VOLUME 39 10 CENTS CLARKSTON, MICHIGAN 48016 THURSDAY, MARCH 13, 1969 3 SECTIONS NUMBER 28

Feeding time at the Alfred Collins farm on Pine Knob Road found two year old Barry Collins playing nursemaid to "Lincoln", one of the Collins many new farm arrivals.

Jim's Jottings

How do you reach decisions? I have often said, "I don't have any trouble making decisions. I make 'em at the snap of your fingers." And, I do. And, in thinking about it I'm right just about as often with my snap decisions as those I contemplate for weeks.

But, some reach decisions because of the indecision of others. If someone doesn't react in a certain situation one way, the other path is open to us.

Some study a problem, write down the pros and cons, and take the course with more of the former than the latter. The results are probably most often right, but it's too time consuming.

Those that base decisions on experience should be the most listened to... provided the experience can be used to our advantage. For this reason I like to visit with the generation ahead of me.

The few big decisions I've reached seem to have been based on money. Making it or saving it. There was no great family discussion, no tossing and turning in bed, no conscientious thought given to buying the Oxford Leader. It was for sale, and I bought it. Snap.

There was thought given to buying the Clarkston News. I was a little older and figured I should do some studying before making the plunge. The result of both decisions has been the same... satisfying and rewarding.

What I'm getting at is... making decisions, hopefully the right ones, is something people should train themselves to do. If decisions come hard you may be in for trouble when a major one comes along.

Making right decisions is what makes leaders, and I don't feel in any way that I have made enough right decisions to in any way be classified as a leader. But, right decisions and accepting responsibility make good leaders, good citizens, good community and family control.

Enough of that. When my 11-year-old daughter came home from school the other day she was upset at herself for not thinking ahead as she prepared for school in the morning.

She said, "Boy, what a day. First thing that I did wrong was put on a bulky knit sweater, then a wool skirt. I forgot there were square dancing lessons today. And, the other thing I did wrong was forget to put on deodorant."

You'd think she lost all her friends, and she probably did. And, I thought for years that kids never sweat.

Fire causes $8500 damage

The Independence Township Fire Department were assisted by a tanker from Waterford in extinguishing a fire at the home occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Dale Myers, at 4120 Myers Rd., on March 6.

The fire, which started in a bedroom, caused an estimated $8,500 in damage.

Six grass fires in a 6-hour period on March 9, kept the department busy.

None of the grass fires resulted in great damage.

"Drug" film

The Bailey Lake School PTA will hold their regular meeting on Thursday, March 13 at 7:30 p.m., at the school.

A movie, "Drugs in the Nervous System," will be shown.

Springfield rejects mobile home park gives refuse site

Public interest was high at the March 5 meeting of the Springfield Township Board. A rezoning application of Bateman & Kelley for a mobile home site was to be determined.

This application for rezoning an area south of Oak Hill road and west of the Dixie Highway was originated in the summer of 1968. After long and serious consideration, the Zoning Board unanimously rejected the application and, subsequently, in December of last year the County Planning Commission also rejected the application. The Township Board tabled the application at its January meeting to give all members of the Board an opportunity to visit the site and consider the application.

Mr. Karlstrom, attorney for Bateman & Kelley gave a presentation to the citizens in favor of the mobile home site after which citizens were asked to express their sentiments on the project. Marlan Hillman presented figures which he had researched from the Holly area school records as to the economics of a mobile home as an equitable tax base. Letters were read from the Jaycees and the Rotary Club expressing their opposition to the rezoning.

The township voted unanimously to reject the rezoning of the Kelley-Bateman property for a mobile home site.

In other action the Board decided to provide dumping facilities for township residents at the Marlowe Disposal plant.

In order to use this facility, residents will have to obtain a permit from the Township Hall and present that permit when disposing of their rubbish at the Marlowe operation. The township will be billed monthly for this service which is being offered free to Springfield Township residents.

A GMC pickup truck was purchased for the Fire Dept. from the GMC Truck Division. Only two bids were offered in spite of a 30 day delay to allow more quotations to be turned in.

The Board is considering the adoption of a Planning Board. This would replace the present Zoning Board. The matter is being studied since that system indicates more flexibility and a wider scope in considering the growth of a planned community.

A warning was issued to all citizens regarding the great danger of grass fires at this time of year. The legal requirement to obtain a fire permit before setting any fire outside was stressed.

In a report to the Board, the Zoning Board approved the rezoning from agriculture to residential for William I. Pierce. A request for rezoning an area close to Andersonville by Lloyd Miller for light manufacturing was denied. An application for a mobile home site in Andersonville was tabled by the Zoning Commission.

Brothers meet in Vietnam

Ned E. Seath, 25, twice wounded veteran of the war in Vietnam and holder of the Bronze Star has re-enlisted in the Marine Corps.

Seath was honorably discharged from the Corps in October, 1966.

On February 12, after two years of civilian life, he returned to the service, which he plans to make his career.

After a short furlough at home, the Marine left on March 4 for another tour of duty in Vietnam.

When he reaches Vietnam he will be reunited with his brother, Marine Corporal Mark Seath, who has been serving there for the past 21 months.

Mark, 23, will then return to the United States.

Both Ned and Mark are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Seath of 6473 Cranlane Drive, Clarkston.

The Marine Corps is a tradition in the Seath family. Father, Edward Seath, is a veteran of World War II in which he received the Purple Heart decoration for service in the Pacific theatre.

PARATROOPER, Ray DuRussel, Clarkston, and "buddy," Fred Wander, at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, just before they completed their training.

Incumbents returned in village

The appearance of a write-in candidate added some interest to Monday's Village election, but the outcome saw all the incumbents re-elected.

Backers of Robert Basinger of Washington street wrote his name in a trustee space 35 times. He finished fourth.

Paratrooper initiation

Initiations to combat in Vietnam are often fast, furious and leave a soldier a little stunned.

Such was the case of Pfc. Raymond H. DuRussel, Clarkston, a medic who had just arrived for assignment with A Co., 2nd Bn., 501st Abn. Inf.

The helicopter transporting DuRussel to the company in the field had no sooner touched the ground when several Viet Cong opened fire from a small woodland surrounding the landing zone.

The new 101st Airborne Division of the village for his second 1-year term was Frank Russell. He received 96 votes of the 102 ballots cast, 347 people in Clarkston are registered to vote.

Also receiving 96 votes were Artemus Pappas for clerk and Mary Ann Pappas for treasurer. This is his 9th term and her fifth.

Assessor for the past 5 years, Ralph Thayer, was next high vote getter with 94.

Richard Johnston, appointed to a trusteeship last August, received 82 votes. James Mahar, 57 and Willis Kushman, received 48. Mahar has served on the Council since 1965 and Kushman since April 1966.

16 permits

The Independence Township Building Department issued 16 building permits for a total construction value of $187,600, during February 1969.

This valuation is $13,715 less than the valuation of permits issued for January, 1969, even though 16 permits were issued in February and only 14 in January.

Permits for 6 new houses were issued. These carried a combined value of $156,900.

Seven permits, valued at $21,200, were issued for remodeling and additions.

Permits issued for one underground storage tank were valued at $8,000, 1 F.S. garage at $1,000 and 1 Feeder Shed at $500.

March Horticulture tips

At this time of year most of us are winter weary, but to bring spring a little closer, you might enjoy forcing flowering branches.

Forsythia is the first and easiest to coax into flower. Pussywillows are a close second. All fruit trees, bridal wreath, shadbush, spice bush, magnolia and bush honeysuckle all force successfully.

