Jim's Jottings

Congress is making demands on the administration that if LBJ and his bully boys want the income surtax they had better get serious about cutting government expenses wherever and whenever they can.

Every newspaper editor, magazine editor, and TV and radio news director could offer a good place to start cutting. That would be in the public relations departments which every bureaucratic tycoon uses to toot his own horn.

Every mail call at a newspaper office is loaded with at least 30 testimonials in the form of biased news releases, self praise and just plain hog wash.

At least one publisher did something about it. He wrote a classic letter which follows.

August 2, 1967

Mary K. Coughlin, Executive Officer
Interagency Board of Examiners

Dear Mrs. Coughlin:

This morning I received a notice of a job opening from your office, with a request that it be published "without cost to the government."

Mrs. Coughlin, the federal government is about to raise my income taxes, my social security taxes, my medicare taxes, my mailing costs, and God only knows what else.

Job printing is an important part of my business. My principal competitor in the envelope-printing business is the federal government. The Post Office prints envelopes below cost, so while I lose customers, I also pay to subsidize this competitor.

Every day my office is deluged with publicity handouts from every conceivable branch of the federal government. The purpose of these handouts is to convince the public, through this newspaper, that the government is all-wise and all-beneficient, that the current administration is wonderful, and that we citizens are getting the best of all possible deals.

I'm taxed to pay for this junk, the vast bulk of which is propaganda rather than news, and then I have to pay the garbage men to haul it away.

And then this morning your office comes along with an announcement which is nothing more than a classified advertisement, and I'm asked to run it without cost to the government. Well, I won't.

Mrs. Coughlin, I'm not an extremist, or a John Birchler, or a member of any group dedicated to the violent overthrow of the U.S. government. I'm just a country newspaperman, trying to make a living, and I've had it up to here with taxes, handouts, self-serving publicity, government competition, and requests for free space.

We'll run your ad for five cents a word. That's what we charge our customers, most of whom watch their money more carefully than Uncle Sam watches his.

Sincerely, JOHN VICKERMAN, Editor & Manager,
Sioux Valley News, Canton, South Dakota

Board meeting date changed

The regularly scheduled meeting of the Independence Township Board for October 17 has been moved ahead one day to Monday, October 16.

At the last meeting held on October 3, bills in the amount of $8693.33 were paid and the results of the township election regarding the establishment of a police department were certified. 562 votes were cast in that election at which the proposal was defeated.

Richard Scribner has been engaged to make all plumbing inspections at all public facilities hereafter constructed. State regulations call for a journeyman plumber, licensed to make these inspections.

As a guide for control of new land development within the township, "Standard Design and Construction Specifications" was adopted. This had been presented to the board by the township engineers, Johnson and Anderson.

In other business a transfer of ownership of an SDM license was granted. The 1967-68 license has been transferred from Maurice Boucard to Betty Boucard as special administrator of the Estate. The business is located at 6450 Dixie Highway.

A bid for rewiring the fire hall was tabled for more study.

Discussion was held concerning 2 proposed developments within the township. They are a "planned unit development" proposed for the area at the corner of Clarkston and Sashabaw Roads. Planning consultant Robert Dieball submitted his opinion relative to rezoning that property. The developer, Albert Lupaloff will be asked to submit more detailed plans for study.

Township planners will also take a look at the proposals for Morgan Lake Estates development. This project includes 10 acres in Independence Township, but a large portion of it would be in Orion Township.

Injury accident Sunday

Four persons were taken to Pontiac General Hospital following an accident at the corner of Sashabaw and Maybee Roads on Sunday.

Injured were Joseph Perry of 1160 Lakeview in Pontiac, driver of one of the cars. He received type B injuries and his passenger Donald Rowe of 275 S. Edith, also of Pontiac received type C injuries.

Driver of the other car, Frances Mirouski of 3227 Baldwin in Pontiac had type A injuries and her passenger, Angela Waid had type C.

The Mirouski car was traveling north on Sashabaw Road when Perry pulled out in front of her and she could not stop, the driver told sheriff officers who investigated.

Perry was cited for failure to yield the right of way.

Jack O Lantern time

The Clarkston area Jaycees will hold their first annual pumpkin sale Oct. 28 on a door to door basis through several township subdivisions.

Gerry Hennig, project chairman, will have two truck loads of pumpkins to sell.

The funds raised will be used to support various Jaycee sponsored community projects.

Your View

The News welcomes letters to the editor expressing any viewpoint on any issue of public interest. Letters must be signed, but names will be withheld on request. Please make letters as brief as possible.

Plans underway for CHS homecoming celebration

Plans are being finalized this week for the annual Clarkston High School Homecoming celebration. To be held next week the highlight of the celebration will be the gridiron contest between Brighton and Clarkston on the home field on October 20 at 8 P.M.

Activities for the week will begin with the Powder Puff game scheduled for Wednesday October 18. It will be the Senior girls against the Junior girls in a game of tag football. Over 125 girls are playing and they have worked hard for their positions. The game is scheduled to start at 7 P.M. on the field. This year a stipulation requires that all Junior High students and younger must be accompanied by a parent.

