VOLUME 39 10 CENTS CLARKSTON, MICHIGAN 48016 THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1969 3 SECTIONS NUMBER 23

Jim's Jottings

The years have mellowed me. It used to be I'd get quite upset at public hearings. Almost without exception someone at these meetings asks, "Why weren't we told this was going on?"

It comes at zoning hearings, annexation, school information meetings, and village, township and planning board public hearings.

Generally, the chairman will say, "It was published in the local paper." The response varies from, "who reads that?" to "What is it?"

Criticism we take. But people who are not interested enough in local affairs to scan the local paper each week used to upset me. I've heard it enough that I just chuckle now. At least I chuckle outwardly.

And, I shake my head, wondering why, if people are interested enough to attend this public meeting, they aren't interested enough to follow the reports carried in the local paper. If they would just scan the paper each week they would see the stories or advertisements that appear.

Most public hearings require the governing unit to advertise such meetings. Election notices, zoning change requests, ordinance hearings and registration notices are required by law to appear in the local newspaper. And, other meetings, other than regular ones, are put in the paper by clerks to help keep the public informed.

Of course we can rationalize on non-readers. By far the majority of people at these meetings are informed. The non-readers are seldom involved in community activities, though I have seen the exception to this conclusion. Too, those who ask "Why weren't we told of this?" are at the meeting primarily to object. Their minds are made up. They're agin whatever it is. They will not usually be swayed from their preconceived ideas.

And, when membership is being sought for committees they are not in evidence. At the meeting they will drop their heads so not to meet the eyes of the chairman. Away from the meetings they will not offer to serve, and will have an excuse when asked.

People should get involved. They should work in some way for their community. Only a few can serve on the governing body, but there is other work that needs to be done. There are charities, school programs, study committees, church work, and club work.

People should become informed. They should read what they can on a subject, listen and talk about it, attend some meetings then offer their thoughts to those in charge. Considerably more people are needed to come forth and help.

It's right that we should have aginer's, but they should be informed aginer's. Whether it's this paper or any other local paper it should be read by people in its community. The local paper will have most of the local news; in greater depth, written by people who know more about local issues.

Thank goodness, most people locally know this and take the paper.

LAST LOOK—Remember how this building looked because it has already been changed. A shingled overhang runs across the front below the second floor windows. O'Dells will expand into the 2 stores on the left and Richardson's will have an ice cream parlor in O'Dells' present location.

Remodeling now

Drug store, ice cream parlor expanding down town

It's a certainty now. In fact, the remodeling has started. Keith Hallman is expanding his O'Dell Drug Store into the 2 buildings north of his present location and Mr. and Mrs. Don Vachon will be opening a new Richardson's ice cream parlor in Hallman's present location.

It has taken a few months to get all the details worked out, but work has begun on remodeling the exterior and interior of the 3 stores (one building). Clarkston Bakery, which has occupied the north store, 4 N. Main, since 1957, will discontinue business, according to the owner, Gerald Hodge, this week. Mr. Hodge's plans are to accept employment with another bakery.

This 60x65 building was completed around the turn of the century. It was started with the sale of shares in Clarkston Building Association. At the time a share cost $10 and some $7,000 worth was sold to numerous people.

In more recent years, many of the shares were purchased by Roy Alger and the late Gerald O'Dell. At present only 8 shareholders are involved in the association and Alger has the controlling interest. Mrs. Rowena O'Dell is the second largest stockholder.

In the beginning, Mr. Alger said, his father had a hardware in another location in Clarkston and as soon as the building was complete he moved in. Another store was a grocery and drug store owned by Guy Walter. The third was the post office with John Smith postmaster.

The center store remained a hardware, Alger's Hardware, going from father to son, Roy, until he closed the doors June 1, 1967.

A two story building, the second floor had a great history in the community. Across the top of the building are the words "Maccabee Temple." They met upstairs. A stage is over one portion and it was used for plays, theatre performances and lectures. There were dances and the American Legion and Rotary met there for several years.

The telephone exchange was in one of the upstairs quarters until recent years.

Now it has passed into Keith Hallman's hands. Though it isn't expected the drug store and ice cream parlor will be able to move in early spring, it is their goal.

The exterior will get a facelift of brick and paneling to give it an Early American appearance. The entrance will remain where it is for the Richardson outlet; however, a new entrance will be put in the center of the other two buildings.

Inside the present drug store the major work will be removing the shelving and equipment and dressing it up with paint.

Considerable more work will be needed in the other two units. The ceiling will be lowered, carpeting laid, new wiring installed and work done on the walls to get them ready for shelving.

Hallman, who also owns Professional Center Pharmacy on M15, plans considerable more space for his prescription department. This will be center-rear of the stores.

The greeting card department will also be enlarged, as will the cosmetic area, sundry, gift and baby goods lines. Hallman has already ordered fixtures for his new quarters.

He presently has a SDD license for selling liquors and it is his plan to apply for a beer and wine take out license, SDM.

Keith Hallman has been in Clarkston 16 years. He came here to work for Mrs. O'Dell following the death of her husband. After a year he started buying into the drug store, and with Mrs. O'Dell, they opened Professional Center Pharmacy 9 years ago. In 1965 Hallman became the sole owner of both stores. The two had been partners 12 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Hallman make their home at 6024 Overlook. They have 5 children. Linda, a recent graduate of Central Michigan University, is teaching at Clarenceville High School, Jane is a junior at CMU, Dan is a junior at Clarkston High School, Mark is in the 8th grade and Susan the fifth.

This will be the second store for Mr. and Mrs. Vachon. He managed Richardson's Dairy store on M15 for one year, then in July 1966 the Vachons bought this business which they own and operate.

The new store will be primarily an old fashioned ice cream parlor with small tables and chairs done in red and white stripes. Mrs. Vachon, who will manage the store, also has plans to have coffee, rolls and doughnuts for early morning business.

