New Eagle Scouts are Brad Funk, left and Bill Svetkoff on the right. They are members of Troop 126, sponsored by the First Methodist Church.

Jim's Jottings

In time of distress the counsel of an old man is reassuring. I picked up that bit of advice from a print supplier this week, and it struck a bell. From time to time I've taken a problem to an older person in whom I have confidence. It has always left me with less a problem.

My counsel has not necessarily been with an old man, but with a mature man with experience in life, business and people.

It's frequently true that the problems we have personally, in the community, or in business have been experienced by others and they have found the answers. One of the answers I've heard most is, "Don't be impatient. Give it a little time. Things have a way of working out for the best."

I first heard the following on the Harry Reasoner report on CBS and now I have it in writing. It's how a state legislator answered a constituent's question on his stand on liquor sales.

"You have asked me how I feel about whisky. All right, here is just how I stand on this question:

"If, when you say whisky, you mean the devil's brew, the poison scourge, the bloody monster that defiles innocence, yea, literally takes the bread from the mouths of little children if you mean the evil drink that topples the Christian man and woman from the pinnacles of righteous, gracious living into the bottomless pit of degradation and despair, shame and helplessness and hopelessness, then certainly I am against it with all my power.

"But, if when you say whisky, you mean the oil of conversation, the philosophic wine, the stuff that is consumed when good fellows get together, that puts a song in their hearts and laughter on their lips and the warm glow of contentment in their eyes; if you mean Christmas cheer; if you mean the stimulating drink that puts the spring in the old gentleman's step on a frosty morning; if you mean

Troop 126 gains two more Eagle Scouts

On Friday night, July 19th, at Camp Agawam, Brad Funk and Bill Svetkoff became the 15th and 16th Eagles of Troop 126. The presentation was made by Cal Myers, Manito District Executive.

Brad Funk is the son of Lee and Dick Funk of 6184 Cramlane Drive. Bill Svetkoff is the son of Nancy and Dick Svetkoff of 6597 Snowapple Drive.

Brad is 14 years old and Bill will be 14 in September. Both boys will enter Clarkston Senior High this Fall. Brad spent 3 years in Pack 126, Bill spent his 3 years of Cubing in Pack 49. Both boys have been members of Troop 126 for the past 3 years. While making their own advancement both have served as Ass't Patrol Leaders, Patrol Leaders and assorted Warrant Officer jobs. Both are members of the Order of the Arrow. At the time they received their Eagle awards Brad was Ass't Senior Patrol Leader and Bill was Patrol Leader of the Commande Patrol. Since receiving their Eagle both have been advanced to Junior Ass't. Scoutmaster.

The Leaders and Committee of Troop 126 proudly salute these two young men for their outstanding achievement.

Rotary, guests of the Bergs

Clarkston Rotary will be having an outdoor meeting with dinner and recreation on August 5th. The Rotary Club is the guest of member Jess Berg and family at their home.

the drink that enables a man to magnify his joy, and his happiness, and to forget, if only for a little while, life's great tragedies and heartbreaks and sorrows, if you mean that drink, the sale of which pours into our treasuries untold millions of dollars, which are used to provide tender care for our little crippled children, our blind, our deaf, our dumb, our pitiful aged and infirm, to build highways, hospitals and schools, then certainly I am in favor of it.

"This is my stand. I will not retreat from it; I will not compromise."

When local voters to cast their ballots in the Tuesday, August 6 primary election, they will find a multiplicity of names. There are new posts being created for which candidates will be selected as well as 3 state proposals and one County question on road millage.

Of interest on the local level will be the new District Supervisor race. A court ruling issued just recently calls only for the election of trustees on the township level. Previously it was believed that all township officers would be running in direct contrast to wording in the State constitution which extended their terms to 1970.

The term of Township Trustees incumbent Merle Bennett is expiring and Mr. Bennett is running for re-election on the Republican ticket. He is being opposed for that office on the same slate by Robert Kraud-Bennett, who lives at 7960 Dixie Highway. has been a Township resident for 18 years. He has held the office for 2 terms of 8 years. This is Kraud's first attempt at running for office in this township. His home is at 7840 Holcomb Road. On the Democratic side of the ballot, Charles Curry, Jr. is seeking the nomination. He ran unsuccessfully two years ago.

Two men are seeking nominations for township constable.

They are Donald Trarop running on the Democrat ticket and Kenneth D. Pawley, Republican.