Enthusiasm is beginning to mount as to who will be the Homecoming Queen to reign over the festivities. Pre-Tapping ceremonies were conducted last Friday and the Queen's Assembly will be held on Friday, October 20.

Nominees for Queen are: Jan Peters, Cheryl Mansfield and Cindi Young. The candidates for Senior Maid are Nancy Weiss, Sally Radoye, Leslie Bell and Pattie Mulcrone. Junior Maid candidates are Nancy Bullard, Vickie Hull, Cindy Ford and Marty Woodward while the sophomore candidates are Laura MacGregor, Claudia Sawyer, Janet Martin and Nadin Blackett. Picked to represent the freshman class were Sharon Crosby, Linda Slade, Val LePere, and Cindy Porritt.

Float building is underway, too. Various clubs and organizations in addition to the various classes are hard at work. Another new rule this year forbids the students from working on the floats after 9 P.M. The penalty would be disqualification.

Following the football game, the Homecoming dance will be held. Plans this year call for a "dress up" dance, however not necessarily semi-formal. Theme of the festivity will be announced later.

Students see science presentation

Local students watched a research-in-action stage show entitled "Previews of Progress" at the Junior High on Wednesday, October 4.

The non-commercial show presented by General Motors seeks to encourage more student interest in science and engineering careers.

A highlight of the 40 minute program was the Sunmobile, a 15 inch model car that runs on sunlight. Eight button-like solar cells on the car's hood convert energy in sunlight into electricity. A 300 watt lamp, simulating the sun's rays, powered the car across a table top during the show. Those in charge emphasized that the Sunmobile was not designed to prove the feasibility of running automobiles on sunlight or to forecast it. It demonstrates, they said, the potential of the continuing search for new ways to harness for more efficient use the tremendous energy of the sun.

Two novel experiments involving "Man-made" molecules indicated modern chemistry's contributions to progress. Synthetic rubber was manufactured in a bottle in just 1 minute and a foam plastic cake "baked" itself in only 2 minutes.

Other demonstrations in the show covered the use of gyroscopes in modern navigation systems for space vehicles, aircraft and submarines and an explanation of how a gas turbine engine operates.

About 1,500,000 students and adults will see Previews this year. Since 1946, 30 million American students and adults have seen the show.

Bill Latozas, left, holds a unique car which was used last week in the "Previews of Progress" demonstration held at the Clarkston Junior High. Studying the futuristic car are: Mark Grubb, Ron Everly, John Ross, Kathy Mayer and Brenda Latham. In the background are the GM demonstrators, Stuart Guttentag and Steve Harris.

That's a lot of kids!

It's official now! There are 5821 students in the Clarkston Community Schools. The official count was tabulated on September 29: The last Friday in September is the date set by the state for taking this count. These figures were issued by George Barrie and Floyd Vincent.

In the High School, there are 1431 pupils while Junior High has 911.

Broken down by elementary schools, the count is as follows:

Andersonville	591
Clarkston Elementary	738
Bailey Lake	712
Pine Knob	653
Sashabaw	785

Fair at Lady of the Lakes

A Fun Fair is being staged at Our Lady of the Lakes on Saturday, October 21. Sponsored by the parents of the students, the Fair will be held in the High School gym from 11 A.M. until 5 P.M. on that day.

There will be games for everyone, prizes, refreshments and a country store.

Reunion in England

By Constance Lektzian

When young Minnie Weston emigrated from England to Canada, she never realized that it would be almost a half century before she returned. That was in 1920 and after her marriage, she and her husband lived for several years in Canada before moving to Clarkston. After living here for about 15 years, they left their home at 123 N. Main Street and moved to Drayton Plains. During all these years she hoped to visit England again.

On September 13, Minnie, now Mrs. Carl Anthony, left Metropolitan Airport for that long dreamed of trip. She was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. James Frady of 8118 Center Circle, Clarkston and Miss Kathy Cummings, daughter of the Raymond Cummings of 4827 Clarkston Road. They were met the next day in Glasgow, Scotland by Mrs. Anthony's brother, George Weston and the two saw each other for the first time in forty-seven years.

From there they motored to Hounslow, a suburb of London where the Weston's have their home. Here they met some of their nieces and nephews for the first time. While in the London area, they were taken to see such things as the changing of the guards and paid a midnight visit to Covent Garden where they saw the market being set up for the next day. Mrs. Frady and Miss Cummings found time for a shopping spree that took them down Regent Street, famous for its tailoring shops, and to Carnaby Street for a look at the mad, mod fashions.

From London they visited Somerset County in the west country and stayed with Mrs. Alfred Mather, who some thirty years ago visited Mrs. Anthony while she was still living in Clarkston. In nearby Devonshire County, at Lynmouth, they were guests of Mr. Robert Best, one of Mrs. Anthony's cousins.

They next drove across England, a trip of 239 miles that, due to the rolling terrain, took 8 1/2 hours. Along the way they took time out to visit the world famous Stonehenge. At Hayward Heath's, in Surrey County they had a family reunion at the home of Mr. Charles Best. On September 28, they said a very reluctant good-bye to all the people who had made their trip so memorable, and 6 1/2 hours later, were home again in the States.

