Save your rummage Summer recreation managers to meet

The Rotary Ann's are sending out a plea for area residents to save their rummage for them. The annual sale sponsored by this organization will be held on April 26 and 27.

Anyone with rummage which they desire to get rid of should call one of the Rotary Anns or call Mrs. Rudy Schwarze at Rudy's Market.

This annual sale goes to benefit the Crippled Children's Society.

The Little League Recreation department are now planning their summer program according to Bud McGrath.

A managers meeting will be held on Monday evening, April 8. It is scheduled for 7:30 in the High School cafeteria.

It is hoped that 1000 youngsters will take part in the recreation activities this summer. All interested persons should plan to attend the Monday night meeting, states McGrath.

Sewers, water may not bring tax, expand recreation plans

The Independence Township budget hearing for 1968-69 Saturday covered a wide range of subjects from sewers and water to Woodhull Lake, growth and recreation.

Supervisor Duane Hursfall, speaking of the sewer and water program, said, "within 4 weeks we expect to call the first information meeting. We should have figures at this time showing costs of installing both water and sewer lines in the township."

He said the information received to date is encouraging to the point that it is very possible no ad valorem (property) tax would have to be voted. The tap-in charges could cover the expense without the tax.

Hursfall told the 50 people attending the meeting that the growth figure in Independence was up $3,846,955 in 1967-68. He anticipates the figure to be higher in the next fiscal year. He said, "even if the Ford property doesn't put a spade in the ground this year the building permits should be up from last year."

At the beginning of the meeting dates were set for township board meetings to be the same, the first and third Tuesdays at 7:30 in the township hall. The Pontiac State Bank and Community National were named as bank depositories for the township moneys and First Federal Savings and Loan as a holder of time certificates.

The recreation department, handled by a voluntary committee, has a budget of $10,000 for 1968-69. Speaking for the committee, Dick Warren said the recreation committee finds costs increasing in proportion to use. Sixty percent of the budget goes for control purposes. "In Sashabaw, with better control last year, activity increased 70 percent," Warren told the group.

Fifteen hundred youngsters participated in 1967. In 1968 the recreation committee expects to bring back programs cut in recent years. Girls softball, swimming, and two more little league groups are in the plans for returning. Bud McGrath has again been employed to direct the summer recreation program in Independence.

Attention was drawn at the meeting to the Woodhull Lake subdivision by one of residence, George Woody. He invited those in attendance and specifically the township board to visit that area, Woody said, "There are 183 children in this subdivision and many go without shoes even in October and November. The police and their dogs are regularly called making arrests and checking vandalism. You hear of pockets of poverty; there are tar paper shacks and one family of 7 moved into a tool shed. In the last 7 years there have been only two youngsters graduate from high school."

Hursfall said he was well aware of the problem. "I work on it day in and day out. I've probably spent more of my time in Woodhull than anywhere else and we're doing the best we can," he said.

"In my 11 years in this office," Hursfall went on, "18 homes have been vacated and raised. When possible we raise or have homes updated."

Woody said, "I'd like the township to be more aware of the situation that exists. There is sewerage all over." This problem, Hursfall said, would be alleviated with the advent of sewer lines into Independence.

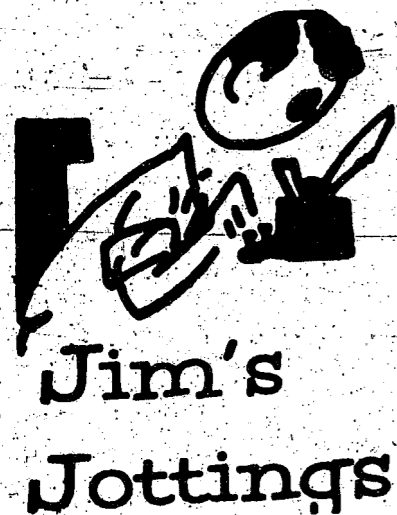

Stern warning issued relative to fires

In an effort to control the rash of fires caused by careless burning, announcement has been made that the Township Ordinance #44 will be strictly enforced.

The ordinance reads in part as follows: "To protect persons and property it shall be unlawful, when the ground is not snow covered, to start or have an open fire without first obtaining a permit therefor from the Fire Chief of Independence Township Fire Department or his authorized representative as hereinafter provided except in an approved trash burner for domestic purposes."

The ordinance goes on to describe an approved trash burner in this way: Outdoor waste burners shall not be located within 15 feet of any building or structure and generally should be so positioned that there is no direct exposure to buildings, wood fences or piled combustible materials in the event of failure of the spark arresters. Outdoor trash burners shall not be located so as to create a nuisance by reason of their smoke. All flues shall terminate in a substantially constructed spark arrester with openings not greater than 1/2 inch, or be provided with other suitable means for avoiding discharge of flying sparks."

'Tis the season for summer weight slacks in my case, time to discard the loud print boxer style undershorts that show through the slacks. Really, I never looked, but Hazel apparently does.

For seeing the population explosion. I don't know where all the kids come from. I'll have to ask my 10 year old. But, the yards and sidewalks seem to be fuller this spring with the toddlers who weren't walking last fall, were kept housed up during the winter and now are publicly visible for the first time.

Too, soon to be toddlers are evident as expectant mothers shed the heavy winter coats.

For swimming pool

Community use emphasized

It has been generally agreed by the school administration and by the Board of Education that the construction of the proposed swimming pool would emphasize a community swimming program as much or more as a physical education program.

Hence voters will be asked to vote on Monday, April 15 for the swimming pool proposition. It will be a special election with no other proposition on the ballot.

A citizens committee of 30 persons with Robert Brumback as chairman have been studying the proposed plan since last December. They have been studying other schools in the area with an eye to how their programs have been run, and contacting voters. In those programs which have proved successful in other areas, they have scrutinized their swimming programs, both on the physical education level and community offered swimming program.

They have also studied designs and architectural features of other pools.

WINTER

By Easter this bunny will be just a memory to the Stowe children, who had used the white fluffy stuff of our last big snow to an artistic advantage. Trisha is shown here keeping the bunny company while her sisters Tina and Toni attend school.