For the newly created post of County Supervisor for the 23rd district which includes the townships of Independence, Brandon, Oxford, Groveland, Springfield, Holly excluding the village of Holly.

Three of those running are on the Republican ticket. They are Lee Valentine, present Oxford township supervisor; Richard Wilcox who is the present Brandon Township supervisor serving his second term. He and his wife publish The Reminder, a free circulation weekly newspaper in Ortonville. He is 38, and the father of 5 children.

Also running on the Republican ticket is Donald White, an Independence Township resident. In the real estate field, he is 46, married and has two children.

There are two Democrats running for this post, both of them Independence township residents. They are Paul Derryberry of 5208 Maybee Road and Mrs. Ingrid Smith of Eastlawn Street in Clarkston. Derryberry is a former chairman of the Township Democratic Club. He is 36; is employed at Pontiac Motor Division and has lived in Clarkston for 13 years. He has 6 children.

Mrs. Smith, a housewife is the mother of 8 children. The wife of a language teacher at Clarkston High School, Mrs. Smith sought the office of Trustee on the local Board of Education in the June election and was narrowly defeated.

In the second new post to be created that of District Judge (system to replace the office of Justice of the Peace) there are 3 candidates all running on the non-partisan ballot. This area is in the 52nd District. Voters will select one of the following 3 candidates. They are Odin H. Johnson, Emmett J. Leib, and Gerald McNally.

Also on the non-partisan judicial ballot, voters will be selecting one candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals. Candidates running are S. Jerome Bronson, Robert J. Danhoff and John F. Foley. In the 61st District for State Representative, there are 3 Republican candidates seeking the nomination. They are incumbent Loren Anderson of Pontiac, Donald J. Von Rase also of Pontiac, and Donald Mason, Jr. of Union Lake. The Democrat running for that post is Donald Collier also of Pontiac.

For representative in congress from this, the 19th district incumbent Jack McDonald, Republican is unopposed. Gary R. Frink of Pontiac and Ron Mardiros of Livonia are both seeking the Democratic nomination.

A Clarkston man Robert G. Phillips, police chief in the village is seeking nomination for sheriff. Running on the Democrat ticket, he is opposed by two others, Ruel McPherson of Hazel Park and Milton Jones of Birmingham. Incumbent Frank Irons and Herbert Cooley of Drayton Plains are running on the Republican slate.

Another Clarkston man, Lloyd Sibley is seeking a county office. He wants to be County Treasurer. Employed in the real estate field, he is a former Chief Deputy in the treasurer's office. Opposing him for the 4 year term on the Republican ticket is C. Hugh Dohany of Southfield. The incumbent, James Seeterlin is unopposed on the Democrat side.

Voters will also be picking their precinct delegates to the County conventions—both Republican and Democrat.

Construction bids for library sought

Ground breaking for the new Independence Township Library building could take place next month. The Township board will be advertising for bids this week for the general construction of the building.

These bids must be submitted by a deadline of August 20. A special meeting will be held with a representative of the Michigan State Library, Elizabeth Lindsay before the actual contract signing takes place.

There have been numerous delays in the library construction—the most recent of which was the building trades strike.

A federal grant has been received to accompany the local pledges made to begin construction of the long-sought building.

The drive which was spearheaded a year ago last February by the Clarkston Community Women's Club is keeping a steady flow of pledge payments coming in reports Mrs. K.B. Valentine, who is a member of the Library Advisory Committee.

Girls victorious again!

For the 4th year in a row, the girls swimming team won the relay races at MacDougall's Beach at Deer Lake on Saturday.

Throngs of people estimated at over 100 were on hand to watch the spirited racing, but the girls were again too much for the boys. The boys had to eat cookies which were the 2nd prize while the girls walked away with the candy.

According to "Mac", 18 girls out swam 18 boys in the annual Clarkston swim relays. Cindy Schwab, Janet Easton, Linda Skarritt and the Beyer girl were just too fast. Ed Butters, Jim Norberg, and Ross Miller were the top boy swimmers this year.

The exciting pre-school race between Sonny Schwab and Mike Gardner had to be delayed due to Mike contacting the mumps. This race will be held on Labor Day, just before the sail boat race if the water is not too cold.

Home vandalized, items stolen, reward offered

Bruce Clason, owner of Auburn Builders is not fooling around while trying to apprehend the parties responsible for the breaking, entering and vandalism at his home on Sashabaw Road Friday night. Elsewhere in this issue he has posted notice of a substantial reward for information leading to the parties involved.