Meeting again after 47 years, Mrs. Anthony stands right of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Weston.

Hot lunch Week is being observed in school lunch rooms throughout the country. Planning for the entire food operation in Clarkston schools starts at the High School in charge of Eleanor Sommers. Pictured are 3 of the cooks, Margaret Snyder, Lorrell Verbeck and Mrs. Blackerby. It takes a mighty big oven to turn out meals for the approximately 650 students who eat lunch daily at the High School alone. Upwards of 30 faculty members are served there too. Six women prepare the food, starting as early as 7 A.M. Student help assists them during the serving period. Mrs. Verbeck is the Cook-Manager while Eleanor Sommers heads the management end.

To head GOP group

Mrs. Evan Leonard will head the Independence Township Republican Club this year. She was elected President when the group met to elect officers on September 25. Their meeting was held at the Township Hall.

C. H. Lippincott will serve as Vice-President; Mrs. Gordon Bray will be the Recording Secretary and Mrs. Harold Ford, the Corresponding Secretary. Treasurer will be Mrs. Jack Frost and Board members elected are Leigh Bonner and Sheldon Smith. Both men will serve for 2 years.

SPORTS

Clarkston scrambles to victory

Clarkston's record is now 4-0 after they oozed out a 13-7 victory over their old nemesis, Holly. The game ended with Holly on Clarkston's 2 yard line, with everyone just gasping for air. In the last two minutes of the 4th quarter, just about everyone started thinking of last years game when Holly scored the winning touchdown with only 11 seconds left on the clock. Clarkston's great quarterback, Dan Fife, was injured and did not play in the game. The loss kept Clarkston from the league title.

And remember some three years ago this same Holly team defeated Clarkston 7-6 and the Wolves had to share the title with Northville.

Yes, those last two minutes had everyone sitting on the edge of their seats because they were thinking of the hex that Holly has held over us.

However, coach Kenyon and his defensive minded Wolves were not to be denied on this cold October evening as they had the little bit extra to pull out the victory to stay undefeated.

Clarkston scored in the 2nd quarter when Rich Johnson threw his 6th touchdown pass of the year to Tom Bullard. The play was good for 24 yards. Johnson also kicked the extra-point. The touchdown was set up by Mark Erickson running back the punt to Holly's 28.

Outside of that 28 yard drive, Holly pretty well contained Clarkston. The Wolves gained only 1 yard rushing. Holly gained 67 yards.

Clarkston had complete control of the air game and if it hadn't been for some slippery fingers the Wolves could have increased their lead. Gary Ostrum and Mark Erickson missed passes that would have gone for long gainers.

Holly scored in the 3rd quarter on an end sweep by Tom Hayes. The play covered 22 yards. Hayes was the work horse for the Broncos as he gained over 90 yards on the ground.

It wasn't until the 2nd half that Holly tried to run around the ends. They were fairly successful as it led to their touchdown. But coach Kenyon made some defensive changes, and led by Steve Parker they fairly well snuffed out the end sweeps. This Parker boy did one heck of a job as a corner line backer. Steve was also instrumental in Clarkston's drive for the winning touchdown.

Clarkston scored their 2nd touchdown in the last quarter when Rich Johnson going the last 5 yards. The two big gainers were a 20 yard screen pass to Keyser and a 14 yard run by Steve Parker on a reverse. This 14 yard run was the longest rushing gain of the game.

With only 3:50 showing on the clock Holly blocked another Clarkston punt, but with the passing not functioning well they had to rely on the ground game and time ran out. Holly did complete two passes in a row but threw only 5 for the entire evening.

This Friday Clarkston travels to Northville and everyone knows how tough Northville is in football.

CLARKSTON J.V. WHITE-WASHES C'VILLE J.V.

The Clarkston J.V. team, coached by Bill Hanson and Pete Thompson had little trouble in disposing of C'ville 39-0. The score could have been much higher but the coaches were substituting freely after the 11:15 mark of the 2nd quarter.

Bruce Hardy opened the scoring with a 85 yard run on C'ville's kick-off. Dennis Starrs ran for the extra-point. With 6 minutes left in the 1st quarter Steve Worman threw a 13 yard pass to Steve Kratt. At the start of the 2nd quarter Worman threw a 25 yard touchdown pass to Bruce Hardy.

Steve Worman again brought the team down to the one on a 37 yard pass to Dennis Starrs. It was here the subs started to play throughout the contest. They couldn't put the ball over, but before the half ended Tom Lane intercepted a pass and ran it back 25 yards for the 4th score.

Dan Hallman scored in the 3rd quarter and the J.V. team scored the last touchdown on a 27 yard run by Bruce Hardy. This was Hardy's 3rd touchdown of the game.

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM CONTINUES TO WIN

With victories over Brighton and Waterford Matt, the cross-country team upped their record to 5 wins and 2 losses. They have also defeated Waterford Kettering, Flint Almsworth and C'ville.

They lost to both Oxford and Lake Orion. In the Lake Orion match coach Harrigan was missing a couple of starters.

