VOLUME 39 10 CENTS

CLARKSTON, MICHIGAN 48016

THURSDAY, MAY 8, 1969 3 SECTIONS NUMBER 36

Jim's Jottings

For those of you who have been looking for an easy way to supplement your income with tax free money and thoroughly enjoy it, I suggest you make an appointment with my euchre partner and me.

I wouldn't say we are bad card players, or our opponents are better. I won't say they have all the luck and we have none. We have plenty of luck, but it is all bad.

In the last couple weeks we have made four people independently wealthy. Just to give you some idea of how much we have lost at a quarter on sets and a half on games.

One opponent now owns his own home, a motor home, a Honda, a Sea Ray boat, has a membership in a private hunting camp, has 5 (count 'em), 5 lawn mowers, 2 new cars, a sail boat, and is in a joint land development venture.

Another, his partner, has a new lightning class sail boat, ice boat, new car, Honda, is a bank director, owns his home and office, belongs to a private hunting camp, has the latest fishing equipment, and my partner and I are building a college fund for his 3 sons.

Another opponent now owns several acres of choice lake front on Grand Traverse Bay on which he is building a new cottage we've paid for, can afford to leave the office a day earlier than he used to, owns a cruiser that sleeps several, and has a wardrobe that won't quit.

His partner this week hadn't previously been exposed to this source of revenue, though obviously, he had gained experience from playing cards with others. The only extravagance I've noticed him with since the euchre game is a new Wheel Horse riding tractor.

One thing, though. They are all gentlemen. They thanked us.

We received an air mail letter in Oxford this week from Lake Orion. And there was 2 cents due. The sender had put 8 cents on it. I'm not crabbing about the 2 cents, I'd just like to know the name of the airlines. Some day I might want to make a quick trip to Lake Orion.

Living is so complicated these days. The most overworked word is worry. Americans in particular are worrying themselves to the psychiatrist's couch in ever-increasing numbers. How much worrying is necessary?

Consider these:
We worry about the Russians and/or Chinese invading Disneyland and then get run over by the neighbor's car.
We worry about radio-active

Mrs. Bronsing helping PAUF awards program

The Pontiac Area United Fund Women's Division will hold its Annual Awards Program 1 p.m. Thursday, May 15, at the Old Mill Restaurant, 5838 Dixie Highway.

General chairman of the event is Mrs. Adrian Ish. Assisting her is Mrs. Vincent Bronsing of Clarkston, decorations chairman; Mrs. John Gorman, chairman of the hostess committee and Mrs. Thomas Follis in charge of publicity.

Mr. William Belaney of T&C Federal Credit Union will be master of ceremonies of the event, which is held annually to honor outstanding volunteers of the community who have donated many hours of service to the member organizations supported by the Pontiac Area United Fund.

Robert A. Thom, well known illustrator from Birmingham, Michigan, will be the guest speaker. Thom, who painted "A History of Michigan in Painting" for the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, was commissioned by P. A. R. K. E. Davis & Co. for two series, "A History of Pharmacy in Pictures" and "A History of Medicine in Pictures."

2 area girls go to Girl's State

The quota for Girl's State was filled rapidly this year. As a result, the Campbell-Richmond Auxiliary Unit 63 of Clarkston was unable to make reservations for their representatives.

The Chief Pontiac Auxiliary Unit 377 from Pontiac received 4 reservations and have elected to sponsor 2 of the Clarkston candidates.

Those girls chosen from Clarkston Senior High School are Janice Lee Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delray Hall, 7165 Sashabaw and Mollie Lynch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Lynch, 6260 Eastlawn.

"We, of the Campbell-Richmond Auxiliary, wish to apologize to the Junior girls of Clarkston High School who were looking forward to participating in the American Legion Auxiliary Girl's State Program," said Mrs. John Lynch. "We pledge to send additional girls to Girl's State next year, with the funds we receive from the drawing which we are holding this month."

The typewriter, which will be awarded as a result of the drawing, is being displayed in the window of the Clarkston Sporting Goods Store, where tickets are available.

Tickets may also be purchased from any auxiliary member.

The drawing will be held May 26, at the regular meeting of the auxiliary. Mrs. Jerry Joyce, 18th District president, will draw the winning ticket.

Mrs. E. Laura Perry

A symbol of Mother's Day

By Jean Sura

A Mother's Day issue of the paper would not be complete without one special mother to salute.

Our inquiries around town all seemed to lead to one person, Mrs. E. Laura Perry.

Making an appointment to meet Mrs. Perry had to be sandwiched between her luncheon and shopping date.

After meeting and becoming acquainted with her it was easy to understand how she had deserved the honor and respect that her friends and neighbors felt for her.

Mrs. Perry was born near Mt. Clemens in 1891 to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kath. She moved to the Clarkston area about 40 years ago with her husband who was a livestock dealer. Their first home in this area was on the Dixie Highway.

Active in church work, she was the last president of the Ladies Aid and the first president of W.S.C.S., a job that she held for 4 years. She was president of the Dixie Saddle Club and is now an honorary life member.

She belonged to the now disbanded Garden and Literary Clubs. She has been a member of the Extension Club for 50 years and is a past County Chairman.

Five children are proud to call her "Mojher."
One daughter, Helen Leak, is noted for her talent in decoupage. Another, Sarietta Bird, is a legal secretary to Judge Wm. J. Beer. Mary E. Yoder is living and working in Birmingham.

A son, B. Clare Rasmuson is director of Product Testing and Service at Hydramatic, a division of General Motors. He is the former commander of the Naval Reserve in Pontiac.

Son, Charles, is Dr. Perry, who holds a high technical and administrative post with Vishay Interotechnology, Inc. in Romulus.

He is the author of many authoritative publications on stress analysis, fluid mechanics and statistics that have an international readership.

Mrs. Perry is justly proud of her 7 grandchildren as well. David and Lanny Leak are both graduates of Albion College. David is a comptroller at Federal Mogul and Lanny is an attorney in Saginaw.

Carolyn Birtsas is a registered nurse and works at the Ford Hospital clinic. R. Clare Bird, a graduate of University of Michigan, is a vice president of Marsteller International and is presently living in Brussels, Belgium.

Kathleen Bird Williams graduated from M.S.U. and is teaching at the Williams Lake School in Waterford. Lee Perry is an import and export broker and manages offices in Port Huron. Grandson, Eric Rasmuson, has completed 3 years in college and now is in service and stationed at Fort Knox, Kentucky.