The Clasons had been away from their home located at 3836 Sashabaw Road near Oak Hill and Seymour Lake during the evening. When they returned at 10:30 they found that the front door had been broken down, a picture window broken out and numerous other damage done. Theft of sports clothing, a portable television set as well as a home and auto television, at the place, was reported. Also taken was a Remington revolver.

Oakland County sheriff officers are investigating the case. Numerous other homes in that area have been vandalized and robbed, all fairly recently reports Mr. Clason.

Group therapy practiced by social work specialists

When a soldier suffers a broken leg or shell fragment wounds, his injury is clearly visible to the attending physician.

If he has a disease, the physician is able to diagnose it by the characteristic symptoms. But should he be mentally ill or emotionally disturbed, it can be determined only by his behavior.

The Mental Hygiene Consultation Div. at Ft. Gordon's U.S. Army Hospital Specialized Treatment Center in Georgia is staffed with personnel who are qualified to evaluate and deal with the soldier's emotional problems, whether deep-seated or temporary.

Sp5 Chris J. Buehrig of Clarkston is representative of the social work specialists assigned at the Ft. Gordon Hospital. He has had specialized training in social work at Ft. Sam Houston, Texas and has worked at the hospital for more than two years. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert C. Buehrig of 7819 Reese Road, Clarkston.

Sp5 Buehrig works with patients in the 100-bed psychiatric ward. At present there are 96 patients including many Vietnam returnees. Many of them are suffering from shrapnel and bullet wounds. None are amputees.

"Those patients have more than just 'temporary' disturbances," Buehrig said. "The majority of them are young—19 or 20. A few are career soldiers who have been in the Army a long time."

"They have seen the horrors of war; have seen their fellow soldiers killed right before their eyes. Deep depression, anxiety and disorientation are characteristic of this type of patient."

"Some," he continued, "have an intense sense of guilt. 'Why should I be alive when my buddies are all dead?' they ask."

"There are also the quiet ones—the 'loners'—who have difficulty relating to other people. They have kept their fears and anxieties locked up inside them. They feel a need to 'talk them out' with someone they can trust—but don't know how," Buehrig said.

Social work specialists employ group therapy as a means to reveal and evaluate the patients' problems. In this type therapy the SWS seeks to stir up discussions in which the men take part.

"It helps them to relate to other humans," said one worker, adding, "group therapy has produced some gratifying results, enabling the social work specialist to help the patient to help himself."

Buehrig and the other social work specialists there are highly trained personnel with a genuine liking for people and a desire to help them. College educated, with majors in psychology, or social science, most are graduates of a course in social work at Ft. Sam Houston.

Attending an Aerospace workshop at M.S.U. were Clarkston teachers, James Tyrrell and Jane Butters.

Attend workshop

Mrs. Jane Butters of 6470 Waldon Road, Clarkston, and Mr. James C. Tyrrell of 62 Madison Court, Clarkston, examined models of various NASA missiles and rockets, ranging from the small "Scout" missile to the 34-story Apollo-Atlas moon rocket, during Michigan State University's Aerospace Workshop.

The workshop is a nontechnical program on aerospace science for elementary school teachers and administrators providing information and materials helpful in classroom teaching.

Activities of the two-week workshop included: a lecture by Dr. Harrison H. Schmitt, selected by NASA in 1965 as a scientist-astronaut; a tour of Wright-Patterson Air Force Base; visits to MSU's Abrams Planetarium; a demonstration of firing, tracking and recovery of solid fuel rockets by the fifth grade students from Parnell Elementary School in Jackson, Michigan, and a special program on elementary meteorology.

Mrs. Butters is a sixth grade teacher in the Clarkston Elementary School and Mr. Tyrrell is a seventh grade general science teacher in the Clarkston Public School.

At R.O.T.C. camp

Gary L. Fitch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Fitch, 5744 Hummingbird Lane, a senior majoring in metallurgy and a 1965 graduate of Clarkston High School is one of 3500 Army R.O.T.C. cadets participating in summer camp at Ft. Riley, Kansas. He is one of 30 Michigan Tech students who are throwing grenades, launching rockets and testing their abilities as military leaders.

The camp's mission is to provide the military student with practical experience with specific emphasis on the duties and skills required of an Army lieutenant. The session also seeks to develop traits of military leadership and to provide instruction that can't be presented adequately on a university campus.