Speaking of Harrigan, he is the new Varsity Cross Country coach. Harrigan taught and coached for 6 years at Pierce Jr. High in Waterford. Harrigan is a Minnesota boy, graduating from U. of Minnesota, Duluth Branch.

Buddy Mumbower and Mike Erkrantz have been leading the team to their winning season. Mumbower has won 3 two mile meets and Mike has won one meet. Not bad for a couple of sophomores. John Sexton looked good in the last meet, this barefoot runner has improved in every meet.

One has to give coach Harrigan and his 20 boys a lot of credit for their hard work. The sacrifice is high and the glory is almost non-existent!

U. OF M. VS. MICHIGAN STATE

This Saturday these two teams will play the biggest game of the year. The winner will have an outstanding chance for the Rose Bowl trip. Both teams have been playing ineffective football and passes the same record 1-2. My pick, why it has to be Michigan. State is vulnerable to a passing attack and look for Vidmer to have his greatest day in a maize and blue uniform!

WHAT! DO MY IRONING IN A GAS CLOTHES DRYER?

Of course you can't actually iron your clothes from inside a dryer. But what we are saying is that when you dry today's new permanent press fabrics in a Gas clothes dryer, you can forget once and for all about ironing them. With the even heat, gentle tumbling action and special "wash-wear" cycles of a Gas clothes dryer, permanent press clothes bounce back to their original shape without wrinkles and with creases razor sharp. Save yourself a lot of work—let a new Gas clothes dryer do your ironing!

Notes on the Orchard

By Constance Lektzian
625-2378

Fall must have arrived - every day we see more daylight between the branches on the trees. It's weather like this that drives the sunbathers in - but it brings the hunters out. Bow and arrow hunters, that is. Larry Thompson of 6645 Almond Lane went up to the Roscommon-Higgins Lake area with Peter Aris of Waterford for a week-end of hunting. They saw a lot of deer and even got a shot at one - but no luck. Bob Whaley of 6804 Plum Drive and his father-in-law, Russell Simonson, of Amy Drive took their house bus to the Upper Peninsula near Ironwood for a hunting trip. They saw at least 50 deer, and never got close enough for one shot. That bow and arrow bit is subtle business.

After watching Clarkston sneak in a win last Friday night, the Jack Dougherty's dashed home, at 6562 Pear Street, to entertain some of the other spectators. Enjoying the Italian spaghetti dinner with all the trimmings were the Richard Barry's of Plum Drive, the Doug Griffiths of Pear Street and the Nick Lekas of Plum Drive. If the Lekas' were a smidge late, it was due to the fact that they were among the civic minded group that manned the concession stands at the game - and right now that's not the warmest job to have. We are losing some good neighbors here in the Orchard. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gridley of 6630 Pear Street have just returned from a stay in Dayton, Ohio. The Gridleys moved to Clarkston from Dayton a year ago and now Mr. Gridley has been transferred back. This trip was for a very successful house hunt. We will be very sorry to see them leave.

Mrs. Ford Duvall - Eleanor of 6745 Almond Lane has returned from Mayo Brothers following surgery and is very successfully convalescing. She is able to have company now and her many friends are glad to see her on the road to recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Traver and children Kevin, Kelly and Kris came down from Columbiaville Sunday to have dinner with his brother and sister-in-law, Charles and Carole Evans. The Evans live at 6544 Plum Drive with their three children, Carrie Cathy and Jeffrey. Sunday afternoon Mrs. Traver and Mrs. Evans attended the post-nuptial shower given for Mrs. Neil Stalker of Clarkston at the Metropolitan Hall in Detroit.

Michigan State freshman Carol Hiske came down from Lansing to spend the week-end with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Thompson of 6645 Almond Lane. Saturday they all went to Grosse Ile to have dinner with the Hiske family. Mrs. Thompson returned Carol to campus Sunday evening.

Twenty-three delighted little Girl Scouts met at Clarkston Elementary school last Saturday at 7:45 A.M. And only little Girl Scouts could be delightful at that hour! Mrs. Roy Lewis of 6291 Church Street is Scout leader of the group who all belong to Troop 453. She was assisted in the driving and chaperoning by Mrs. Charles Klann, Mrs. Jack Dougherty, Mrs. Bernice McCarrick and Mrs. Harry Yoh, Jr. They attended the 9:30 morning show at the Northland Theatre, "Thoroughly Modern Millie." The girls voted the outing a huge success.

Sunday Louis and Nancy Seffens of 6080 Waldon had a family reunion for Louis' mother, Mrs. Lawrence Seffens of Oak Park. A pot-luck dinner for approximately 50 people from the Schuster and Seffens families, was held at the Campbell-Richmond Legion Hall on M-15. The family that came the greatest distance was the Jack Bilens from Lima, Ohio. Larry and Betty Seffens of Snowapple Drive, brother and sister-in-law of Louis Seffens attended as did Mr. and Mrs. Albert Givens of Waldon Road, parents of Nancy. Young and old alike enjoyed an afternoon of square dancing and games. The group enthusiastically voted to make the reunion an annual affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lektzian and son Mark of 6365 Plum Drive along with the Mel Lektzian's of Waterford with children Therese and Mel drove to St. Clair Shores Sunday afternoon. The occasion was a family dinner with the Rosland Correia's. Mrs. Correia is the former Alice Lektzian.