No building plans have been adopted for the pool and will not be until voter approval is given. Tentative plans call for adding it to the east side of the present gym where a "knock out" wall was positioned when the gym was built. This could permit the use of the present locker rooms and shower area by swimmers.

In June, 1966 voters were asked to vote on a similar proposal. At that time, it was turned down by 92 votes. Two years ago the bond proposal was for $600,000, and this time the proposal reads, "Shall Clarkston Community School District, Oakland County, Michigan borrow the sum, not to exceed $750,000 and issue its bonds therefore, for the purpose of erecting, furnishing, and equipping an addition to the high school building for a swimming pool and related facilities?"

Brumback went on to say, "It will not require a vote to increase millage. It will only mean an extension of the current debt. Also the people should know that the millage to operate the pool was approved by the voters in 1966, so there need not be voted a millage increase for the operation either." The committee are enthusiastic that with an affirmative vote that the physical education program at the school could be expanded mightily. They state that "physical education courses are now offered only to 9th graders and at the present time physical education opportunities for girls are limited. With the advent of a swimming program the girls would have a far greater chance for participation in athletics."

The committee states that were the pool to be built, Junior and Senior life-saving courses could be offered. "There is a prime need for such instruction when one realizes that last year alone there were 320 water deaths in the state—with 90% of them occurring within 10 yards of safety. Michigan water deaths top those of either Florida or California."

Another feature the committee foresees is a 12 month year swimming program for family swimming. To be conducted under the Adult Education program, it would be developed in such a way as to make the utmost use of the facility.

SPRING

Where did the snow go? This picture was intended to show two brave gals, Julie Wilford (right) and Tootie Robinson, sitting serenely on the shore with their toes tucked in a small mound of crystal ice cubes that had been washed up on shore. But as our sunny luck would have it the cubes were gone.

Blood bank successful

The Clarkston Women's Club wish to thank the people of Ortonville and Clarkston for the enthusiastic response to the recent Blood Bank. A substantial number of pints of blood were donated for the young man specified from Ortonville.

The club regrets that people were detained so long or postponed to another time and place. Unaware that there would be so many donors from Ortonville, the group were not prepared to accommodate so many people.

Another blood bank will be held in the fall and the club hopes that it will be as successful. At that time, which will be announced later, the chairman from the Clarkston area must be notified of a request for an appointment.

Honored for service to MMPA

Three Oakland County dairy farmers were honored by the Michigan Milk Producers Association recently for a combined total of 118 years as members, 101 of them as elected leaders in the state's largest dairy farmer bargaining-marketing cooperative.

The three stepped down this year after guiding the MMPA Ortonville Local through some of the most crucial times ever faced by dairy farmers.

Alex Solley, of Ortonville, has been an MMPA member 46 years and has served 44 of those years as secretary of the Local and a Delegate to Annual Meetings.

Alden Mills, of Ortonville, has been an MMPA member since 1932 and served as a Delegate for 25 years, Local vice-president the last six years.

Merland Gregory, of Goodrich, has been a member 36 years, Delegate 32 years, and president of the Ortonville Local for the last 20 years.

They were honored by MMPA leaders and Delegates at the 1968 Annual Meeting held recently at Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Alden Mills dairy farmer from Ortonville was honored by the Michigan Milk Producers Association for holding continuous membership in the state's largest dairy farmer cooperative at the organization's Annual Delegate Meeting at Michigan State University. He has been an MMPA member since 1932.

Historic Wisner home now open for tours

The Oakland County Pioneer and Historical Society announces the April 1st re-opening of its historic properties for guided group tours. Located at 405 Oakland Avenue in Pontiac, the 1845 Gov. Moses Wisner House and One-Room School from Drayton Plains are Greek Revival buildings restored to the mid-19th century.

The Wisner House, which served as the governor's official residence during 1859-60, contains extensive artificially-grained woodwork and a 30' long formal parlor with its original furnishings.

Also on the property are a smokehouse and unusually fine root cellar filled with the barrels, bins, crocks and jars of a century ago. The One-Room School contains items common to rural education until a generation ago. The hand bells, tin lunch pails and double desks recreate a setting familiar to many, but totally strange to most of today's pupils.

Tours may be arranged by calling the Society. An admission fee is charged.

Twp. budget approved, up $31,704

A 1968-69 budget of $243,310.00 was approved at the annual Independence Township budget hearing Saturday. This compares to a budget of $211,605.54 for 1967-68.

The primary source of this income is from sales tax and intangible tax amounting to $110,337.00.

Next high revenue producer is anticipated taxes, $52,400.00. The current tax, based on last year's allocation of 1.32 mills at 90 percent collections, is expected to be continued. Supervisor Duane Hursfall said he anticipated no increase in the mills being allowed by the county allocation board.

Returns from the Michigan income tax is expected to be $21,700.00. Hursfall said this money is based on the 1960 census and distributed on a per capita basis. 1968-69 will be the first year for this revenue source in the township.

The only other money source that is expected to top $20,000 is the building department where $20,660 is anticipated. This department has been self-sustaining in recent years, however, the budget shows costs $2,190 above revenues for the coming fiscal year.

General operation of the township is the major cost listed. In this column salaries are tops. The total figure is $180,050. Of this $32,400 is listed in administrative salaries. The budget carries no increase in salary for the supervisor, but does give the treasurer a $300 raise and clerk a $300 raise.

Of the other $127,650 costs in general operation salaries again are the major expense, amounting to $45,250 in clerical and assessor salaries. About 9 full time and some part-time people share this expense item. Another large cost item will be a new roof on the annex building and maintenance of township buildings.

The budget shows a balance in the revolving fund of $12,793.26. Hursfall said, "This is a conservative budget in the receipt columns and there is every expectation we will finish the year in the black just as we have anticipated."

Other citizen comments in the meeting are covered in another News story.