The club gives you a few tips they have found helpful:

1. Make sure you immerse the branches in tepid water in your laundry tub for at least 24 hours.
2. Place your branches in a vase of water to which you have added fertilizer and a piece of charcoal. (The fertilizer will help to make your flowers more brilliant and the charcoal will help keep the water sweet in your container.)
3. Keep your branches in a cool, sunny room until the buds begin to show color. (Excess heat will dry out your flower buds. If you can, spray the branches to soften the hard jackets.)

Now that the turn of winter has passed and we are getting more daylight hours, do start to fertilize your houseplants. Remember, never put fertilizer on dry soil for fear of burning.

The club recommends giving plants a drink of water the day before the fertilizer is added. Continue to feed lightly this way 2 or 3 weeks throughout the summer.

March is the time to start your tuberous rooted begonias indoors.

One of the first things to do before planting is to soak them for at least 3 hours. Plant in flats 2/3 peat and 1/3 sandy garden soil. Simply push the tubers into this until the tops are level with the surface. Plant with the cavity up.

Do not be in too great a hurry to remove winter protection from perennials as spring weather can be treacherous. Warm days may be followed by bitter-cold nights that are hard on newly uncovered plants.

After covering has been removed from the flower beds, the entire bed should be worked lightly with the hoe and a good plant food applied.

Spring will be a little late... about 6 hours

Spring will officially arrive on March 20 at 2:08 p.m., some six hours later than last year, according to a U of M astronomer.

Prof. Hazel M. Losh says that at that hour the sun will arrive at the vernal equinox, the equator, on its way north.

The six-hour time lag is traced to the difference between the number of days in our calendar (365) and the time used by the earth to travel around the sun (365.2422 days).

On the 20th, the sun will rise and set almost exactly at the east and west points, and the day and night are said to be of equal length. But in reality, the day is longer.

Pack 49 Cubs hike with Dads

Pack 49 announced plans for a hike to be held on March 16. All fathers and Cubs are to meet at the Clarkston Junior High School at 12:15 p.m.

The Pinewood Derby eliminations were held. The first three place winners from each den will compete in the finals at the next Pack meeting.

They are: Den 1, Terry Goyette, Tom Lowe and Gregg Whittenton; Den 2, Jim Allard, Jim Ealardeau and Jeff Blackett; Den 3, Scott McCallum, Gary Mason and Mike Couture; Den 4, Bob Rutherford, Keith Bradley and Don Biron; Den 5, Tim Butler, Brian Collins and Barry Collins.

Awards were presented to:

Mike Olney, Wolf Badge; Terry Goyette, Wolf Badge, 1 Gold, 2 Silver Arrows; Barry Davis, 1 Gold and 1 Silver Arrow; Bob Bradley, 1 Gold and 1 Silver Arrow; Bill Singleton, Wolf Badge; Keith Bradley, Naturalist, Craftsman; Dan Biron, Naturalist, Outdoorsman, Artist, Aquanaut; Kevin Simpson, Scientist, Outdoorsman, Engineering, Forest, Travel and Artist Awards; Dale Verhey, Sportsman's Award; Bob Ellico, Outdoorsman Award; Kevin Simpson, Dale Verhey, Bob Rutherford and Keith Bradley have earned 2 year pins. David Kenyon, Terry Goyette, Bill McMasters and Bob Bradley, 1 year pins.

(THE NEW BREED)

ADMISSION $1.75

$3.00 PER COUPLE

The third in a series of Lenten programs will be held Sunday evening at Calvary Lutheran Church, 6805 Bluegrass Dr.

Beginning at 7 p.m., the award-winning film "Martin Luther" will be shown. A full-length motion picture that has been reproduced in dozens of languages and thousands of prints, it originally ran in the major movie theater chains of the nation. It tells the story of Martin Luther, the monk, scholar, teacher, pastor and reformer in moving dialogue and action.

Following the film, a discussion will be held, tying Luther's experience and present-day Christian commitments together.

Present for the film and discussion will be the Rev. Fr. Lawrence Kaiser, assistant priest at Our Lady of the Lakes Church in Waterford. He will comment on the Reformation period as a Roman Catholic now views it, and will also discuss the nature of the Christian Church today.

The Rev. Arlon K. Stubbe, pastor of Calvary, will lead the group discussion following the film. The evening will last until 9:30 p.m., and will include refreshments for all those present.

How does an ice skate glide on ice?

It doesn't! An ice skate glides on water, formed from melting ice. The ice melts from the pressure of the ice skates, and then refreezes again when the skates have moved on. To demonstrate this, you need an ice cube, a soda-pop bottle, about 12 inches of thin wire, and two pencils. Wrap 3 inches of one end of the wire tightly around one pencil. Wrap the other end of the wire around the other pencil. Place the ice cube on the mouth of the bottle. Holding one pencil in each hand, place the wire across the ice cube and apply a steady downward push on the pencils. In a few moments the wire will cut all the way through the ice, yet the ice cube remains in one piece. How can this be? Pressure melts the ice directly under the wire, so the wire moves steadily through the cube. As the wire passes through, the water behind it refreezes into ice again, for the pressure is removed. Something similar happens when you skate. Your weight causes a thin layer of ice to melt directly under the skate blade. You glide forward on a thin film of water. When the skate has passed and the pressure is removed, the water freezes into ice again.

Where were the first schools in America?

The Massachusetts town law of 1647 required every school of at least 50 families to have an elementary teacher, and every town of 100 families or more to have a Latin grammar school. This law, marked the beginning of American public education. Other New England colonies passed similar laws. New Englanders who settled the West took this idea with them.

Who were the Barnburners?
"Barnburners" was the name given to the progressive faction of the New York State Democratic Party during the 1840's. The "Barnburners" received their nickname from the fable of the Dutch farmer who burned down his barn in order to get rid of the rats infesting it.

Why has no one invented a perpetual-motion machine?
A perpetual motion machine is one that can keep running without any outside source of energy such as electricity, wind or heat. Many people have tried to invent such a machine. They have all failed because they did not reckon with a basic law of physics: a machine cannot deliver more energy than is put into it. Some energy is always used up by the friction of moving parts. This would stop any "perpetual-motion" machine sooner or later.

Well drillers need exam
Dr. Gerald Rice, Director of the Michigan Department of Public Health, has announced that examination dates have been established for individuals who wish to go into the well drilling or pump installation business.

Act 294, P.A. 1965 requires that any person in these fields be registered, and that an examination be passed certifying to their competence. The examinations are conducted by the Well Drillers Advisory Board established under the statute.

Applications should be submitted to the Engineering Division of the Michigan Department of Public Health before April 1 for those intending to take the examination. A minimum of two years of experience is required to qualify along with a minimum formal educational background.

Two dates have been set for these examinations this spring. Lower peninsula drillers and pump installers should plan on taking the examination in Lansing on Friday, April 18. May 2 has been established for Upper Peninsula residents.

EIGHTEEN students from Clarkston High School packed the cars and headed for the Regional Industrial Education Competition at Central Michigan University.

18 CHS students

Industrial Arts Competition

Specially selected students from high schools in Michigan have entered the Annual Regional Competition in industrial education. The competition will be held on the campus of Central, Eastern, Northern and Western Michigan Universities on March 8.

Clarkston High School will be represented by 18 students. They will compete at Central Michigan University.