Cadets are under constant observation by platoon and company officers during the 6 week camp. The observations form the basis for an objective evaluation report that is prepared for each cadet and sent to the appropriate college to assist the professor of military science in determining the overall effectiveness of a cadet and his fitness for a commission.

MRS. RONALD JAMES ARSENAULT

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald James Arsenault were married on July 27 at the Church of God in Pontiac. The bride is the former Joan Gail Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Smith of Northview Drive in Clarkston. The groom is the son of Walter Arsenault of Columbia Drive, Clarkston.

Altar decorations of white glads formed the setting for the ceremony and the same flowers were used in the white pew bows. The ceremony was performed at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and a reception was held on the lawn of the bride's parents Clarkston home following the vows.

Joan had chosen a gown of peau de soie fashioned with an empire waist and A-line skirt. The lace covered bodice of the gown had a slightly scooped neckline and the train was attached at the waist. A double beaded tiara held her illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and roses.

Maid of Honor, Mrs. John Wilson and the bridesmaids Sandra Smith, Debra Smith and Mrs. Dan Sheffer wore gowns of pink crepe with flowing trains. Their white mumflower arrangements were centered with a pink rose.

Lorie Hamlin and Lain Hamlin performed the duties of flower girl and ring bearer respectively.

Jon Wilson was the best man and ushers were Melvin Campbell and Gary King.

The groom, who has been with the U.S. Army has been stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri and is awaiting further orders. The bride will remain here with her parents.

Relatives and friends were present to enjoy the evenings festivities. The bride-to-be was presented with a kitchen utensil corsage upon her arrival. A specially decorated cake highlighted the dessert luncheon served at the conclusion of the evening.

on July 25. Employees of Lloyd Miller and Sons had gathered for dinner, but the event culminated in showering Frank and Carolyn with gifts for their new home. Another couple were also feted and both couples were of the impression that the shower was for the other couple.

DEMOCRAT FOR CONGRESS

ON TAXES

Gary Frink knows that taxes are hitting you hard. He's paying them too. And his four years in Washington, with the Departments of Commerce and Health, Education & Welfare and the White House convinced him that Americans of moderate income are paying more than their share of the bills of government.

As legislative assistant to Michigan Congressman Wes Vivian and staff director of a U.S. House of Representatives Subcommittee devoted to the modernization of our archaic postal system, he understands the federal budget. He has ideas that will lead to economies. As your congressman, Gary Frink will work for adoption of a plan to pay off the national debt with federal royalties from western shale oil reserves.

He will work to turn our resources to the rehabilitation of our cities, our disenfranchised, our youth, our water and air. With increased productivity and an enlarged, vital work force there will be more people to share the bill.

We will all benefit from a congressman who has the background, the qualifications and the experience to give us our money's worth in Washington. Vote for Gary R. Frink in the Democratic Primary August 6.

WHY THE "HIPPIES"?
Rev. H. C. Cranston

Someone has said that "hippie" means "children of the hypocrites." Whether this is true or not, it is apparent that the hippies are rebelling against their parents whom they feel profess one thing and do another.

Could it be that many are insincere and become faceless while holding up a mask of pretense? Helen Haiman Joseph depicts this deceit in the poem "The Mask."

Always a mask
Held in the slim hand, whitely
Always she had a mask
before her face—
Smiling and sprightly,
The mask.

"Truly the wrist
Holding it lightly
Fitted the task:
Sometimes however
Was there a shiver,
Fingertip quiver,
Ever so slightly—
Holding the mask?"

"For years and years and years I wondered
But dared not ask.

"And then—I blundered,
I looked behind,
Behind the mask, to find
Nothing—she had no face.

"She had become
Merely a hand—holding a mask
With grace. *

Before one condemns the "hippie", perhaps he should first examine himself to determine the degree of his own sincerity, Sincerity, or singleness of heart, is one of the traits of the growing Christian. The exhortation of Joshua to Israel some 3,350 years ago is good advice for us "Now therefore fear the Lord, and serve him in sincerity and in truth . . ." Joshua 24:14a

Though the "hippie" may continue to rebel, let us not be guilty of empty professions. Let us live what we profess, that we may profess what we live.