Mrs. Perry has 12 great-grandchildren and is expecting that number will be increased any day.

"They don't make cars the way that they used to," said Mrs. Perry. "Why, my 1958 Olds was the only car in the parking lot that would start last winter."

The parking lot is behind the handsome apartment building that she now calls home. A home that is filled with plants, pictures, mementos and both external and infernal sunshine.

"Mother is the most unselfish person on earth," said one of her daughters. "She is a real Christian who puts her religion to practice."

We salute you, E. Laura Perry. Happy Mother's Day.

Lower M 15 limits

The maximum speed limit on M-15 in Ortonville will be reduced soon from 65 to 55 miles an hour, the Department of State Highways said today.

The reduction will be from a point 500 feet south of Allen road to a point 1,000 feet north of Grange Hall road.

An investigation by the Highway

Department and State Police showed that the lower limit was advisable because of heavy traffic through the commercialized, resort area.

The reduction is authorized in a traffic control order signed by Henrik E. Stafseth, state highway director, and Col. Fredrick E. Davis, state police director, and it will be enforced as soon as new signs are posted.

Clarkston man promoted at GMTC

Appointment of Jack R. DeLorge as GMC Truck & Coach Division staff engineer in charge of administration, succeeding Harold N. Steinbaugh who will retire May 1 after more than 32 years' service, has been announced by Harold O. Flynn, chief engineer.

DeLorge, a native of Pontiac and a graduate of Detroit Institute of Technology, has been superintendent of work standards and methods engineering since 1961.

He joined GMC Truck in 1940 as a stock handler and was later transferred to the manufacturing department fallout, then get poisoned by nicotine or by spraying our garden flowers.

We worry about youngsters running in front of cars and then pass ordinances making it mandatory that they ride bikes in the street.

We worry about getting the family car lubricated every 1,000 miles and then fail to get a medical checkup.

We worry about not getting enough exercise and then drive 2 blocks to buy a cup of coffee.

We either worry too much or we worry about the wrong things.

J. R. DeLORGE

where he was promoted to process engineer in 1946 and to methods engineering supervisor in 1954.

In his new assignment, DeLorge will direct activities of newly-established program planning and cost analysis groups and be responsible for engineering, department salary administration, budget control, technical data and product information. He lives at 6721 Amy Drive in Clarkston.

Patricia Ketter

Patricia J. Ketter, 9117 Eeve Rd., died after a long illness on April 29. She was 39.

She was a member of St. Anne's Catholic Church in Ortonville and was employed in the Plant Analysis Department at Pontiac Motor Division of General Motors.

Surviving is her husband, Richard J. Ketter.

Also surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Recknagel; 2 brothers, Robert of Cass City and James of Lake Orion; and 2 sisters, Mrs. Mary Ann Lisk and Mrs. Frances Sweeney, both of Lake Orion.

Services were held on May 1 at the St. Anne's Catholic Church in Ortonville with burial in Ottawa Park Cemetery. Funeral arrangements were made by the Lewis E. Wint Funeral Home in Clarkston.

The Consecration Service for the New Educational Building of the Clarkston United Methodist Church on Waldon road, will be held on May 11, at 10 a.m.

The Rev. Hugh C. White, Superintendent of the Flint District of the United Methodist Church will officiate. He will be assisted by the Rev. Frank A. Cozadd, and James C. Braid, the ministers of the church.

The $350,000 structure includes 12 classrooms, 1 social hall (seating 350), an all-electric, fully equipped kitchen, 2 storage rooms and rest room facilities. Also included has been the completion of remodeling plans for the North Wing of the structure, which was built in 1961, to provide a church parlor, church office, infant nursery, library room and bride's room.

The 958 member congregation has grown with the Village of Clarkston, since 1831. Methodist class meetings were started in the village in 1836. The church was founded in 1840.

A frame structure served the needs of the congregation until 1873 when the old brick church on Buffalo and Church was dedicated.

The present Georgian Colonial church was built on the beautiful 7 acre site in 1961.

53 ministers have served the Methodist Church in Clarkston since 1840.

The Rev. William J. Richards, who served the Clarkston church from 1956 until 1964, will conduct a special youth service at 6:30 p.m. on May 11. The Rev. Richards now serves at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Rochester.

"Fashion Show" planned May 16

A veil of secrecy has covered the publicity of the May 16 Jane Payne luncheon, which will be held at the United Methodist Church of Clarkston, on Waldon road. It revolves around a special fashion show which will highlight the noon luncheon. Tickets are now available from WSCS members.

Homeowners object to commission approval of district bond sale

Oakland County Homeowners & Taxpayers Association has asked for immediate action by Oakland County legislators to stop the "injustice of property taxes imposed by the Oakland County Intermediate School District over the constitutional limit without voter approval."

In a letter to all 14 Oakland County senators and representatives, George H. Williams, president of the taxpayer group, complained bitterly about the Municipal Finance Commission's authorization for sale of bonds by the School District to purchase data processing equipment. "This will result in an illegal and scandalous property tax," Williams charged.

"The law you people passed giving the school system permission to sell bonds," Williams' letter continued, "does not allow levying taxes over the constitutional limit to retire the bonds as the School District is doing. And you people and the Attorney General know it, but no one so far has bothered to stop them. Just who," Williams asked the legislators, "is protecting the taxpayer?"

Particularly "despicable" according to Williams is the manner in which the $1,300,000 data processing equipment will be used. "Not only will the taxpayers buy it in the first place, but the local school districts will then have to buy the use of it, which the taxpayers also must pay for."

Williams requested "immediate attention" to the matter by the legislators and a "response in point" from each of them.