Plans are also in the making to stock sandwiches of ham, corned beef and turkey, on a neat in-or-out basis. There will be an order counter where you can place your order and eat-or-go.

Both O'Dells' and Richardson's will have rear customer entrances.

Opening date of the store is not known at the present time.

Don and Pat Vachon live in Waterford at 3752 Percy King. They have lived there the past 10 years. They have 4 children, Don, Jr., attending Waterford Kettering, Debbie and Diane at Mason Junior High and Doug at Schoolcraft.

In referring to the new store, Don says, "After 4 years of doing business with the fine people of Clarkston as customers, it's bound to be a success."

Who's responsible?

Water surrounds houses

By Jim Sherman
"It has happened before, but never like this. In the last month we've had it 3 times." Dave Brandt, 6195 Paramus was talking about the flooding that has inundated his place and some of his neighbors.

He just about has to wear hip boots in his house, and surely he has to wear them if he wants to keep his feet dry to go to the road. On his lot, 2 houses south of Paramus at Middle Lake corner, there was 2 feet of water. If his house had a basement, he'd have had an indoor swimming pool.

Chances are that if we again have weather conditions like last week, raining and thawing, Dave Brandt and his neighbors will be flooded again. To correct the situation it will apparently take a drainage ditch to get the water over the small hill to the north.

And, if anyone would admit to having the authority to dig such a drain, which they haven't according to Brandt, it will have to wait until warmer weather.

Working with Brandt and his neighbors to relieve the situation is township clerk Howard Altman. He, with some Independence Township volunteer firemen and men from the township work force, have brought the only help to date. During one flooding 6 men manned brooms to try to keep water from entering one of the homes.

They couldn't keep up and ended by bringing an auxiliary pump from the fire station and sand to dump in front of the garage doors.

Thursday evening and Friday Altman got 2 more pumps, had couplings welded to fit them and took them to Paramus at Middle Lake roads. The first 2 pumps that took away 3400 gallons of water an hour couldn't keep up. The water is pumped about 500 feet east to a man hole on school property. At one time 6 pumps were trying to lower the water level.

Brandt stayed up all Wednesday night keeping the pumps running.

In the meantime water had risen into his house and $2,200 worth of carpeting was ruined, he said.

Though some governing body is responsible for the condition, each is passing the buck. It would appear that whichever unit is responsible isn't familiar with the area.

The Road Commission says they can do nothing because private property is involved. The Drain Commission says it's not their responsibility. The township says they own no roads, that they are maintained by the county.

This subdivision, Clarkston Estates No. 2, has both private and public roads. South of Princess they are private. North they're public. Where the flooding occurs it's public. However, Brandt and others feel their water problem stems from the private road area.

Property owners on Princess poured concrete in drainage culverts in their area to prevent their being flooded. It is this stoppage that some feel causes flooding at Paramus and Middle Lake. Being private property, the owners can do as they wish and one or more wish to leave the culverts plugged.

Thanks to the pumps and rain stopping Friday night, the water receded from Brandt's house. Two of the pumps were loaned to the township from the county Drain Commission. This was the extent of their help. The other pumps came from the township and fire department, as did the hoses.

This flooded section of Clarkston Estates No. 2 is really the Road Commission responsibility. It is their responsibility. It is expected, however, that when they admit it they will plead shortage of funds and/or say correcting the situation will have to wait for more favorable weather.

The Brandts have a fine home, immaculately kept... with furniture sitting on blocks above the water soaked carpeting. Unless something is done to prevent a recurrence of the flooding, the Brandts and their neighbors better keep the blocks handy.

NEED BOOTS to walk in the street, get to houses, and even inside some houses on Paramus.

YIELDS TO WATER—the homes of Howard Wixom, foreground and David Brandt, on Paramus.

NOTICE County reports 2 accidents

Time is running out for Clarkston residents who are not registered to vote in the Village election.

Friday, February 7, is the deadline to register for the March 10 election.

Village Clerk, Artemus Pappas, announced that his office at 55 W. Washington will be open from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m. on the deadline date to accommodate those who have not been registered previously.

An accident involving three cars occurred on M-15 and Waldon at 1:00 p.m. on February 1. John Anderson of Davisburg told police that he was unable to stop his car and collided with the car of Alexander Gosland of Oakland, California, who, in turn, crashed into the car driven by Brenda Threet of Waterford.

Both Gosland and Threet had stopped for a car which was turning into Waldon.

Minor injuries were reported.

In another accident at Hillcrest in the Woodhull Subdivision, Rex Beauchamp, 18, of Drayton Plains, told police that his accelerator stuck and he lost control of his car. No other car was involved.

Neither Beauchamp nor his passenger, Wendy Kulaga, 17, of Utica were reported injured.

Clarkston kids really CARE

Clarkston kids do really care. They care enough to be considered good friends of CARE, Inc. They care over a thousand dollars worth.

It all started with a social studies program that included the study of Latin America. It gained impetus from the spirit of the Christmas season.

The sixth grade class of Mrs. Jane Butters and the first grade class of Mrs. Gladys Godfrey, at Clarkston Elementary School decided to get involved.

Through their studies they became aware of and interested in the need of people in British Honduras, (soon to become the independent nation of Belize), which is located on the East coast of Central America.

With school permission, they contacted CARE, Inc. and asked how they could help. They requested that their contribution be made in the field of education.

Soon they received movies and posters that made them more aware of the great need. They portrayed the degree of poverty prevalent among the people more plainly than the routine social studies films.

Collection containers were placed in each room. Then, the true spirit of Christmas giving completed the story. Everyone wanted to help.

The trickle of pennies, nickles and dimes became a flood and swelled to the total of $156.75. This amount has the purchasing power of over $1000 in Belize.

Proving that they care, are Thomas Meeker and Doreen Freitag, from Mrs. Godfrey's first grade room, dropping their contribution into the canister held by sixth grader Judy Tilley.

