheriff, relieving their cars and men for duty in the riot torn areas. Two men in two cars are assisting the sheriff department from here. All are equipped for riot control."

"In the event of sporadic fires in the area, the police department will follow the fire trucks," Phillips went on to say and to assure jittery residents.

The State Fire Marshall sent out a state-wide appeal on Monday for individual firemen and departments to come to the aid of neighboring departments if necessary. "This we will do," state local Independence firemen.

Emergency steps taken by township

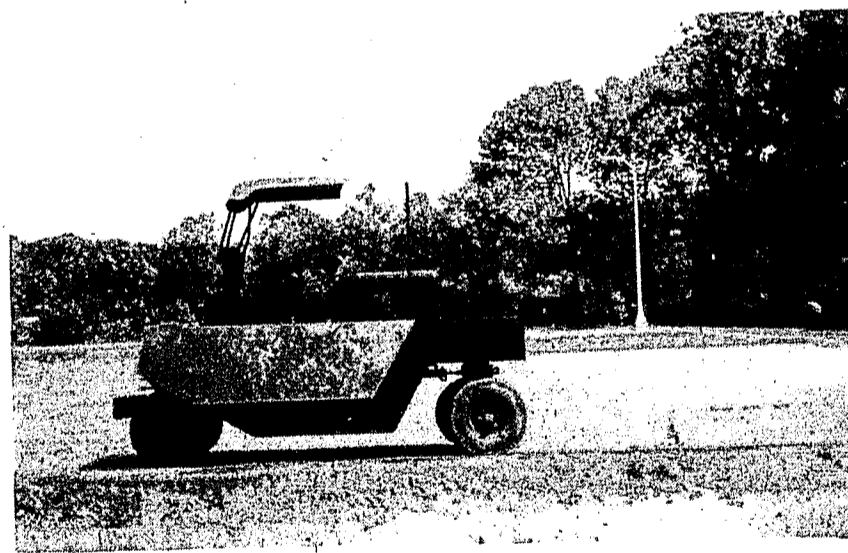

Emergency steps were taken by the Independence Township Board Tuesday night. They passed a law prohibiting the sale of alcoholic beverages and fire arms during the emergency, set a curfew and outlawed public gatherings of more than 10 persons.

The ordinance was given immediate effect and is to stand during the period of violence.

This ordinance, number 52, means no sale of liquor, beer or wine is allowed in the township and no firearms of any kind will be permitted during the period of violence.

The curfew prohibits all persons from being on the streets between 9 p.m. and 5:30 a.m., except for persons involved in emergency work and those with special reasons.

Penalties outlined in the law place fines at $100 and/or up to 90 days in jail.

Special twp. election asked to approve police department

A resolution was introduced at the Independence Township Board meeting on Tuesday evening which could pave the way for the establishment of a law enforcement agency for the unincorporated portion of the Township.

The resolution is stated in such a way that the necessary machinery would be set forth to put the question on the ballot in late September or early October. A special election would be held in which township voters would indicate whether they thought the organization of a law enforcement agency in the township was necessary and whether they wished to levy one mill to support such an operation.

For months members of the Township Board have been studying such a proposal and investigating such set-ups in other towns similar in size and with like budgets.

These officials feel that a budget of between $50,000 and $55,000 would be necessary to begin the police operation in the township. If passed, the one mill would raise $40,000. To supplement this amount, funds would have to be appropriated from the general fund to start the program. This year the police protection budget was somewhere between $13,000 and $15,000.

Board members are convinced that the bare minimum in personnel would be four adequately trained men. It would take a man experienced and enthusiastic to coordinate the whole operation, the board feels. Because there have been rumors that the township might begin organizing a department, the board has had numerous applicants.

Pursuant to any election held regarding such a plan, the township would be required to adopt a traffic code ordinance.

It has become the consensus of the board that if voters give their approval, coupled with protection afforded by the State Police and Sheriff department, the township would enjoy full coverage.

In other action at the board meeting, Bill Cobb Township Assessor and Head Building Inspector was also appointed the liquor inspector. This post is necessary to meet state requirements. Previous holder of the job, Leonard Bullard had resigned.

Board action was also taken on an application of the Oakland County Sportsmen Club for a special beer and wine license for the weekend of August 5th when road racing is scheduled there.

Public Hearing on Monday for township ordinance

A Public Hearing Monday night at the High School will give township residents a chance to air their views concerning the new Zoning Ordinance for the township. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 7 P.M.

Copies were mailed to township residents last week with the issue of The Clarkston News. Additional copies and the map for the public's inspection is available at the township office.

A zoning ordinance is the primary tool that the community relies on to help implement the community plan. This ordinance is the result of many years work and study by the Planning Commission and the Township Board. They were assisted in the final phases of preparation by Driker Associates, Inc.

The community is divided into various segments and districts in this ordinance in relationship to the over-all community need, the existing development and the communities natural resources.

In addition it provides administrative guide lines for the operation of the ordinance, not only for the Planning Commission and the Township Board, but also for the Board of Appeals.

It has been the aim of the planners to see that all persons and property are treated equitably in relationship to the over all community need.

Need auxiliary police

Clarkston Police Chief Robert Phillips is taking applications for auxiliary police work. A school will be set up next month to start training these men.

Persons who are interested are urged to call Chief Phillips or to see him personally.

The News next week will carry the dates of the school and its location. Due to the present emergency, Phillips was unable to iron out details of the school set-up this week.

Electrical Dept. seeks fee change

The Electrical Department has asked the Township Board to revise a portion of the Independence Township Electrical Code. They want the fees for inspection and licenses changed to conform with the fees charged by the surrounding communities.