RULES FOR PLAYING "KEY-NO"

- The newspaper will publish each week, TWENTY DIFFERENT numbers from the total of eighty numbers on the playing form. If a number is published that you have marked on your form that number constitutes ONE Key-No. Each additional number so published and marked on your playing form is an additional Key-No. The total number of Key-Nos. you have in any one game, determines your lucky chance to win.
- EVERY PARTICIPATING FIRM WILL POST A COMPLETELY SEPARATE SET OF KEY-NUMBERS EVERY WEEK. NO TWO FIRMS WILL HAVE THE SAME SET OF NUMBERS. EACH IS A SEPARATE GAME AND CONSTITUTES A NEW AND ADDITIONAL LUCKY CHANCE TO WIN. VISIT AS MANY FIRMS, AS YOU WISH. CHECK YOUR NUMBERS WITH THEIRS. THE MORE PARTICIPATING FIRMS YOU VISIT THE MORE LUCKY CHANCES YOU HAVE. AWARDS FOR EACH GAME WILL BE PUBLISHED IN THE NEWSPAPER.

- FILL IN THE DUPLICATE with exactly the same numbers you have on your playing form. Send duplicate with your name and address to your sponsoring local newspaper. The newspaper must have your duplicate in its files by noon Monday of the week, before the series which you plan to play the game is published.
- Keep the same playing form throughout the entire number of weeks that this promotion runs in your community, as sponsored by your participating local newspaper. More than one entry per person will disqualify any potential winner.
- Use the same number arrangement whenever you play Key-No. Do not make out a new form each week. Mount your form on a card if you like, and carry it with you on trips to town.
- Remember...you do not play on a blank form. EVERY form should have ten numbers marked plainly and your duplicate of these numbers on file at the newspaper BEFORE you can win on Key-No.

Basinger home—once residence of village blacksmith

There are still signs, at the house at 8 E. Washington Street that Frank Yeager, blacksmith, made his home here. At the top of a pair of old concrete steps is imbedded a horseshoe. The walk here once led to a small barn in the side yard. This is where Mr. Yeager did his smithing when he decided to retire from the big active shop on Main Street.

The abstract for this house and the land it stands on is peppered with names of early settlers, including that of Butler Holcomb and some of the Vliets. There is much here of historic interest.

The present owner, Mrs. Lysle Basinger along with her late husband, planned the re-decorating for some time before beginning the actual work. They wisely started on a course of restoring rather than remodeling, and as a result, the house retains all the charm and serenity of its early days.

Once white, the house was recently painted a soft, deep gold. Trimmed in white, there are black shutters to accent the windows. Unlike many houses of that age, it was never engulfed in porches and there is a small stoop leading to the front door. Nestled in old plantings of trees, shrubs and lilac bushes, it is a well constructed house that has stood for years.

The outside appears deceptively small. There are six rooms and a bath on the first floor and in the building of this house, something was done in each room to give it a feeling of spaciousness. Mrs. Basinger's talent and good taste as a professional interior decorator have sustained this look.

Across the front of the house are the two parlors that seem almost a tradition with houses in this area. The redecorating had just been finished in here and everything from the thick solid-colored carpeting to the walls and the beautifully tailored drapes was Wedgewood blue. In a corner of the bigger of the two rooms stands a white cupboard that holds the Wedgewood plates around which the rooms were decorated. Here also is the bright accent of a red and white chair. A six window bay is the special touch in this room that adds to its apparent size. Mrs. Basinger, in examining the foundation, discovered that this must have been added after the original structure was built.

In the smaller parlor, the Basinger's made an addition of their own. The house was built in what is known as barn-style, with heavy beams set in the corners. One of these beams protruded slightly into this smaller room and rather than remove it, a matching projection was added in the flanking corner. Long and narrow, this room with only one entrance into the other parlor, seems remote from the rest of the house. We could visualize it as Mrs. Frank Yeager's company room, always neatly in order and ready for guests.

In this room as in all rooms, Mrs. Basinger has wisely avoided clutter of Victoriana. The first settlers in Clarkston came from the east far in advance of what was known as the Victorian age. Their tastes in furniture and architecture had been influenced in the main by the towns and villages of an earlier day. It wasn't until near the turn of the century that the homes of Independence appeared with towers, turrets and lacy wood trim. Most of the oldest houses in Clarkston, such as the Basinger home, have clean, uncluttered lines with a minimum of ornamentation.

The Basinger dining room is the hub of the house. Almost every downstairs room can be entered from here. In here also, is what Mrs. Basinger describes as the one modern touch—a large picture window reaching to the floor that looks out into the side yard. This was added before the time of the Basinger's but since it gives such a lovely view, it has been allowed to remain.