Rotarians to hear speaker from Heart Association

Speaker when the Clarkston Rotary Club meets on Monday evening, April 8 will be Dr. Donald C. Overy, M.D. Representing the American Heart Association, a color sound film entitled "Better Odds for a Longer Life" will be given. This film brings good news by showing how one can improve chances of avoiding a heart attack by taking certain known precautions. The film traces major milestones in man's discoveries about the structure and function of this vital organ which helps to understand the heart better.

There will be a brief discussion entitled "New Approach

Campfire girls have local display

The Campfire Girls Association has set up a display in the former Alger Hardware building on Main Street. It is serving to emphasize the formation of a Clarkston organization of Campfire Girls.

Mrs. Norton Redwood who has been assisting with the organizational procedures states that there are three complete units of Bluebirds - one composed of 7th and 8th grade girls, another of 1st and 2nd graders and a third comprised of 3rd grade girls.

There is also one group complete of Campfire girls with 5th graders. A few more fifth graders are needed to complete another one. Also needed is a leader for a group of 6th graders and girls for a 4th grade unit.

Girls or their mothers who desire more information relative to the organization here should contact Mrs. Redwood at 625-1561.

Inviting you to share the fun and excitement of a Camp Fire girl are Christine Whaley and Julie Redwood.

Serving as program chairman

Terry Thomas of 6601 Pear Street, Clarkston will be attending the American Personnel and Guidance Association's four-day session to be held at Cobo Hall beginning on April 7. Lasting for four days it is expected to be the largest convention in the history of the organization. Nearly 12,000 delegates from industry, government, education and service are planning to attend, many of them from the Detroit metropolitan and suburban area.

Mf. Thomas has been named program chairman for the American School Counselors Association for the convention. Formerly on the faculty at Clarkston High School, Thomas, a World War II veteran and former professional baseball player is coordinator of guidance and testing for Oakland County Intermediate School District.

Senator Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts, the first Negro to serve in the U.S. Senate since the reconstruction era, will be the keynote speaker.

Other noted speakers include Michigan Congresswoman Martha Griffiths; Dr. Albert Ellis, author; Arthur J. Flemming, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare in the Eisenhower cabinet and Walter Washington, Mayor of Washington D.C.

The convention will conclude Wednesday evening with humorist and former teacher Sam Levenson as the banquet speaker.

The American Personnel and Guidance Association, with a membership of 26,000 is the national professional organization of counselling, guidance and student personnel workers in high schools and colleges throughout the nation.

Florida honeymoon follows Saturday ceremony

The wedding ceremony uniting Jeanne Shoots and Russell Simonson, Jr. was solemnized Saturday evening, March 30 at the First Methodist Church, Clarkston. Rev. Frank Cozadd officiated at the 7 P.M. double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white iris and snapdragons and candelabra.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Shoots of 9070 Sashabaw Road and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Russell Simonson of 6741 Amy Drive.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father chose a floor length gown of satin fashioned A line style. The satin train was enhanced with seed pearl appliques as was the bodice. Her shoulder length veil was secured by a tiara shaped head piece of seed pearls. She carried a cascade of miniature white carnations and roses.

Miss Linda Burder, a cousin of the bride from Birmingham was the Maid of Honor. Her linen gown was of peach with chiffon sleeves, wrist length. Bridesmaids were the groom's sisters, Mrs. Robert Whaley of Clarkston and Mrs. Jerry Smith of Ypsilanti. Their gowns were antique white linen, also fashioned with wrist length chiffon sleeves. They carried carnations and roses with long streamers in peach and white which complimented their gowns.

Robert Whaley was the best man and ushers were Danny Simonson and Bruce McArthur.

A buffet reception was held at the Amvets Hall in Pontiac following the ceremony. The bride's table repeated the peach and white theme and was centered with the tiered cake with flower base.

Mrs. Shoots greeted the guests for the dinner and dancing wearing a three piece knit suit in lemon yellow. With it she wore white carnations and tiny yellow roses. The groom's mother chose an aqua silk dress with sequined collar and matching jacket. Her flowers were white carnations with pink roses.

When the couple left for a honeymoon in St. Petersburg, Florida, the bride was wearing a navy blue suit with white accessories. Upon their return they will reside in the Canterbury apartments on Woodward Avenue. The bride is employed as a dental assistant and the groom is with the Detroit Tool-ing Association. They are both Clarkston High School graduates.

Round the Town

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Simonson, Jr. (the former Jeanne Shoots) will be visiting Mr. and Mrs. F. Burder Sr. in St. Petersburg, Florida while there on their honeymoon. The grandparents of the bride, they will be meeting the bridegroom for the first time. The Simonsons were married Saturday evening at First Methodist Church.

Friends of Mrs. Lola Mann, former Clarkston resident will be pleased to know that she has been removed from a Florida hospital to The DeBarry Manor, Room 204, DeBarry, Florida. The Manor is located about a mile from her home in Orange City, Florida.

The final Lenten Dinner at First Methodist Church was held on Tuesday night. Palmer Swanson was in charge of the evening which was entitled Membership and Evangelism Night. Dr. Robert Bodine from Metropolitan Methodist in Detroit spoke on "The Problem with Angels." The Gertrude Atkins Circle was in charge of the dinner.

The 8th birthday of Kelly Ann Lynch was celebrated on March 31 a day ahead of her birthday. Present for the birthday dinner at the home of her parents the John Lynchs were her grandfather, J.O. Warren and an aunt Mrs. Richard Steiner both of Owosso. Kelly was delighted with the birthday gift of a new bicycle. On Monday she celebrated her birthday with a cupcake treat at school with her classmates. An older sister, Mollie will be 16 on April 6. A pajama party for 15 girls scheduled for Friday night will highlight her birthday.

Ill in hospital

Mrs. Clyde Becker, a former resident on Allen Road, Clarkston was taken ill while visiting a daughter in Texas. She would appreciate cards which could be sent to her at the following address: East Wing Room 712 Memorial Medical Center, Corpus Christi, Texas.

Honored at shower

Mrs. Larry Thompson was the guest of honor at a baby shower held on March 14. Mrs. John T. Womack of Shelley Drive was the hostess and assisting her was Mrs. Jerry Hayward of Sylvan View Drive. Twenty eight guests, all members of the Maranatha Baptist Church were present.

