Supervisor pleads for unity

By Faith Poole.

It is doubtful if the village planners realized the controversy which would ensue when they presented their report calling for the annexation of additional land surrounding the village of Clarkston. At stake is land, nearly 3 times the area which is now encompassed in the village. Included also would be approximately 275 homes and some undeveloped land, but by-passed is the commercial development at the south end of M-15.

One thing is certain, however. The officials of Independence Township plan to see that their residents in the affected area will be informed. An informational meeting was held Thursday night at the High School. Over 300 people were present and mid-way through the evening when a show of hands was called for; it was found that nearly all present were opposed to the annexation proposal.

On hand to lead their panel of experts and to discuss and answer questions pertaining to the proposal was Joseph Parisi, executive Director of the Michigan Township's Association. His opening remarks, termed a keynote speech by Supervisor Duane Hursfall, set the stage for an evening that was to emphasize the importance of "grass roots" action.

Parisi told the group that 3 questions must be answered in the minds of those to be affected by the boundary extension plan. These are, "What do I get? when do I get it? and how much will it cost?"

He also went on to tell the group that the men who prepared this study were "honest, well-intentioned men who did not feel that a comprehensive study was necessary or required". He emphasized the importance that such a study should hold to make an adequate review of tax rates, assessments etc.

Others sitting on the panel with the 5 Township Officers and Parisi were Township Attorney, Paul Mandel, Phil Hampton and Don Keylon from Johnston and Anderson, developers of the water-sewer study for the township and William Hettiger, from Stratton Associates, financial consultants for the township.

The village plan as published recently in the "News" was gone over point by point. As Clerk Howard Altman read from the report, Supervisor Hursfall read questions which had been submitted by township residents. These were fielded to panel members most familiar with the question asked. After the report had been digested questions and comments were forthcoming from the floor.

Of primary concern to the persons present was what would happen to their taxes, the question of roads, lakes and the new proposed real estate development on the north side of Deer Lake. On the sewerage-water question, Hursfall told the group that Independence Township has purchased enough capacity in the projected Clinton-Oakland system to take care of village needs. "If the village proposes to go it alone on sewers, and-if they want access to the Clinton-Oakland, we could charge them for space. If we all do it together, we could do it considerably cheaper."

In regard to roads, the question was raised about how the village could care for the gravel roads when they do not even own a grader. Delving deeper into the road question were residents who wondered what would become of some that are now private. Mandel outlined 3 plans by which the village could obtain ownership of these.

Another questioner asked why the village was interested in the control of the four area lakes, when they had recently relinquished responsibility of Deer Lake beach to the township? Parisi told the group "Water safety regulations can be imposed by any governing unit, while other items come under the control of the Department of Conservation".

Persons present were also concerned with the fact that there would be no referendum on the subject. Parisi thoroughly explained the set-up of the village (a general law village) which deems that no vote is necessary; only approval by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors is necessary to put this plan into effect. Holly, Ortonville and Clarkston are the only 3 villages in Oakland County that are general law villages.

Clerk Altman urged that residents study and acquaint themselves thoroughly with the proposed plan while Supervisor Hallman inserted a plea for unity. "These are still our friends and we must live together" he told citizens who are obstinate against the proposal.

Village Council gives views, hear objections to boundary extension

By Jim Sherman

Most of the objections at the hearing called by the Village Council concerning proposed boundary extensions Monday night centered around: No referendum vote, recognition of petitions, and just plain not wanting to become part of the Village.

It was a good meeting in that the public listened to what the Council had to say, and for the most part emotions were under control. The nearly 300 present heard a 45 minute presentation by councilman David Leak, then took 2 hours to ask their questions and give their views.

In Leak's opening remarks he said, "I assume you have read the planning committee report, so I won't read it here. I would like to tell you the duty and aim of the Council is to provide the people with the basic needs with the minimum of expense."

He went on to tell the five things the village can provide: 1. In a smaller unit of government like the village the individual vote counts more; 2. We can help protect the natural resources, 5 lakes, better than the township; 3. We are better able to protect the natural areas south of I-75 in maintaining its natural beauty; 4. Police protection; 5. We can give road services and lighting.

Leak and village engineer Howard Kieft also covered present and potential road tax income. The present income from the state for road maintenance and construction in the village is $7500 annually. Kieft analyzed each road in the proposed annexed area and estimated the income to be $22,000 annually based on distribution of gas and weight taxes for 1966.

He said, "And, if the Ford farm property were developed today and were part of the village the total gas and weight tax to the village would be about $31,400 a year." He said rights of way on present streets in the area involved are 60 feet, which meets county subdivision requirements.

Councilman Leak also analyzed the village property tax. He said, "The present millage averages 3 mills per $1,000 assessed evaluation. If your home is valued at $7,000 you'd pay $21,000 additional tax. We feel we can provide all the people in the area being considered and the present village residents with services we are now rendering for the same rate."

Other points made by Leak were: The village is not considering incorporation into a city, the council is working on zoning, building, and road codes and would not annex an area until the codes are adopted, the village expects to ask the township to provide the village with sewers, village does not plan to create a water system, and total value, number of residences, number of people and amount of taxes returned to the village from the state would double if the area were annexed. "Then these figures would double if the Ford property is developed as planned," he said.