Most of the events will be in the area of "trouble shooting." Two-man teams will be called upon to find and correct malfunctions in automobiles. There will be similar contests in small engine, radio repair and electronic circuitry. Other forms of competition will include architectural, pictorial and mechanical drawing, product design and woodworking.

Excellence of performance and time to complete will be elements in deciding winners.

All first place winners will be eligible to compete in the state finals to be held at Central Michigan University on March 29.

The students from Clarkston High School who are competing and the fields of their competition are:

Auto Service Team (trouble shooting): David Tharp and David Kerton; Power Technology Team (small engine): Gerald Clifton and Wade Cleffman; Electricity and Electronics Team: Tony Coronado and Gordon Kostin; Advanced Electronics Team: Gilbert Wright and David Paulsen; Radio Service: Rich Franklin and Dan Mayo; Mechanical Drawing: Mike Packer; Architectural Drawing:

Glary Klann; Pictorial Drawing, Terry Bunton; Product Design, Mike Stett and Ron Gallegly; Mechanisms, Kurt Stalker; Soft Materials (wood) I, Greg Pierce; and Soft Materials II, Jim Blehm.

The teachers sponsoring the student entrants are: Auto service, Ron Santavice; Power Technology, Les Haight; Electricity, Ward Robbins; Drawing, Larry Thibault and Doug Pierson; and Woodworking, Conrad Bruce and Richard Moscovic.

The goal of the competition is to foster closer working relationships between public school programs and industry, to provide opportunity for recognition for outstanding students, to focus attention on the programs provided by the public schools and to provide opportunity for job entry when the students have completed their education.

Picks out-state teams, but 1

By Kirk Phillips
Pontiac Central walked through the district tourney at Pontiac Northern by downing Kettering and Northern. On they go to the regionals.

Clarkston and Northern opened the match last Monday. The Wolves fought hard, but were edged, 75-73. Then Central beat Kettering. Northern beat Waterford Township and Central beat Northern in the finale Saturday night.

TOURNEY PREDICTIONS

Class A
Eight out of the ten top teams are left as regional play begins this week. Out of the top ten teams Ottawa Hills is still alive after winning their district. Runner up Ypsilanti is still in the picture. The Braves had no trouble in winning their district at Eastern Michigan, however, the Braves could meet the Mumford Mustangs at any time. Wow! What a game that will be. Mumford is led by big Marv Taylor, his scoring cohorts are: Mel Carr, Steve Harris and Bill Andrews.

Jackson, East Lansing, Pontiac Central and Muskegon will be the teams to look for. Look for these teams to be in the semi-finals on March 21st: Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills, East Lansing, Detroit Mumford and Ypsilanti. My pick out of the four are Grand Rapids, and Ottawa Hills must beat Muskegon.

Class B
River Rouge will have a rough time getting out of their regional as they could meet Holy Redeemer from Detroit. A funny thing—Redeemer won a district by one point in '61 and by one point in '69 and went on to be state champs; that was when Gary Domanski was a member of the team. Menominee and Ironwood will battle it out for U.P. honors and the Maroons will come out on top, sorry Mel. Ishpeming could be the sleeper for the U.P. Grand Rapids East Christian won the state title in '65. It handed the Rouge Panthers their only loss of the season for the state title. Jeff Vanderlende and Mike Butler are the stars of this year's team.

Albion, East Christian, West Bloomfield, Rouge and Menominee are the teams to watch in class B. In the semi-finals March 21st look for River Rouge or Holy Redeemer and Menominee, Grand Rapids East Christian and Albion. My pick is the winner of the Rouge regionals.

Class C
The four teams that will be in the Capital City are the Leslie Blackhaws, St. Stephens of Saginaw, Detroit St.

Martin Desporres, St. Ignace LaSalle. My pick—St. Stephens.

CLASS D
Coach Mike Guza could bag his first class D title as All Saints are the defending class C champs upsetting Mt. Carmel, the team that was going to take all the marbles according to Hal Schiram of the Free Press.

You will see these teams in the semi's: Covert, All Saints, Britton-Macon or Detroit St. Martin. My choice, a class D school from Detroit, either All Saints or St. Martin's.

Members of Mr. O'Brien's team are: Larry Miracle, Rick Hunt, Jeff Hall, Mart Stewart, Jay Wells, Kurt Comstock, Joel Griffiths, Gary Rundell, Clarence Head, Dennis Rachel, Gary Spencer, Steve Merrill and Ted Dixon.

Steve Mauti was the leading scorer in the 7th grade as he tied Greg Curry's record with 189 points. Bruce Souby led the 8th graders in scoring with 205. Athletic director Mel Vaara should be given a lot of credit—he has the best junior high athletic program in the state.

ALL TOURNEY TEAM

FIRST TEAM: Jerry Ratliffe, Central; Monte Herring, Central; Campy Russell, Central; Eric Hood, Clarkston and Chuck Moncrief, Northern.

SECOND TEAM: Ed Williams, Northern; Rob Clancy, Northern; Mike Chapman, Northern; Chuck Granger, Clarkston and Clayton Burch, Central.

Spring thaws social life

By Rusty Leaf

Farm life in the city appeared to be the setting at the Alfred Collins home on Pine Knob road. The usual call requesting news received the reply from Mrs. Collins that she had been very busy, but only with the little ones. The little ones turned out to be a collection of spring-born farm animals, with more due to arrive within a short time. Having been born on a farm in South Dakota, myself, the hayseed started calling and the thought of watching the wee ones at feeding time was irresistible. Before leaving the farm, even I had to admit that seeing the bottle fed baby lambs (I didn't stay on the farm, so I have no idea what they are called) and the sight of the baby donkey with his mother, had provided more fun with the camera than any line of duty called for.

Playing hosts to the Clarkston Senior High School's wrestling team were the coach and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Max Inman. Held at the Inman's home on Princess, February 28th, the party was given the appropriate theme of a "Sweets Party." This was in honor of all the diet rules which the team members were at last allowed to break. Cokes, chips, fireplace roasted hot dogs, in general, the whole works, were furnished by the boys and the Inmans, for the feast that broke their sweet tooth fast. The party closed a season which had found this year's wrestling team in the winners' circle nine out of thirteen times. The final victory had come the previous Tuesday, with their win over Lake Orion.

A gathering of relatives, who arrived from out of town, helped Steve Klein realize the importance of his birthday. Steve, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Klein, who live on Cecilia Ann, turned twelve on March 9th. Belated birthday wishes.

March 6th found Mrs. Vernon Kath a very busy woman at her home on Hummingbird. The reason for the flurry of activity was the preparation for a shower she and Mrs. George Emmons were planning for the following day. Bridal in nature, the shower expected to find twenty-four guests arriving at the Kath home. Recipient of the shower of kitchen wares was Virginia Daddow, who will become the bride of Mrs. Kath's nephew, Curtis Emmons, on April 12th.

Members of the Square Rounders Dance Club have been faced with the loss of several members this winter. One of the most recent ones was Mrs. Victor (Olive) Dubrish, who died on February 19th. Mrs. Dubrish, who lived in Pontiac, had been very active in the club, especially with the Teen Club portion of the Square Rounders.

Nineteen friends were present at a birthday party given in honor of seven-year-old David Taylor on March 1st. David, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Vines, was the center of attention at the party held at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paddy Donofrio, 9613 Norman Rd. The arrival of a package from Frankfort, Germany, let David know that he was receiving the best birthday wishes from his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Racky. The traditional refreshments were served following the entertainment of games. David will be leaving with his parents for Okinawa at the end of this month, for a two and a half year military service requirement.