The Informer

...MAKES YOU A BETTER COOK!

Here's an "informer" that not only gives you the facts but does something about it! How does it work? Simple. Into the center of the meat you put a thermostatic probe, one end of which is plugged into the oven wall. Slide the roast into the oven and turn the indicator to the exact degree of doneness you want. When the meat probe gets the right "inside" information, it signals you—then automatically and instantly shuts the oven off. Takes all the anxious guesswork out of roasting.

Clarkston High students are hockey champs

Clarkston High Students are Hockey champs. Five Clarkston High Seniors, Steve Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parker, 3850 Maiden, Waterford and George King son of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard King, 3800 Austinwood, Waterford, and one Clarkston High Junior, Dennis Olson son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Olson, 7737 Visgar, Waterford, are members of the Waterford Rangers Juvenile hockey team which won the Southeastern Michigan Hockey Association championship, on Sunday at Port Huron.

The boys won both of their semi-final games last week with 2-0 and 3-0 victories against Warren. In the finals held this week the championship was to be decided by total goals and when the boys met Royal Oak on Saturday in the first game they suffered a 3-2 loss, but then they bounced back in the second game on Sunday with a 2-0 win, giving them a 4-3 victory and the championship.

On March 9 and 10 the boys traveled with their team mates to Sault Ste Marie where they competed in the Michigan State championship where they came in second best behind a Detroit team. Considering the fact there are no indoor skating facilities in this area these boys have had to play on outside ice, unless they chose to travel to Port Huron or Windsor to skate.

The other members of this Waterford Rangers team are 16-17-18 year old boys from Waterford, Union Lake and Walled Lake and their coach is Edward Redding of Union Lake.

Receives grant for journalism study

Miss Linda J. Munro, a teacher at Clarkston Senior High School has received a summer study grant in journalism at Syracuse University. She is one of 112 high school teachers from 33 states to receive this training according to the Newspaper Fund, Inc.

All of the recipients are advisers to student publications. The teachers will attend four seminars designed to strengthen their journalism teaching capabilities. She will attend from July 1 through July 19. Tuition, board, room, textbooks, and in some cases travel assistance are provided. The study opportunities are for three or four weeks; graduate credits can be earned. The schools where these seminars will be held are: University of Minnesota, the University of Oregon, and Syracuse University.

The Wall Street Journal has financed these fellowships through gifts to The Newspaper Fund since 1959 when the Fund was established to encourage young people to consider careers in journalism. It will also finance 12 workshops to be attended by approximately 200 advisers. These are intensified programs designed to give practical help to teachers new to journalism.

More than 4,800 high school, junior high and junior college publication advisers have received seminar or workshop training through Newspaper Fund grants.

The hushabye heat.

Soft and low. Gentle and quiet. That's electric heat. It's the quietest heat you can get. If it's radiant, there's no sound at all. If it's a warm-air furnace, the fan runs at a lower speed. Gives only a gentle hum, soft as a lullaby. What else? Electric heat is clean. No fumes. No soot. No draft. No chill one moment or a burst of hot air the next. The humidity stays in the comfort range.

It's better for you. Your nose and throat. Better for your home. Call Edison for the name of your nearest Edison-approved Electric Heat Contractor. He'll give you a no-obligation survey. And we'll see that you get a $100 trade-in allowance on your old heating plant. Electric heat... the hushabye heat. Comforting to have while your little one, your pretty one, sleeps.

A world without paper

Have you ever thought about what the world would be like without paper? I don't mean without this newspaper but without paper. Period.

I hadn't, until last week when I read a release from the American Paper Institute exploring such a possibility.

Suppose you were to wake some morning and find all the paper in the world had simply disappeared. You would probably awaken earlier than usual because the sun would be streaming through your shadeless windows, and bouncing off your paperless walls.

When you dress, your shoes may feel different, because many shoes use some paper filler. And you can just forget about your billfold, unless you happen to carry a lucky coin. There wouldn't be anything else in it.

How about breakfast. You'd better open the refrigerator door carefully, because your milk and juice and eggs will be running around loose. Toast? You'll find the bread in the breadbox drying out. And don't even bother to look in the cereal cupboard!

But who wants breakfast anyway, without the morning paper. You'll have to listen to the news on the radio, or TV except that important parts of both are made of paper.

While we're on the subject of food, you had better get an early start on lunch. It may take some time to figure out just what is in all of those label-less cans.

Things might be a little different at the office, too. If you're in the newspaper business, or a banker, or a paper clip manufacturer, you might as well stay home.

If you have to order stock for your store, you'll have to do it by phone. I hope you remember the number because there are no phone books, remember.

Going grocery shopping? Better take along your clothes basket to carry the wrapperless food home. And good luck in selecting your canned goods. (By the way, if you are lucky enough to get what you want, what are you going to pay for it with?)

Government would come to a sudden, complete stop. No more multi-copied reports fill out and file. (You filing clerks can join the rest of us in an early retirement.)

The list is nearly endless. We, in fact, use more paper than any other nation... some 100,000,000,000 pounds a year. This is about 530 pounds per person.

In China, where paper was invented, the consumption is estimated at no more than six pounds per person. Russia uses about 42 pounds per person and our neighbors, Canada, use something over 300 pounds.

If you're worried about running out of trees for making paper, don't. Paper companies manage their forest lands on a sustained yield basis, and according to the American Paper Institute, grow more trees than they use.

But if we ever do run short, I cast my vote for eliminating the government form called 1040.

Guest Editorial by Carl D. Black, Editor
Sanilac Jeffersonian

It all started after we got our roof tarred. Calhoun and I had big plans for building on to our house this summer. That was until we got a look at our tax assessment. Well, it wasn't just because of the assessment that we changed our minds, it was more that we found some guys who wanted to work.

For several years Cal had had dreams of building a new barn, attaching it to the house with a garage in between and having her art studio in the hayloft. Then came the roof rabbits, Niles Olson and his brother George, both of Lake Orion. Niles said that he would be willing to put a roof on our 100 plus-year-old barn.