At the beginning of the question and answer period five residents presented petitions opposing the annexation that bore the signatures of 625 people, plus, at least 86 of which came from the village.

Councilman Keith Hallman responded to the petitions by saying he was "much impressed by the number of signatures, but I would be much more impressed if the petitions could have been circulated after both sides were heard." The question on petitions and their possible influence came up several times and some in attendance supported Hallman while others pointed out that the nearly 100% representation of residents in the affected areas on the petitions should be most meaningful.

Village attorney Jack Banycky answered the referendum vote questions. He said the village is a general law village under Act 3 of 1895 and under this law a vote cannot be held on boundary changes. Residents voiced considerable objection to this saying they were being forced into something without being able to vote. It was pointed out by Banycky and later former state representative Lloyd Anderson, now a resident of Deer Lake area, that the village can only ask the county board of supervisors to approve the boundary extension, then they hold a public hearing and make the final decision.

Some objected to the proposed change because they didn't want village services, village taxes, or to be included in the annexed area with the proposed Ford farm development northwest of Clarkston. One resident said he might favor being part of the village if this 324 acre parcel were omitted.

Lloyd Kirby, one of the owners of the former Ford farm, said if that was the case they'd withdraw their petition presented the council last June. Later he said if it's going to take 90 days for the village to act and more time for the county, winter will be here and that's too long to wait for a decision. "We are going to develop the property whether its in the village or township," Kirby said.

During the evening Kirby outlined the plans of his partners in developing the former Ford property.

It is expected the Village Council and Township Board will discuss the matter further at another joint meeting and at a later date the Council will vote whether to petition the Supervisors for a boundary extension or not. Leak said, "We owe it to all parties concerned to make a decision in the next 90 days."

Jim's Jottings

I read somewhere once, and it wasn't Ann Landers column, that men wishing to diet should make their wives aware of their plans because their cooperation is needed to make the diet successful. They can plan their meals to suit their husband's needs instead of aiming everything at the children.

When I climbed on the scales a couple weeks ago they creaked as the dial settled around 230 pounds. That's too much I said to myself. My best playing weight is 217. That's what it was when I was 28 and, again, I read somewhere this is what you should try to maintain as you pass 40.

Now, when I diet I just quit eating, almost. That is I quit after breakfast. When I'm not dieting I never eat breakfast. Just a cup of coffee and reading the Free Press precede my trip to the office. When I go on a diet I start eating breakfast, I poached egg on an unbuttered slice of toast.

Ordinarily I eat a full meal at lunch. When dieting I'll skip lunch or eat a salad. Dinner is another salad or a broiled steak.

This is, of course, with the cooperation of Hazel. When I started the current fast I told her of my plans to lose weight. Now with her complete cooperation I went home the first night for dinner. Setting down ready to bark at the kids for what they did wrong all day and to eat my salad I was faced with scalloped potatoes with ham and no salad.

This did one thing Hazel has been trying to accomplish for years. I didn't bark at the kids during my only time of the day when we're all together. I barked at her instead.

Naturally, this did a great deal of good. The next night I got fried chicken, potatoes and gravy and the next night roast duck, dressing and gravy. I am now down to 229.

Last spring I went to my first play at the Fisher Theatre. Hazel and I enjoyed it so much we bought season tickets. The first for a show during the curfew at the time of the riots. The second was for "Henry, Sweet Henry." My timing is great for being able to review the shows for our readers that they might follow our recommendations. "Henry" was a great, funny play . . . and it's run in Detroit is over.

It is probably better that I don't go into much detail on this hilarious show and cause you to eat your heart out.

If you have children and they're anything like ours when it came time to start Kindergarten, they were excited, anxious, and joyous over the prospects. They could hardly wait. Neither could their mother.

What disappointment they face and what a problem has been created for the mothers of kindergarteners in school districts where teachers have no contracts.

How does a mother explain to their excited, anxious, happy

Few decide township police vote Monday, it's "NO"

Monday it was a case of 11% of the eligible voters in Independence deciding the question of a police department for the unincorporated portion of the township.

A total of 561 persons cast their vote and turned down the proposed 1 mill tax levy for supporting the department, 349 to 212. There are about 5,000 eligible voters in the township. The issue failed in all five precincts. At precinct 1 the vote was 68-48, precinct 2, 60-32, precinct 3, 83-55, precinct 4, 94-56, and precinct 5, 44-21.

Asked to comment about the results, township clerk Howard Altman said, "I guess you could say the people didn't want it."