Know there are probably many of you newcomers to the area that are unaware of the fact that the "Children's Hour" is held at the Independence Township Library at 90 North Main, every second and fourth Thursday of the month. MRS. JON E. HICKS

Honeymoon in northern Michigan

The Mt. Olive Lutheran Church in Flint was the scene of the March 8 wedding of Judith A. Knoll and Jon E. Hicks. Reverend Gierke performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred K. Knoll of Mt. Morris and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hicks of 5031 Clintonville Rd., Clarkston.

Mrs. Judith Underwood of Clio was the matron of honor. Robert Benardi served as best man, and Darrell Hicks and Michael Knoll seated the guests. Two hundred guests were received at the Ukrainian Hall in Flint immediately after the ceremony.

After a wedding trip to northern Michigan the couple will make their home in Swartz Creek.

Both the bride and groom attended Central Michigan University. The bride graduated in 1965 and is teaching school in Flint. The bridegroom is employed by the Davison Plating Company in Davison.

Ellen Ostrand bride of Sgt. Sommers

Ellen Ann Ostrand became the bride of Sgt. Dennis M. Sommers at an evening ceremony on March 7.

The Reverend V. L. Martin performed the marriage ceremony at the Sunnyvale Chapel in Waterford.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne E. Ostrand of Morning drive, Davisburg, are the parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Sommers of Andersonville road, Davisburg.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Sgt. Sommers returned from a tour of duty in Vietnam on February 10.

The newlyweds are traveling to Fort Hood, Texas where he is now stationed and where they will make their home.

What would you do?

An elderly person walking on the sidewalk falls on a patch of ice. From the angle of the leg, you realize the leg is fractured.

If you know first aid you will be able to realize the extent of the injury to the victim. You will want to make the person as comfortable as possible with the least amount of movement. You will call local police.

Call your local Red Cross office and inquire about a standard first aid course, 334-3575.

Kutting Korners

by Jean Sura

Mrs. Glenn Sommers called last Monday to tell us that Tupperware (no commercial intended) has just the thing for keeping ice cream fresh in your freezer. It is a plastic 1/2 gallon container. It makes it easy to remove the cardboard and slip the ice cream in. Thank you, Mrs. Sommers, it really is the answer. Our "gal Friday" tried it.

Last week I promised to give you the recipe I use for Mock Hollandaise Sauce. I don't know why they call it Hollandaise. Maybe it was first made by a Mrs. Hollandaise! At least the name gives it a lot of gourmet "class." It is not only good but you can impress the family with your French talent.

Take about a cup of a good mayonnaise and simply thin it down with Real Lemon (the stuff in the bottle) or fresh lemon juice. Take the chill off by putting it in a double boiler or over a very low heat for a few minutes. That's all there is to it. Pour it over asparagus, broccoli, cauliflower or spinach.

While the days are still cold enough to warrant a good hot casserole, and please the bean farmers of Michigan at the same time, how about giving this dish a whirl. We liked it. It's enough to feed a pretty good crowd of healthy appetites, too.

NAVY BEAN AND BEEF BAKE
Combine and soak overnight in a cool place:
2 pounds dried Navy beans
2 quarts water

Next day, leisurely cook beans about 1 hour, or 'til slightly done; drain, saving 2 cups of liquid. (No liquid? Use more water.)

Cut into thin strips, 1 inch long;
2 pounds beef round steak

Combine and then coat the strips with mixture of:

1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 teaspoon sweet marjoram
1 teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon dill seeds
1 teaspoon salt

Melt in heavy skillet;
4 tablespoons shortening

Brown beef thoroughly on all sides. Set aside.

Stir into beans:
1 can cream of mushroom soup
4 ounce can mushrooms, plus liquid
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt

Stir in the beef strips and the bean liquid. Turn into a bean pot or large casserole. Cover and bake at 325 degrees 2 hours. Remove from oven and top with slices of American or Cheddar cheese. Return to oven, uncovered, and let cheese melt. Serves 8 who are hungry; and sometimes more.

The challenge of constructing the best merry-go-round set up was scheduled for the final week's competition.

Crime on rise in nation

Serious crime in the United States increased 17 percent in 1968 when compared with 1967 according to figures made available through the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said all offenses registered substantial increases in volume. Crimes of violence were up 19 percent, led by robbery up to 29 percent, murder and forcible rape up 14 percent each, and aggravated assault up 12 percent. The crimes against property rose by 17 percent as a group. Individually, larceny $50 and over in value rose 21 percent, auto theft up 18 percent, and burglary was up 13 percent.

Mr. Hoover stated crime increases were reported by all city population groups, with the sharpest change in volume noted in the large core cities 250,000 and over in population up 18 percent. The suburban areas recorded an overall increase of 18 percent, while the rural areas were up 12 percent in volume.

The crime increases, according to Mr. Hoover, were constant throughout the United States. The North Central States had an overall increase of 13 percent, the Southern States 16 percent increase, the Western States 18 percent increase, while the heavily populated Northeastern States recorded an average increase of 21 percent.

The FBI Director noted that the violent crime of armed robbery had a sharp upswing of 34 percent and armed robbery made up 61 percent of all robbery offenses. Serious assaults where a gun was used as the weapon rose 24 percent and nearly one out of every four aggravated assaults was committed with a gun.

The figures released by the FBI disclose that in 1968 police arrests for all criminal acts, excluding traffic offenses, increased 4 percent. Arrests of adults rose 3 percent, while arrests of juveniles continued to climb in 1968 with an 11 percent rise.

Alaska King Crab On Company Menu

King crab. Delicious! And what a great way to serve it. A delectably good dish featuring juicy chunks of Alaska King crab. Either fresh or frozen crab fits perfectly with plenty of flavor to savor in every bite.

For a convenient company menu prepare the deviled crab base ahead of time. Add the crab just before serving in individual shells or ramekins. Heat thoroughly for about 10 minutes and serve, right out of the shells.

Guests will be sure to enjoy this serving twist and the good eating they'll find in Alaska King crab.

Deviled King Crab

1 (7 1/2 oz.) can Alaska King crab or 1/2 pound frozen Alaska King crab	1 tablespoon prepared mustard
2 tablespoons butter	2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
2 tablespoons flour	1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1 cup milk	2 tablespoons ketchup
1/2 teaspoon salt	2 tablespoons chopped chives
	1/4 cup buttered crumbs

Drain crab and slice, saving some for garnish. Melt butter, blend in flour. Add milk slowly. Cook until thickened. Add remaining ingredients, except buttered crumbs, folding crab in last. Spoon into buttered shells or ramekins. Sprinkle with buttered crumbs and garnish with reserved crab. Bake at 400 degrees for 10 minutes. Serve with lemon slices. Makes 4 servings.

Chatham goes psychedelic

Huge red poppies and psychedelic lighting made a very colorful setting for the latest Chatham Club dance, which was held March 1, at the CAI Building in Waterford.

It was difficult to recognize the members as they appeared in hippie and mod costumes.

To add to the theme the committee lowered the tables to half mast (like just off the floor) and everyone brought his own pad or pillow to sit on.

"The club had an enjoyable evening," said Mrs. Mil Mason, "and found the informality a refreshing change from the more formal atmosphere of most meetings."