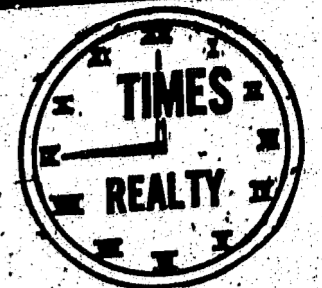

Last week a letter from CARE was received by the boys and girls. It said in part, "Truly one of the most rewarding aspects of the holiday season is hearing from selfless and so very generous young people such as you. Just as soon as reports come in we'll let you know the exact disposition of your contribution."

Clarkston 5 nearly pulls upset

Well, sports fans, Clarkston kept the audience on edge for 3 1/2 quarters and almost beat the 7th best team in the state. Yes, it was a real donnybrook affair.

Remember the first game when Paddy's Lakers downed Clarkston by 21 points.

This time it was much closer, 50-43. The 1st quarter saw the Wolves leading by 1, 13 to 12. Chuck Granger had a hot 1st quarter along with sophomore Don Brown, but Granger was plagued by foul trouble. The 2nd quarter reminded me of the '64 district title game as Clarkston and West Bloomfield matched basket for basket, with the Lakers holding a one point lead at intermission.

Clarkston had a hot 3rd quarter and a five point lead midway through the 3rd stanza, but some costly mistakes saw the Lakers knot the score at 34 all as the period came to an end. Rich Porritt put the Wolves ahead by 2 in the fourth but then lightning struck.

Dave Karlson hit a free throw on a one on one. Steve Westjohn scored on a layup and was fouled, making it 38 to 36, and then two costly floor mistakes by Clarkston cost them 4 points as Jim Bays hit two quick jumpers.

Rich Porritt was fouled when he hit one charity toss, making it 45 to 39. Westjohn scored on another layup making it 47 to 39; another miscue made it 49 to 39.

A Rich Porritt basket cut the gap to 8. Crowder put the Lakers ahead by 9 on a free throw and then Gary Macmillan closed the scoring, making the final, West Bloomfield 50, Clarkston 43.

Don Brown, Eric Hood, and Chuck Granger did a remarkable job on the backboards. In all they jauled down 38 to the Lakers' 27. And, led in the field goal department. But West Bloomfield won the contest at the charity stripe as they were 18 for 28. Clarkston lost the game at the line by hitting only 9 of 20 shots.

I would like to give this West Bloomfield squad a lot of credit as Paddy-as brought these boys a long way. I can remember when Steve Westjohn and Dave Karlson were starters on the varsity and were taking medicine from Dan Fife and company in their sophomore year.

This week Clarkston plays host to Clarenceville and they will have to stop Bob Ridling and Dave Brandimilhi if they expect to win.

In a rare, Saturday night game, the Bloomfield Hills Barons are the hosts and Clarkston is going to need more than a lucky locker to beat the Barons. Watch out for Dick Souther and Bob Foreman—they are dangerous!

Coach Hanson saw his squad even their record at 4-4 by defeating the junior Lakers by a score of 52 to 43 in a real close game. Cowboy Dave Thomas hit two pressure free throws and baskets by Rick Prasil and Larry Walker, who is improving more and more each contest, widened the gap. Kurt Richardson was high with 12.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

Coach Pierson and company lost to Madison Page by 6 for their first loss of the season, and then beat Highland by a score of 61 to 39.

Playing key roles in the win were Ben Lawrence, Bill Bildstien, Bill Craig, Dave Cinader and Ed Butters, who is recovering from an ankle injury. The Frosh now have a league record of 8-1.

VARSIITY WRESTLING

Coach Inman and coach Moseovic saw their matmen raise their dual record to 8-2 by downing Brighton by a score of 30 to 14. Coach Inman should be given a lot of credit. His boys have done real well.

Max brought wrestling to Clarkston as he came to Clarkston in '64, where he started an intramural program; then two years ago it became a varsity sport.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS JUNIOR HIGH

282 boys started out in the junior high basketball program, according to athletic director, Mel Leroy Varra. I can remember playing intramural basketball at the junior high.

I have never been much athletically but I had a lot of fun in the junior high program. I can also remember that I was the first to graduate out of the junior high athletic program.

It makes me feel proud. As far as I am concerned, Mr. Varra has the best junior high athletic program in the state of Michigan.

The junior high has a fine coaching staff and these men should be commended for their fine job. They

"All for Clarkston, stand up and holler", and they all stood up.

Coach Poindexter as a 1st year coach, had an undefeated season in league play with a 7-0 mark. Members are as follows for the cage champs: Gary Mason (55), Tim Anderson (49), Chuck Jorgenson (37); also a member of the coaching staff is Dennis Bronson. tenth anniversary, on January 31, were neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Richard Buller, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hines, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Peoples.

A call to the Norman Daniel home on Holcomb was answered by little Roonie Daniels, who sounded more than happy to get her mom. Roonie's excited inquiring voice rang out over the phone lines as she went from room to room, but soon returned with a puzzled tone to report she couldn't find her mommy anywhere in the house. Immediately the picture of a dramatic rescue call formed until the child cried, "Oh! Here she is now." Explaining my relief on her arrival, Mrs. Daniels' counter explained, that she had just slipped out to the car to start the hair dryer on her wet spark plugs. There's a gal that has my vote for the Ingenious Woman of the Year Award.

Winging their way over the states to San Francisco, recently, were Mr. and Mrs. Loren Bray. The ten day trip to the Golden Gate City gave the Brays a combination vacation and visit with relatives, before returning to their home on Shelley Drive.

While some will vaguely remember the ice covering of January 28th, others may not be able to forget so soon. They are the unlucky ones that had the misfortune of falling. One such resident on Maplewood was Mrs. Rae Link. Once back on her feet, Mrs. Link discovered her arm had taken the brunt of the fall. She was taken to Beaumont Hospital where she received treatment for a broken arm.

Another hospital visitor, who wasn't there just through the visiting hours, was little Dawn Bradley. The four-year-old was confined to a five day hospital stay after the removal of her tonsils. Dawn is now home on Sally Road, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bradley, and her two brothers and a sister.