Clarkston school enrollment nears predicted figure

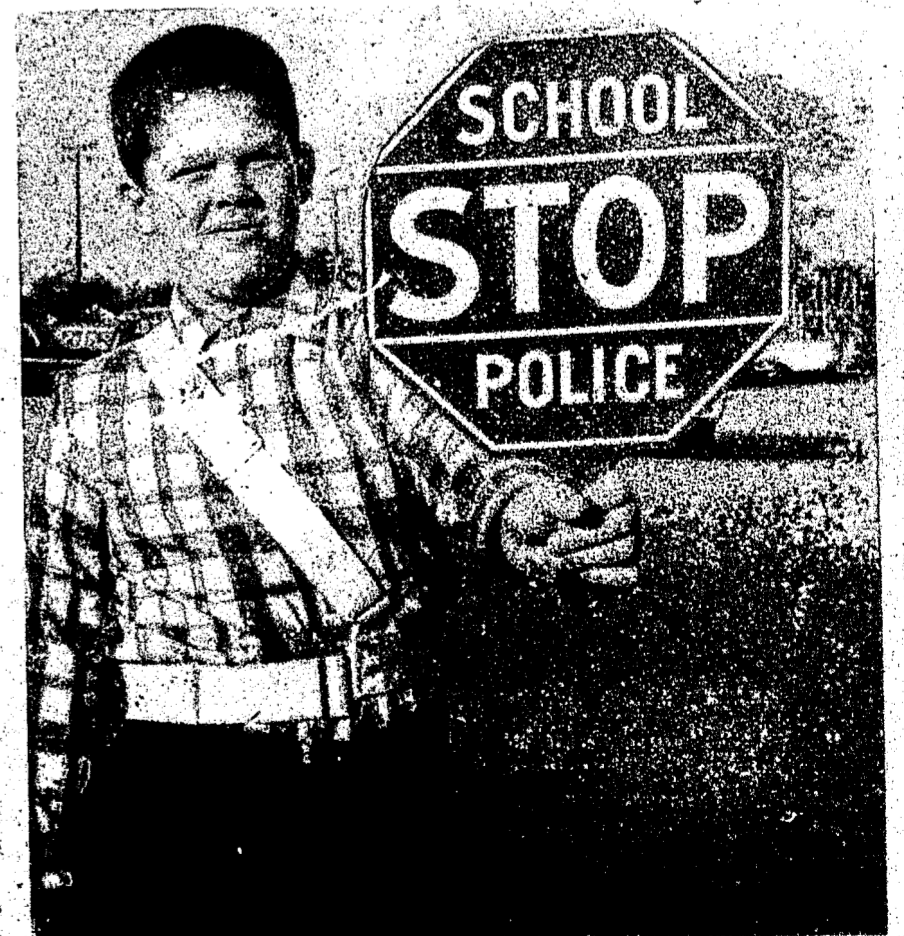

Prior to the opening of schools in the Clarkston district, assistant superintendent Floyd Vincent estimated the enrollment for the 1967-68 year to be 5850. He's going to be very close. Friday, the 29th is the official count date, but unofficially the count stands at 5825. Of that 900 are in the junior high school and 1360 in the senior high.

Last year at this time total enrollment was 5675 with 921 in the junior high and 1341 in the senior high.

5-year old that they can't go to school because they aren't open? That this teacher they love before they see her is "withholding her services?" The crushed hearts make a grown man cry.

Scrambled Eggs

By Rustie Leaf

Boy am I abashed. Abashed meaning: Astonished, self-confidence destroyed. Apparently as people begin to accept their paper plate serving of Scrambled Eggs, they find themselves faced with a new problem. Unscrambling. They read but don't believe. Many dear souls had the n-e-r-v-e to ask me last week if that "paint deal was true" Imagine! Stretch I might, but fib almost never. That double dumb paint deal was 99% true, word for word, EXCEPT the line that said "I then charged up the stairs"...that was stretched. Truth is I haven't charged up anything but accounts and bath scales for some time. When I sit down to write, I sit down with confidence...not that what I say will be okay, but that somewhere there is always someone that can back me up...they usually go into hiding after, so it may take a while before you meet them.

Windy as I get at times, rest assured...there's still more fact than fiction in this old bird.

So as long as you now know I tell only the truth, would you believe as a teenager, I always set my hair with toothpicks...

Clarkston rips Oxford 19-0

By Mel Vaara

After an Oxford touchdown was called back due to a penalty, it was Clarkston all the way! Rich Johnson hit Mark Erickson on 19 yard pass for the 1st touchdown. Johnson scored the 2nd on an 8 yard jaunt and Jeff Keyser finished the scoring with a 54 yard run off tackle.

Oxford took the opening kickoff and Marsh ran the ball to the 30. After a couple line plunges by Schultz and Cummings, which only netted 5 yards by a startled Clarkston defense. However, a clipping penalty on the 20 ruined the beautiful run.

With the ball on the 35, Oxford ran for two more 1st downs, but an incomplete pass and some good defensive work led by Steve Parker, Lyle Walter and Albert Allen stopped them on the 14. This was the furthest that Oxford penetrated for the remainder of the contest.

Johnson and Keyser ran for 1st downs but a 3rd down pass from Johnson fell incomplete and Clarkston was forced to punt.

Oxford failed to move the ball and were forced to punt. Johnson moved the team to the 9, mainly on a 18 yard run by Keyser and a 3rd down pass from Johnson to Ostrum. However, 2 straight 5 yard penalties for illegally moving the ball on the snap hampered the drive and it eventually came to a halt when Keyser fumbled inside the 5 yard line.

With only 4:12 remaining in the half, the Wolves put together a 49 yard touchdown drive.

Erickson chalked up 11 yards on the next play the Wolves ensued a 15 yard penalty for holding. Two incomplete passes to Ostrum looked like the march would come to a halt. Coach Kenyon sent in a play on 3rd down and it netted 42 yards. It is called the "Flea Flicker". It starts out with Johnson passing to Ostrum and Ostrum latering the ball to Keyser. Keyser eventually was knocked out of bounds on the 9. This play always seems to work sometimes throughout the year and it came at an opportune time.