A SPIRITUAL Message

By Rev. H. C. Cranston
Drayton Heights
Free Methodist Church

"And whosoever will be chief among you, let him be your servant." St. Matthew 20:27

The expression is commonly used that "there are too many chiefs and too few Indians." Many feel that the Christian call is limited to areas of special service such as minister or missionary. The fact is that God's call is for every man to follow Christ. He then may be led to serve Christ and the church in areas unique to his personality and abilities. Christ suggests the one who would be chief, should begin by being servant of all.

Dr. Morrison, a missionary to China a number of years ago, cabled home for assistance. His board thought of a man of Aberdeen, who wished to devote his time to missionary work; but when he came to meet the board for examination as to his qualifications, his appearance was so unpromising that they decided he would not do. "He is too rustic." Then they thought he might do for a servant. One member of the committee was to contact him in private and tell him the committee's decision and see how he would react to it, and also make known to him the proposal to make him a servant.

On being asked if he were willing to act as a servant, he replied, without hesitation and with a bright smile. "Yes sir, most certainly I am willing to do anything, just so I am in the work. To be a hewer of wood and a drawer of water is too great an honor for me when the Lord's house is in the building." That unpromising young rustic became the famous Dr. Milne. The traits that made Dr. Milne qualified to serve well, were the self-same traits that made him a great missionary.

The touch of the Christian servant is much more needed in the modern world than the eloquence of the speechmaker.

School money should go to public schools

We're not only against the present parochial bill in Lansing, we're for the legislature's rescinding the law that requires public school buses to pick up private school students.

Any law that states public money is to be used in parochial school systems for the teaching of math, history and science (academic courses), but not religion is just so much bookkeeping.

We don't see where the state has the right to take our tax money and in any way support schools that are other than public. It is the responsibility of the State to provide tax-supported public education for every child and this is the area, and only area, that should concern them.

There isn't enough state support to public schools now, yet one estimate for private school support next year puts the figure at $40 million. And, as we have found in other programs, this is only the beginning. What will it be next year?

If there is that kind of money available for education it should be directed toward public schools, many of which need more financial attention than private systems.

More Jean's Jettings? Sights & Smells of San Francisco

I wasn't fooling. We really did fly to San Francisco last week.

We were greeted on our homecoming with the strains of "I Left My Heart in San Francisco." We have a couple of arty kids.

I really didn't leave my heart in San Francisco. Being a refugee from a big city it's good to go and reaffirm the decision to live in a less congested area.

So, here are the sights, sounds and smells that I experienced.

From the plane window:

The brown and beige, lake-freckled mid-west; the rippled mirror of Lake Michigan; the snow covered vastness of the plains (even at 500 miles per hour they are vast); the snow blanketed mountain ranges that brought memories of the relief maps we used to make of salt; the white blankets, tied together by one, tiny, sliver of a road; finally, the green hills of the west.

View from the hotel window: Great ocean liners sliding gracefully into port; great green hills; houses, like a roll of postage stamps stuck along the side of a cement hill; and at night, those same houses, blinking with millions of miniature Christmas tree lights, draping the horizon.

Sights on the sidewalk:

Elegant, glittering shops; old ladies spitting on the sidewalk; lush, green carpet of grass and foliage in the manicured squares; Hippies, long-haired, bearded; Hippies, dressed in an assortment of army jackets, old fur coats, or ponchos made from old blankets; Hippies, bare-footed, sandaled or heavily booted; Hippies, in pairs, alone, sitting, walking, selling papers, bumming dimes or cigarettes. Hippies, with child and with children; Hippies, whose eyes and conversation convinced you they were on a longer trip than you; people walking in candlelight parade of protest; fresh flower stands on many corners and people buying boutonnières and corsages on their way to work; and of course, the romantic, funny, trade-mark of the city, the cable-cars, bulging with their human cargo. The thrill of learning the trick of boarding during rush hours, (which is always); the derelict, digging in the refuse can for food, and eating it.

Smells of the Fisherman's Wharf:

Clams, steaming in huge tubs; walkaway cocktails (in paper cups) of clams, shrimp or oysters, with hot, red sauce; sourdough bread, stacked in piles of huge, round, thick crusted loaves; sailors, Brazilian, slim panted; sailors, U.S., still flapping in the wind; sunbleached decks of fishing boats; fishermen with their day's catch in large gunny sacks; Abalone and sword-fish steaks.

Sights and smells of Chinatown:

Happy New Year, 4667; torch-lit parade of twisting, writhing dragons, stately pagodas and regally kimonoed ladies; machine-gun bursts of firecrackers; the pungent mixture of incense and punk; milling oldsters, youngsters and babies, in a human maelstrom; hundreds of oriental gift shops filled with merchandise stamped - "made in Japan," markets with exotic roots, spices, herbs and unrecognizable vegetables; shopkeepers, with golden skinned, black haired and eyed babies, in slings on their backs; golden-skinned, almond-eyed, mini-skirted, blue jeaned school kids, their young voices, jumping with ease, from English to Chinese; the old, kimona clad man who sported a fur hat and calmly stood on the sidewalk and fed his gayly painted chicken a half an orange.

That was the San Francisco I saw. It was terrifying. It was alive. It was clean. It was dirty. It was fun. It was beautiful.

But - my heart isn't in San Francisco. I'm glad to be home.

"If It Fitz . . ."

Please pass the yak, swinger

By Jim Fitzgerald

Before the waitress arrived with the menus, my wife and kids had already decided to order the speciality of the house - hotdogs. Not me.

"I think I will have flaming file of yak, Peking style," I said. "Here he goes again," said my son.

"Dull men don't get heartburn," I said. "I am a swinger and I want heartburn." "You don't even know what a yak is," my wife said. "How do you know it will give you heartburn?"

"The yak is the long haired wild ox of Tibet. I looked it up in my Funk and Wagnalls," I said. "And the Alka Seltzer man on TV guarantees that yak will give me a sophisticated burp."

"What is a sophisticated burp?" asked my daughter.

"That is the type burp that you burp into your clenched fist, pursing your lips gently against the circle made when your index finger is curled against your thumb. You then put your fist into your pocket and unclench it. The unpleasant sound does not escape until you hang up your trousers that night," I explained.

"What if you don't have a pocket?" asked my daughter. "Use your purse," I said.

THE WAITRESS came then and I fell to thinking while she returned to the kitchen to see if they had any yak. I pondered the marvelous possibilities newly uncovered by this Alka Seltzer commercial which says: "It is better to have lived and had heartburn than to not have lived at all."

Beautiful. This is a completely new approach to huckstering. For years the medicine peddlers have been telling us how to stop headaches, relieve acid indigestion, erase soreness, cure aches and keep regular. Never have they said, "Go ahead, get drunk. It's fashionable. All the movie stars do it. And Mother Martha's Morning - After Spray Mist will kill your hangover pleasantly anyway."

The Alka Seltzer commercial shows the way. There is this incredibly handsome man, see. All the women give him hot eyes when he swaggers into this restaurant and fills his pretty face with file of yak, Peking style. He says he ordered yak because it was there, and he'd never had any. Adventure. You just know he is going to climb a mountain on the way home.

The yak gives him heartburn, but so what? The women keep panting while he plunks 2 Alka Seltzers into a glass and glugs his misery away. I knew he was an unusual fellow when I saw him get 2 Alka Seltzers out of their tinfoil packet without crumbling them. It takes a good man to do that. Also, he had to wait only half as long as mortal man for the Alka Seltzer to disintegrate in the water.