The Bahamas apparently have just found themselves two more admirers. One week of the Island's balmy breezes and ocean beauty gave Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Parrott enough fond memories to last for some time. The Parrotts, parents of five children, were part of a chartered group of approximately 125 members of the Michigan Institute of Laundry and Dry Cleaners, who flew down together for the rest and relaxation of the sunny climate.

While Mrs. Parrott returned to chores and pleasures of running her household on Middle Lake Road, Mr. Parrott returned to the work and responsibilities of his business, the Squire Cleaners on the Dixie Highway.

Who needs April for showers? January and February reigned supreme. In addition to the one given for Mrs. Debnick, was one given by friends and relatives for Mrs. Kidd, also of Amy Drive.

Mrs. Larry Thompson was knee deep in preparations as she found herself in the midst of two showers within a period of one week. The first shower was a bridal shower in which she and Mrs. Donaldson, of Drayton Plains, shared in the hostess role, for a January 27th shower at Mrs. Thompson's home on Almond Lane. Twenty-one guests secretly waited for the surprised guest of honor to arrive, finding the wait worthwhile when the surprised bride walked in, wearing slacks.

On February 2, Mrs. Thompson drove to the Southgate home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Richard Hiske, for another surprise event. This one, a baby shower had 28 friends and relatives attending. They really came from all around, including Michigan State, from where Carol Hiske (Mrs. Thompson's sister) had driven just for the occasion. Although it is the second child for Mrs. Hiske, it was her first baby shower, and a memorable one.

Showered with loving gifts for her new daughter, was Mrs. William Debnick, who lives on Amy Drive. Mrs. Debnick, a former Supervisor in the Intensive Care Unit at Pontiac General Hospital, was given the baby shower by the nurses she had previously worked with. The shower was given at the home of Carol Norman, on January 30. The harvest of gifts will be used for the Debnick's newest arrival, Anne Elizabeth.

HELLO WORLD

Welcomed as a permanent houseguest in the William Debnick home, at 6701 Amy Drive, is Anne Elizabeth Debnick. Now over a month old, Anne made her family debut on December 18, becoming the younger sister to Bill, Kris, Kurt and Karen. Grandparents are the Wallace Swansons and Mrs. Anne Debnick.

Roberta Jo Kidd missed becoming her father's choice birthday present by making her worldly arrival one day later, on January 5th. Born at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kidd, of 6716 Amy Drive. Roberta Jo tipped the birth scales at 7 lbs., 9 ozs. and upset one at home when she joined her one brother and one sister. Mrs. Grace Thompson of Clarkston is her grandmother.

The latest addition to the Donald Harrison family, who live at 5610 Hummingbird is Matthew Wade. Born on January 24 at St. Joseph Hospital, the baby weighed 8 lbs., 13 oz. at birth. Matthew's name was added to the other Harrison's children: Christie, 14, Scott, 12 and Brian, 9.

Another January 24th arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital was Rod Alan Swanson. Rod, the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Swanson of 6827 Snowapple, weighed 6 lbs., 11 oz. and can boast of having two big sisters.

Kutting Korners

All of us who keep house, whether we are expert or not, have little tricks to save time or money. Let's exchange ideas and answers. Collectively, we may be able to solve some of those sticky household problems. Maybe you have a special recipe you would like to share. Do you have any short-cuts?

Drop a note in the mail or call me at the Clarkston News.

How is this for a starter?

February is going to be the month to put chicken on your menu. They will be in good supply, and as a result, favorably priced.

Here is a chart to assess the value of buying chicken on a cost per pound basis.

COST PER POUND
Broilers selling at	25	27	29	31	33
Legs and thighs are an equal buy	57	61	66	70	75
Breasts are an equal buy at	76	82	88	94	1.00

And here is the recipe for "Quickie Chickie":
6 good sized pieces of chicken
1 can of cream of mushroom soup
1 cup of cream or half and half (no milk)

salt and garlic salt
paprika
chopped parsley
Take chicken pieces and salt and garlic salt it a bit, then paprika thoroughly. Place in a shallow baking dish. Dilute soup with cream and pour it over the chicken. Sprinkle with parsley. Bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees for 1 1/2 hours. Serves 4 to 6.

Wranglers 4-H

The dinner will be held on February 21 from 5 to 9 at the Community Center. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and 75c for children. They can be purchased from members of the club or at the door.

Activities will be held by various Council units in connection with the observance which has the theme "America's Manpower Begins with BOYPOWER." As part of Boy Scout Week, units will hold parents' nights, potluck dinners and Cub Scout Blue and Gold banquets; take part in Scout unit good turns; demonstrate Scouting skills and exhibit Scouting handicraft, and participate in Scout Sunday services

February 9. One of the highlights of the week will be uniform day February 8. Cubs, Boy Scouts and Explorers will wear their uniforms to school and other activities.

Stanley L. Sowerwine, the Council's Scout Executive, noted that Boy Scout Week is the largest single birthday observance by young Americans.

"We will be joining 6,000,000 other persons in Scouting in the observance across the nation," he said.

"I have taught thee in the way of wisdom; I have led thee in right paths."
Proverbs 4:11

Someone has said, "There is no such thing as a bad boy." And parents and grandparents are given to crowning children with halos—that they are seldom ready or willing to wear. Sin, it would seem, shows up only in adult life, and then only as a sort of delayed dominance.

Unfortunately, the facts of life run contrary to this generous but erroneous theory. Children begin life as little tyrants. They are completely egocentric. Take almost any two or three-year-old and place him in a group. If there is one toy he wants, he will push in and take it and smack any other child who might challenge his right to it. In childhood the flesh is so willing and the spirit is so weak. If they are to grow in wisdom, grace and love, children must be led to it.

If they are to break through their little world of self into the great and wonderful world of consideration and service for others, they must be led towards the knowledge and love of God by consecrated parents. And this shouldn't just be left to chance but should be a conscious effort by all parents. Nor can they leave it up to others who are engaged in educating their children. There is no school that can take over this task for parents, nor can the Church.