Kirk Beattie leads tennis team to 10-0, thinclads win

By Kirk Phillips
VARSITY TRACK
Coach Horrigan's thinclads rolled up an impressive track victory by defeating a veteran Clarenceville team, 79 to 38 this week.
The 2-mile run had the Clarkston boys, Tim Wilcox and Gerald Baker, finishing first and second, respectively.
The shotput was won by freshman Gary Seaman with a winning throw of 38'2. Clarkston placed first and third in the long jump with Jim Ventimiglia leading the way, 18', and Doug Kath finished third with a jump of 16'5.
Junior Harold Ballough won the high jump as he went 5-2. Clarkston took a 3rd in the pole vault when Rod Latimer, the newcomer from West Bloomfield, jumped 9'6.
The mile run was won by Dan Dankert with a time of 4:37.4 and teammate Rick Svetkoff took a 3rd. Clarkston swept the 120 highs when Jim Ventimiglia, Bob MacNeill and Mark Witherup finished 1-2-3, in that order.
Fred Seyler won the 880 with a time of 2:08 and Kurt Carlsen finished 2nd. Jeff Quigley and Bill Perkins finished 1 and 2 in the 440. Clarkston placed 2nd and third in the 100, Doug Kath placed 2nd and Mike Humphries took third. The 220 saw Bob MacNeill finish 1st and Doug Kath take 3rd.
Clarkston closed out the scoring with the mile relay team winning with a time of 4:49.2. Members of the team are: Kurt Carlsen, Dan Dankert, Fred Seyler and Jeff Quigley.

This is a team of underclassmen and they should be commended, especially Coach Dennis Horrigan and assistant Coach Bruce.

VARSITY GOLF
The defending Wayne-Oakland league champs will have to improve if they expect to win the league. Coach Pierson's squad lost to West Bloomfield, 206 to 200, with Jim Navarre checking in with a 40 as medalist. The Wolves tied Milford, 212-212, as Navarre finished with a 41.

BASEBALL
Coach Tungate is now in fourth place with a record of 3-3 after losing to Northville, 2-0. Fred Holdsworth checked the Wolves on two hits. Mark Swanson and Rich Porritt were the only Clarkston boys to get 'em. Kim Marberger caused a lot of damage as he singled home a run and teammate Stan Nirider scored on a past ball for the Mustangs' only runs. Pitcher Marshall Sealy is now 3-1 for the early season.
The Kettering game saw the Wolves lose, 3-2. Clarkston tied the game 2-2 in the 7th, but a fielding error and a Bob Earl double settled the issue. Dennis Wooster was the winner for Kettering; his mark is now 3-0. Tom Grace picked up the loss; his record is now one and two in league play.

This week the Wolves will face a rough customer in Bob Ritter from Brighton. The Wolves will play West Bloomfield, a team they've defeated once this year, 6-4.
TENNIS
Coach Thibault's boys are doing a fine job representing their school as they are 10 and 0. The Wolves defeated Northville 3-2 without Dave Kelly. Picking up wins in singles were Dick Ruelle, Kirk Beattie, Mark Waterbury and Mark Griffiths.
The doubles team fell because Dave Kelly was gone and coach Thibault had to regroup his forces.
The Clarenceville match was 4-1 in favor of Clarkston as Kirk Beattie and Dave Kelly won in the singles department.
Mark Waterbury and Orson Bullard won in the doubles categories and teammates Walters and Robbins picked up a victory.
In a nonleague match the following boys won in a 7-0 rout of Holly: in singles, Mark Griffiths, Dave Kelly and Kirk Beattie; in doubles, Mark Waterbury, Orson Bullard, Scott Robbins and Mark Walters. Kirk Beattie has yet to suffer defeat. He has a personal record of 10 and 0.

The Wolves' MVP award this week goes to Gary McMillan for his hitting.

Teams vie in College Bowl

Three teams competed in the revival of a College Bowl at Clarkston High School on April 28.
Three teams were selected from among the school's finest students. Don Mayo, Mike Yarbrough, and Kirk Beattie were on team 1. Ray Kidd, Bill Burton and Gary McMillan were on team 2 and Ruth Addis, Mike Kaul and Lynn Race were team 3.
The questions covered all phases of high school studies and were submitted by department heads in the various categories.
The questions were presented to the teams by President, Mark Cowan, of the Student Council, who sponsored the event.
Each team, in sequence, was given a question. They were allowed 10 seconds to discuss the topic and give an answer. If they answered correctly, they received 10 points.
If they were unable to answer the question correctly, the next team in line was given the opportunity to earn

5 points by giving the correct answer. If they, too, were unable to answer, the last team was given the chance to earn 1 point by doing so.
Mr. Kinser, a high school teacher, acted as the judge. Timers and score-keepers assisted in running the contest.
After two 15-minute periods the scores were tabulated. Coming from behind and overwhelming the other contestants were the team of Don Mayo, Mike Yarbrough and Kirk Beattie, with 79 points.
The 2nd place was won by Ruth Addis, Mike Kaul and Lynn Race with a score of 61. Just missing the second place spot with a score of 60, were Ray Kidd, Bill Burton and Gary McMillan.
The winning team had the highest collective grade point average of those entered in the contest.
The Student Council hopes to make this a yearly event.

MRS. DONALD M. TYLER

Tennessee honeymoon

Miss Sharron Derryberry became the bride of Mr. Donald M. Tyler in a 6 p.m. ceremony at the Williams Lake Church of Christ in Waterford, on April 26.

The bride chose a floor length A line gown of taffeta and lace for her wedding. Her chapel train was of taffeta with insets and edging of lace. Her waist length veil fell from a lace pill-box. She carried a spray of white carnations and chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Ronald Parker, cousin of the bride, was the matron of honor. Her gown was of yellow chiffon and the empire waistline was trimmed with roses.

The bridesmaids were Linda Parker, cousin of the groom, and Cheryl Fay. They were identically gowned in yellow lace that was styled in the same fashion as that of the matron of honor. They carried colonial bouquets of yellow carnations and roses.

Sp/4 Ronald Parker, cousin of the groom, fulfilled the tasks of best man. Seating the guests were Rex Rhoades, Charles Reynolds and Steven

A reception for 200 guests was held at the home of the groom's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parker at 6636 Almond Lane.

Co-op Nursery

formed here

A group of Clarkston area mothers met Tuesday evening to organize a Parent-Teacher Co-operative Nursery School for 3 and 4 year olds.

Hostess for the evening was Cathy Inman of Princess Lane.

Members of the Greater Detroit Co-operative Nursery Council were present to explain the organization, purpose, and function of the Co-op. An entertaining group of slides were shown depicting the role of mother, teacher, and child in a Co-operative Nursery.

Members of the Board of Directors recently attended a meeting at the Statler Hotel in Detroit in preparation for their new duties.

The group is presently seeking a teacher who is interested in working mornings. Anyone who wishes further information may contact Mrs. Ruth Vecsei at 625-4460.

Women's Club

elects officers

The members of the Clarkston Women's Club heard Cindy Corpus and Rosie Remedios, Clarkston High School exchange students from the Philippine Islands, tell about their homeland at the April meeting.