The next step is for crutch manufacturers to encourage little old ladies to go skiing with the jet set. "No-Limp Crutches have non-skid tips, padded armpit rests, and built-in TV. So why worry about breaking a leg? Jackie Onassis doesn't."

The ultimate is obvious: "Jump out of a plane. All the best people are doing it. So what if you don't have a parachute? You should see our gravestones . . ."

THE WAITRESS returned to say they had no yak.

"Ok," I said, "give me a hotdog and stab me with a fork. I want to use the Bandaid the astronauts use."

Onward and Upward. †

Letters to the Editor

So you want a book review

Dear wily little friend Jean,

When you telephoned and asked "Have you read any good books lately?" - 20 years melted away to when that question was very hip - it meant, "This party is a bore - let's get out of here." But you're too young to know about that so I realized you wanted a book review.

Jeanie, you know I loathe detailed reviews; they make liars out of lazy readers and often spoil a book for good readers. So I'll give you a light mention of a few which have lasted in my memory - no doubt in yours also.

To begin, one must "look over" all books on the Best Seller List - far be it from me to advocate reading all of them: One would have to be a mental spastic to wade through some of those fakers.

I have come to the belief that the unsophisticated adult - perhaps the new reader - who has just found that he can see bad four letter words in print, are the ones who keep those uninteresting books on The List. If you read one, you've read them all. Certainly no sophisticated, well adjusted reader has the time to waste on them. Most of my loves in books never made The List. A few exceptions perhaps - because who was not torn to shreds by "Up the Down Staircase?"

By now I'm so fed up with poorly contrived books on the minorities, that I am very choosy.

Let me mention books I'll never forget, omitting those to "improve" the mind - just the homey, lovable kind.

"All the Little Live Things" by Stenger, is a book of such warm relationships, with joys and sorrows so poignant - you'll never forget it. Required reading in schools would be improved if one paid attention to "Fifty Works of English Literature We Could do Without" by Brophy, Levy and Osborne. This is hilarious but wise. I can imagine your family roaring over it.

I like almost everything Louis Auchincloss writes, especially his "Brown Stone Front."

If one is interested in TV business, do read "But Will They Get It in Des Moines" by Flink. Then there's a new tongue-in-cheek one on the computer business, "The Man Whose Name Wouldn't Fit" - the computer was programmed for 20 letters and his had 21.

I rediscovered Hammond Innes and anyone who likes sea stories will be caught up with the "style-staid and furious." I liked "The Stroud Adventure," "Atlantic Fury" and "The Wreck of the Mary Deare." I shall never forget the friends I made in "South of the Angels" by Jessamyn West. They were so real I shall always know them.

"The Lemon in the Basket" by Armstrong is an intriguing family story but full of terror.

I never liked Dorothy Kilgallen but the book she was writing when she died, "Murder One" they say is a text book on criminal case reporting. I read it, but not aspiring to be a reporter, I couldn't wash Kilgallen out of it.

Have you read Robert Frost's "Letters to Louis Untermeyer?" When you do, note his remarks on his aversion to everyone wanting everything homogenized - from Art to People; he said, "leave it alone I like the cream to rise."

My criterion for a good spy story is "Ice Station Zebra" by MacLean. All else pales by comparison.

I like to read 3 or 4 books at a time - which doesn't mean a thing as you know how I like to read the dictionary. I am a plodding reader as I believe that when a good writer hones and polishes a paragraph, it deserves careful reading.

To give this great catchet, I suppose I should find a smashing ending but being something of an old Goldie Hawn let me quote some silly things I've run across, here and there: Robert Carsón in "The Outsider," said his grandfather remembered a tombstone he saw in New England on the grave of a very old lady. It gave only the birth and death dates but below was, "I TOLD YOU I WAS SICK."

Christopher Morley has Kitty Foyle say, "Being a Presbyterian doesn't keep me from sinning - it just keeps me from enjoying it." Being one myself, I dare quote her.

Then there was that wit who remarked about an acquaintance, "She is a perfect 36 and that includes her IQ." Come over for lunch soon and tell me what to read for the good of my soul.

Marguerite

Says wives tend to snarl, men kiss and make up

Did your wife assail your father, brother and even Aunt Sarah during your last disagreement?

Well, don't worry. It may be normal wifely behavior during an argument.

A psychologist at U of M reports that wives are more likely than husbands to respond with personal attack during an argument.

Husbands are more likely to suggest making up.

Dr. Barry evaluated the behavior of newlyweds in experimental situations at the National Institute of Mental Health, in Bethesda, Md. Fifty newlyweds were chosen for the experiment from marriage records in the greater Washington area.

The subjects were all white, four months married, and high school graduates. The husbands were between 20 and 27 years of age and the wives between 18 and 25.

Dr. Barry cautions that the study was limited. One might get far different results from a group other than young, white, middle-class Eastern metropolitan newlyweds.

The experiment involved interpreting the behavior of the wives and the husbands in four situations. In one situation, both were to suppose that it was their first wedding anniversary. The husband had made plans for dinner at an elegant restaurant and had paid in advance. The wife had spent the afternoon preparing a special dinner.

In the second situation, the husband wants to watch one television program while his expectant wife wants to watch another.

In another scene, the wife attempts to give her husband the cold shoulder, and he wants to find out what is wrong. This situation is reversed in the final situation.

The interactions took place in a room set up to resemble a living room. Observers were present, and each subject was told of the situation in private before the interactions took place.

In general, when the husbands started the argument, the wives were more likely to retaliate with biting, attacking, or coercive remarks. But when the wives started the arguments, the husbands were more inclined to kiss and make up.

In cases where the wives initiated the reconciliation, the husbands were likely to join in it. Where husbands attempted to calm the waters, the wives were more inclined to keep them boiling.

Poison Prevention Week March 16-22

To the approximately half million children who accidentally ingest potentially toxic substances each year, it matters little what name the product carries. Since there are approximately 250,000 potentially toxic products commercially available on the market today, these children have a wide variety of choices.

According to Gerald E. Montgomery, Executive Director of the Greater Detroit Safety Council, Poison Prevention Week will be observed this year, March 16-22. It is hoped that every household in the Metropolitan Area will be alerted to the danger of poison, especially in regard to children. Although many children become victims of the obvious poisons (insecticides, rodent poisons, etc.) the great majority of the hundreds of children who die each year from poisoning, do so because they have eaten or drunk some substance not generally considered poison.

Regardless of the name it goes by, poison is deadly. Children, especially those under four or five years of age, will eat or drink almost anything that "looks" good, or is found in a container that normally would not contain anything dangerous to the child. Children will drink kerosene, paint thinner or any other liquid if some thoughtless person has poured it into a pop bottle. The list of products that have caused death or hospitalization is endless. Hair shampoo, drain cleaner, detergents, moth balls, furniture polish, etc. is only the beginning of a long list of deadly poisons called by other names. Internal medicines are high on the list, with aspirin accounting for approximately 25% of all accidental poisoning.

The solution is not easy but there is a solution. Keep potentially poisonous substances out of reach of small children and if necessary, under lock and key. This is especially true of the medicine cabinet and the cleaning materials usually stored under the sink.

And if your child does ingest some toxic substance—call the poison center immediately! The most completely equipped center to answer any question regarding poison or its antidote is Children's Hospital of Michigan, 833-1000.

Water tank planned

Independence township may be getting an above-the-ground water storage tank, but it probably won't be the type you see towering over towns.

Preliminary plans have been approved by the township board for a 750,000 gallon water tank. It will likely be made of concrete and be at ground level. Proposed site for the storage is on the 25-acre parcel of township property on Flemmings Lake road.