Three plays lost 5 yards and on the 4th down with only 41 seconds left, Johnson hit Erickson with a pass as two defenders were crawling all over him for the 1st 6 points of the year. At the start of the last half Erickson ran back the punt to his own 40. It took Johnson only 10 plays to score the second touchdown. In the March Erickson had 13 yards, Keyser 18 yards, Johnson 20 yards and a pass from Johnson to Ostrum earned 12 more. Johnson took the ball over for the last 7 yards.

Still in the 3rd quarter, Johnson faked everyone but Keyser as he took the hand-off and ran 54 yards with hardly a hand on him.

After the 3rd touchdown Coach Kenyon let the remainder of the boys play. They almost scored twice, but two 15 yard penalties ruined two drives.

Quarterback Bob Palladino literally filled the air with footballs as completed 7-12 in one quarter of play. Lewis caught 5 passes for 58 yards. Hood caught one for 15 more and Keyser grabbed one for 13 yards.

Rick Johnson threw 7 passes and completed 4 for 85 yards, all of them to Gary Ostrum. Mark Erickson gained 49 yards on 10 carries. Jeff Keyser gained 114 yards on 13 carries. Rich Johnson gained 24 yards on 10 carries. Rich Porritt gained 12 yards on 3 carries. Bill Gould gained 7 yards on 4 carries.

Coach Ralph Kenyon said, "His strong suit would be defense," it certainly was evident in the Oxford clash.

This Friday the Wolves will entertain Bloomfield Hills, this will open play for Clarkston in the league play.

ALL ALONE--Gerald Ostrom looks around after catching a button-hook pass to find no tacklers close by. It was a good gain for Clarkston and the completion of 1 of the 12 passes caught by Wolves against Oxford Friday night in the season opener in Oxford. Clarkston won the game, 19-0.

LET'S HAVE A HAND--Cheerleader Jan Peters does her part in stimulating those cheers the players love to hear.

Notes on the Orchard

By Constance Lektzian

It looks as if we are going to have our warm weather now that summer is almost officially over and everyone has had their vacations. Oh, well, that's Michigan for you.

Mrs. Jack Dougherty of 6562 Pear Street entertained last Thursday at bridge. Those present were Mrs. Wayne Yager, Mrs. Charles Klann of Pear Street and Mrs. Bud Verhey of Plum Drive. On this beautiful fall afternoon, they enjoyed their cards and refreshments on the outdoor patio.

Jacoba Kuiper, exchange student from The Netherlands, whose American family are the John Walts of 6479 Snowapple Drive, saw her first baseball game last Saturday. She and Sandy, the Walts' daughter, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Johnson of Detroit. Sandy's grandparents took the girls to Tiger Stadium where, happily enough, the Tigers won. She has found much to get used to in her foster country and so far all of it has been interesting. Friday night she attended the football game between Clarkston and Oxford, another event that is listed as a first for her.

A week after the Nick Lekas of 6655 Plum Drive got their number two son Nicky into kindergarten, they saw their number one boy, George off to college. George, a 1967 graduate of Clarkston High will be attending Ferris Institute at Big Rapids, Michigan. Classes officially start on September 25 but freshmen are required to be there the prior week.

The Raymond Pine's of 6121 Waldon Road returned from a week-end at East Jordan in northern Michigan. They were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Sutherland of Pontiac, who have a cabin on the shore of the Jordan River. There has been enough frost in that area so that many of the trees along the river have turned into a very beautiful sight.

Just before leaving for their week-end trip, the Pines saw son Dennis off to Oakland University. Dennis, a 1966 graduate of Clarkston High School, is a biology major at the University.

Mrs. Merlyn Shook of 5092 Heath Street was an honoree at a pink and blue shower Thursday. Mrs. Floyd Bartley opened her home on 25 W. Longfellow Street, Pontiac, for the affair. Co-hostess with Mrs. Bartley was Mrs. Albert Tompanek, also of Pontiac. Twelve guests were present, including Mrs. Shook's mother and mother-in-law, Mrs. Floyd Clark and Mrs. Earl Shook. Games were played and refreshments were served from a pink and blue decorated table centered with a stork. The honoree received many lovely gifts.

Mr. Desmond Whaley came up from Columbus, Ohio this past week-end for a visit with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whaley of 6604 Plum Drive. He was accompanied by another son and daughter-in-law, Dick and Marie Whaley, who with their son Jeff, are also residents of Columbus. Sunday the Russell Simonsons of Amy Drive, the parents of Mrs. Robert Whaley, came over and took the Whaley family with them for a trial trip in their new house car. This is the newest successor to the familiar house trailer. Sometimes called a camper bus, it is a completely self contained unit, with all the comforts of home. The group made the trip to Ypsilanti to visit relatives.

Last Saturday afternoon 38 little boys and girls showed up at the door of the Larry Thompson's of 6645 Almond Lane. They helped young Ronnie Thompson celebrate his fifth birthday. All the decorations were in red and white with dozens of balloons festooned about the room. Games were played and refreshments of cake, punch, and ice cream served. Ronnie's sister, seven year old Wendy and his brother Todd, age three, joined in the fun.

The Jack Dougherty's of 6562 Pear Street celebrated their wedding anniversary on September 15th. Hosting them at a dinner party at the Villa Inn in Lake Orion were the Doug Griffiths of 6606 Pear Street. Coming down from Bay City to join the festivities were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Johnson, brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Dougherty. Also included in the party were Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Mastromatteo of Lake Orion, former residents of Pear Street. The four couples later drove to Oxford to see the game between Clarkston High and Oxford.