Recent bride feted

The Metropolitan Hall at Nine Mile and Livernois in Detroit was opened Sunday afternoon, October 8, for a post-nuptial shower honoring the recently wed Mrs. Neil Stalker, Junior, (nee Jacqueline Davies) of Clarkston.

Mrs. Vincent Giacalone of 11316 Embers, Clarkston was co-hostess with Mrs. Tammy Pantera of Detroit and Mrs. Robert Kron of Livonia.

The 80 guests attending were served from twelve tables set with yellow tablecloths and orange napkins that were centered in floral arrangements in shades of yellow, brown and rust. Added to the beautifully sumptuous buffet dinner were eleven trays of lasagna prepared by Mrs. Giacalone, grandmother of the bride. The buffet table was centered with a large flat cake decorated with bridal ornaments. Numbers of the door prizes were concealed in the napkin rings and a hula hoop contest was held.

Guests, who came from Livonia, Detroit and Warren as well as Clarkston, included Mrs. Stella Walker of Lapeer, a life long friend of Mrs. Giacalone, who has known Jacqueline since her babyhood days. Neil and Jacqueline are both 1967 graduates of Clarkston High. Neil, son of the senior Neil Stalkers of Warbler Drive, is attending Oakland University. Jacqueline is attending the David Pressley Beauty College at Royal Oak.

Engaged

An August, 1968 wedding is being planned by Martha Ann Brown and George Stanley White, whose engagement is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allan G. Brown, Perryville Road, Ortonville. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley White of Main Street, Clarkston. Miss Brown and her fiancé are students at Central Michigan University and Michigan State University respectively. Mr. White, who is a senior, is planning to teach in the Mount Pleasant area next fall.

A SENSE OF SECURITY

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Money in a savings account? Money in a checking account? Money in your pocket? These all add up to a fine sense of security. But as everybody knows, the security of money can disappear. The stock market drops, expenses chew up your savings.

There's another kind of security that is not based on the fleeting, material treasures of life. It is the security needed when sickness strikes, a son or daughter disappoints us, or death takes a loved one. This security chases out doubt and fear. It enables us to go right on living day by day, certain that we will not walk alone. In fact, God has said that He will never leave us nor forsake us.

Discover for yourself this security! In your church you can find those eternal values if you trust in the security of Him who cannot fail.

The days of autumn are here

It always seems that summer has barely started when someone smells "fall in the air." Many people hate to see the leaves begin to turn. But, if they will look around them when fall is in "full bloom", they will find that they are in the midst of one of the most pleasant seasons of the year. While there is a tang in the air, there is also a new freshness. Crisp mornings and falling leaves tell us winter is coming. We will look to such things as winterizing and tidying up the premises. It is time to think about snow tires for the car and make sure a supply of antifreeze is standing handy.

Those who live in the southland may not need to take all these precautions, but the coming of fall for them means that shortly the winter vacation season starts. All in all, the passing of the seasons adds zest to life.

Autumn began this year on September 23, so those who have been smelling fall in the air will be vindicated on that day. Autumn marks the beginning of the challenging and busy days of the fall season.

I don't know how she gets away with it. But, Calhoon has me convinced that she is the most wily of all horse traders.

Last spring Cal made a trip to see a fellow who deals in horse flesh. He is noted for his knavery. Some call him a rogue, others call him a rascal. I just call him Big Harry.

Big Harry's sharp practices were known to everyone. Everyone that is except for Calhoon. On a beautiful April day Cal, in all innocence, went over to Big Harry's stable. She was impressed with Big H's fine animals. She came home and told me what she had seen.

At that time we had a pony. His name was fitting, Little John. Like Robin Hood's merry men, Little John was an independent cuss. He was accustomed to running free. Cal said, at the time she bought Little John from Big Olaf - also known for his chicanery, that she was buying the pony for the children.

The children paid no attention to Little John. In the meantime we had invested heavily in pony equipment. Cal explained that she could trade Little John with his equipment for a horse that Big Harry had.

All I know, the trade was made and the checkbook took a nose-dive. We had acquired a horse called Mr. Jiggs.

Mr. Jiggs turned out to be a fine example of what a horse should not be. On the trip home from Big Harry's, Mr. Jiggs almost fell over in the trailer four or five times. When he got out of the van, we gasped.

Cal shuddered and said, "The poor thing, he's floundered." "Ya," says I, "He can't hardly walk on his front feet either." Laurie asked, "What's the matter with poor Mr. Jiggs' mommy? All his bones are showing."

"Ya," says mommy, "The poor horse is old and tired out. He just needs a good home and good food and lots of kindness, love and attention."

"Euuch!" says I. "We got took."

Cal, with much patience, explained how she was going to fatten Jiggsy and then trade him back to Big Harry.

I said nothing.