The decision to okay preliminary plans was made at a special meeting of the board with the Inter-county Highway Commission. Also approved were limited extensions of the present township owned water system.

The township owns and operates 3 water systems in township subdivisions.

HEADING EAST—Contractors for the Clinton-Oakland Interceptor sewer lines are busy from Independence Township to Macomb county. One branch of the line has crossed the corner of Independence Township, crossed Clintonville road and is heading toward Orion Township's Keatington. This is a 36 inch line.

Luncheon card party

Austin Chapter No. 396, Order of the Eastern Star will have their monthly noon luncheon and card party on Thursday, March 20 at the Masonic Temple in Davisburg. There will be table and door prizes.

CHS news from Connie Rush

Summer driver sessions set

In order to pay for a ski trip taken to Boyne Highlands, the ski club is sponsoring a dance tomorrow, March 15th. Admission will be 75c and school dress is required.

Senior class mock elections were held last Tuesday. Each interested senior obtained a ballot from the desk in front of the counselor's office. The ballots were returned at the end of the day to a box in the office. The results of the election will be announced Friday in the "Wolf Cry."

The Wolf Cry, Clarkston High School's paper, hits the stands every two weeks, reporting and interpreting school news and events of importance which occur outside of school.

Birthday cut-offs for Drivers Education have been extended to October 1st. Driver Education, which is given during summer vacation, is divided into three, three-week sessions. The first session begins June 16 and runs until July 7, the second session starts on July 8 and ends July 28, and the last session runs from July 29 until August 18.

Instructors for Drivers Education will be Conrad Bruce, Max Inman, Douglas Pierson, Ralph Thayer, and Larry Thibault from the high school, and Bill Bonnell and William Potvin from the junior high school.

Cars will be supplied from Haupt Pontiac, Hahn Chrysler-Plymouth, and Rademacher Chevrolet-Oldsmobile.

22 accidents in February

Cresencio Camacho, 3075 W. Newbury, Pontiac sustained shoulder injuries when he was thrown from his motorcycle. He was riding in a field near Sibley road.

Traffic Safety Officer Jerry Girard reported that in the month of February there were 22 accidents in Independence Township. One person was killed, 10 were injured, 11 accidents caused property damage and 17 people were injured.

The Sheriff's Department issued 128 tickets for various violations.

Supporting their school's March of Dimes drive, these Junior High students swarmed around the noon time tables that watched a bake sale vanish, guesses bought on a corn count in a jar, tickets being sold for the privilege of wearing slacks to school the next day, (above) and that old time favorite, shoe shining, below. Jr. High Principal Kelly Burnette gets a "shine for a dime" from Rodney Allen and Lynette Jones, two members of Mr. Bidinger's winning class.

Shine for a Dime

Jr Hi collects $1064

The Clarkston Junior High School has been seething with activity in the past two weeks. The cause of the excitement was the annual campaign for the March of Dimes.

The students collected $1,064 for the cause. This was almost double the amount contributed last year.

Accounting for the greatest amount of money collected was the competition among all first hour classes. The winners of this race were decided on a percentage basis to compensate for the varying size of the classes.

Large thermometers in the school lobby, registering the daily total contributions, added to the interest.

Each class sponsored various activities to raise funds. Some of the events were: shoe shine (10c), slack day, (25c), Ugly Man contest, (1c per vote), marriages (25c), divorces, (10c), record album drawings, money tapes, car washes and bake sales.

Coming from behind on the last day to be declared the winner of the First Hour Race was Room 4, Mr. Bidinger's class. Though they numbered only 18, their contributions averaged $3.80 per student.

The winners will be treated to a Hamburger Party.

The Vocal Music Department presented a program on March 5 to benefit the drive, $128 was collected in a tree-will offering.

Several bake sales that were not included in the class race also contributed to the total.

"Our 'all-school' total will be approximately $1,800," said Mr. Kelly Burnette, principal, who is also the Chairman for the Clarkston Community Schools March of Dimes. "This success reflects both enthusiasm and generosity on the part of our students. They have done a good job."

Tornado safety precautions

"Killer tornadoes cannot be stopped, but better preparation by families, employers and school officials can help to reduce the tragic toll of death and injuries when tornadoes strike," said John Boomer, director of Disaster Services of the Southeastern Michigan Chapter of the Red Cross.

Last year tornadoes killed more people than all other weather-caused natural disasters.

While we were fortunate in not having a tornado disaster last year in the tri-county area the chapter serves, we should not overlook the precautions that can save lives. Last year, nationally, some 139 persons died who might have been saved if planning designed to save lives had been heeded.

This year a stepped up preparedness program called SKYWARN has been launched by the Weather Bureau in an attempt to lower the death toll from tornadoes which strike more frequently in the spring.

"When a weather report says tornado WARNING, it means a tornado has been actually sighted. A tornado WATCH indicates that conditions that might trigger a tornado are present. The Weather Bureau is the official source of tornado forecast information," Boomer stated. "If a tornado watch is issued, keep tuned to your local radio or TV station for the latest weather statements and possible tornado warnings. If a tornado warning is issued, seek inside shelter," Mr. Boomer said. "There is no universal protection against tornadoes except caves and underground excavations. When time permits, go to a tornado cellar, cave or a steel-framed or reinforced concrete building. Areas planned for use as tornado shelters should be located away from water and gas outlets, and should be kept free of debris. In all circumstances, stay away from windows."

The Red Cross lists these additional safety tips:

1. In open country—move away at right angles from the tornado's path. If you feel you cannot escape, lie flat in the nearest ditch or ravine.

2. In a city or town—In office buildings: stand in interior hallway on a lower floor, preferably in the basement. In factories: on receiving a tornado watch, post a lookout. When a warning is issued, workers should be prepared to move quickly to the section of the plant offering the greatest protection. Advance preparations should be made for shutting off electrical circuits and fuel lines. At home: the basement usually offers the greatest safety. Seek shelter under a sturdy workbench or heavy table. Do not seek shelter in areas immediately under heavy appliances on the floor above. If the home has no basement take cover under heavy furniture in the center part of the home. Keep some windows open on the side opposite the storm, but stay away from them.

3. In a school—When a tornado watch is announced, someone should be assigned to be on the lookout for an approaching funnel cloud. Curtains should be drawn and blinds lowered and closed to minimize the danger from flying glass. If a tornado is sighted go quickly to an interior hallway on the lowest floor. Avoid any area with wide, free-span roofs.

4. In a shopping center—The center may have space clearly marked for an emergency shelter. Otherwise, take cover against interior walls or under sturdy counters. Do not take shelter in buildings with large, free-span roofs, and never seek shelter in a parked car.

Clarkston Scholarship represented available

Twenty-two volunteer and professional Scouters from the Clinton Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, attended special training meetings recently at East Lansing, Mich., and Mendham, N. J. Victor Van Hentenryck, 6981 Tappan, was the Clarkston representative at Mendham.

Seventeen of the Scouters attended an all-day Region Seven training seminar at Michigan State University March 1 at which details and programs of Scouting's new BOYPOWER '76 membership effort were discussed. Other subjects included the Exploring program and management of local Council training courses.

The other five Scouters were at the Schiff Scout Reservation at Mendham February 28-March 1 for a weekend training conference.

The National Federation of Music Clubs has announced that it will award a $200 scholarship to a talented young string musician to attend the 1969 Meadow Brook School of Music.