Pamela Ellen, second daughter of the Merlyn Shook's of

Red Cross aide at Great Lakes

Miss Deborah Lynn Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Peterson, 6140 Andersonville, Waterford, Michigan, has been appointed a Red Cross recreation aide and is assigned to duty at the U.S. Naval Hospital, Great Lakes, Illinois.

Miss Peterson is a 1967 graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio, where she earned her degree in sociology. On Campus she was president of Orchesis, modern dance group, and house chairman of Kappa Kappa Gamma, social sorority.

The Red Cross hospital recreation program is varied enough to include the casualties from Vietnam who might require long-term care as well as the serviceman who needs only a few days hospitalization. Red Cross workers and volunteers conduct games, contests and parties for ward patients and arranges entertainment in the recreation hall. They work closely with the medical staff in tailoring special activities to the needs of individual patients.

Recreation service for patients is part of the total program of service to the military provided by the American Red Cross, acting in its capacity as liaison between the community and the serviceman.

PJA to meet

The Clarkston Elementary PTA will meet Thursday evening, September 21 at 7:30 P.M. The classrooms will be open for inspection during the evening.

Speaker for the group will be Dr. Kingsley Montgomery, noted psychologist. He is the Director of Childrens Services in the Waterford Township Schools. His subject will be "What makes children the way they are today and how to detect some of their problems."

Local Round Dance Club starts season

The "Square Rounders" Round Dance club held its first dance of the 1967-68 season last Tuesday Sept. 12th at the Clarkston Community Center. Twenty couples were in attendance. They were instructed in the new dance of the month "Sweet Misery" by the club's instructors; Connie and Bessie Dahl. The club members also demonstrated a special dance called "Walking in the Sunshine."

The club meets each 2nd and 4th Tuesday of the month at the Community Center and Round Dancers are welcome as guests. A limited number of memberships are available. For information call 625-1914.

Offer baby sitting course

A Baby-Sitting instruction class sponsored by the Clarkston Womens Club will begin Thursday evening, September 28 from 7-8 P.M. at the Junior High School. It will run for 4 consecutive weeks on Thursdays -- the same time and place.

The course is open to 13 and 14 year olds with a 25 cent fee charged for the course.

There will be four specially planned programs. One talk on safety will be presented by representatives from the local police and fire department. A practical nurse will give a program on "Infant Care" and a Home Economics instructor will discuss "Menus for Toddlers."

The final meeting will consist of a panel discussion and a question and answer period.

Becoming commonplace throughout the community are the Blue Helping Hand signs that were placed in windows last year. Luck has allowed the signs to have few needs. However David Campbell, a fifth grader at the Clarkston Elementary school will verify that when needed they sure come in handy. Returning from school last Friday to his home on Hummingbird the ten year old fell in the parking lot of the Senior High school and cut his hand. He realized it was a bad cut and remembered the Helping Hand home on his block; that of Mrs. Charles Robertson. Mrs. Robertson took the boy to his home and from there he was taken to the doctor, where his hand required eight stitches. Early morning accident claims life

A Pontiac Township woman was killed in an accident early Monday morning in Independence Township.

Mrs. Donald W. Erickson, 44, of 2708 Auburn, died in the emergency room of Pontiac General Hospital. Reported in serious condition from the same accident was Virginia Lee Thomas, 34, of 3768 Auburn, Pontiac Township.

Oakland county deputies reported that they were unable to determine who was driving the car. The car went out of control on I-75, a half a mile north of Clintonville road, apparently went off the road to the right, then careened across to the left shoulder and struck a railing. Only the one car was involved in the 2:00 a.m. accident.

Area accidents reported

Two horses were injured when a trailer pulled by a pickup truck came loose on Sunday. The accident occurred on White Lake Road near Andersonville Lake Road. Sheriff officers report that Francisco Roditus of 8825 White Lake Road was pulling the horse trailer on White

Do us a favor

What shape were your car windows in yesterday morning? Right now, for those who are leaving their cars outside all night, they are finding their windows covered with a heavy dew.

What shape were you in when you left for work yesterday morning? Didn't get enough sleep the night before? We feel for you. But, when you get behind the wheel of your car, wake up.

The little guys scrambling around town on their bikes, dashing on foot from corner to corner, are in just as much of a hurry to get to school on time as you are to get to work. Maybe they didn't get much sleep last night either.

During those morning rush hours, the kids are all over the streets, running between parked cars, half asleep and half overjoyed seeing their buddies.

Do us a favor. Clean off your windows before you start your car in the morning and be responsible for the little fellows. You'll never live it down if you don't let the little guys grow up.

Bring 'em back ALIVE!

"If It Fitz . . ."

Girls leave little to imagine

By Jim Fitzgerald

As a dedicated girl-watcher, specializing in legs, I feel disloyal saying this, but . . .

I like to use my imagination as well as my eyes.

And with the way women have been shedding cloth lately, who needs imagination?

This is what I said to myself, because my wife wasn't speaking to me, as we sneaked out of a movie theatre in a Detroit suburb recently.