No one can teach a child the values of God, if parents teach only the values of man. No one can succeed in teaching him that God is a loving Father, whom he must love and obey, if his only knowledge of an earthly father is bitter and empty. The virtues of faith, charity, patience, justice, reverence, etc. must sound empty to a child who is prodded by overambitious parents to desire only money and recognition; or who lead him only in the pursuit of pleasure.

It is important that parents honestly face the human nature of their children and their own responsibility to lead and guide them from natural selfishness to the love and concern for God and man that Jesus Christ displayed and taught. Certainly, this requires effort and self-sacrifice. Things which are important and good always do. Are you willing to face up to it? Ask yourself: What do you want for your children? How will you lead them?

Why I don't grow sideburns

By Jim Fitzgerald

"Gals did a wonderful job"

Remember last Tuesday? In the morning it was foggy and rainy. Roads were clear for travel. No ice or snow. Then, in mid-morning the stuff started to freeze. By 11 o'clock roads were becoming coated with ice.

For those in charge of transportation in schools in southeast Michigan a decision had to be made on whether to call in the drivers early or let things go 'till closing time. Would the road conditions get continually worse, or might they improve later in the day?

Those that figured the first of these possibilities were right. The weather report undoubtedly helped them make the decision. Warnings were that conditions would worsen.

Clarkston schools' transportation chief, Floyd Vincent, was the one who called in drivers. Some who didn't ended up with buses being involved in crashes. In some areas bus travel was impossible and parents were called to come get their children.

Before making the decision to call drivers, Vincent went out on some roads with his car. What he found was ice and at 11:30 he made up his mind to call in drivers.

Then he had to consider the feeding program. Some 4,000 students eat in the cafeterias and the food was ready. He didn't want to see all that food thrown away.

Another consideration at 11:30 was kindergartners. At that time 7 buses started taking them home. Drivers had instructions not to pick up afternoon session kindergartners, but head back for secondary student pick-ups.

Thus, at 1 p.m., 2 hours before closing time, the drivers had their buses lined up. As it turned out the hour was late. But, how much worse it would have been had Vincent not called the drivers early.

Clarkston buses are citizens' band, radio equipped. With these radios and telephones a constant check was made between the school garage and buses. Three groups of men were also on hand early to assist bus drivers.

One group had sand on a pickup, another manned the wrecker, and another was ready to make bus repairs when called.

We're not able to report no buses ran into trouble. We won't even pretend it. At one time 8 buses had slid off the roads into ditches. Another went off Waldon to the point where the front wheels were in space.

Another hit a ditch on Bridge Lake road, bumping 3 students about. Vincent checked with the parents later. They reported bruises, but nothing serious.

What we are trying to say here is that Vincent's decision to send the buses out early was sound, and we're commending him for this decision.

He, in turn, has nothing but praise for the drivers. "I'm real pleased and proud of them," he said. "I feel these gals did a wonderful job."

Indeed they did!

BY CLEM CLEVELAND

This is going to be a rare week. Calhoun left me. In fact, not only did she leave me, but she also left her two, sweet blue-eyed kids behind. She left her favorite monkey, Old Weird Harold, three cats, three horses, two dogs, a South African frog, a flock of sheep, a couple of chickens, two rabbits and a partridge in a pear tree along with three house birds. But, I conned her into it.

For the first time in ten years, Cal is going to go out and meet the world... alone. This is good for her. And, if by chance her plane should get hijacked and land in Havana, the world will fall on its knees and say some prayers for Fidel. She is going to visit her parents in Florida.

I have never had the experience of trying to handle Cal's fort. In fact, with very few exceptions, the children have never come home from school when she wasn't there. Maybe this is why they are so secure. At the same time, maybe this is why we take her so much for granted.

When it comes to vacations, Cal and I have never put too much stock in them. In a way I think our attitude toward getting away for a few days is prejudiced because of all the critters. Someone has got to be around to take care of them. And, today it is hard to find horse and sheep sitters, let alone an Old Weird Harold sitter.

The kids, for a long time, have been all checked out on how to take care of the animals. But, none of us have had much experience in taking care of human type critters. Sure, I can cook fresh fish, or game, over a kindling wood fire. But, I'm not sure that I know much about an electric stove. And, pre-packaged foodstuff is a puzzle. I just hope that my 9-year-old, Laurie, knows how to read and follow directions.

Sunday, I sort of put Cal up to the trip. She was suffering from wintertitis... not nice weather outside and getting bogged down inside. Our bathroom is a wreck.

"If It Fitz . . ."

It was my 12-year-old teenage daughter who complained that I am the only man in the nation who is not letting his sideburns grow.

There is a reason. I have queer sideburns. So far, only my barbers have known for sure. Why should I let the whole world see?

Honest. I think those other guys look great with hair down their cheeks. They look like Scarlett O'Hara is waiting for them to come home—and they're not sure they'll go, the dogs. But such cavalier grooming is not for me. You see, ever since I can remember, I've had this thing . . .

"Hey Mac," said my barber to the 2 other barbers, "look at this kid. I never saw anything like it before. His hair grows straight down the left side and straight back on the right. Run across the street and tell Curley to c'mere. I want him to see this."

Why don't they go out and sell tickets, I thought. I didn't say it. I was only 8 years old. Instead, I cried and blew my nose into Mac's pin stripe sheet.

And that's how it's been all my life. I need a haircut on the left side 2 weeks earlier than I need it on the right. My left ear is covered with shaggy hair while my right ear is bare. That right ear has been washed twice as much as the other one.

When haircut money was hard to come by, I naturally didn't go to the barber until the right side needed it. In the meantime, Mother had me wear a peaked cap tilted rakishly over my left ear. In school, capless, I did my first elbow-bending. I put my left elbow on my desk and rested the left side of my head in the palm of my left hand. I even maintained this protective coloration while walking between classrooms. People stared but I told them I had an earache.