I said, "Cal, you know if he re-roofs that old barn and we go ahead and reside it, fix it all up inside and out, that'll be the end of your new barn plans."

She said, "Fine, let's have Niles get started." She really didn't say that right off. She sort of led up to it by degrees. First she started hinting that it might be more economical for us to consider fixing up the old barn. Then, after she almost had teased me into getting angry enough to say, "Look, if you want the barn fixed up, I'll call the roofers right now."

Then she said, "You won't have to. I told them to get started as soon as possible."

When she said that, I could feel that twitchy feeling in the bottoms of my feet. You know the kind of feeling that comes over you when someone has set you up. When she told me that the roofers were going to get started, I laughed. She was acting like a little kid who had got his hand stuck in the "rooky" jar; sooner or later, he would be found out and proceeded to hide the hand... jar and all behind his back.

Sitting on the porch, looking out over the back yard at the old barn, I said, "It's going to be nice getting these tumbled down old buildings cleaned up."

She agreed. Just thinking aloud, I said, "I wonder how much Niles would charge us to re-roof the garage and the old milk house?"

Cal and I agree that it might be cheaper to fix the garage and the milk house up. We could use the garage for the tractor and some miscellaneous farm equipment and the milk house for a tool shed.

"We really don't need a garage," she said. "You keep your car outside all the time and the condition that the garage has been in for the past years, I may as well have been leaving my car out too."

I agreed with her saying, "It's silly to put a lot of money into a garage just to protect a car. You don't get any more or less for a car that has been kept outside all the time. They were made to be driven through all kinds of weather, they may as well sit outside. Cars aren't like critters."

That was the wrong thing to say. She came back with, "You're absolutely right. Just think, the more buildings we can get fixed up, the more places we will have to keep animals," or something.

"If It Fitz . . ."

'Well, look who's dead today'

By Jim Fitzgerald

The toughest part of being a nutty columnist is keeping ahead of the nuts.

It's like this: Reaching for chuckles, I sometimes exaggerate. I say my wife is so emotional she cries when the flag goes up at railroad crossings. She doesn't really. But the other night I caught her crying at a TV commercial. She was worried about a girl who couldn't get married because her father had dandruff. I explained to her that it wasn't that big a deal, all brides are not pregnant, and she said she had not even thought about that. So she thought about it and cried harder.

See what I mean? Those kind of nuts don't need more salt. It is difficult to write facetiously about a world which continually produces and accepts the incredible. I thought I was kidding, a few years ago, when I suggested tweater funerals. But now I'm not so sure.

At the time, I was bugged by 2 things: 1) Undertakers were getting too much of the blame for the extravagance and general foolishness of many funerals and 2) goofy couples, in search of private passion in public, were wearing tweaters. A tweater is just like an ordinary sweater except 2 people get into it and it isn't so much fun if your name is Ralph and your partner's name is Gordon.

My point was that some people spend more than they can afford on funerals just to impress the neighbors. These phonies will give dead Uncle Harry a send-off worthy of a king. When he was alive, they wouldn't wave goodbye to him. But if that is what the nuts want to buy, why blame the undertaker for selling it? He's in business, the same as the guy who sells you a color TV when what you really need is a hernia operation.

I concluded, tongue in cheek, by suggesting some day the couple that dies together will be buried together - in a tweater. Now Hirschel Thornton has knocked the bulge from my cheek and left my tongue hanging out, aghast. He probably used tweater shrouds 20 years ago.

Thornton is the Georgia undertaker with the drive-in windows. At his place, you can pay your last respects without leaving your car the same as buying a root beer at the A & W. And I wouldn't be surprised if Thornton employs carhops. Girls in black mini-skirts who ask you to roll down your window a little further so they can get your order for flowers and Mass cards. They might also sell handkerchiefs and smelling salts to make certain your bereavement doesn't interfere with your driving.

Thornton has 5 windows facing a busy street. The coffins are tilted and lighted so you hardly have to slow down to see who's dead today. Instead of telling the survivors you are sorry, you just honk sympathetically.

Or a motorized mourner could stick his head out and holler: "He looks so natural." And maybe Thornton would holler back: "He should, he's my window washer."

Thornton says the main advantages of drive-in condolences are 1) You save time; 2) You don't have to dress up and 3) You can come after midnight. In other words, you can grieve on your way home from bowling, with a buzz on your brain and "Jake's Bar and Grill" on your shirt.

But Thornton didn't answer the most important question: unless the survivors are sitting on the curb, how do they know you were there? You always sign the register when you visit a funeral parlor. You want to be certain the relatives know you cared about poor Uncle Harry. Besides, you wear the same size shoes he did.

But how can a drive-in mourner be sure of getting credit for the visit? The widow isn't going to say, "Look, John Dimmit was here, I recognize his tire tracks."

It is a problem, to be sure. I could suggest some solutions nutty enough to fit the situation - such as a little boy in the window to jot down license plate numbers. But I am not going to do it. No matter how ridiculous and impossible my idea is, someone like Thornton will top it. And so it.

I can't keep ahead of the nuts. That's what you call Onward and Upward. Δ

Another Day

By Constance Lektzian

A Springfield pioneer-Isiah Hall

It was no time to start a sea voyage - that cold, raw New Year's day in 1842. Of course, there was no season when those tiny sailing vessels offered much in the way of comfort or accommodations. The ships that left Ireland in those poverty ridden times didn't give their passengers much more than drinking water and a tight squeeze in the stuffy little cabins. These emigrants didn't choose their time of departure, they left when they had finally accumulated enough money for their fare. To have spent that precious ticket money in order to live out another winter in North Ireland would have found them penniless come spring.

Ten year old Isiah Hall clutched tightly to the hands of his two older sisters as they stood at the railing of the ship and watched the shores of Ireland fall away. Orphaned, these Scotch-Irish children were the last of their family to leave for the new world. Five brothers had already gone on ahead and taken up government land in Michigan so the three were assured of a home when they arrived in the states.