"I will take you to an art theatre and further your education," I had told her. "You will feel very sophisticated because this is a Swedish movie and you won't understand the dialog. You will have to read the words as they are printed across the bottom of the screen just as it was in the beginning."

Well, it turned out this was called an art movie because tickets cost $2.50 and it was being shown at the Trans-Lux Krim in Highland Park.

If it was shown at the Gayety

Burlesk downtown, at 50 cents a seat, it would be called a dirty movie.

(Moral: When buying culture, don't be over-awed by the package. A dime store ring fits neatly inside a Tiffany box.)

The name of this movie is I, A WOMAN. It is the touching, intimate story of a well-stacked young nurse who loves men and hates clothes. Every time this bimbo sees a man old enough, but not too old, she peels and grabs. She doesn't even wait until her male patients are well.

Steady students of this nonsense (Mother and Aunt Madeline) know that Old Dad likes to paint himself a swinger. I gamble and drink and sneer at Lawrence Welk and worship at the Sinatra Shrine. No "adult only" movie is going to spook me. I thought.

But I, A WOMAN is MUCH, TOO MUCH. It is a skin and sex show, pure and simple, with no redeeming feature. It makes a feeble pretense toward artiness by employing unusual camera angles. But who cares how a navel looks when you have your nose in it? The only thing good about this film is that it is cleansing. After you see it, you want to take a bath.

"When did they start showing such movies outside of stag parties?" I asked a friend who is in the movie business.

He explained that "nudie" movies are becoming popular all over the country. "They are cheap to produce and they make a lot of money. The law doesn't seem to mind, as long as little kids are barred. This is fine with the theatres because there are plenty of adults who love this type of sick entertainment."

"Why?" I wondered.

"These people want to see something a little bigger than life for their money. Something they don't see on the street everyday. But take a look at some of the dames strutting the streets today. Their skirts hardly cover their fannies. A theatre has to show a lot to show more than a guy can see on a busy corner. So they are now showing practically everything," he said.

"It used to be that women were modest. They held their skirts down when the wind got frisky. They didn't want the poolroom bums seeing their underwear. Today, a lot of young girls couldn't care less. Ever watch a woman bend down or sit in a mini-skirt?"

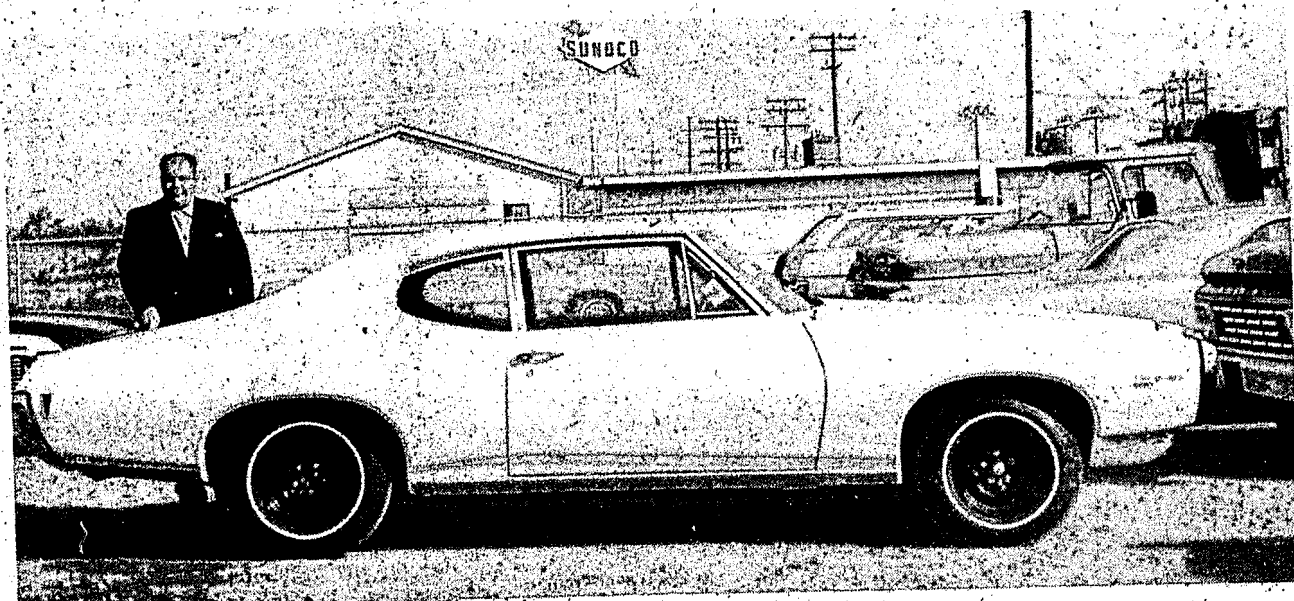

There you are. Living is simply a lot looser these days. The movies are reflecting a new morality, not creating it. So don't bomb the theatre. It is better you have a long talk with your kids. Or with yourself.

As for girl-watching, the other night I watched Twiggy on TV. If she is what the girls want to be, it doesn't make any difference to me what they don't wear shopping.

I would rather stay home and imagine reruns of the days when girls were girls and boys had to peek. Δ sheep come in and then a Llama, my chances of keeping pigs and other beasts like hyenas, goats and cheetahs out were good.

Last month, Kevin turned 6. This little guy is far from shy. A month before his birthday he was batting his big blue eyes in everyone's direction reminding them that he had his day coming up.