Despite all these openings, including a door that leads upstairs, this room still has that special touch of spaciousness. Here is the most unique feature in the entire house—a domed ceiling. Looking upward, it appears that the center of the ceiling is at least three feet higher than the outer edges. There is no way of knowing now if this was put in when the house was built or was an added feature of the ingenious Mr. Yeager. Whichever it was, it is lovely, and has been made even more so by the recent addition of a beautiful 18th century chandelier. The carpenter's had just finished laying the new parquét floor shortly before our arrival. An Oriental rug in soft blues and reds centered the room. A windowed alcove in here is large enough to hold an 18th century desk, lamp and chair.

A small room with a sloping ceiling that lays behind one of the doors in the dining room might have started life as a storage room. It serves presently as a bedroom during the remodeling but Mrs. Basinger has plans for turning it into a sample room for use in her interior decorating work.

The office-den, done in soft green and golds, features drapes and wallpaper in matching fruit print. Here small closets and an otherwise wasted chimney space conceal file cabinets and office equipment. These are behind doors papered and wainscoted to match the wall.

In the kitchen we discovered that we had come in ahead of the carpenters. They were in the process of putting down a pegged wood floor and it was proving a very charming transition. A few feet beyond the kitchen door, stands a tall black-hand pump, an antique in its own right and one that Mrs. Basinger has no intention of doing away with.

Redecorating for the top floor is still in the planning. It takes time and patience to do all that has been done already, and still retain the spirit and feeling of this house from another era. With color and flair, Mrs. Basinger has achieved this.