They are asking that before a license is granted to any applicant that the applicant shall pay a fee of $50 to the Township Clerk for a contractor's license, a $5 fee for a Journeyman's license and a $5 fee for license registration of reciprocal contractor's license.

They also asked that each license expire on December 31st following the date of its issuance and that it shall be renewed by the Electrical Board without examination upon application of the holder of the license and payment of the required fee at any time before the date of expiration or within 60 days thereafter.

Harvie Little is the Electrical Inspector for the township.

Clarkston schools fare better than some

By Faith Poole

"We stand to lose about $1 per pupil in State Aid--so little that we will be able to get around it" an optimistic Dr. Greene told the News on Monday.

After weeks and weeks of wondering what the state legislature would do about the school aid package, all tied by necessity to tax reform, school officials can now get down to business of setting the school operation for this year.

"If we can work out a satisfactory salary arrangement and contract with the teachers we will be satisfied," Superintendent Greene said. As of Monday, contract negotiations with the teaching staff had not produced a contract.

"We are still short about 20 teachers on the elementary level. The High School staff is complete with the exception of one Industrial Arts teacher," Dr. Greene went on to say. "however, if we are unable to reach a full staff by the time school starts, we will simply work around it."

There just doesn't seem to be enough teachers available anywhere to staff the elementary classrooms. This is not a problem related to Clarkston alone--some areas seem to be much harder hit. Dr. Greene related several conditions that are draining off the teachers. "We have so many federal programs such as Head Start that are enticing these teachers."

But the crux of the problem seems to be that the population is just growing faster than the supply of teachers is coming out of the teacher training institutions. Figures have also been supplied which indicate that somewhere along the line about 50% of these trained teachers just never get to the classroom. Marriage claims a lot of the younger ones and with present world conditions, many would be teachers follow their husbands to various army bases and seek other employment. Army service is claiming many of the men teachers.

Men are finding that employment in other fields is more remunerating than teaching. There is always the appeal that foreign service has to young teachers--both men and women. The government pays well for this teaching service abroad and coupled with it is the chance to see the world.

Another factor that Dr. Greene pointed out was the allure that states of the west coast and the islands seem to have for these young career teachers.

This year the local district will be paying a larger portion of the costs of the school operation. According to the state aid formula, when the local valuation goes up, the state aid comes down.

Last year the local effort tax wise was 31.7% of the cost of operation while the state contributed 68.3%.

For this year, the state will expend 63.98% while locally the expenditures will amount to 36.02%. Broken down on a per pupil ratio, last year this district received $302.50 per child from the state while this year, the figure drops to $301.88 per child.

For purposes of determining school aid by the state, two formulas are used. For districts with less than average state equalized valuation a figure of $427.88 is used less 15.75 mills.

In school districts with taxable wealth above the state equalized figure, $294.53 is granted less .528 mills against that valuation.

All in all Clarkston schools seem to have fared far better through those challenging times in education than many others with neighboring districts striving to cope with reduced incomes, lack of buildings and failure of the voters to pass bond issues.

Jim's Jottings

Enter practically any contest in America and you'll probably have a chance to win a transistor radio. These popular little receivers have great attraction. I do think, however, the Indian government has outdone our private enterprise contest sponsors. They will give a transistor radio to any resident of India who becomes sterilized. Apparently they didn't get enough takers when they paid $5.20 to citizens who were made safe so then next best thing is a prize.

Just a year ago the Cass City Chronicle, among other newspapers, headlined the poor crop outlook because of excessively dry weather.

How times have changed department. Not too many years ago, well maybe it was, the Townships provided and kept up their own roads. Then the county convinced township officials they had graders and trucks that could do a better job and the townships gave up road building and maintenance to the county.

Now its back on the townships to again provide maintenance on roads. Through the state there is a matching fund, state pay half-township pay half, but the Road Commission is encouraging townships to vote millage for road improvements and pay more and more of the costs.

So, just as we did it ourselves before, we have to return to this again. That saying, if you want a thing done, do it yourself, still prevails. And, after talking to Sol Lomerson, member of the Road Commission, I think the sooner we face this problem and get a millage passed for road improvements, the better. Many townships in Oakland have already done this.

Last week we set some kind of record in production. Between the Oxford Leader, Clarkston News and Ad-Vertiser we ran a ton and a half of newsprint, making 48,000 impressions, and printing 68 pages.

The Leader and Ad-Vertiser were 20 pages each and the Clarkston News 28 pages. The runs were 2,000, 6500, and 4500, respectively. And we did it with 2 key people off on vacation, which gives you some idea of how much extra effort was put out by those who remained.

Crime study underway

The Michigan Crime Commission is attempting to inventory all local law enforcement agencies in the state. Independence Township has been asked to provide information for this survey.

Among the questions being asked are whether or not the Township does or does not provide Township police service, whether it is policed by the State Police or Sheriff Department or both.

Information is also being sought about total township expenditures for policing the township during the past fiscal year, whether an amount was paid to the Sheriff for contracted police services etc.

In the event that townships do provide such a service, they are being asked to list number of officers, full times, part time and on call. In addition they are being asked the role that Constables have in a township.

The program is being executed by the Institute for Community Development at Michigan State University.

Hearing scheduled

A hearing will be held on July 27 (Thursday) at the Michigan Liquor Control Commission office in Lincoln Park for Joe Fodor of 6761 S. Dixie Highway, Clarkston.