A letter to daughter at college

By Jim Fitzgerald

Dear Karen:

Early Sunday morning, the day after we delivered you, I decided maybe I am going to miss you now that you are away at college. I had to get up and drive your little brother and sister to Sunday school because you were not here to do it. Your mother said she'd do it but she'd have to drive in her nightgown. I didn't want the neighboring husbands worked in to a frenzy on the Sabbath by Old Sexy, so I made the trip.

(Every time I write something like that in the paper the readers write and give me heck for being a heathen which is ok, because I like to get mail. But I'd better explain that your mother still goes to church most Sundays and sings like, crazy in the choir. She is sensitive about such things as evidenced by her behavior when we took you to your new home. I wasn't surprised when she drove directly to the Presbyterian church, so you'd know where it is; but it was unusual for her to insist that you stand in front of it while she took your picture. I think she is going to have 100 prints made and mail you one every week).

Anyway, you may well be wondering why you are getting this open letter. There are 2 reasons: 1) Certainly it is some kind of a moist-eyed event when the first chick escapes the coop and the least the old rooster can do is write and tell you how things are back in the barnyard; 2) back in the barnyard I still have to fill this space every week so I can put something in your first checking account which I certainly pray has not gone to your head, God help us all.

It was about 4½ years ago that you became 13 and I wrote a nervous column wondering aloud if I'd be able to cope with a teenager. Since then you have been wondering how to cope with a dad who was scared to death you might do some of the things he did when he was in high school. Certainly, fatherhood has reformed more sinners than 1500 Billy Grahams.

Now I have to worry about you doing some of the things I did when I was in college. The crucial difference is that I am not with you to crack the whip, watch the clock, and frisk the gentleman callers for flasks and switchblades. So you won't get too homesick, why don't you ask some of your friends to holler at you while you eat dinner. You might coach your roommate to snarl such things as: "What have you done to your hair now?" or "You have been on that phone for 3 days" or "WHERE IS MY SHAVING CREAM?"

Actually, remembering my college days on the GI bill, my only advice would be for you to beware of cynical, unshaven young men in khaki pants and combat boots. But I don't guess there are so many of those veterans around in these modern times when the smarties go to college first and hope to graduate too old or too married for the draft. Today's wars are fought mainly by boys too poor, or too unslick for college. And you should learn that this is not fair, if you don't learn another thing.

In fact, I would wish mostly that my daughter should come out of college with a keen sense of what is fair and what is foul. Colleges are supposed to be full of long-haired kooks these days, but be careful. Do not judge a person by his haircut any more than you would by his complexion or accent. Remember that what is fair for you is fair for the poorest slob on the other side of the classroom, or on the other side of the world. Don't make hasty judgments and if you can't say something nice about someone, shut your trap.

Be fair to yourself. These are the fun years; enjoy them. Someday you will probably be a long time married, which is a different kind of fun. You should taste fully of both kinds. So cool it, honey.

And most of all, be fair to your mother and me. You are our prize package, mailed away. Please handle with care and never forget the return address.

Another Day

By Constance Lektzian

Grist mill operator treked to Pontiac daily

For six months Jiggs, no longer Mr., chomped away at our pasture. A riding horse, he was not. He was gifted with a big tummy. Cal gave him lots of kindness, love and attention. I just measured his girth.

Last week, Jiggs turned fat enough. Even Calhoon agreed that it was time to ship him back to Big Harry. Early in the morning, that's before I get up, Cal had trapped our neighbor into loading Jiggs into his trailer and hauling him back.

When I got out of bed, a few hours after Jiggs, Cal, neighbor and neighbor's trailer had pulled away, I looked out in the pasture. Only one horse was standing there. I was relieved. The thought of having only one horse to feed made my pocketbook feel good.

The hours passed quickly. Soon it was almost lunch time. Cal still wasn't home. There were the children to be fed. I know little of these domestic chores. So, I just sat there brooding over a cup of coffee, worrying that something might have happened to the horse haulers. The children groaned that they were starving.

It was the seventh or eighth time of assuring the children that their mommy would soon be home when up the drive she arrived.

I noticed that the neighbor was driving carefully, very slowly. The truck stopped so that I could see into the rear of the van. I ran for the checkbook. It wasn't in its usual spot.

Cal had done it again. She had traded with Big Harry. With the neighbor's help, Cal lowered the tailgate on the van. Out came a white mare. Cal said "Isn't she beautiful?"

We took a ride through the woods the other day. It must have been something to do with the fall weather and all, because this horse I like. I think that I should call her something original like Tray. She's just my speed, or something.

Helping Torch Drive

Eric L. Mosier, of 7701 Eston Rd., Clarkston, has been named a team captain for soliciting select prospects in the Oakland community business campaign of the 1967 Torch Drive.

The campaign gets underway Tuesday (Oct. 17) and continues through Nov. 9. Benefitting will be nearly 200 health and community services in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties.

Mosier studied at the University of Detroit and is plant manager of the Walmet Corp., Pleasant Ridge.

He and his wife, June, have two daughters, Cynthia, 19, and Kim, 15.

The turning of the years has brought changes in the vocations that men take up to make their livelihood. Once a miller was rated among the most necessary of men in a community. If a miller didn't move into a new settlement in the Michigan territory, the early pioneers had to send their ox carts many miles to have their grain ground and they hoarded every bit of flour that came into their hands. So precious was it considered that flour was frequently used for barter with the Indians.