Competition is open to students of the violin, cello, viola, or string bass. Applicants must have completed the 11th grade and be 25 years of age or younger.

Auditions will be by tape recordings of selections from the standard concert repertoire, representing the applicant's highest musical achievement and with playing time not to exceed 10 minutes. Applications and audition tapes should be addressed to National Federation of Music Clubs Scholarship, Meadow Brook School of Music, Oakland University, Rochester, Michigan 48063.

The colorful cars of Clarkston

by Constance Lektzian

Fanny Irish was a very interesting personality and at one time she owned a car as interesting as she was. She was the type of person that is rarely developed in our rootless, sprawling towns of today.

Her family had been early settlers in Clarkston, and she knew everyone for miles around and everyone knew Fanny Irish. She was compounded of equal parts of security and independence.

When Fanny graduated from Clarkston High it was during a time 1907 when 12 years of schooling opened more doors than it does now. She worked for many years in Chicago as a stenographer and then, coming closer to home, worked for 20 years in a Pontiac bank as a teller.

Her father, Wash Irish, a widower, had lived with his family for several decades in the beautiful old Nelson Clark home. The day came when his children were all scattered and the house was sold. He bought the old high school and the surrounding property that stood across the street.

Fanny moved with her father into the little white frame building next to the school. It had been the intention of Mr. Irish to turn the old school into apartments, but before he finished this, he passed away.

It was about this time that the world famous Henry Ford, who had an absorbing passion for small villages and old buildings, bought some property in Clarkston. He got word of the fact that Fanny Irish was interested in selling the school and the surrounding grounds.

This was about 1941 and there were rumblings of war. Mr. Ford, it was rumored, was looking for a place to make parachutes. Whether true or not, he did buy the school but it was later used for making seat covers for motor vehicles.

Weeks passed between the transaction and the time Mr. Ford finally came out to inspect the property. In the meantime, Fanny was still living in the house that today is Clarkston's library. She looked around one day and noticed that no one had come out to mow the huge lawn that stretched down to Main Street. Also, the little white building, now Ford property, was sadly in need of paint. So she mowed the lawn and painted the house.

It was while she was up on a ladder, wielding a brush and splattered with splashes of paint, that Mr. Ford drove up, or rather was driven up. Mr. Ford, a little more used to having people hold their hand out to take rather than give, was amazed at all she had done.

He stared at the deceptively frail looking little woman and asked why, in her soft, almost drawing voice, she told him she was sure that he wouldn't want anything he owned to look so run down.

Henry Ford was a shrewd businessman and a very perceptive human being. He offered Miss Irish the job of caretaker of the property—but she was to hire it done. For this she got wages and the use of the small white house which had been slated for demolition.

Thus she kept one of the things most precious to her—her independence. She did concede occasionally to Mr. Ford's order to hire the work done—but only if she found a worker that did a job to suit her.

When it came time to close the business of the sale, Mr. Ford asked Fanny if she would have any use for a car. Taken by surprise, Fanny told him that she doubted if she could drive one of these modern cars. The only car she had ever driven was a Model A. Mr. Ford promptly told her that he would see that she got one.

So, in 1942, one, Mike Burling, was given the job of assembling a 1930 Model A. It took six months of serious scrounging in obsolete parts departments; searching through stock bins and contacting dealers all over the United States and Canada, but it was finally built. Two concessions to modernity were made: the tires were 16 inch and the starter button was moved from the floor to the dashboard.

Once during the war years, Fanny's car needed a muffler and she took it to the Beattie Brothers Ford dealership on Clarkston's Main Street for repairs. They found that there wasn't a muffler for that make of car to be had for love nor money, but they found a Chevrolet part that could be made to fit.

When she got the car back, Fanny, as was her habit, crawled under the Model A to inspect the work. When she discovered another manufacturer's markings on the part, she trotted down to have a few words with the Beattie Brothers.

They had not repaired her car with a Ford Motor part and she wouldn't drive it until they did. It took months before they could get the proper muffler, and only then would she drive it.

Miss Irish loved a good parade and she not only took part in all of them but cajoled most of her friends into the act, spending hours designing and making costumes to wear. The Beattie family, who now own the car, have driven it in many of the village's holiday parades. This would please Miss Irish who always considered her Model A a real showpiece.

Our thanks to Mr. Robert Beattie and Mrs. Frank Lambert of Clarkston for some of the information in the article. Mr. Burling who built the car, later became a Ford dealer in Farmington.

A pint is only a pint

Those "giant quarts" and "jumbo pints" are gone from Michigan. Such qualifying terms on package labels are no longer legal. Michigan's weights and measures laws conform to federal standards established by the Fair Packaging and Labeling Act of 1967.

Where packages are sold by weight or measure there must be a dual declaration on the label, with total ounces shown first. A statement in terms of the largest whole unit must follow parenthetically.

For example, a loaf of bread identified as weighing 20 ounces would also carry the information, parenthetically, that it is one and one-quarter pounds. A liquid measure of 18 fluid ounces would also be identified as one pint, two ounces.

Another new provision of the law requires that all meat and meat products, poultry and all seafood, except shellfish, be sold by weight.

Prices advertised, posted or labeled, whenever a fraction appears, must show the numerals expressing the fraction immediately adjacent to, of the same general design and style, and at least half the size of the numerals representing the whole cents. For instance, a posted gasoline price of 39.9 cents per gallon must show the nine-tenths cents in letters at least half as large as the 39 cents.

Girl Scouts back with PAUF, Membership drive set

After months of discussions Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council and the Pontiac Area United Fund have reconciled their differences.

The Council will receive an allocation of $44,000 from Pontiac Area United Fund for 1969. The Council says they need $72,774.83 to support the program in this area.

The Council jurisdiction covers the northern portion of Oakland County starting at Square Lake road. Therefore, they receive allocations from the five funds who solicit monies from this area.

The total budget need for 1969 is $137,311.01. They anticipate an income of $84,100 from the various funds.

The Girl Scouts are a growing organization. They have increased in membership 27% in the last 5 years.

"We know the federated funds can't do it all, so we need to do more for ourselves," stated James W. Mann, President of the Girl Scout Council.

Through agreement with the Funds, they will be conducting a sustaining membership enrollment.

The funds recognize that the needs are great, and that the agency must seek a percentage of self-support. Thus a sustaining membership enrollment will be launched during the month of May throughout the Council.

"Camp Fire" has 59th birthday

Camp Fire Girls are celebrating the 59th birthday of the organization. The newly organized Clarkston Area Camp Fire Girls are planning to celebrate the occasion with a Mother-Daughter Banquet.

The banquet will be held on March 17 in the Clarkston Junior High School cafeteria at 6:30 p.m.

There will also be a window display at the Clarkston Sporting Goods Store to help commemorate this event. This display will enable everyone to observe what the local girls have been doing.

In just one year, the Clarkston Area Camp Fire Girls have grown to 10 units. These units are: 5 units of Blue Birds, the youngest Camp Fire Girls; 3 units of Camp Fire Girls and 2 Junior High Camp Fire Girl groups.

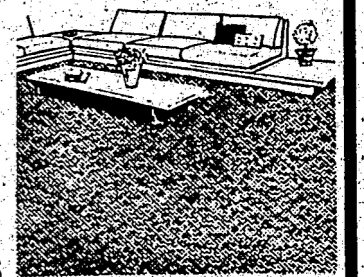

Plans are under way for the annual Camp Fire Girl candy sale. This will begin on April 19 and continue through May 5.