The complaint lodged against Fodor is for selling to a minor, and minor consuming. He holds a Class C license.

Drayton Plains to get Edison office on wheels

Beginning next Thursday, Edison customers living in or near Drayton Plains will be able to pay their electric bills, or transact other business, with Edison right in town. And on the same day of succeeding weeks, an Edison office will literally roll into town for continuing service to local Edison customers.

It's all being made possible by Edison's acquisition of a mobile "office." According to Harlan Ritze, Edison Oakland District sales manager, "Spot checking other electric service companies over the country, Edison is very likely the only electric utility which has a mobile office for greater customer convenience."

The office is actually a tailor-made variation of one of the popular camper buses seen in increasing numbers on the highways. Only instead of having bunks, a kitchenette and dining noon built in, this unit has a store-type counter and display space for appliances and bulbs.

In the counter is a compact version of the bulb busting unit into which burned-out light bulbs go before new ones are received in their places. Small appliances, those which Edison customarily repairs, can be left in the office-on-wheels for repairs. Requests to turn electric service on or off and inquiries about the sale or repair of major electric appliances can also be taken care of regular schedule of movements, residents of these areas will be able to tell beforehand when the office will be around the next time.

The mobile unit will be, electrically heated and cooled for maximum customer comfort. There'll also be an electric water heater and electric range on display.

here. Information and data about electric heat will be available, too--all the services received at any Edison office.

Edison's mobile office, for the time being, will be in three different towns in Lapeer County and one in Oakland. On a Plug-in connections for electricity and telephone service will be available at each of the mobile office's stations.

Understanding your HEALTH

By Albert E. Heustis, M.D. Director Michigan Department of Public Health

The lure of out-of-door living gets very strong this time of year for many Michigan folks. They are packing up right now, to head out into the woods to get some welcome relief from the daily grind of earning a living. They will return home after their vacation with a fresh outlook on life--that is if they have prepared for the pitfalls of "roughing it."

Now, it's no fun to be sick, and it's especially miserable if it occurs on your vacation. So I'm going to suggest a few tips that might come in handy when you and your family are out in those beautiful woods.

Nearly every camper suffers minor cuts and bruises at times during his outing. The most important thing for you to remember about treating these cuts is to treat them. Even a small skin break can be dangerous because it can allow the entrance of disease-producing organisms. You can treat ordinary cuts with a number of effective antiseptic ointments that are generally available; however, such treatment does not always prevent the ever lurking danger of tetanus infections. So be sure your tetanus immunization is up to date at all times and especially when you leave for the woods.

Another common ailment among vacationers is digestive upset, or just plain stomachache. This may be caused by excitement, eating too fast, eating different foods, the change in drinking water, and erratic meal schedules. If it is severe enough you may find yourself with stomach cramps and diarrhea. Several remedial drugs are available and you should be sure to take them along on your trip. If the pain persists, see a doctor as soon as possible, it may be a case of food-borne poisoning which can be extremely serious if not treated.

I would also like to caution you against two plants that can make a wonderful vacation into a time of sheer torture--namely, poison ivy and poison oak. You should learn the characteristic leaf structure of both plants, if you are going to avoid them. Poison ivy and poison oak leaves both grow in clusters of three on each twig.

Poison ivy grows as a woody vine or shrub trailing along the ground, or an erect shrub. The stems look like fuzzy ropes and the leaves are either smooth or have notched edges. Poison oak grows in the form of a low shrub, and its slender branches often have a downy look. The center leaflet has an "oak-leaf" appearance, although the plant is actually a variety of poison ivy.

Both plants cause a burning and itching sensation, followed by a rash and swelling, and sometimes blisters. If you suspect your hands or any part of your body has come in contact with either plant, wash the areas with strong soap. Leave the latter on for several minutes. If this does not prevent infection, a calomine lotion will help to ease the itching sensation. Do not use water, oily ointments or alcoholic solutions--they won't do a bit of good.

If you follow the foregoing tips, and take along a well stocked first-aid kit on your camping trip, the chances are you will spend a delightful time in the woods. And that's how it should be.

Playground news

The final week of the playground activities has been a busy one for all involved.

Monday each playground held a track meet. Girls and boys were separated and then divided into two age groups, eight years old and under, and nine and above. The four groups then competed on the 50 yard dash, broad jump, hop, skip and jump, and the softball throw.

First place winners at Andersonville were Annie Moore, Marie Vance, Martha Vance, Nancy Johnson, Carrie Holloway, Jill Weber, Mike Glynn, Dan Holloway, Dan Holloway, Jim Johnson, Jim Holloway, and Mike Hooper.

Debbie Burnham, Terry

Thompson, Pam Cockerubius, Flora Hasslipe, Roxanne Tunningly, Nancy Means, Don Blower, Ed Medlin, Scott Dean and Billy Bishop were Sashabaw's first place winners.

Tuesday was Playground Christmas in July. Everyone wore red and green; carols were sung, and there were Christmas present decorating contests.

Wednesday the Inter-playground Track Meet was held at Clarkston Junior High. Winners from Sashabaw and Andersonville were transported to the school to compete with Clarkston's winners in the same four categories.

Today is the final day for the playgrounds. Picnics and a candy scramble are being planned for today's festivities, with a special treat for the school winning the Grand Prize for the Inter-playground Track Meet.

Tomorrow the directors will collect all their equipment and turn it in and the "Fun-School" or the Summer Recreational Program or whatever you want to call it will be over for another summer. See ya next year, kids!

SUNDAY SERVICE

"How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! Therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of thy wings."