Isiah lived a long full life but he never forgot some of the terrors of that voyage. At one point a terrible storm came up that almost wrecked the small craft. Buffeted by the strong winds and rains, it seemed that any minute the ship would be sent to the bottom of the sea. The crew herded the passengers below the decks - and then nailed down the hatch. Frightened, cold and wet, the three young children huddled in the dark with the other passengers, listening to the high winds that tossed the ship about.

Blown way off course, it was into Norfolk, Virginia and not New York harbor that the small vessel finally dropped anchor. It was on Easter, almost four months after leaving Ireland. The passengers who might have doubted they would ever see land again, probably felt they were celebrating their own resurrection as well. They were hungry, too, for in those times emigrants' passage money didn't include meals - they took their own provisions. By the end of the voyage, they had nothing but sea biscuits to nibble on.

The three young people somehow made their way to Albany New York. They went from there to Buffalo by the Erie Canal. It must have seemed a peaceful journey on these slow moving barges, a trip that went through the farm lands and lake regions of York state. About eight years later, Isiah was to return to New York on the same canal he was now riding, for this was years in building and was never considered fully completed. He joined the thousands of other young Irishmen who made up the labor force that dug these hundreds of miles of ditches.

The five brothers had cleared farms in the vicinity of Davison and Flint and it was here that the three newest arrivals settled. The younger boy worked for his brothers and other farmers around him. After that sea voyage, nothing ever seemed too difficult for him.

Some years later, an older brother Sam met and fell in love with a young Davisburg girl by the name of Margaret Pepper. It was lack of opportunity that made later marriages the rule rather than the exception for many of the pioneer men. There just weren't enough young women available. Many families among the settlers who had likely young nieces or cousins back east would invite them to Michigan for a visit - object matrimony, although no one was so obtuse as to state this fact bluntly. It was a good system. The girl's family was on hand to look the men over and make sure she made a proper choice and amongst the swarm of a large family, the young couple were well chaperoned.

The wedding took place in Davisburg on Ormond Road, in the well built log farm house of Margaret's uncle. Of course, all of Sam's brothers and sisters were invited and it was here that Isiah met his future wife, Martha Erwin was visiting from Batavia in York state and their meeting may have been the result of some solicitous sister-in-law's matchmaking. In any event, Isiah shortly returned to New York to be married in the home of Martha's parents, a marriage that endured for 37 very happy years.

After living a while in Davison, the young couple moved to Springfield township where Isiah took up land that he farmed for 60 years. "It was hard work and money was scarce. Isiah put up a large well built log house when they first began to farm. It was added on to over the years and was the house from which his daughters were married. Yet he and Martha managed good educations for their son and three daughters. One of the girls, Isabelle, became a teacher and it was a source of pride to her parents that she earned $80.00 teaching before she was even 17 years old.

Highly regarded and deeply loved, Isiah was a kind and gentle person. He had a wide circle of friends, including one of the governors of Michigan, John Rich. As if attesting to the enduring strength of these early Scotch Irish settlers, he lived to be 91 years old.

Our thanks to Mr. Lee Clark for the picture and information in this article.

Dear Editor,

When I left Clarkston, to visit my son, there was talk of a vote to put a pool in the high school gym. The cost of this pool was to be three quarters of a million dollars.

There is enclosed an article from last night's Wichita, Kansas paper stating that a complete university gym can be built for this amount of money. (Friend's University in Wichita) In light of this, why should just a pool cost Clarkston this much.

Very truly yours,

Book out on recaning

Maybe you'd like to learn a new hobby. How about recaning chairs! Someone is always looking for a skilled person to repair a chair seat with cane. Not only would recaning give you something special to do, but also it would provide you with added income. Perhaps some day you may need to use your skill in repairing your own chairs.

Here's one way to learn chair caning. Staff members of the Cooperative Extension Service of The Pennsylvania State University have prepared a booklet titled, "Repairing Chair Seats With Cane."

The booklet is well illustrated and shows you each step from getting the chair and cane ready to the insertion of the last wooden peg in the finishing hole and cutting the peg even with the chair frame.

For a copy of this informative booklet, send your name and address with 25 cents to CHAIRS, Box 8000, University Park, Pa., 16802. The booklet will be mailed promptly.

"Jaycee of the Month" award to Lavern Erickson

Lavern Erickson was selected to receive the Jaycee of the Month award for March. He was presented with the trophy by Jaycee President, Dick Wilton.

Erickson has been a member of the Clarkston Area Jaycees since July, 1967. He is a Michigan State Police Officer stationed at the Pontiac Post.

He served as chairman of the Jaycee membership night when eleven new members were sworn in. He also served as co-chairman of the State Hospital project and of the Pumpkin sale. He has also actively worked with grade schools throughout the county on the State Police safety program. He has helped distribute the Jaycee Child Molesting pamphlets.

He is the Clarkston Jaycee Spoke Chairman. At the winter State meeting in Saginaw, Erickson attended several of the instruction forums. He has earned his first year award (Spoke) and plans to compete in the state competition in Grand Rapids in May.

In making the presentation Wilton said, "Erickson is a truly dynamic and enthusiastic young man and very deserving of the award."

Erickson lives in Drayton Plains with his wife Beverly and three children.

Grass fires played havoc last week with the time and nerves of the Independence Township fire fighters.

Grass fires keep firemen busy

In March, the Independence Volunteer Fire Department put in one of its busiest months on record. In addition to being called out for 26 grass fires, the department also fought one of the worst blazes in several years when the Food Town grocery store on Sashabaw Road burned on March 18.

To prevent further damage by burning notice was given at the end of last week that there would be strict enforcement of Ordinance #44 relative to burning. Last Saturday alone, the department answered 8 grass fires. On Thursday, the department was trying to put out 3 fires caused by burning at one time. To further complicate the task, these fires are often located in areas where the trucks cannot get due to muddy conditions.