The annual election of officers resulted in the election of Mrs. Ken Whitenton, president; Mrs. Charles Weichel, vice president; Mrs. Theron Taylor, recording secretary; Mrs. Clifford Moore, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Cleon Kortge, treasurer and Mrs. Clifford Irwin, 2-year board member.

Around the Town

Residents return from Fla.

By Rustie Leaf

A Florida exodus must have been in progress last week, as three couples from Clarkston made their summer return, after their winter stay in the sunny south. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Maybee arrived at their home on Middle Lake road in time to complete preparations for a potluck dinner, given in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Rowley. The Rowleys will be leaving their home on Williams Lake road in a short time, to begin retirement in a new home in Phoenix, Arizona. The Maybees welcomed twenty-five guests to the farewell party.

Adams, Mrs. J. Russell Maybee, and Mrs. Hazen Atkins.

Representing Clarkston at the Girl's State Tea, which was held May 4th at the Chief Pontiac American Legion Post 377, were Janice Hall and her mother, Mrs. Delray Hall, and Mollie Lynch and her mother, Mrs. John Lynch, of Eastlawn street. Fifty girls and their mothers were in attendance from surrounding areas. The guest speaker was the National Committee Woman, Mrs. George Schultz, of Flint. The 18th District Commander of the American Legion Post in Clarkston, John Lynch and his wife, Shirley, attended a testimonial dinner on May 3. The dinner, held in Flat Rock, was in honor of the Department Commander, Wayne Squire.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ollgaard became the parents of their first child, a daughter, on May 2. Born in Lansing, where Mr. Ollgaard is a student, Christine Lynn weighed 6 lbs., 9 oz. at birth. Mrs. Ollgaard is the former Rita Kerzykowski, a '66 graduate of CHS. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kerzykowski of Clarkston and the Vern Ollgaards of South Haven.

Other Lakeland, Florida winter residents who returned to Clarkston were Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Adams of 6539 Maybee Rd. The Adams find it hard to be homesick for Michigan, with at least half of the couples living in their trailer park city from Michigan. Driving back, after their four month stay, the Adams stopped at Orange City to visit a former Clarkston resident, Mrs. Lola Mann. Mrs. Mann is expected to be making a return visit to Clarkston within the near future.

Other returnees to Middle Lake road from New Port Richie, Florida were Mr. and Mrs. William Semons.

Maybe I should have called this an exodus from Middle Lake road, as we go on to find the C. C. Chamberlains had left their home at 6181 for an eight-day visit with friends in the Omaha and Kansas City area. Their travels were given a brief overnight break as they stopped at the Chicago home of their daughter-in-law's parents.

Mrs. Leland Masters returned recently from a visit with her son in Jackson.

The Spring Lake Country Club was the scene on Saturday, May 10th, of a luncheon in honor of Mrs. Robert Kelley. Hostesses for the luncheon were Mrs. Emily Beardslee and Mrs. William Parker. The occasion for the luncheon was a farewell gathering of Mrs. Kelly's friends, before her move to Laguna Hills, California with her husband. Mrs. Kelly is the former Jessica McKenzie of Andersonville. Clarkston guests included: Mrs. Orrie

Camp Courage needs staff

"Camp Courage," a day camp for exceptional children, co-sponsored by SPUR and the Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council, will be held for the sixth year at Proud Lake Recreation Area August 11-14 and August 18-21, 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily.

Registrations will be accepted through June 1. Any child between the ages of 7 and 16 in special education classes in the area is eligible to attend.

There is a definite need for interested parents to act as volunteer counselors. A unit for counselors' children will be provided at the camp. Volunteers are urged to phone or write to Mrs. Robert Schieferstein, Camp Courage Director, Northern Oakland Girl Scout Council, 91 South Telegraph, Pontiac 333-0147.

Both campers and counselors may obtain application forms from the Girl Scout Office. Forms should be returned to the office no later than June 1.

Michigan law requires a physical for every child and a T.B. Test for every adult. A clinic for physicals may be set up by the local parent unit. T.B. tests may be obtained through the Oakland County Health Department. Units for both educable and trainable children are included in the camp, the number of units will depend on the registration. Each unit consists of about 10 children with two unit leaders and Senior Scouts serving as program aides.

Adult leaders will participate in a three day training course and Senior Scouts will attend a special briefing on mental retardation and children's behavior in camp.

The program includes campcraft skills and nature crafts.

Educable children will take part in an overnight camping experience during the camp. They will cook all their meals, have an evening campfire, and sleep in tents.

Initiated on an experimental basis in 1965, the results have proven so successful that the camp is now run on a continuing basis at Proud Lake for a 2 week session each summer.

Senior Girl Scouts are out to run up their savings account and car washing has been picked as one of the methods to be used. The proceeds have a threefold earmarking: a. A camping trip this summer to Paradise Beach. 2. Service project for the Pontiac State Hospital and 3. Possibilities of attending the Scouting camp in Wyoming, in a year or two. Polishing up a shine are Tootie Robinson, Kim Salzano, Chris Harrison, Kyle Anderson, Dana Fitzthomas, Nancy Dureiko and Linda Holcomb. Look for the girls again this Saturday at the parking lot.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew T. Donellan of Susin Lane, Clarkston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Dianne Victoria, to Mr. James C. Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bailey of Woodland Street, Pontiac. An August 9 wedding is planned.

What would you do?

You are the first on the scene of a car accident. You discover that there is a small fire and the injured driver must be removed from the car. What would you do?

With Red Cross first aid knowledge you would be able to move the victim with the least amount of danger of further injuring the victim. If others appear on the scene you can give direction in moving the victim. You will also be able to watch for shock, which can be as much a killer as physical wounds.

Inquire how you can be prepared for an emergency. How you can save a neighbor's life. Call 334-3575, your Red Cross office.

A little parable for mothers . . .

This Tribute by Temple Bailey is apropos to Mother's Day which we observe Sunday, May 11.

The young mother set her foot on the path of life.

"Is the way long?" she asked.

And her Guide said: "Yes. And the way is hard. And you will be old before you reach the end of it. But the end will be better than the beginning."

But the young Mother was happy, and she would not believe that anything could be better than these years. So she played with her children, and gathered flowers for them along the way, and bathed with them in clear streams; and the sun shone on them and life was good, and the young Mother cried, "Nothing will ever be lovelier than this."