This text from Psalms 36 is part of the responsive reading in this week's Christian Science Lesson Sermon titled "Love."

Swimming relays at 2 p.m. Saturday

"The best way to see the swimming relays on Saturday is from a boat", states Everett MacDougall. At 2 P.M. this Saturday, the annual relays will take place in front of the MacDougall home on Deer Lake.

A total of 42 youngsters will be participating--21 boys and the same number of girls. The girls have won for the past two years, but according to "Mac", the boys are out to win this year.

At stake is the box of candy for the winners, while the losers will eat cookies. According to Mr. MacDougall it has not been the best swimming year in fact until the past 2 weeks, it has been the poorest, but the swimmers have stuck it out and most have learned to swim to the 40 foot dock.

In addition to the following list, there will 10-12 intermediate boys and girls also swimming in the relays.

Girls Advanced: Nadine Boss, Christie Bronsing, Brown Clarise, Peggy Dougherty, Harlyvetch, Marcia Johnson, Bonnie Keyser, Diane Koehler, Barbara

RECEIVES ALL "A's"

Thomas North of 8480 Foster Road, Clarkston has been named an all "A" student at Oakland Community College. This shows an achievement of 4.0 average for the Spring session. This announcement was made by S. James Manilla, OCC Director of Educational Services.

Another win for Feather

A headline in the Clarkston News of a year ago stated that "Feather is doing well on the links". The same headline could be repeated this week as she helped produce a record-tying score to capture the Pontiac Mixed Two Ball championship.

With her partner, Ron Rothbarth who is the Clarkston Golf Club champion they scored a total of 72 strokes. On the front side they turned in an even par 34 and on the back side went three over for a 38. This tied the score set by Glenn Harding and Betty Sue Syron in 1954.

Feather won the 1964 title when she played with Fran Bertram. Last year she played with Glenn Vallance and expected to play in Saturday's tournament with him. When he couldn't make it Rothbarth entered with Feather. Second place winners were the defending champions, Phyllis Chandler and Joe Burgdorf with five strokes behind--77. Third place was taken by Zada De Bolt and Stan Savage.

Feather is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Frechette, owners of Clarkston Golf Course on Eston Road. She has completed two years of study at Northwood Institute, Midland.

Injuries received in accidents

Four area accidents were reported by the Oakland County Sheriff department over the weekend.

One of these accidents caused injuries to 3 members of one family and seriously injured the elderly driver of one of the cars. Saturday morning at 10:50 a.m., Emma Hockin 45, of 8579 W. Ellis Road, Davisburg was southbound on Dixie Highway south of White Lake Road. With her were her 2 children, Diane 16, and Wayne 15.

Lloyd Wilston 73, of 3036 Eastwood in Auburn Heights backed out of a driveway onto the highway. Mrs. Hockin skidded several feet before the impact and then several more before hitting the embankment. She received type A injuries as did Mr. Wilson, driver of the other car. Diane Hockin received type B injuries and Wayne, type C. All of the injured were taken to Pontiac General Hospital.

Mr. Wilson's injuries were so serious that he was unable to make a statement. The officer's report shows that Wilson was cited for failure to yield the right of way.

In an accident which happened at 4:35 p.m. on Friday, Geneva Redmond 71, received type C injuries and was taken to a Doctor by private car.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Walter Gallegly 17, of 5391 Sunnyside in Clarkston. They struck another car driven by David Bandy, 22 of 6465 Cramlane, Clarkston. The accident happened on a curve on Maybee Road, west of Rohr Road.

Bandy was cited by officers for driving to the left of center. Gallegly told officers as he came around the curve the other driver was on his side of the road and there was no place to go.

There were also 2 single car accidents in the area. One occurred at 3:40 p.m. on Saturday on I-75 just east of M-15.

The driver, Marshall Anderson, 63 of 8620 Lantz in Detroit told officers that he was reaching down to get something to eat. In so doing his foot hit the accelerator instead of the brakes -- he went off the road hitting 2 evergreen trees, a fence and a State Highway sign. He was taken to Pontiac General Hospital with type B injuries.

The other single car mishap was on Waldon Road west of Sashabaw at 6:45 p.m. on Sunday. Danny Wilson, 17 of 4826 Summer Hill in Drayton Plains was on Waldon Road west of Sashabaw at 6:45 p.m. on Sunday. Danny Wilson, 17 of 4826 Summer Hill in Drayton Plains was making a left turn when his car went off the side of the roadway on the right. He told officers that his new 1967 car had a broken tie rod.

Meat Balls With A Swiss Twist

A new way-to-make and a new flavor-twist gives bake-in-the-oven meat balls top billing for family supper or company-coming dinner. Double-rich Pet Evaporated Milk is the headliner in both the meat balls and in the fancy flavored sauce that tops them. It is the ingredient that binds the ground beef and seasonings—holding in all of the juices that make them so temptingly tender and flavorful. In the sauce, extra-creamy rich evaporated milk smooths together the cream of chicken soup and Swiss cheese making a no-stir, no-watch gravy sauce. With this recipe you save food value and flavor, too, with the milk that lets you bake in goodness. Complete the meal plan with fluffy rice and a quick toss of fresh vegetables for a salad.