The ideal arrangement, of course, would have been to get 1 haircut in 2 installments. For a $1

Once again the white man has proven his ability to rationalize his way into interpreting a treaty to his own best advantage. The "injuns" don't just lose on TV and in the movies.

Put bluntly, we made a treaty whereby Indians would have certain rights to hunt and fish on lands ceded by them to the U.S. government here in Michigan. In June of 1965, William Jondreau, a Chippewa Indian, got hauled into court for possession of out of season trout. His contention was that he was fishing over waters ceded by treaty and was therefore exempt from the fishing laws.

Stories covering the court's decision in this precedent setting case which will be of historic proportions might well have been written by the Department of Natural Resources news department. Each paper followed the exact line sent them by news release from the DNR.

According to the DNR, "fish-game chaos has been averted." The peace has been upheld and once again our children are safe from marauding savages who are out to catch fish and shoot game.

Not often do I hold up another country and compare it to my homeland where my native soil comes out second best. But I've just got to applaud the way Canada handles her Indians.

We are all pretty well aware that Canada permits her Indians to hunt and fish almost as they please as long as it is for food purposes. Her Indians are basically just as poor and live in just as miserable conditions as do ours. The difference lies in the rights the Crown guarantees to the Indians.

If there is a parallel in poverty, it is in comparing Indians and their living conditions to the poorest of the Negroes in the deep south.

We've seen on television the misery in which they live. The only way it can really make any impact on us is to see it firsthand. For poverty to mean anything, it must be walked through, seen close enough to be

I promised her that if she would take the trip, have a good time. I would re-do the bathroom this year. She agreed, called her mother and is now, I hope, surf fishing.

By the time this next week is over, I don't think that I will be so foolish as to make such offers. In fact, I think that I will have earned a fishing trip to the north woods, or something.

touched and smelled.

Last year, it was necessary for the DNR to close certain sections of streams and some streams altogether because of the actions of so-called sportsmen. Once they were closed, how much better it would have been if we had permitted some of our poverty stricken Indians to catch a few fish.

The white-man's justice has triumphed once more and ridden off into the sunset. Meanwhile, some of us hang our heads with shame.

It's a "Great Lakes State" My license plates say so. You bet... I've got a "great lake" in my yard... I've got a "great lake" in my drive-way... I've got a "great lake" in my basement...

Before that, it said, "Water-Winter-Wonderland." You bet... I had water, and sleet and ice in Wonderland.

Before that, it said, "Water-Wonderland." You bet... I had water on ice in Wonderland. And that's not good, not even to drink. I'm disgusted. I'm going right to the top.

Dear Governor Milliken: I know that you are faced with many profound problems, being in a new job and all that, but please answer one significant question.

Who decides just what slogan is going to be imprinted on our Automobile license plates? I am basically, an honest person. How can I face my friends from outstate? How can I face my friends from in-state? How can I face myself? The slogan on my bumper is a treacherous lie.

Who tell me who writes these atrocious lies?

Is it some prisoner in the license factory in Jackson who has nostalgic recollections of a day long gone?

Is it a member of the chamber of commerce, who has his grubby little mitts in a big tourist operation?

Is it some lecherous little kid who hates school?

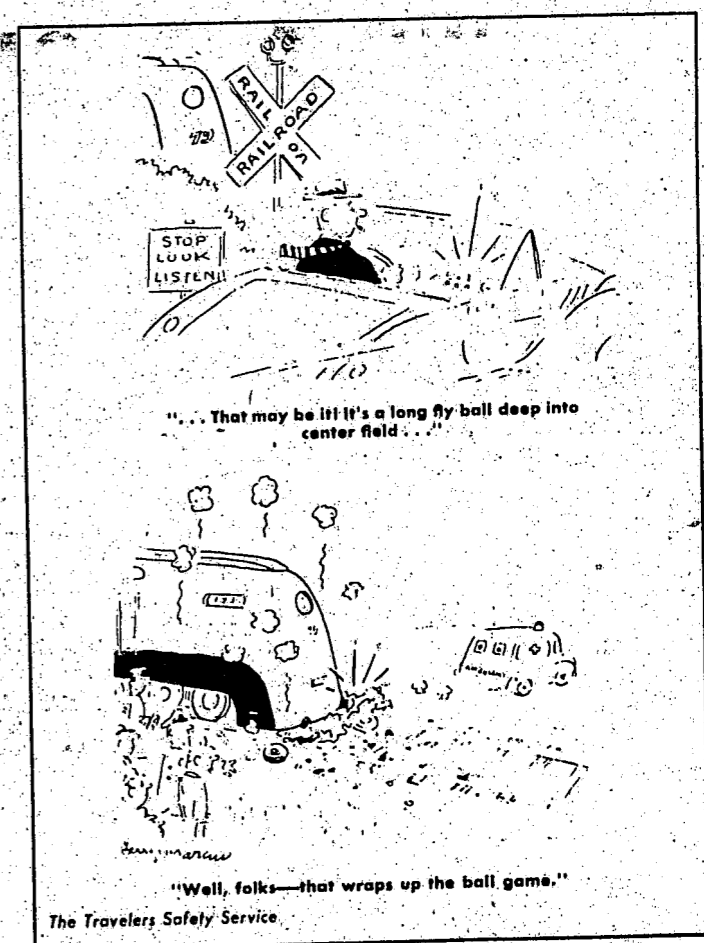

I've lived in Michigan all my life. I have, in my time, learned to bank around turns. I have learned to earm off crusted snow-banks. I have learned to ride the high side of a crowned road. I have learned to slalom through guard rails. I have learned how to soft pedal both accelerator and brake at the same time. I have learned to "gentle" through puddles. I have washed enough salt off my car to start my own mine. I have learned to slither and sway with the slush on the freeways. I've learned to close my eyes and pray hard. I'm a normal Michigan driver.