Then night came, and storm, and the path was dark, and the children shook with fear and cold, and the Mother drew them close and covered them with her mantle, and the children said, "Oh, Mother, we are not afraid, for you are near, and no harm can come," and the Mother said, "This is better than brightness of day, for I have taught my children courage."

And the morning came, and there was a hill ahead, and the children climbed and grew weary, and the Mother was weary, but at all times she said to the children, "A little patience and we are there." So the children climbed, and when they reached the top, they said, "We could not have done it without you, Mother."

And the Mother, when she lay down that night, looked at the stars and said: "This is a better day than the last, for my children have learned fortitude in the face of hardness. Yesterday I gave them courage. Today I have given them strength."

And the next day came strange clouds which darkened the earth—clouds of war and hate and evil, and the children groped and stumbled, and the Mother said: "Look up. Lift your eyes to the Light." And the children looked and saw above the clouds an Everlasting Glory, and it guided them and brought them beyond the darkness.

And that night the Mother said: "This is the best day of all, for I have shown the children God."

And the days went on, and the weeks and the months and the years, and the Mother grew old, and she was little and bent. But her children were tall and strong, and walked with courage.

And when the way was hard, they helped their Mother, and when the way was rough, they lifted her, for she was as light as a feather; and at last they came to a hill, and beyond the hill they could see a shining road and golden gate flung wide.

And the Mother said: "I have reached the end of my journey. And now I know that the end is better than the beginning, for my children can walk alone, and their children after them."

And the children said: "You will always walk with us, Mother, even when you have gone through the gates."

And they stood and watched her as she went on alone, and the gates closed after her. And they said: "We cannot see her, but she is with us still. A Mother like ours is more than a memory. She is a living presence."

My mother was a character! At 80, when she died, she was a 4 foot, 11 inch character! She could out-work, out-give, out-laugh and out-cook anyone I know.

She was a demon for church, pinochle, church work, eating out, Sunday School, Missionary Circle, a naughty joke, singing hymns, phoning me long distance, cooking, or one watered down cocktail before dinner.

At 65, she refused to use a bus card that entitled her to half fare. "Do you think I want all those people on the bus to know how old I am?"

At 75, she regretted that she had never learned to drive and wondered if it was too late.

At 80, she stopped looking in the mirror. She said all the wrinkles in her face reminded her of a roadmap. She didn't realize that they were smile wrinkles.

At 80, she deplored the fact that her memory wasn't what it used to be. She raised hobs with her doctor to "get me out of this hospital. I've got to get downtown and do my Christmas shopping." And she made it.

My mother was a character! Her philosophy on raising kids didn't come from any book but was based on love and horse sense.

Her classic remark as she laid a few well deserved cracks across my deserving backside, "This hurts me more than it hurts you."

A cure-all for the blues was a shopping trip, even though she

"If It Fitz . . ."

2 brands of justice

By Jim Fitzgerald

Picture this, all you law-and-order fans:

Willie Chambers is driving down the main street of one of our largest cities. He's in a "right turn only" lane but he doesn't want to turn. There's a traffic officer standing in front of Willie's car, telling him he'd darn well better turn.

"Nuts to you," mutters Willie as he guns his car straight ahead, nudging the cop with a fender and knocking him flat.

The officer quickly jumps into a passing car and takes out after Willie. He catches him within 4 blocks.

So what happens next? Willie is arrested, of course. He goes to jail until he makes bail. He must face a judge and defend himself against the serious charge of assaulting an officer. It could have been worse. The cop suffered only head and body bruises which were quickly treated at a hospital. He might have been killed and the charge would have been manslaughter.

There is one thing about this case: Willie is black and the cop is white. This makes no legal difference, of course, but everyone involved is very careful. A common charge made these days, usually by white conservatives, is that Negroes often get favored treatment from judges who lean backward trying to prove justice is blind. And another common charge, this one usually made by black militants, is that police are brutal bigots who often use Negroes for punching bags.

So the authorities play it cool, right down the middle. Willie gets treatment equal to what would be given an important white man in the same sort of trouble. If a congressman had run down that cop, he would have received the same fair shake given Willie.

Like hell!

I MADE UP Willie Chambers. He never existed. But Charles E.

Chamberlain does exist. He is a Republican congressman from Michigan. And he DID deliberately disobey the law and run his car into a cop. In downtown Washington D.C., Chamberlain did exactly what fictional Willie did. Two witnesses and the bruised policeman said so, and their testimony is on record.

So what happened to the congressman? Nothing. The minute it became known that Chamberlain was a big shot, his case was shifted from the ordinary channels to something called the Corporation Counsel's Office. A closed hearing was held. Chamberlain was white-washed. Not one lousy charge was placed.

A Washington law official even said the cop was at fault for getting in the way of Chamberlain's car. Which is hogwash but, even if true, does it justify hitting and running? The whole mess stinks, but it is a familiar smell. Nothing new at all. Justice is not blind in the United States. Anyone who claims every man is treated equally is full of beans. The rich bigshots get an entirely different deal than that given Joe Slob. Joe goes to jail. Bigshot goes home and dies of old age before the courts catch up with him.

The Chamberlain case is simply the latest example of a corrupt system. It is particularly nauseous because Chamberlain has always been hot for law-and-order-and-let's-make-the-streets-safe. Phooey. If he were any kind of a man, let alone a decent congressman, he would insist that he face charges. Instead, he sits in his fancy office, high above the peasants, and has "no comment" on his run-in with the law.

It is no wonder that so many people distrust the law. Why shouldn't they, when laws are made by such phonies as Chamberlain?

bought nothing. Her recipes were impossible. "You just take a little of this and a pinch of that. You can tell by the feel," she would say.

She worried as much about having food for her cleaning lady's, Gladys, lunch as she did if the preacher was coming.

Though there were lean-years, there was always enough food for a friend, or 8, to stay for dinner. Yet nothing was wasted.

We never knew of her baking I pie. There was always I to take home, too.

Her reputation for brown gravy spread as far as Texas. My kids just laugh when I try to duplicate it.

She absolutely murdered the competition when it came to bragging about her son-in-law and her grandchildren. Each month, when her pension check arrived, her "green letters," as she called them, carried a couple of bucks to these kids at college. I'm not much for commercializing holidays or visiting cemeteries. I don't need Mother's Day to get thinking about her. But, I think she was enough of a "ham" that she would enjoy my putting my memories down on paper.