The department through the month of March was called three times to assist other departments. They helped the Waterford department on March 3 when a house fire broke out on Hatchery Road. On March 5, an assist was given to the Brandon department at a sheep barn fire at Sashabaw and Seymour Lake Roads. They also helped the Oxford department at a barn fire on Sanders Road last Wednesday. Four calls were answered on autos on fire, another for an over-heated furnace and eight times the department answered a call for the resuscitator. A dog in distress on the ice was rescued by the firemen in early March and there were 3 house fires, one of them a false alarm.

Elsewhere in this issue is a detailed description of approved trash burners as the local firemen wearied from fighting grass fires prevail on residents to abide by the burning ordinance.

Judging from her pleasure at winning this attractive backyard barbecue, it shouldn't take Mrs. Robert Foster too long to discover all the good things the barbecue can do. Mrs. Foster's name was drawn last week at the American Legion Hall. Each year the Legion uses such an event to raise money to send two girls to Wolverine Girls State.

Legion Auxiliary Girls State entrants

Seven girls are being considered as delegates to Wolverine Girl's State this summer. From this group two will be chosen from Clarkston to represent the local American Legion Auxiliary. The conference convenes on the University of Michigan June 16-23.

Mrs. Louis Seffens is serving as the Girls State chairman this year for the Campbell-Richmond Unit #63 of the American Legion.

"A decision is expected to be made relative to the winners by April 22," states Mrs. Seffens. Each girl will direct a letter to the Auxiliary outlining her qualifications and aims.

Entrants include the following girls: Vikki Hall, the daughter of the William B. Halls of 4425 Elmdale; Jill Sonsom of 6461 Paramus, the daughter of the Hershel Sonsoms; Ruth Addis, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Addis of 6678 Eastlawn; Roslyn Byers of 6051 Middle Lake Road, her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Byers; Maude Elliott, daughter of the Charles Elliotts; of 6475 Church Street. The list concludes with Claudia Gordon of 109 Wompole Drive. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Gordon. All of these girls are Juniors at Clarkston High School.

To finance the convention expenses of the Girls, the Auxiliary every year sponsors a raffle. This year's winner of a handsome outdoor grill was Mrs. Robert Foster of Flemings Lake Road. She was presented with it last week. Money earned from the project is earmarked to send girls to Girls State next year.

When Jesus tells us to be perfect, as God is perfect, we think there must be some mistake. This is asking too much of us. We wish that we could be perfect. We strive for perfection. A few may think they are perfect. It's not that Jesus insists on perfection whereas we want to settle for less. The trouble is that we don't understand what Jesus meant by perfection.

The kind of perfection that catches our eye and appeals to us is self-centered and self-seeking. Our desire may be to be perfect even as the Pharisee is perfect, so that we can say, "God, I thank thee that I am not like other men." This is not the kind of perfection Jesus was talking about.

Look at Jesus! He stooped down to become servant of all of us. He sought out the least worthy and the least deserving to be his special friends. He washed their feet. He put himself at the mercy of his enemies. At the last he cried out a prayer of forgiveness for those who crucified Him. This is the kind of perfection he invites us to have for ourselves.

The perfection that Jesus desires for us is a life both empowered and restrained by the love of God. If that is our goal, there is only one way to begin. Instead of patting ourselves on the back, we must be willing to bend our stiff necks and pray, "God be merciful to me a sinner."

Judges for the annual Model Car contest, sponsored by the Clarkston Sporting Goods, once more found keen competition among the many entries. Sixty-two boys originally set out to put together a winning car, with approximately half submitting their final work. The final count of a point system tally showed these boys to be the winners. From left is Randy Hobson, 2nd in Junior; Dick Newlin, 3rd in Senior; Bob MacNeill, 2 & 4th in Senior; Neal Philpott, 1st in Senior; and Mark Bennett, 1st in Junior.

This week's wholesome, average, life-loving, grade A teenager is Mark Adams, who is also known as 'Omar'. He lives at 6206 Sunnydale with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Adams and his brother, Dale who is a Sophomore and sister, Janise who is in 6th grade.

Mark is a senior at Clarkston senior high school where he is president of the Hi-Y, a member of the dramatics club and he played on the football team this fall. Also he has been in cross country and track for the past 3 years. Outside the school Mark holds a job at Ritters Farm Market.

When Mark graduates from high school this year he plans to go to Grand Valley State College where he will major in either political science or history.

Mark's hobby consists mainly of reading. His pet peeves are saddle shoes and people who put on airs. He likes girls and acting.

Speaking of plays he captured the hearts and lughter of all the audience watching the play "The Boyfriend" this weekend. Mark played the part of Lord Brockhurst, a middle aged person who chased all the teenage girls and tried to act as young as possible. He and all the other members of the cast did a great job of putting on "The Boyfriend".

Last weekend, on Saturday, March 30 the Job's Daughters of Bethel 25 and De Molay, Clarkston Cedar Chapter 60 went to Oakland University for lunch, a tour of the campus and swimming. The trip started at 1:00 P.M. and we got there in a short time. Unfortunately someone at the campus had gotten the arrangements for lunch mixed up and they didn't have any food cooked, so we were all refunded our money and we went to the grill and bought ourselves a hamburger. After lunch we started the tour. We saw the dorms - the girls were shown the inside of the girls dorm and the boy's the boy's dorm (of course). Then we saw the Meadowbrook theatre, the Oakland center which has all the entertainment for the college students, the library and the gym. Then we went swimming, which was really fun.

De Molay workshop

Cedar Chapter, Order of DeMolay of Clarkston observed DeMolay week, March 17 through March 24th.

Devotional Sunday, March 17 was observed by group visitation to Sashabaw Presbyterian Church.

The Initiatory Degree was conferred on six candidates March 20th.

The DeMolay week Observance was drawn to a close by a group of nine DeMolay and three Advisors weathering the storm to Bay City, March 23rd for DeMolay winter workshop.

"Creativity Fair" and book sale

The annual election of officers will be held when the Clarkston Elementary School holds their PTA meeting Thursday evening, April 4. The session is scheduled to begin at 7:30. Also on the agenda will be the "Children's Creativity Fair" and the PTA sponsored "Book Fair".