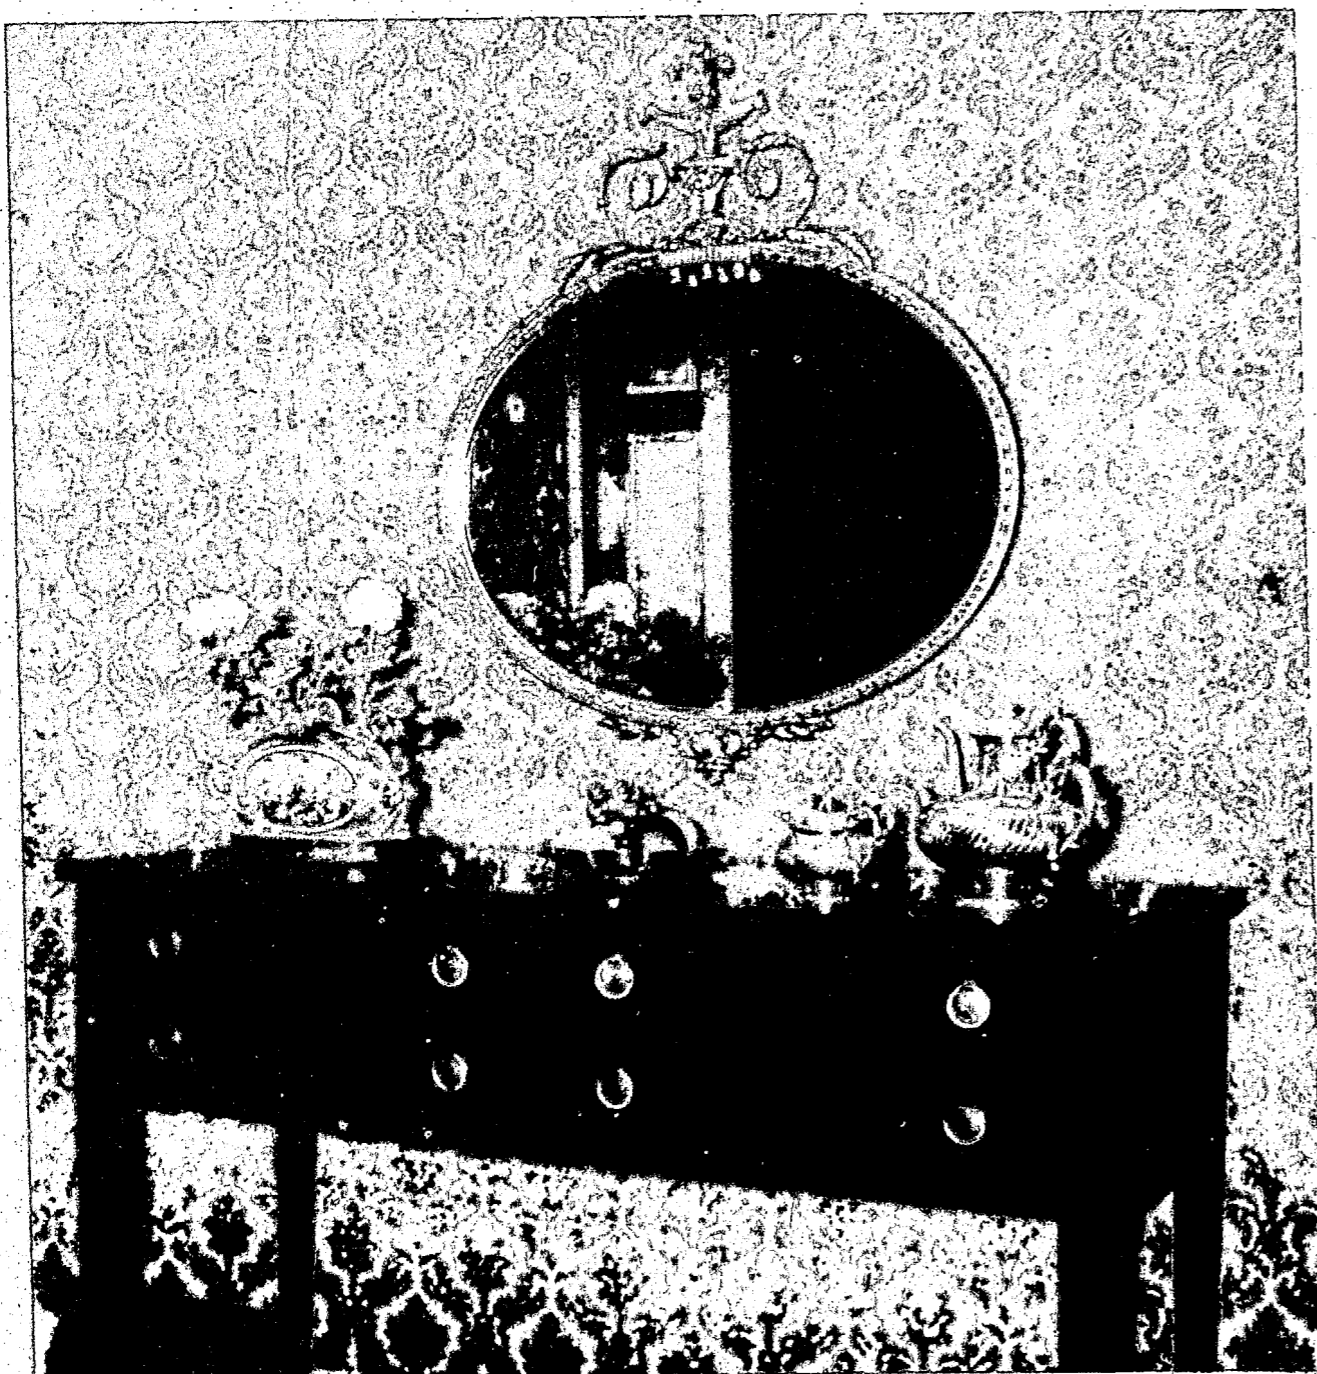

By Constance Lektzian

Seated near the 6-window bay, Mrs. Basinger was still in the process of choosing fabrics and accessories.

Cleverly concealed behind wainscoting and wallpaper in the den are storage spaces for office equipment and file cabinets.

The dining room now possesses a beautiful parquét floor! Mrs. Basinger's flair for originality is shown in the arrangement of bright red geraniums in a silver serving dish.

When everyone else in Clarkston trod on boardwalks, Mrs. Frank Yeager had an asphalt sidewalk that led from this front door to the village.

State ballot issues in the primary

The voters will vote in the August 6 primary on three proposed amendments to the state constitution:

Proposition 1 establishes a judicial tenure commission; Proposition 2 establishes a state officers compensation commission; and, Proposition 3 authorizes the governor to fill judicial vacancies by appointment.

These are the first amendments to the 1963 constitution which have been submitted to the voters. Another proposed amendment and several other state propositions will appear on the ballot at the November general election.