Her nickname, "Minnie," fit her stature. Her real name, Wilhelmina, was queenly. It fit her stature.

My mother was a "four barreled character."

Horn-a-plenty

Farm land is increasing in value so much that farmers can't afford to own it.

Take Jack Bibbins for example. Folks tell how Jack is a rich man now that local vacant land is selling for $1250. to $1500. per acre. Doesn't take much figuring to come up with Jack's 700 acres being worth maybe a million dollars.

Why doesn't he retire, people ask. Who does he think he is? Guy want to be another Howard Hughes?

Talked to Jack last week. Kiddled him about how my acquaintance with millionaires was quite limited. "Mind if I touch you, Jack?" I asked him. "Mind if I tell a few of my friends how we went to school together and how you're the same hard-working Jack Bibbins you always were? Guess that when I go to the bank for a loan, I'll just sort of accidentally drop that I'm a close personal friend of Mr. Bibbins, the land tycoon. Or does the bank borrow money from you now, Jack? Come on now, when are you going to retire?" I ask him.

Jack just looks at me, kind of sad. He's running his dairy cows through the milking parlor. Milks two cows at a time with these mechanical gadgets and the old milk just runs overhead through these clear plastic tubes. Then the tubes empty out into a big refrigerated stainless steel tank, all sealed up in another room. Two of this younger boys, Harry (maybe 7) and Charlie, not over 9, are letting the cows into their chutes.

"Look," Jack says, and he acts now a little out of sorts. "Do you think I wouldn't rather be fishing in the Bahamas instead of playing nursemaid to these lousy cows?"

"So what's stopping you, Tycoon?" I snap back at him. "Now you're going after your second million?"

Jack waits a couple seconds before he answers. "Just six more of these mountains of stupidity," he tells me, "and I'll explain to you not only why I DON'T retire but also why I CAN'T retire. We'll have a cup of mud up at the house."

So I lean on the nice shiny stainless steel railing and wait for old Jack. Everything looks nice and clean. Manure smells the same, though. Told Jack that once, and he just laughed and said that maybe the dairy breeders were working on that little problem.

When the last two are in their milking stanchions, munching away on the scientific formula and the machines are chug-a-lugging the milk out of them, Junior comes in. He's Jack's oldest boy, and a real fine lad, if I do say so.

"Go long up to the house, Dad," Junior tells him. "That gate is fixed. Think I'll wait 'til after supper to sharpen the knives. That old mower has about had it, but it'll last out the season. Go along."

So we go on up and Erma pours us the coffee. Seems to me that the manure smell is stronger in the kitchen than in the milking parlor. Wallpaper looks like maybe Columbus brought it over.

"Well, Haz," Jack says, looking at his coffee and speaking real low like he was talking to himself, "You think this rich old buzzard should retire, do you?"

I say nothing. What's to say? "I'm 44," Jack continues, "45 next July 27. Dad left me and Charlie his 300 acres 18 years back. You remember that Charlie and Grace got it in that auto accident 12 years ago. Erma and I had just made our down payment on the South 400. Charlie left me his half of Dad's 300 and his 7 kids. Fine 9, are letting the cows into their chutes."

"Retire? Well, now, let's see. Wouldn't be right not to do for all of us equally. Sure, we've talked a little about it and even looked into trust deals with Mr. Lemmon down at the bank. Now share-and-share-alike would mean that first off we'd have to sell the farm to split it up."

"Suppose she does bring a cool million. Real estate commission is 10%. Uncle Sam, bless his big teeth, gets maybe a 50% capital gains. That little nibble is about $212 thousand out of the pie.

"On our mortgage and equipment loans we still owe over a hundred thousand. Now we're down to $588,000. Cut that up in fourteen trust shares for the 12 kids and Erma and me, and it comes out to $42,000 apiece. I know, I worked it all out and that's if we're lucky, real lucky, on the taxes. Haven't really checked that out complete."

"No, Haz, we can't afford to retire, and I wouldn't know what to do if I did decide to stop working 16 hours a day."

"Taxes this year are $16,240.00. Equipment is wearing out and getting more expensive. The bank payments are over eleven thousand a year—counting payments on the 400 and the equipment. Guess we've paid that mortgage down and then increased it at least five times."

"Sure, Haz, I'd love to retire at my ripe old age of 44. Yes, this tycoon would love to retire but he can't afford to. Can't even give it a second thought with all the schooling to go for 10 of our 12 youngsters. Just can't afford to retire."

"But," he grins, "if you'd like to see my books, I'll also prove to you that I sure can't afford NOT to retire."

The face that's launched a thousand trips.

Another Day . . .

The Irish of Clarkston

Most Irish would not like to be called English, but the Irish of Clarkston were the exception. Coming from Cheddar, England in 1848, John Irish first settled in New York state. He and his wife, Flower, were proud of their English heritage but at that time life in England was rather circumscribed.

Society was not very mobile and people tended to stay pretty much within the status they were born to. Like many others, the young people were impatient with this way of thinking and longed for a few more opportunities than were to be found in the old country.

Since John and his young wife already had three children, this was probably not the most auspicious time of their life to decide to migrate to America. It was hard to leave the village where they had grown up and where many past generations of their families lay buried in the old church yard.

Flower suspected that they would never return to Somersetshire, even for a visit, and she was right. But packed into the tiny sailing vessel that carried them away from England, they found dozens of other families just as brave and hopeful, who helped to lend them courage. The Irish settled in upper York state and might have been content to stay there if it hadn't been for the rumors of the vast farmlands awaiting settlers in the west. It was at this time of the century that the surge toward the Michigan territory seemed to be at its highest. John was persuaded that his trade as a stone mason and a plasterer would be both welcome and well paid in this new country that was rapidly filling up with people in need of homes. So it was that one year and another son later, Flower and her husband packed up and migrated again.

Now people make a trip from New York to Michigan with no more than a few hours' preparation, but in 1849, the difficulties and hardships of such a journey for a family of six were unbelievable.

In addition to packing all the clothing and household equipment for all of them, some thought had to be given to bringing enough provisions to last until crops from the farm could be depended upon. For John had decided that if there was as much land available as rumor said, he and Flower were going to stake out a share, also.

Flower Irish came from a centuries' old English town. Her first glimpse of the village near where she would spend the rest of her life must have been a shock. Clarkston had been platted and named only a few years before. Alongside the narrow dirt road that cut through the center of the settlement were a few well built houses; the rest were tiny log or cedar pole shanties.