Meat Balls With A Swiss Twist

|-----------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| 1 lb. ground lean beef | 1 1/2 tsp. pepper |
| 1/2 cup PET evaporated milk | 10 1/2-oz. can cream of chicken soup |
| 1/2 cup catsup | 1 1/2 cup grated Swiss cheese |
| 1 Tb. dried parsley flakes | 1 1/2 cup PET evaporated milk |
| 1 Tb. prepared mustard | 1/2 cup water |
| 1 tsp. salt | 2 to 3 drops Tabasco |

Turn on oven and set at 350 (moderate). Mix in a 2-quart bowl beef, 1/2 cup evaporated milk, catsup, parsley flakes, mustard, salt and pepper. Shape with wet hands into 16 meat balls, about 1 1/2 inches in diameter. Put meat balls into a shallow 1 1/2-quart baking dish. Bake 20 minutes, or until brown. Drain off drippings. Four over meat balls a mixture of soup, cheese, 1/2 cup evaporated milk, water and Tabasco. Bake about 10 minutes more, or until bubbly. Sprinkle with parsley flakes. Serves 4.

Hunting regulations

The regulation of hunting with firearms in the Township of Independence is out for at least another year.

The Township Board had requested that the two legislators from this area, State Representative Loren Anderson and State Senator Harvey Lodge introduce bills in the legislature aimed at regulating hunting.

In a letter to Township Clerk Howard Altman last week, Lodge stated that the Bill known as No. 58 passed in the Senate, but it did not have such good luck in the House. There, it was referred to the Conservation and Recreation Committee where it still is.

However, Lodge pointed out in his letter that bills now do not die the first year, but may be considered the following year of a session.

The question of tax reform and the last minute changes in the budget caused the last few weeks of the session to be so hectic that many minor bills went by the wayside.

If You Don't Like This, Burn It

by Jim Fitzgerald

Cyclists need a talk from parents

To watch them go zig-zagging all over the street, you'd think that no one ever told them about bicycle safety. We know that this isn't so. Children are given instructions in school on the proper way to ride their bikes on our streets.

Apparently, they weren't listening at the time. Before it gets too late; Mom and Dad, it's your turn to take your little fellows aside, and that goes for the little lasses too. Explain to them that if they want to clown around on their bikes, they should join a circus.

Drivers of cars are blamed for negligence when a little guy on a bike gets hit, sometimes killed. We hazard that there isn't one of us around who wants to hit a youngster. But, what happens when you're driving down the street and a two wheeler on the left whips across in front of you? You hit your brakes and pray.

The child in turn, is either surprised to see you; or, just as though he were testing your reflexes, he flashes a big white toothy grin that says, "I dare you". Many of these dares end up in some hospital ward as a bunch of broken bones.

We feel, as your police department has often said, "Good driving habits start with a youngster on his bike." If today's bike riders are any indication of the kind of drivers we're to have on tomorrow's roads, we fear for our lives.

Immediately before typing these words I ripped a drawing of the American flag from my comic-book and burned it.

I am now waiting for J. Edgar Hoover to knock on my door.

The mail brought me a message from J. Edgar recently. The same message doubtless went to every newspaper in the country. On the outside, where we commoners would stick a stamp, it said: "Postage and fees paid - Federal Bureau of Investigation." On the opposite corner of the envelope it said: "Official Business."

The heart-stirring letter from the FBI chief was boldly titled: "Message from the Director to all Law Enforcement Officers." This is the first time I knew I was a law officer. Now I can arrest my children for vagrancy.

J. Edgar's "official business," for which taxpayers paid thousands of dollars postage, concerned the American flag. J. Edgar wants it known that it is "sickening and revolting" for any "so-called citizens" to burn their country's flag.

J. Edgar is continually bombarding newspapers with such startling messages (at your expense). It is not enough that he is against crooks, which is what he has been paid for the last 40 years. He also wants you to know what he is for - apple pie, motherhood, puppies, children and trees.

I think it is splendid that J. Edgar has such high-flown opinions on all controversial issues. It is also ok if he wants to tell the world that his mother brought him up right. But, by God, he should buy his own stamps.

So far, it is not against the law to burn your flag. It is pretty stupid, but it's not against the law. There is no reason why J. Edgar should spend our money, spreading his childish ideas about flag-burners.

If he hasn't anything better to do, I have a suggestion: Hoover should sit down and read several times, that portion of the Warren Report which states clearly what a lousy job the FBI did in protecting John Kennedy from Lee Harvey Oswald. He might also prepare a message explaining why every cop in the country knows there is a nation-wide crime syndicate (Mafia) but little is ever done about it. No matter what Dick Tracy says, crime pays more every year and you'd better believe it.

Hoover's flag message was inspired, no doubt, by our Clown Congressmen who want to make flag-burning a crime. You shouldn't even burn or deface a picture of our flag, or a portion of our flag, or anything that looks like our flag, they say. Red, white and blue zebras are sacred.

Most congressmen applauded when Rep James Haley (D-Florida) said "flag burners should be taken out to sea, tied to an anchor, thrown overboard and told to swim to another country."

Isn't it grand that we have such intelligent, reasonable congressmen?

Flag burners should be ignored for the silly exhibitionists they are. Certainly they are not important enough to pass laws against. If a man owns a flag, let him burn it.

Let him burn his draft card, too. When the flag and the card are ashes, this will be the same splendid United States it was before the fire, and the burner can still be drafted (if he can't afford college).

Our country is making half an effort to win a messy war in Vietnam. But there is nothing half-dead about our young men who are coming home in boxes. Meanwhile, Congressman Haley threatens to drown flag-burners, look Ma, no hands.

Haley and Hoover and their ilk are grandstanders. They look great in parades. J. Edgar even has his own TV show and his brave men save the nation every Sunday night.

The trouble is, every Monday morning this country faces the same grinding problems. These are problems that must be solved by men who know that flag-waving looks good, but it will never replace thinking and doing.