Seeking the offices for this year are: President, Richard Anderson; Mother Vice President, Pat Klóc; Father Vice President, Trajan Vossie; Secretary, Peggy Copeman and Mrs. William Dennis; Treasurer, Nileen Copeman and Marilyn Smith; Historian-Parliamentarian, Diane Vossie and Doris Beattie.

After the election, parents are invited to view the "Creativity Fair". There will be displays in every room all created by the children. There will be art, science, handicraft and literature items on display.

Also beginning on Thursday evening is the "Book Fair". Parents will have the opportunity to inspect the many books that are offered for sale. They all are paper-backs and cost less than one dollar. Most of the books are graded so that the youngsters can pick books at their individual grade level of reading. The sale will continue through Friday, April 5 during school hours and on Saturday, the 6th from 10 A.M. until 2 P.M.

Clarkston Pioneers celebrate their birthday— a review of club history

by Faith Poole

From a February issue of The Clarkston News in 1954 we gather this item: "The Clarkston Old Timers gathered at the Township Community Center on Thursday afternoon of last week for their first party. There were about 35 present. The women of Clarkston are planning to sponsor one of these parties each month."

And so a club was formed which is thriving mightily today. So successful it has been that similar clubs have been founded in many other communities. Shortly after its inception it was receiving pictorial and editorial coverage from city papers and last but not least it has provided companionship and interest for Clarkston's older citizens.

Last week the group observed their fourteenth birthday. There was a birthday cake furnished by one of the club's original founders to top off the bounteous potluck dinner that the group always enjoy.

The club owes their start to a group of housewives who worried about the older people in the village. They agreed that Clarkston needed a club for "senior-agers". These ladies who today want to be anonymous formed a committee to plan the first event. Every month they planned and served a lovely meal for the group—they helped them arrange programs, bringing some outstanding speaking talent to their meetings. They chaffered them to the meetings and arranged various birthday celebrations with-in the group.

At the first meeting the guest speaker was Clarence M. Vliet of Birmingham, formerly of Clarkston. Mr. Vliet told the history of Clarkston and a great part of the county and many of the incidents that he recalled were remembered by many of his listeners. This gave the group the desire to reminisce and from then on they've had fun telling about when they came to Clarkston and relating interesting incidents of their early days in this community.

All of those attending that first day automatically became charter members of the club. There were 30 persons present that day ranging in age from 65 to 90 years old. The only restrictions were that those attending must be 65.

The fourth Thursday of the month was the day designated to meet, a practice which still prevails and the place of meeting was the Township Hall. They have continued to meet there with the exception of special days when they were guests of various churches or other clubs or in various parts of the area.

In September of that first year officers were elected and they voted to name the club "The Pioneers." Elected President was Mrs. Milan Vliet; vice-president, Mrs. L.F. Walter; secretary, Mrs. Albert Lawson. The following month they had a masquerade Hallowe'en party. Most of the members were in costume and all had a grand time as the costumes were all original.

Area clubs, businesses and individuals did much to see that the group had happy times. There were always prizes being awarded and different groups were in charge of preparing the meal in those early days.

By the time the club had been meeting for a year the organization was well launched with 75 members. Guests at the first anniversary party were Joe Haas well known Holly publisher and Pontiac Press columnist. He was a frequent visitor at club meetings. Also there on that day was Mrs. Minnie Oed of the Merrill-Palmer School in Detroit.

The first newsletter of the club came out in April, 1955 and was continued for some time. About that time members began wearing club pins. An attractive pin, it had meaning for older people all over. Depicted were a laurel wreath for honor; a pine or evergreen tree—for long life, strength, perseverance; the words Love, Play, Learn and Serve—greatest values of club membership.

Shortly after the plea was out to establish a library in Clarkston, the Pioneer Club was lending assistance. A Pioneer Shelf was formed and gifts of books were presented by the club in memory of a deceased member. Another of their early projects was serving dinners for the Rotary club.

In the third year of the club's existence, a group numbering 30 went to Old Timers Day at the State Fair. Oldest man in the Clarkston contingent was Robert Dawson, 92, who also was third oldest from the entire state. Oldest woman from Clarkston was Mrs. Ella Proffrock, 84. Both won prizes and there were rides in pony-drawn old fashioned buggies for the visitors. The same year they won special recognition in the Labor Day celebration in the village when they drove along in an old covered wagon.

One of their outstanding speakers was Woodrow W. Hunter, Research Associate in the Division of Gerontology at the University of Michigan. The club had also been busy helping getting similar clubs organized in surrounding towns and the group has always boasted of members from other towns—mostly with a Clarkston background and interest.

Several members would attend the annual conference on Aging which was held at the University of Michigan. The program always stressed that senior citizens should keep reasonably active physically, mentally and spiritually—that unused talent among men and women in all walks of life who have been retired should be used for public good. There were other speakers on Geriatrics who came to address the members, but these people were not obsessed with their age. There were the many fun times besides—box socials, Thanksgiving and Christmas parties, picnics, games, singing and always the traditional birthday celebrations.

When it came time for the Sashabaw Presbyterian Church to celebrate its centennial, many of the Pioneers took part in the celebration. Many of them had been affiliated with the church's activities for a large part of its 100 years. The church, which is the second oldest in the Detroit Presbytery, located on Maybee Road was first called the Church of Orion and Independence. Founded in 1830, it was transferred to the Presbyterian denomination in 1842. Many of the Pioneers came in old costumes to celebrate and hold their monthly luncheon there.

After about five years, the members were pretty much on their own, so the committee who had arranged the first meeting, cooked and planned their dinners gracefully bowed out and let the Pioneers "run their own show". They still helped provide transportation and kept an avid interest in the group, but from then on, they were on their own. To this day, there are no dues—a collection is taken at each meeting to defray expenses and guests are always welcome.

It is felt by some members that there would be better attendance at the meetings if there was transportation. Obviously some are staying away because they do not have a method by which to get to the Township Hall. Perhaps it is time that volunteer drivers come forward again.

It has been a series of pleasure and congenial times for all concerned. Many have gone from their midst, but they continue to enjoy their good times and look forward each month to the coming get-together.