Joseph Linabury was the owner of a gristmill in Long Bridge New Jersey when he first began to make plans to journey west. Since he was a firm man with his money, he didn't toss everything over just for adventure. With careful planning, he not only operated one mill after his arrival in Pontiac, but two.

It was in 1835 that he and Elsey, his bride of two years started their long trek to Michigan. The birth of their first son, Clarkson, in September of that year probably delayed them longer than Joseph had planned. For several years they lived in the village of Pontiac, but Joseph had come west for the same reason that drew many other settlers—land.

He entered a farm in Independence Township from the government and stalwart and unafraid of hard work, he still kept the two mills operating in Pontiac. Every day, from that cabin he built for his wife and two small sons, he started out through the woods to Pontiac. In these hikes, Joseph had to follow an Indian trail as there were no roads cut through. Each Saturday night he carried home on his back the family's weekly supply of flour.

Elsey, standing at the door of the little cabin, must have felt some misgivings as she watched her husband disappear into the woods each morning on his way to the mills. In Pontiac she at least had people around her and some semblance of the serene way of living she had been used to back east. Here, on land that was roughly in the location of the present Clarkston and Pine Knob Roads, she was surrounded by dense forest. Her nearest neighbors were Indians and one of her gravest concerns were the wolves that howled nearby.

What land Joseph was able to clear was left to Elsey's care for a number of years while he tended to his mills. This was a lot of responsibility for a young woman with an ever growing family. Her children later said of her that she never shrank away from anything she had to do. Enterprising and resourceful, she even cajoled and fed the Indians into helping her with the farm work and harvest.

Not long after the Linabury's were settled in Independence, their third child, another son whom they named Joseph for his father, was born. He lived only a few days. Elsey was to have five more children, only one of them a daughter. Infant deaths seemed to be one of the exacting tolls of pioneer life and they later lost another son, also named Joseph.

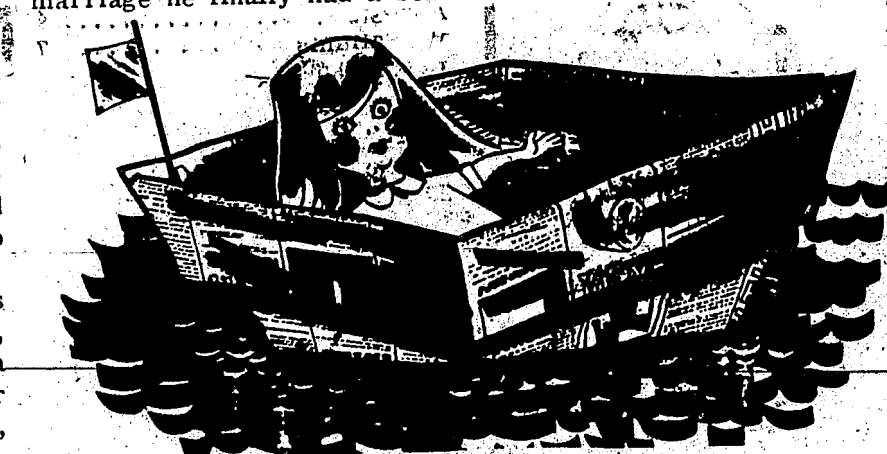

In 1840, about the time this third child was born and died, the district decided to build a school. Joseph with a five year old and a three year old son, did much to encourage this. Known to be an honest and exacting man, he was elected assessor of the school board for Hunter school. This proved to be a not always pleasant job. First the rate per person was figured. Then the parents were given 60 days from the time of the end of the term to pay their school bill. If they failed to do so, the assessor rode out to the farms and tried to collect. If this was futile, he could hold a sale of the delinquent's goods. As proof that cash was hard to come by in those days, the rate bill for those first few years was roughly two cents per day per child.

It must have been a matter of annoyance to Joseph when this rate bill was figured wrong one year and he wound up the term having to pay another penny to the school teacher. He insisted on as much education as he could afford for his children. They went to school in the winter but not during the summer sessions when there was work to be done on the farm. When any of them showed promise in their studies, he sent them into Clarkston for several terms. The youngsters probably had to walk the five miles to the village but nevertheless he paid for this extra education.

Joseph never spared himself and with his grim determination to succeed and unlimited hard work, he prospered. He and Elsey seemed destined to have a good life. Then tragedy came to them again. In 1850, a short while after the birth of her eighth child, Elsey passed away. Even Joseph couldn't find enough determination to face up to the task of raising this large family alone. Later he married young Libbie Anderson, a girl 27 years his junior. In those arduous pioneer times, a second marriage under such circumstances was not based on romance, but their's was a reasonably happy marriage. Since Joseph had prospered, Libbie never had the hardships that had faced Elsey. Over the years they became the parents of eight children.

Joseph later owned a hotel that stood on the Dixie Highway across from Sashabaw Road. The desk he used there he had brought with him from New Jersey, now in possession of his grandson. In his second marriage he finally had a son Give an editor a smile this week - it's National Newspaper Week. Just so we don't get too much adulation and praise these few days, we share it with "National Fire Prevention, National School Lunch Week (pictures elsewhere in this issue) and National Y-teen Week." National Macaroni Week starts October 12 while the Home Furniture Industry claims the whole month of October.