If you don't agree with what I've written here, burn this column and see how much good it does you. Δ

Another Day

Reverend Oliver Green-Early Michigan preacher

By Constance Lektzian

Rev. Oliver Hazard Perry Green

In a search to find some history of Clarkston's itinerant circuit riders, we came across the name of Oliver Hazard Perry Green. Raised in Independence township from the age of 12, he became a Methodist minister and later a circuit rider, though he didn't stay in his home territory. While several of the names of these intrepid preachers have been uncovered, his is the only one to date where we have obtained any background.

Samuel Green, father of Oliver, was one of Independence township's earliest settlers. A native of New Jersey, he had served in the War of 1812 under Colonel Mallory. It was after this he was hit with the same restless urge to go west that struck other members of his family.

It was in 1837 that Samuel finally started his journey from his father's farm in New Jersey. He took the last boat of the season from Buffalo which means he got a late start, too late to do anything in the way of clearing or planting. The boat landed in Cleveland and Samuel walked from there to Pontiac. It was later that he claimed 120 acres in Independence and the same amount of land in Holly.

He and his wife Betsey Osmun brought up fourteen children-- and it's a remarkable fact that they all lived to be at least 33 years of age, remarkable because in that day of high infant mortality, parents rarely raised all the children they brought into the world.

Clarkston and the surrounding farm settlements didn't always have their churches headed by a regular minister. There wasn't money available to keep a preacher just for one locality. Most of these men had to make a rather threadbare living swinging--geographically speaking--through several towns and settlements during the course of a week. They would do their preaching in whatever kind of building was available, sometimes a barn had a makeshift pulpit put up in it. But these preachers were dedicated men--they had to be or they would never have stuck to this rugged way of living.

It's possible that Oliver, during some visit with his family to one of these local meetings, or preachings, was imbued with the desire to become a minister. After studies, he joined the Methodist Episcopal church and became an itinerant rider in Indiana. It wasn't until after 11 years that he came back to home territory and was stationed in what was known as the White Lake Circuit and for four years preached at Davisburg and Holly. He later served in Pontiac, Owosso, Corunna and Linden. The rigors of the early pioneer living didn't spare his family. His oldest child a daughter, died at the age of five.

Circuit riding was hard, unremitting work, serving the spiritual needs of many. It meant hours of riding between towns, through winter storms and hot summer days. A sermon for these farmers and villagers, who themselves had long miles to cover to reach the meeting places, was an expected meeting of three or four hours duration. Eventually Reverend Green's health broke down and he turned to farming for several years. Then came a call to New Jersey and he served there for two years. This however, was the last of his ministries.

In the hope of regaining his health, he bought a farm of 105 acres in Independence and became farmer and stock raiser. With the education of his four children to consider, he bought an interest in the grist mills at Waterford and at Clintonville. Oliver's intellectual activity was too great to be content with this and he went into local politics. He became a member of almost all the fraternal organizations here in Clarkston, and was looked upon as one of Independence's leading citizens.

Meadowbrook tour climaxes music workshop

A happy group of youngsters left Wednesday morning for Meadowbrook where they witnessed a rehearsal and where they had lunch at Trumbull Terrace. These young people, numbering 20 have been participating in a summer workshop at the Clarkston Conservatory of Music. They are pupils of Ivan Rouse, director of the Conservatory and they were joined for luncheon by Tras Hubiciki, a member of the Viola section of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, a position he has held since 1942.

The trip to Meadowbrook is one of many activities that the group has participated in this summer. Mr. Rouse, who feels that the youngster who participates in athletics or other activities has fellowship with other companions. That same fellowship should come with the study of music--hence the get-togethers with friends who are studying music. Pupils this summer are attending from Oxford, Bloomfield Hills, Drayton Plains, Waterford and Clarkston.

To further this fellowship, there have been picnics, hikes, and a visit to Camp Clarkston as well as the Meadowbrook trip. The session which began on June 14 has lasted for 6 weeks. The workshop has been restored this year. For the past two years Mr. Rouse taught at the Music Camp at Manistee, but he declined this year and feels that this has been one of the most successful of his summer programs.

The students have been working on Theory of Music, ear training and studying folk music and its development. A special guest at one of the sessions was Mrs. David Newlands, local world traveler and music lover. Her father was Harrison Walter, pioneer resident in the Clarkston area.

July 15th marked an anniversary date for Mr. Rouse. On this date he began his 8th year at the Conservatory. His students average about 95 during the school year including the 10 which he instructs at the Birmingham Conservatory. Instruction is given in violin, piano, flute and guitar.

WSU Swimming Coach Gives Underwater Safety Rules

DETROIT — A new dimension has been added to Michigan's tourist attractions—the "inner space" world under the surface of the Wolverine State's 11,000 inland lakes and the Great Lakes which surround her two peninsulas.

"People of all ages above two years old diving," says Prof. John Hussey, Wayne swimming coach and member of the Health and Physical Education staff. "There are two 'musts,' however, for anyone who wants to try the sport. He should be in top physical shape and take lessons from a certified instructor."

Probing the depths of the underwater world became a possibility with the development of the SCUBA lung, the Self Contained Underwater Breathing Apparatus in the Second World War. With this aqua lung, the "skin diver," who uses only mask and fins, can go far below the surface to explore the mysteries of the deep.

A diver is still considered to be a "skin diver" if he wears a skin-tight suit of rubber. He may also wear a belt weighted with lead.

Michigan has four times as much water for skin diving as any other state. Her skin divers, estimated at 5,000, participate in the sport mainly through clubs, with exploration as their main pastime. There are over 60 skin diving clubs in the State.