May I, Governor Milliken, propose a slogan for 1970? How about "Great blustery, slippery, watery, salty, sooty Wonderland"? And then, set to music. "If we all had our wish again, we'd still live in Michigan, where allegiance, loyalties, friends and families are."

P.S. After last week's tropical tornado sure looks attractive with lizards, tarantulas and cockroaches.

SECTION THREE THE CLARKSTON (Mich.) NEWS Thurs., Feb. 6, 1969 9

Clarkston hosts students from Phillipines

By Jean Sura
They like snow. Who are they? They are Cindy, Rosie and Benny. Cindy, Rosie and Benny are ordinary in the respect that they are between 16 and 18 years old and that they attend Clarkston High School. What is not so ordinary about them is that they are living here in the Clarkston area as guests of Host Families and all call the Phillipine Islands their home. All three are part of the Youth for Understanding program. The program is inter-faith and inter-racial. The purpose of the program is to acquaint students with American family and community life through life as a member of the family for a period of about one year.

While here they are provided with room and board by their host families. The Student Government furnishes funds that enable them to attend school functions, receive lunches, school papers, a year book, and to go on the Senior Trip.

Rosie is really Rosario C. Remedios, of Makati, Rizal and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Bonner. She is 16 years old.

"I just love the beauty of the snow," said Rosie, "but it gets so cold that it hurts my fingers. My American family have taken me all over and last weekend we went snow-mobiling which was really fun."

Cindy, is 16 year old Cynthia L. Corpus of Sta Cruz, Manila. She is staying with Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hall. Her American sister is Vickie Hall who is a senior.

"Don't even talk about going home," said Cindy, "just thinking about leaving my American family makes me cry." (And she did).

Benny is Cindy's cousin, Benjamin Atienza Malate, Manila. This 18 year old is living with Mr. and Mrs. George Granger. Chuck Granger is his American brother.

When asked how he liked American food Benny replied, "I like it too well. I have gained 23 pounds."

"All three of these young people have made a fine adjustment to their American families and the school community," said Mr. Bud McGrath, Supervisor of the Exchange Program here in Clarkston. "We feel fortunate to have them with us and feel that it benefits our students as much as it does them." There has been no language barrier due to their complete mastery of English.

Mr. McGrath is probably one of the programs most enthusiastic salesmen. He speaks from first hand experience. Last year the McGrath's were the host family for a young woman from South America. He will, without urging, proudly pull out his wallet and show you a picture of his beautiful South American daughter.

In the past, Clarkston has had Exchange students from Sweden, Holland, Iceland and Germany.

YFU provides a reciprocal opportunity for American students to live in foreign countries for two months. Steve Ashley, a Junior from Clarkston High School, is hoping to take advantage of this opportunity this Summer.

Slick pavement dooms drivers,

Safety Council chairman says

"If all drivers could see what I've seen, there would be few careless drivers on the road today," says Professor Archie H. Easton, nationally known accident investigator and Director of the Motor Vehicle Research Laboratory of the University of Wisconsin.

Referring to the grisly scene he often encounters when summoned to an accident site, Easton said: "I certainly wouldn't want to force people to see these sights, but I often think that it would do some drivers a world of good to see first-hand the tragic consequences of drinking and driving, a moment of carelessness or inattention, or a simple case of poor judgment."

As Chairman of the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards, Easton said he is particularly concerned about the added hazards at this time of year caused by ice and snow-covered pavements and the resulting consequences.

"Judging from some of the accidents I've seen, many drivers obviously have no concept of the extremely limited traction on these surfaces. Tests have shown, for example, that the braking distance on glare ice may easily be as much as nine or ten times the normal dry pavement distance, meaning a stopping distance of 150 to 200 feet at a speed of only 20 mph compared with about 17 feet on dry pavement," he explained.

"Whenever the pavement is snowy or icy, the best advice is to first get the 'feel' of the road. This can be done by trying the brakes gently or by accelerating carefully to see whether the wheels skid or spin. If the car has any tendency to skid or 'fish-tail,' then it's time to slow way down and do all maneuvering—braking, steering or accelerating—with a very gentle touch," advised Easton.

When asked whether special traction devices, such as snow tires and tire chains were helpful under these conditions, he replied that the National Safety Council's test showed that conventional snow tires were of little or no benefit on glare ice but that they provided about half again as much traction in loosely packed snow as regular tires.

Studded snow tires, on the other hand, materially improve traction on ice, providing about three times the pulling ability of regular tires and reducing braking distances by 19 per cent, according to test findings.

For severe conditions on both snow and ice, Professor Easton recommended reinforced tire chains. He said that tests showed chains provided from four to seven times the pulling power of regular tires on snow and ice and reduced braking distance on glare ice by 50 per cent.

"But regardless of the help provided by these traction aids," concluded Easton, "drivers should realize that performance on snow and ice is nowhere near that on dry pavement, and that speeds must be sharply reduced."

Ski Meets rescheduled

Due to the lack of snow in the past week, the Southeastern Interscholastic Ski Meet for Detroit area high school ski teams has been rescheduled to take place on Saturday, February 22.

Nineteen high schools will participate with boys' and girls' teams. The winners of last year's contest, Bloomfield and Waterford High Schools, will be back to defend their titles.

The Michigan Open Ski Meet is slated to take place on February 16. This meet is open to all skiers of all ages. Independent skiers and those belonging to Metro area ski clubs are invited to enter.

Entries will be accepted up to one hour before race time on that day. Junior skiers, 17 years old and younger, will compete at 10 a.m. with senior skiers, 18 and older, competing at 1 p.m. Entry fees are 50c and $1.50 respectively.

Both meets will be held at the Mt. Holly Ski Area, 13536 Dixie Highway (M-54), 18 miles north of Pontiac. Spectators are invited.

Well, What Do You Know?

fun, games and knowledge

by MARTHA GLAUBER SHAPP, Editor, The New Book of Knowledge

How fast does heat travel through metal?