The first proposition establishes a judicial tenure commission to investigate complaints about the conduct of judges. The commission is not authorized to take disciplinary action itself. Instead, recommendations are submitted to the supreme court which may decide to censure, suspend with or without salary, retire or remove a judge for any of the following causes: conviction of a felony; physical or mental disability which prevents the performance of judicial duties; misconduct in office; persistent failure to perform his duties; habitual intemperance; and conduct that is clearly prejudicial to the administration of justice.

The supreme court is given rule-making authority to implement this section of the constitution and is also directed to provide for the confidentiality and privilege of the proceedings.

The judicial tenure commission would be composed of nine members, of whom a majority of five would be judges. Four of the member-judges would be elected by the judges of the respective courts—court of appeals, circuit courts, probate courts, and courts of limited jurisdiction. Members of the state bar would elect one judge and two lawyers; and the governor would appoint two non-lawyer citizen-members.

State Proposition No. 2 is a proposed constitutional amendment that would create a state officers compensation commission with the power to set the salaries of legislators and of the governor, lieutenant governor and justices of the supreme court. The state officers compensation commission would be made up of seven members appointed by the governor. Under the proposed system, salaries set by the compensation commission would be final unless rejected by a two-thirds vote in each house of the legislature.

Prior to 1948, the salaries of legislators, the governor and the lieutenant governor were fixed in the constitution, while the salaries of the justices were fixed by statute. In 1948, the constitution was amended to authorize the legislature to determine, by statute, the compensation of its own members, the governor and the lieutenant governor, but provided that no change in compensation of these officials can become effective during the current term of office.

Dissatisfaction with the current practice of setting salaries by legislative act appears to be based primarily on the fact that considerable controversy usually occurs every time legislative salaries are increased. The procedure itself has not imposed stringent limits on legislative salaries, a problem which existed prior to 1948 when a fixed amount was set by the constitution. On the contrary, since 1949 legislative salaries plus expense allowances have risen from $2,900 to the present $15,000 annually. Over the same period, the salary of the governor increased from $22,000 to $40,000, the lieutenant governor from $5,900 to $22,000, and the justices of the supreme court from $12,000 to $35,000.

On Proposition No. 3 for filling of judicial vacancies this proposed constitutional amendment would authorize the governor to fill judicial vacancies in any court of record or in the district court by appointment. A vacancy is defined to exist because of death, removal, or resignation of the judge or by vacating the office, which includes moving out of the district from which he was elected. The governor would not be able to appoint persons to newly created judgeships; these posts would be filled by election. The proposed amendment would allow a person appointed to the judgeship to be eligible to run for election to the vacated post. In addition, the amendment specifically provides that an appointed judge shall be designated as an incumbent on the ballot. At present, only elected judges have such designation. The proposal also empowers the supreme court to "authorize persons who have been elected and served as judges to perform judicial duties for limited periods or specific assignments.

and on numerous committees. John replaces Billie Coyle, 5100 Oak Park, Clarkston who just finished his year as 18th District Commander. Billie has been active in Chief Pontiac Post #377 and was Commander of that Post.

Also representing Clarkston at the Convention held at the Jack Tarr Hotel and the Civic Center for 4 days, was Floyd (Whitey) Tower, 177 N. Main Street. Floyd finished the year as the American Legion Director for the Dept. of Mich., American Legion. His committee consisted of 5 committee chairmen from, American Legion Baseball, Guy M. Wilson Scholarship, Sons of American Legion, American Legion Wolverine Boys State, and Law and Order—Un American Act.

These 5 committees met Friday to go over the years activities and report to the Convention delegates their progress for the year. Some 14 resolutions were acted upon in this Convention committee made up of representatives of all the districts in Michigan. Floyd had the pleasure of seeing his resolution concerning activities of Students for Democratic Action Society, pass Resolutions Committee and voted favorably on the Convention floor.

The resolution asked that the group's activities on college campuses be curtailed as it tends to destroy internal security or overthrow our form of government.

Floyd has also served as Adjutant and Commander of Clarkston Post, and in 1965 held office of 18th District Commander. He has been appointed to act as Adjutant under the Newly elected Commander of Clarkston, Paul Pety.

Other activities involved besides their many meetings were District Caucuses, Convention Sessions, Executive Committee Meetings, Drum and Bugle Corps competition, Election of Officers, the Parade past the Capital, 50th Anniversary Banquet, and Joint Memorial Services. After a busy four days all new officers and delegates went away from a highly successful convention to make new plans for their Posts, especially this 50th year.