Underwater spearfishing also draws many adventurers, although local regulations qualify its use. Carp, dogfish, garpike, and roughfish are hunted with rubber or spring-loaded spears in more than 70 of the State's "game" lakes. Sunk ships are of major interest to Michigan skin divers. Historical records show that there are over 600 wrecks beneath Michigan waters, dating back to 1679 when La Salle's schooner, the "Griffin," disappeared on a Great Lakes voyage.

"Even when a diver is 'top' physically and has had lessons from a certified instructor, he must be careful not to go too far below the surface," says Professor Hussey. "Dives below 60 feet are a danger. Below that depth one is in considerable danger of the 'bends' if he comes up to the surface too fast. This painful ailment is caused by the formation of nitrogen bubbles in blood and body tissues."

At great depths, the diver is also in greater danger of running out of air supply. This is partly because he must be underwater longer but partly also because the greater the depth, the greater his rate of air consumption from his tank.

- Prof. Hussey recommends a few simple safety steps for skin divers:
1. Always mark the spot you are diving in with a float and skin diving flag to warn speedboats.
 2. Always dive with a buddy.
 3. Always check your equipment before diving.
 4. Do not dive when tired.
 5. Take with you a sharp knife to use in hacking your way through an underwater obstacle if necessary.
 6. Make sure you can tolerate the water's temperature.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

SECTION THREE THE CLARKSTON (Mich.) NEWS Thurs., July 27, 1967 9

Counting the dinner plates is just one of many jobs ahead for members of Our Lady of the Lakes Church workers, as they begin preparations for their Chicken Dinner. The dinner will be served to the public on August 6 from 12:30 to 6 p. m. To the left is Florence LaVergne, co-chairman, with the President of the Altar Society, Mrs. Russell Morrow, right.

Notes on the Orchard

By Constance Lektzian
625-2378

Never a dull moment in this corner of suburbia! Lightning struck a transformer during that storm we had a few days ago. It left about a half dozen houses without lights, stoves, etc. from one in the morning to about 7:30 a.m. Not too inconvenient at those hours except for husbands who had to be on their way earlier than that. A few of them wound up shaving by flashlight. That was something to see and hear!

It's too bad people can't have rebates on their vacations. The Larry Thompson's of Almond Lane just returned from a camping trip in northern Michigan—and a few of their experiences were harrowing. For instance, it rained part of every day of the two weeks they were gone. Then around Mackinac they ran into some differences of opinion that the local governments are having regarding the time bands. Joyce and Larry had hoped to spend about an hour on Mackinaw Island but their boat was late docking. When they finally arrived, they found that, due to a time change, the last boat back to the mainland left in fifteen minutes! Then one morning Larry headed out by car for a nearby lake to do some fishing. He struck a deer that leaped into the path of the car doing hundreds of dollars of damage to the car. Not only that, the deer was so mangled that no venison could be salvaged. At least, as Joyce says, its a vacation they won't forget!

Mrs. Robert Gridley of 6630 Pear Street left for a week's vacation in Dayton Ohio, to visit her parents Doctor and Mrs. George Gates. She is taking a along five month old Kraig, their newly adopted son. The Gates, who have planned their vacation for the same time, are looking forward to the opportunity of spoiling their grandson. Bob Gridley will join the Gates and his wife in Dayton for the celebration of the Gridley's July 29 wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Jack Dougherty of 6562 Pear Street entertained at a luncheon recently for some of her old co-workers from the J.C. Penney Company. They were Mrs. Vivian Sanford, Mrs. Bonnie Wood and Mrs. Marian Dafee. They were joined later by Mrs. Dougherty's sister, Mrs. Helen Burnside of Flint.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Griffiths of 6606 Pear Street had as houseguests this past week-end Mrs. Griffiths mother, Mrs. Rozetta Braithwaite of Benton Harbor, her sister and brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kreigher and family of Holland. Later, they were joined by Mr. Griffiths' father and aunt, Mr. Orville Griffith and Mrs. Maude Yates for a picnic held in the Griffiths yard.

Doug and Jane Griffiths are another couple from this neighborhood who have joined the camper owners and with a great deal of enthusiasm. They find it an ideal way to travel. It dispenses with all the problems of finding good motels and restaurants while traipsing around Michigan. After a shake-down cruise to find out if they might forget anything in their packing up—and they did—they took a two day trip to Benzie State Park near Beulah, Michigan. While there, they visited relatives who were vacationing at nearby Crystal Lake. This, by the way, is among the most beautiful spots in Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Brodkorb of Marion, Indiana recently visited his parents, the senior Brodkorbs of 6681 Pear Street, along with young Debra and David, who were particularly happy for the chance to visit their grandparents.

Michael Klann, son of the Charles Klanns of 6682 Pear Street, had an accident with his bike last Monday night. Riding along, a short distance from home, Mike hit a bump and the front wheel suddenly flew into the air. Mike catapulted over the handlebars, landing on his chin and fracturing his jaw. He spent two days in Pontiac General Hospital and made two trips to surgery to have his jaw wired. Not only was the jaw fractured, it was also dislocated. Now for three weeks he can have anything he wants to eat—providing it will go through a straw. With a young boys natural love of stuff such as hamburgers and potato chips, this must be rough. Our heartiest wishes for a quick recovery. This happened at 9 in the evening and as Mike's mother pointed out, if we hadn't been on daylight savings times, no one would have been outside playing at that hour.