The speed at which a metal conducts heat varies in different metals. You can demonstrate this using metal rods, thumbtacks, Vaseline and a source of heat (light bulb). Dip the heads of the thumbtacks in Vaseline and hold them against the side of one of the metal rods so that the tacks will stick to the rod. Stick several tacks along the rod and measure the distance between them. The tacks should be the same distance apart on aluminum, steel, brass, but of the same thickness. What material conducts heat the fastest?

How can you make an invisible ink?

Carefully squeeze the juice out of a large onion. Add a little water to it. This is your ink. When you have written your message and the ink has dried, hold the paper over a steady flame. The letters will show. Be careful not to hold the paper too close to the flame, or it will catch fire!

Why do animals migrate?

As a rule animals travel over short distances mainly in search of food. They migrate on longer journeys usually for one of two reasons. They may migrate to breed in a more suitable place than where they feed. Or they may migrate because change of season causes food supplies or temperatures to fall too low. The return migration occurs when breeding is over or when the season has changed again.

Can a person get warts from handling a food?

No, warts do not cause warts. Some people think that warts are covered with warts, which people can catch. But this is not so. The "warts" on a toad are really glands in the skin. They give off poison that protects the toad against its enemies. Human warts are probably caused by a virus.

every metal rod you test. Place one end of the rod on the bulb. As heat travels along the rod it will melt the Vaseline and the tacks will drop off. Note the time that each tack drops off. Repeat the experiment using rods of different metals (copper,

Most appeals for help are directed toward your pocketbook, but the Oakland County Volunteer Bureau asks instead for your time, your talents, your warmth and understanding for others.

In your own area, for example, there are retarded children who would benefit from the attention of a devoted volunteer. Established centers for the retarded are asking for volunteers who can help with story-telling, arts and crafts, and other activities.

A companion working with a retarded child in creative activity can be an important factor in that child's development.

Safety Belt campaign

Over 200 Oakland County government and civic leaders will convene Thursday, February 13, at 3 p.m., in Southfield's Raleigh House for a top-level briefing on an upcoming campaign to increase the use of automobile safety belts in Oakland County.

Sponsored by the Safety Belt Committee of the Traffic Improvement Association of Oakland County (TIA), Thursday's session will bring together city, village and township executives, law enforcement officials, major employers, community service and professional leaders, and media representatives. Each group will receive detailed plans for its participation in the countywide campaign.

Outlining the program they have planned since last September will be members of TIA's Safety Belt Committee, composed of nationally recognized authorities and communications specialists.

Children learn values by example

Approximately 700 children enjoyed the marionette show that was sponsored by the Jaycettes. The success can be attributed to the hard work of the committee. Pictured above, from the left is Mrs. Gerald Hennig, Co-chairman, with her son Ed and daughter, Gerri Lynn; Mrs. Ronald Draper, Chairman; and Mrs. Carl Gusie, Co-chairman with her daughter, Lori.

A child cannot be expected "to know better" unless he has a chance to learn.

According to Margaret Jacobson, family life specialist with the Cooperative Extension Service at Michigan State University, learning "right" from "wrong" involves a complex process of mental growth. It includes ability to pay attention, comprehend, remember previous happenings, relate ideas and make judgements. "Being able to tell 'right' from 'wrong' means that somewhere along the line the child must acquire a set of values to guide his future behavior," Dr. Jacobson said.

Children learn about values as part of the growing-up process. When a little boy hits his sister, Mom may step in and scold him for his behavior. While this may teach him not to hit his sister, it will take many such occasions before he realizes that hitting can hurt. In time he will learn kindness and respect, she said.

By observing the values which their parents appear to hold, children gain some idea of behavioral standards.

"Too often, though, parents are not clear about what they believe," Dr. Jacobson said. "Because of this uncertainty, they sometimes excuse themselves from clarifying their own values so no one will know, particularly their children.

"But the truth is that values become known by what we do as well as by what we say. Youngsters learn values with every word, every action and every look.

"In the everyday events of family life it is our responsibility to sort out and clarify our values, and then let our children know which ones are important to us," Dr. Jacobson emphasized. "Values must be absorbed by the child or they can't possibly have any real meaning for him."

Tax rules on children

A $600 exemption may be taken for a baby born anytime during the year as long as certain tests are met. A. M. Stoepler, District Director of Internal Revenue for Michigan, said today.

Of the basic requirements for claiming a child as a dependent is that the taxpayer provide more than half the child's support for the entire year. If a child is born, or dies, during the year this support test has to be met for the months the child was alive.

Another test for dependency is that the child must either be related to the taxpayer or be a member of the taxpayer's household.

The child must also be a citizen or resident of the United States to be claimed as a dependent. The exceptions to this rule are for a child who is a resident of Canada, Mexico, Panama or the Canal Zone.

Mr. Stoepler said the requirement that a person cannot have income of $600 or more a year and be claimed as a dependent by another taxpayer does not apply to a child who is either under 19 at the end of the year or a full-time student for some part of five months of the year.

When the child is under 19 or is a full-time student his exemption could be claimed on different tax returns. The child would claim his own exemption on the return he was required to file and his parents would still be entitled to claim his exemption on their return.

Publication 501, "Your Exemptions and Exemptions for Dependents," which furnishes more detailed information on this subject, may be obtained by dropping a postcard to the District Director, Internal Revenue Service, Detroit, Michigan 48226.

Pontiac State Bank sets new record

Milo J. Cross, Chairman, and Edward E. Barker, Jr., President of the Pontiac State Bank which has a branch in Clarkston, described 1968 as a record year in every category.

Bank net operating earnings after the 1968 income tax surcharge rose 35% over 1967. Deposits and resources gained 17%.

Net operating earnings per share were $4.99 in 1968 compared to $3.69 the previous year, based on the present 209,375 shares outstanding.

In the bank's 23rd year, over $3,300,000 was paid to corporate and individual savers in the Pontiac area. Over $1,500,000 was paid for employee compensation, slightly more than the bank's total operating expense seven years ago.