Of course the Pied Piper, Dr. No, didn't escape Kevin's hint, "Don't forget Doc, my birthday's just around the corner."

Cal and I tried in every way to put a halt to his jubilee. We even nailed him down to, "The next time you mention your birthday, you're going to have to wait another week for the day to come." That worked just fine. His birthday ended up coming sixteen weeks late.

Two days after the candle ceremony, Mrs. No, that's the doctor's wife, called and asked if we were going to be home. We assured her that we were and would have the coffee pot turned on.

A half hour passed and they arrived in their small, American made, compact, unsafe car. The doctor was all dressed up like he was going to visit the queen. Mrs. No was all dressed up 'too. And, their daughter was dressed elegantly and so was the doctor's mother.

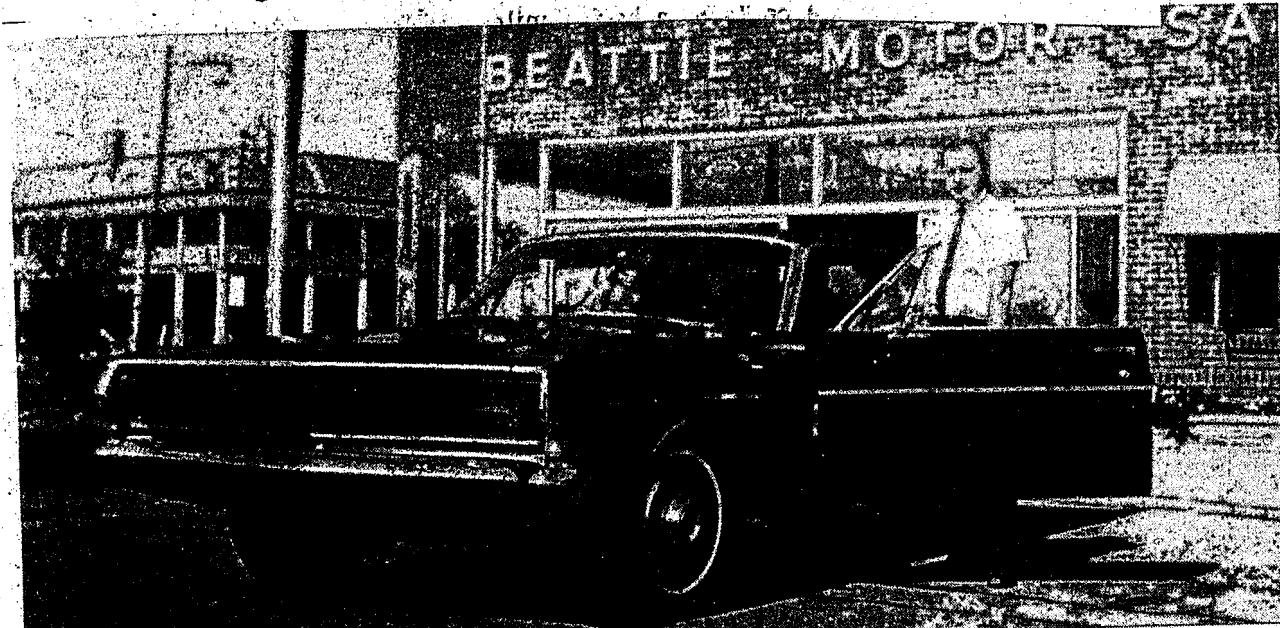

All four of them got out of the tiny, unsafe, American car. At first their greetings were normal and natural. There was a twinkle in everyone's eye. They told us that they couldn't stay for coffee because they were on their way to go out for dinner.

We were puzzled. "Why were they visiting when they couldn't visit with us?" was the thought racing through my mind.

The doctor's daughter, Sam, came from around the other side of the car. She held a leash. On the end of the leash, kabonging away was a baby Billy Goat.

Sam said, "His name is Mr. William."

is for your birthday. See, we didn't forget. Sam has trained him to lead on a leash and nurse from this bottle. He's all yours. Take good care of him."

I was speechless. Here was my veto running around the yard. "See him run. Look at how fast he can eat the evergreens. There he goes. Ha Ha, I think he ran into the side of the barn. No, he just jumped over the fence."

Dr. No promised that he would come soon and perform a little surgery on Mr. William. Sunday, the doctor arrived and turned Big Bad Bill into Sweet William. With friends like the good doctor, who needs any Minnies, or something.

Methodists expand

The First Methodist Church is launching a finance crusade Sunday, September 24th-October 1st. The plan is to expand the existing church facility on Waldon Road to include space for a Sunday School and a Fellowship Hall. Reverend Frank Cozadd explained that the present Church School Building on Church Street will no longer meet the needs of an expanding congregation and the community. The new facility will be built in colonial style to blend with the present sanctuary and will include expanded church school facilities as well as a fellowship hall to seat approximately 300.

The finance crusade will commence Sunday, September 24 at the regular 10:00 A.M. worship service. Reverend Co-zadd invites all friends of the church to attend. The speaker will be the Crusade Director, Dr. Edgar E. Walker, Department of Finance and Field Service, Division of National Missions of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church. The Finance Crusade will reach its apex on Sunday, October 1, when every member and friend of First Methodist will be asked to pledge to the Building Fund and Operating Budget of the Church. They do not expect an equal pledge from each one, but they do ask for equal sacrifice.

flew in and spent the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Glennie and daughter, Donna, were also visitors at the Glennie home over the weekend. Mrs. Emma Young's brother, Fred Strasburg of Grand Haven, and his son of Detroit spent a few hours with her on Sunday.