Pvt. 1st Class Wiley Walts is spending a 14 day leave at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Walts. He will return to his base at Fort Bliss on July 25th.

Mrs. Charles Klann of 6682 Pear Street entertained the Thursday Baumann was a substitute player. Wallie and Bobbie Baumann have at two different times, been residents of the Orchard. They are living now in Bethesda, Maryland but do get back to Michigan for occasional visits. All their friends in the Orchard look forward to seeing them.

Red Cross to help Guard

The same Red Cross services available at American military installations around the world are being offered to Organized Reserve and National Guard units on active duty this summer. S.F. Leahy, chairman, Southeastern Michigan Chapter, said today.

Families of men on active duty are asked to call the local Red Cross office if an emergency arises which requires the serviceman's assistance or presence, Mr. Leahy said.

Traditional Red Cross Services to the Armed Forces include counseling; assistance with government benefits; reporting to enable the military to act on requests for leave, transfer, and reassignment; help with communications involving family situations; and emergency financial aid.

At Legion convention

Attending the American Legion convention in Grand Rapids July 20-23 were Mr. and Mrs. John Lynch of Clarkston. He is the newly elected Senior Vice Commander of the 18th District. Three thousand members of the Legion and Auxiliary attended the conference.

John E. Davis, National Commander of the Legion and a former governor of North Dakota, addressed the general session. He also attended a reception for Vietnam veterans who have joined the Legion since eligibility was opened to them last September. Among the resolutions considered by the delegates was one which strongly urged that Michigan grade and high schools institute courses in human ethics so that youth may learn right from wrong at an early age and will gain respect for the rights of all citizens. Another resolution which was presented asked that the American Flag be flown 24 hours a day at every port of entry to the United States.

HUDSON'S PONTIAC OPENS JULY 27

By Lucinda Ellert

On June 21, the Methodist minister, Reverend Lewis Sutton moved to Flint and in his place came Reverend Frank Cozadd and his wife, Fay. Rev. and Mrs. Cozadd have two daughters, Janet who is 14 and side of Mary Fenstemaker and me. Janet says that the youths here are different because they are 'Grease' which means that a person wears his hair short and swept back off from his forehead. Although she has not seen much of Clarkston, what she has seen of it, she likes very much. She likes school, but like most of us, she doesn't like the homework. She played an instrument, the violin, but she accidentally left it in the band room at her old school. At present she is learning to play the guitar. Janet likes 'psychedelic' and 'mod' things. She misses her friends in Farmington, but she has a very good friend, Janice Caie who comes up to visit her occasionally. Barb, Janet's sister, likes Clarkston too. She will be going into the 11th grade, and she collects flowers and posters, and likes boys. Barb agrees with her sister about psychedelic music and mod clothes. Last year she was in 10th grade at North Farmington High School, Janet and Barb have to little brothers, Ronnie, who is 11 and Bruce who is 3.

Diane Koehler, 14 years old, was at camp July 9 through 15 at camp Michi-Lu-Ca about six miles away from Fairview. Michi-Lu-Ca is a camp and a conference center combined. People often go up in the winter but they don't hold a real camp. There are both cabins and tepees. There are eight cabins, four cabins for girls and four for boys, and each cabin will accommodate eight persons. Every year the cabins have names assigned to them, and this year they were named for bugs. The cabin that Diane was in was named the 'Bed Bugs'. A tepee will hold four people but usually they put two together so as to lodge eight. For activities they have swimming, hiking, boating, and games. There are three lakes in the area, Spring Lake which is for swimming, and Indian Lake. To be able to go in deep water in Lake of the Woods you have to pass a swimming test; unfortunately, Diane did not pass this test but she had a lot of fun at camp, she said. The camp was for young people from ages eight through seventeen.

Edward Ellert will be going to Hope College in Holland, Michigan this fall where he will be taking pre-medicine or chemistry. He is thinking seriously of being a neurosurgeon or going in medical research, but he feels that research in chemistry would also be a wide and rewarding field. To be a neuro-surgeon would take about 10 years of college study, though, he says.

Kieft Engineering will double their office space when expansion currently underway is complete.

Kieft Engineering expanding facilities

An expansion program which will more than double their present facilities is underway at Kieft Engineering, 5852 S. Main Street, Clarkston.

Howard Kieft, owner, says that their present area encompasses about 1800 square feet. When the expansion is complete it will give them close to 2000 more square feet.

An additional drafting room is being constructed and will more than double their facilities in that phase of the operation.

As the company is presently doing so much mortgage survey work, this room was sorely needed.

There will also be increased office space in the new layout, additional secretarial space and a filing room.

According to Kieft, the engineering firm is staffed by approximately 20 persons this summer.

Auten Furniture ready to expand

Less than a year after moving into his new furniture store, Don Auten has contracted to put an addition onto the building that would double the floor space.

Auten, who opened his furniture store at 5 N. Main in Clarkston 3 years ago last April, moved into his new building at 6605 Dixie Highway September 1, 1966.

He said the expansion was necessary to further expand his present lines of home furnishings, give more display area, and add new lines.

Ground is expected to be broken next week for the cement block building. Two 16-ft. openings will be cut in the south wall of the present building for easy access to both units.

ACHIEVES ALL A's

Lowell D. Hine of Davisburg was one of the 517 students who achieved an all-A record during spring term at Michigan State University.

Names of the students are to be placed on an honor roll that offers "recognition of the highest attainment in scholarship."

The students will be guests at a dinner in their honor during fall term by Dr. John A. Hannah, MSU president.

The list includes 323 students from Michigan and 194 from other states.