Here on a sprawling corner of Main street, Albert Birdsall's forge burned into the early evening hours as the town's first smithy tried to keep up with the heavy demands of a horse driven population.

A half century later, an inn on this same corner would be the center of a thriving summer business. There was a post office, huddled into the corner of a store, where the mail was delivered twice a week. It came into the village by a four horse coach or by horseback when the coach got bogged down in mud during the wet season.

Flower didn't have time in the busy years that followed their arrival to pay any more than the traditional Saturday night visit to Clarkston. Then she might have shopped at Milton Clark's general store or stood on the board walks to chat with neighbors that she didn't see from one week to the next. There was an inn or tavern on the east side of Main street, where in the cold winter months the Irish family visited.

This served as a coach stop and passengers going north or on their way to Detroit gathered here. It was also the place where the drummers talked business with the merchants. And, it was here, of course, that all these outsiders brought in the latest news, and gossip. Township families in for the day from their farms, drifted into the inn for a meal and an evening of sociability after their Saturday shopping. A generation later the practice of women going into an inn or anyplace where strong beverages might be served, was frowned upon.

In Flower's time, when there simply were not many meeting places in the village, this was fairly common. Here in the long room and alive with the bustle of people coming and going, (lit by the flickering whale oil lamps), these isolated farm families listened avidly to the accounts of events taking place in other parts of the state.

The Irish settled on land northeast of Cranberry Lake where John built a house that still stands today. He did well as a farmer and stock raiser but as his boys grew older, he gradually turned most of the chores over to them.

His trade as plasterer and stone mason grew and many of the homes in Independence had walls and foundations built by him. Two more sons were born after the family arrived in Clarkston. All six children got the best education the township offered.

John and Flower's only daughter died at the age of 21, but all of their sons became prosperous farmers. This was particularly true of William and Forrest, the two who had been born in England. Perhaps they had a special appreciation of the acres that their parents had acquired in America, a quantity of land that would not have been available to them in the old country. William eventually owned the family farm and in time the place became noted for its beautiful landscaping. Even in those days of limited transportation, people drove for miles to see the flower gardens at the Irish home.

Flower Irish lived until she was 82 years old, a transplanted English woman who saw the wisdom of her family's migration reflected in the prosperity of her sons.

Our thanks to Thelma Irish, granddaughter of John and Flower, for some of the information in this article and to Mrs. Ralph Krueger of Perry Lake road for loaning several books and local history.

Geranium sale planned again

Clarkston Jayettes have a chairman for Labor Day — Marilyn Hennig has volunteered to take on this project and plans are already under way to insure a successful and profitable weekend. They are planning on having a game booth instead of a bazaar booth this year.

It was reported at the Jayette board meeting that they have collected 27,957 Betty Crocker coupons which will go toward the purchase of a kidney machine. 16,317 of these coupons were collected from canisters placed in the schools.

The women are having a geranium sale again this year. The geraniums are in 4-inch clay pots, the plants are about 10 inches tall with blossoms or full flowers on them and they come in several colors. The plants will be delivered to us on May 23 or 24.

Waiting for the train to come in last week were Jean Zelenak, Sandra Head and Lora Sigler. With her kindergarten students on their annual spring train ride from the Pontiac station to Holly, was Mrs. Charles Robinson, their teacher at the Andersonville school.

Caramel corn came to the rescue for these kindergarten students from the Andersonville School, who had just been informed by their teacher that the train ride they had anticipated was to be postponed for a day.

issuing warning tickets on all junk cars in the township. Citizens are asked to comply with these warnings and generally clean up all areas for the improvement of the whole community. Failure to do so will result in legal action by township authorities.

Oakland County Parks and Recreation, in conjunction with the Davisburg JCs and Rotarians, are planning a roadside improvement at the old mill site in Davisburg. Plans include a waterfall, grading and planting.

The work will be done by club members and the Township Park Commission, along with the county, will supply the materials required. The flowing well at the site will be developed and utilized.

Springfield Township residents now have the privilege of using the Marlowe Disposal site on Rose Center road at no charge.

Residents are urged to stop at the Township Hall in Davisburg and obtain identification slips for dumping on the site. Residents are also reminded that if they need help to get rid of junk cars they can contact the township hall for directions.

Vet's insurance Premiums due

Michigan veterans holding government life insurance policies should pay the premiums by the due dates, whenever possible, Robert M. FitzGerald, manager of the Detroit Veterans Administration Regional Office, said today.

He reminded them, however, that even though their premium payment is late their policy remains in force for a 31-day grace period following the premium due date.

Mr. FitzGerald also pointed out that veterans may re-instate a lapsed government life insurance policy within six months after its lapse by providing an acceptable health statement.

Beyond this period, a complete medical examination may be required, he said.

Delay "Operation Cleanup" in Springfield Township

A delay in the date of "Operation Cleanup" in Springfield Township was announced by the Davisburg Rotary Club. President Going stated that May 24 would be the day set aside instead of May 17, because the former date conflicted with the Boy Scouts of the area and the Scouts are scheduled to take an active part in this project.

Salutes Mom

Dear Editor: This poem was written by the daughter of a friend of mine. It seemed most timely for the Mother's Day season.

Another Mother

MOTHER

You are living proof of God's love. You are the link between God and my creation, Because through you God has given me life.

All the love which you have given me. Even from the time I was first born, Has been stored up inside me.

I want to spread some of that love around, First to you and Dad and David and Linda.

And then to other special people in my life!

I want to thank you with my whole soul, For giving me so much of it to spread around.

I know it was God's will.

There are so many things to thank you for teaching me.

Love, happiness, sadness, morals— Oh and so many more.

But I choose to elaborate on the most important:

Worship and Love of God, For he is the bread of my life.

And with his help, I can love and I can be.

What you hope me to be.

Love, Cyn

Phenomenal license sales

If sale of license plates is any barometer, automotive sales could be well headed for a banner sales year.

In an analysis of the rush-period of plate buying, which closed February 28, Secretary of State James M. Hare said sales soared to new record highs. Reflective of the end of February, Hare said as of March 6, sales of plates were more than a quarter-million higher than the same period in 1968.

"Actually, a gain of 200,000 based on the total licensing year is excellent," Hare said. "A hike of more than 250,000 with several months to go is nothing short of phenomenal."

SALUTE TO MOTHERS

Can you imagine a centerfold dolly out of s.Playboy; but no ties please.