The Royal Neighbors held their September meeting and pot

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Here is an example of a one-sided battle! It's that same old battle between the irresistible force and the immovable object.

Study the rounding edges of this massive granite formation. The wind is winning—persuasively and very definitely.

Note the deep clefts where chips have fallen from the old block. Rain, snow, ice are the victors here.

And see the pines growing topside on this barren bulk. Each year their roots press deeper into the hidden faults.

What does this prove? Well, for one thing it shows that the lifeless rock is no match for the moving, living, growing forces in God's creation. So never overestimate the strength of that stubborn secularism that sometimes appears to dominate our world.

In worship and religious pursuit, millions are linking their souls with the vital spiritual forces which shall prevail!

Transfers, fencing, go-carts considered by school board

Transfer of students, go-cart control, and fencing were the main items considered at the last Clarkston board of education meeting.

Twenty seven parents of students in the northwest section of the school district appeared before the board to ask why 80 children from their area had been transferred to the North Sashabaw elementary school.

It was the third time in 3 years that students from this area had had their schools changed. They are in the Andersonville attendance area and have been enrolled there and Bailey Lake school prior to this most recent transfer.

Dr. Leslie Green, superintendent of schools, assured the parents every effort would be made to keep from transferring these students in the future. Increasing enrollment made the move necessary and the North Sashabaw school provides 15 additional rooms for kindergarten and 3 through 6, the parents were told.

Floyd Vincent, assistant superintendent of schools, said the board has purchased a 30-acre site at Holcomb and Bridge Lake Roads and there would only need to be about 75 more homes built in that area to justify building a new elementary school on the site.

Two neighbors of the Sashabaw elementary school were present to see of the board had made a decision on fencing the rear property line of the school. Vincent said the line is about 600 feet long and he estimates the cost would be $16,000. At present, he said the only areas fenced are where they want to keep people out, such as the bus lot, football field, etc. The board is going to check other school district policies on fencing before making a decision. They have offered to pay half the cost of fencing one line.

Elimination of go-carts, mini-bikes and other unlicensed vehicles on school parking lots is being considered by the board. The recent accident involving a go-cart has prompted the action, however, such vehicles have not been encouraged before.

sor of the G.A.A. is Miss Sonia Letcher.

At the Sashabaw United Presbyterian youth group last Sunday, plans were being made for money-raising projects. The youths plan to sell candy in the near future. After the meeting was adjourned, refreshments were served and records were played. Dr. James O'Neill was supposed to give a talk on drugs but, unfortunately, he couldn't make it.

Counselor Week observed by Clarkston, Oakland counselors

Dr. L.F. Greene, Superintendent of Clarkston Community Schools, has announced that local school counselors will be participating in Oakland Area Counselor Week-September 24-30. Clarkston High School Counselors are: Harry McGrath, Marilyn Hanson, Margo Lay and William Adams. Clarkston Junior High School Counselors are: Mickey Beattie and William Bonnell. Sponsoring the Counselor Week is the county organization - Oakland Area Counselor's Association (OACA).

A special display of vocational, educational and other materials will be set up in the Pontiac Mall. Counselors from area high schools, including Clarkston, will be in the Mall from 3:00 p.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday of that week, to answer questions about counseling.

Special displays are being planned by Clarkston Senior High and Junior High Counselors in their buildings during the week. Parents are always welcome to contact counselors about their children and perhaps this special week would be a good time to visit the counseling offices.

In the Junior and Senior High Schools of Clarkston there are 2260 students receiving guidance and counseling the six counselors, 900 in the Junior High and 1360 in the Senior High. In the public schools of Oakland County, 350 school counselors respond to the needs of 120,000 students at the junior and senior high levels.

At least part of the reason for the special Counselor Week is to interest the public in understanding counselor services. And OACA advisor said, "It is believed that the support of an informed public will add significantly to each counselor's effectiveness as he attempts to bring about guidance services to the students assigned to him."

Many of the teenagers, as well as their parents, are interested and concerned over the annexation of Clarkston. Some of the youths really don't feel one way or another, but others find that having more shopping facilities nearby would be real nice and fun, and they suggest ideas such as a movie theatre, and other teenage recreation centers. But there again, others feel strongly in the other direction and that having the annexation would be disastrous and Clarkston would be too crowded. They express that the surrounding lakes would be too polluted to swim in and there would be too many disreputable people coming in into the area from Detroit and Pontiac. What really happens remains to be seen.

Two weeks ago, on Thursday,

September seventh, the faculty of the high school had a picnic on a lake just north of town. There were about thirty-five teachers and their families, who enjoyed the recreation, such as volley-ball, horse-shoes, and lawn bowling.

At the high school, the G.A.A. (Girls Athletic Association) held its first meeting after school. After the meeting was called to order, the new members paid their dues and then ideas for fall and spring activities were suggested. After that the girls were allowed to do as they wished, in the way of sports, such as jumping and learning tricks on the trampoline, playing ping-pong and having races, games, and being pushed around on the four-wheeled skate boards which were made available.