We don't like to burden our readers with facts and figures, but here are a couple gleaned from the armload of material sent to us to boost "our week." Readers spend more than $2 billion annually to buy and read daily newspapers and another $85 million for weekly newspapers. Ready for another one?

Eighty percent of America's nearly 10,000 newspapers are weeklies serving rural, small town and suburban "hometown" communities. Less than four percent are metropolitan dailies; three-fourths of the 1,754 dailies are published in cities of less than 25,000 population.

M-15 north experienced near bumper to bumper traffic at times on Sunday afternoon and evening; just like the period before I-75 was opened. It took a few minutes to realize why - the re-routing of traffic at the Zilwaukee bridge north of Saginaw where the Great Lakes freighter rammed it last week.

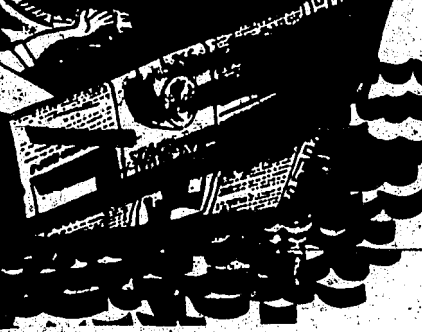

named for him who survived to adulthood. This Joseph was part owner of a store that stood for years on Pontiac's Saginaw Street, a few doors south of the present Pontiac State Bank.

Above it hung the shingle "Church and Linabury".

It would seem with all the sons born to Joseph that the family would still be flourishing in these parts. Yet in the Clarkston area there is not one person left who bears that name.

Our thanks to Leon Linabury of Drayton Plains, grandson of Joseph, for the pictures and some of the data used here.

BACKWARD VACATION GLIMPSES.

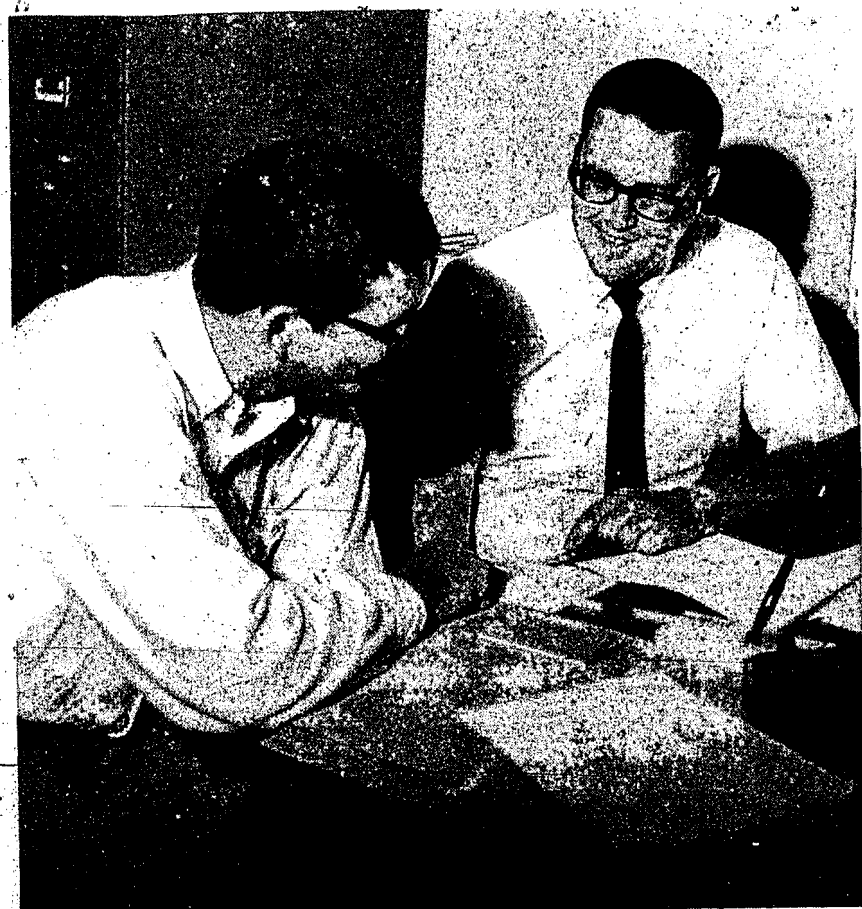

Ever tried a vacation in the fall? It is truly one of the nicest times to travel and relax, weather is at its finest and in this area, the beauty at its best! Vacations are for reading as much and as late as you want to with no fear of an alarm clock—for seeing what's on the telly late at night, for lengthy conversations with close friends and family and best of all to feel the snug-gle of a new born granddaughter (the first at that!), the relaxation of travelling entirely by air and best of all no deadlines to meet. It couldn't have been better, but oh, the embarrassment of having to call in, sick the first day due back at work. But, the sympathy, hunting season was nearly upon us and the boss wanted time off too!