So if you are looking for mothers to admire, search for a girl who has made a long-term commitment to a real man. A real man is not just a male with muscles in the right places and a smooth line. A real man is one who can treat his girl as a whole woman, not just a cute body. That woman will join forces with her man to see what the fullness of love together is really all about. To deep physical fulfillment they will together add the dimension of love as God loves. That is, what the church scholars call agape love. But mothers know is as all-consuming and outgoing concern about a new tiny life entrusted to her and her man. They will find this love can function whether the child responds or not. They will find it still there in the middle of a shattering illness. They will find it spilling over to other children who need the same concern their own flesh and blood need.

In spite of some chilling modern failures among mothers, it is a temptation to put mothers on a pedestal because they seem to have an insight into the very being of God. Most modern mothers, I guess, would prefer to be real people than idols. We who are men could do worse than to match our manhood under God to wives who are trying to fulfill the dual role of being loving partners and loving parents.

What therefore God has joined together, let no man put asunder. Mark 10:9

CHS news from Connie Rush

Travels, election and prophecies

Since the Bahamas were named the location for Clarkston High School's senior trip, seniors have been anxiously awaiting the date, May 9. Tomorrow the class of '69 will leave by airplane toward their destination in Freeport, Bahamas. There they will spend four wonderful days at the Lucayan Hotel. Swimming, golfing, deep sea diving and boating are just a few of the many activities to be enjoyed.

Student council election week began in a flurry of hanging signs, writing speeches and rehearsing skits. The activities came to a climax yesterday when each candidate and his campaign manager gave their speeches. Skits were given, each encouraging votes for its own candidate.

Voting will be done today, during the lunch hours on voting machines. The results will be announced when the votes are tallied.

Presidential candidates are Lou Lessard and Dennis Storrs. Their respective campaign managers are Kirk Beattie and Bill Wertman.

Candidates for vice president are Karen MacDougall and Kirk Stalker. With campaign managers Nan Giles and Chuck Granger.

Running unopposed are Linda Champeau for secretary, and Marcia Lambert for treasurer. Their respective campaign managers are Gail Cowling and Pam Gerber.

Each year, during the graduation assembly, senior class prophecies are read. The prophecies include each senior and are usually a collection of predictions, puns upon names, and random thoughts or funny things which have happened during their high school careers. The prophecies are written by members of the senior class. Writers are Trudy Beall, Rosalind Byers, Mark Cowen, Dan Franklin, Claudia Gordon, Ann Latoza, Gary McMillan, Pat Norris, Stephanie Poole and Connie Rush.

Soak it to me time is here again, but the request for everyone to pose presented no problem as the future little leaguers took a practice break. With the team is Mr. Roger Olney, the Jaycee sponsored coach.

Girls treat mothers

The 7th annual Girl Scout Mother-Daughter banquet of the Clarkston Neighborhood was held on May 1 in the Clarkston Junior High School cafeteria. Fathers, recruited from each of the troops attending, served dinner to more than 450 mothers and daughters. Each troop made table decorations of paper flowers and beautifully hand decorated candy houses. Many made place cards, individual corsages and lovely nut cups. The Reverend Erank Cozadd gave the invocation after the honor guard had presented the flag.

The honored guests were introduced by Beverly Morse of Troop 89. The guests were Mr. Paul Pety, Floyd Tower, Dr. Al Hamilton, Kelley Burnette and William Bonnell. Others included Mrs. Bernard Mousseau, Leslie Purslow and Betty McLeish. The program was highlighted by the presentation of new flags to the three new troops 189, 278 and 13 by Mr. Paul Pety of the American Legion. The proper care and display of flags was demonstrated by Mr. Floyd Tower. Mary Jane Anderson and Leigh Ann Willes played piano solos. Group singing was led by Senior Scouts Ann Miller and Rosalind Byers. Each level sang her favorite songs. The 2 senior troops sang separately. Miss Debbie Kelly and her guitar were warmly received by all the Scouts. The Cadettes presented a fashion show and the evening ended with all standing and singing the words of "Taps."

Kutting Korners

by Jean Sura

I saw the first of the season's fresh strawberries in the store the other day. So I guess it is time to share my very special recipe for strawberry frosting. It is such a simple recipe you will probably feel that something is missing. I assure you, everything is here.

STRAWBERRY FROTHING
 1 cup cleaned, sliced fresh or frozen berries (if you use frozen berries be sure to drain well.)
 1 cup granulated sugar (yes, it is granulated)
 1 egg white.
 Put all of the ingredients in a large bowl and beat with an electric mixer until it is a frothy, creamy consistency and will hold a peak.
 That is all there is to it. The beating takes quite a while so don't give up too quickly.
 It makes enough icing for a good sized cake. I think that it is particularly good on an angelfood cake, but it is great on pound cake or it dresses up a plain white cake (from scratch or box) as well.

If your young cooks want to make a special treat for Mom on Mother's Day, here is a good beginners recipe for them to handle all by themselves (which is most of the fun).

OVENLESS COOKIES
 1 cup sugar
 3 tablespoons cocoa
 ½ cup instant nonfat dry milk
 2 tablespoons margarine or butter
 ¼ cup water
 ¼ cup peanut butter
 1½ cups rolled oats
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 Mix sugar, cocoa, nonfat dry milk, 2 tablespoons margarine or butter and water in a pan. Bring to a boil; stir and boil 2 minutes. Remove from heat and add peanut butter. Stir until peanut butter is melted. Add rolled oats. Add vanilla. Mix well. Drop by spoonfuls on waxed paper. Let cool at room temperature before serving or storing. Makes 24, 1½ inch cookies.
 Tip of the week came from Mrs. E.Y.B. If you have some marshmallows that have become hard, don't throw them away. Put them on a cookie sheet and place them in an oven, heated to 200 degrees. Taste them in about 15 minutes to see if they have become soft all the way through. If not, return to the oven for a few more minutes.
 Be sure the oven is not hot. Marshmallows burn easily.
 Don't forget to write or call 625-3370.

what's a funny place for a phone?

That depends a lot on your sense of humor. If splashing through the house to answer a telephone leaves you a little cold, then perhaps there is nothing funny about an extension telephone in the bathroom or dressing room. Extension telephones save steps and let you do your telephoning from where you are. Call your Michigan Bell Business Office or ask your telephone man. For as little as ninety-five cents a month (plus tax) you can have an extension telephone in any funny old place you'd like.
