VOLUME 39 10 CENTS CLARKSTON, MICHIGAN 48016

THURSDAY, June 26, 1969 3 SECTIONS NUMBER 43

July 4th parade starts at 10 a.m.

The Independence Township Fire Department are pleased with the number of floats that have already been entered in the 4th of July parade. "We are sure this is going to be a good, big parade," said Tink Ronk, co-chairman with Dale Bailey.

It is not too late to plan and build a float. Entries are still welcome. It is unnecessary to file intentions because the line-up has been planned and openings have been left for late entries.

Jack Hess and George Partlo are responsible for organizational entries. Bob Tilley and Ken Winship are the chairmen in charge of the floats. Frank Green, Roger Walstead and Hartley McGill will superintend the parade line-up.

There will be prizes awarded to the 3 best floats. The Fire Department will supply treats for all entrants at the completion of the parade.

Chief Don Beach announced that immediately after the parade there will be a fire truck demonstration at the Mill Pond.

The parade will start at the north end of town at Miller Road and M-15. Starting time is 10 a.m. All participants are asked to be in line by 9:45 a.m.

The fireworks display will be under the supervision of the Clarkston Jaycees. They are being assisted by the Rotary Club, the township merchants and the Independence Township Fire Department.

"The fireworks will be fired from the top of Pine Knob," said Mr. Tom Hawke, who is in charge of the arrangements. "The show will last about 30 minutes and will start at dark on the 4th of July."

more than $15,000 per year per trainee.

The Job Corps, so far, has spent approximately $18,000 per year to teach each high school dropout.

To feed, clothe, and train a boy in the armed forces costs $1,076 but you expect me to do the same for my youngster on $600.

But this one takes the cake... you allow me only $600 to take care of my child, but will give, through ADC, $800 care for a fatherless child. This seems to say you think he is more important than my child.

I am yelling Uncle, because I think it is time someone pointed out these inconsistencies.

Taxpayer

Graffiti is getting popular. I can't think of any, but I can steal... like, "Garth Gordon's Barber Shop is a clip joint. Kieft Engineering is the next thing to it."

On Tink Ronk's last night on the board of education of Clarkston schools, the subject of putting Klingelhut brick veneer and aluminum on the old bus garage was on the agenda. Big deal. It cost $5,400.

With a motion in order to okay the expenditure, Tink said, "I move to continue the elaborate remodeling program of the Clarkston schools."

Supt. Les Greene turned red, wiped his deep, wide brow with the palm of his hand and remarked on how Tink was going to be missed.

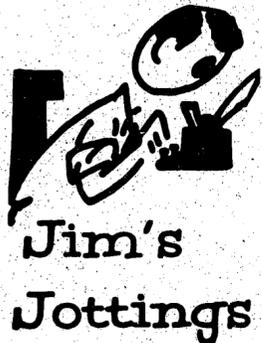

Last Soap Box tip clinic

Saturday, June 28, is Oakland County Soap Box Derby boys last chance to get tips from the experts on how to build, complete or refine their race cars before the big Oakland County Soap Box Derby Exposition at the Pontiac Mall Shopping Center July 7-12, and Oakland County Soap Box Race Day, July 19.

Saturday, June 28, at 10:00 a.m. at Thurston High School, Schoolcraft at Beech Daly Roads in Livonia, Robert Cooper (The Village Smithy) from Monroe Falls, Ohio, will instruct boys on the right way to install their steering apparatus and will give a general summary of check-points needed to perfect their racers.

There will be movies—instruction on how to build cars—free refreshments and valuable prizes.

Gerald Lacey, Oakland County Soap Box Derby Director said, "It's your last chance to gain an edge on how to win the $3,000 scholarship to Lawrence Institute of Technology, during Oakland County's Soap Box Derby Exposition Week at the Pontiac Mall July 7-12, or the $500 bond at your Oakland County Soap Box Derby Race, July 19 at the Oakland County Service Center, 1200 N. Telegraph Road."

Jim's Jottings

At 11:55 p.m. on a recent Saturday night our home phone rang. Hazel answered, naturally. A friend, Bobby Buechler, said she wanted to report a disaster to the newspaper.

Hazel stumbled over her words and Bobby continued, "This is the first time I've gone to bed before midnight on a Saturday night in years, and it's a disaster."

I took my family to a press convention at Boyne Highlands over the weekend, and I'm a little sorry I made the plans. June 21 and 22 was the grand opening of a new Wilson meat packing facility in Logansport, Indiana.

I could have gone and seen the feature of the day, an appearance of Henry Hite, the Wilson giant who stands 8'2" and wears a size 22 shoe, so the release stated. I guess he's one footed.

Further, the publicity release went on, "We are also very fortunate in having the world's only singing pig act, 'Uncle Heavy and His Pork Chop Revue.'"

I would have really loved to see another singing pig. Wilson must be wrong in saying they have the only singing pig act. I know I know of at least 2 in this area.

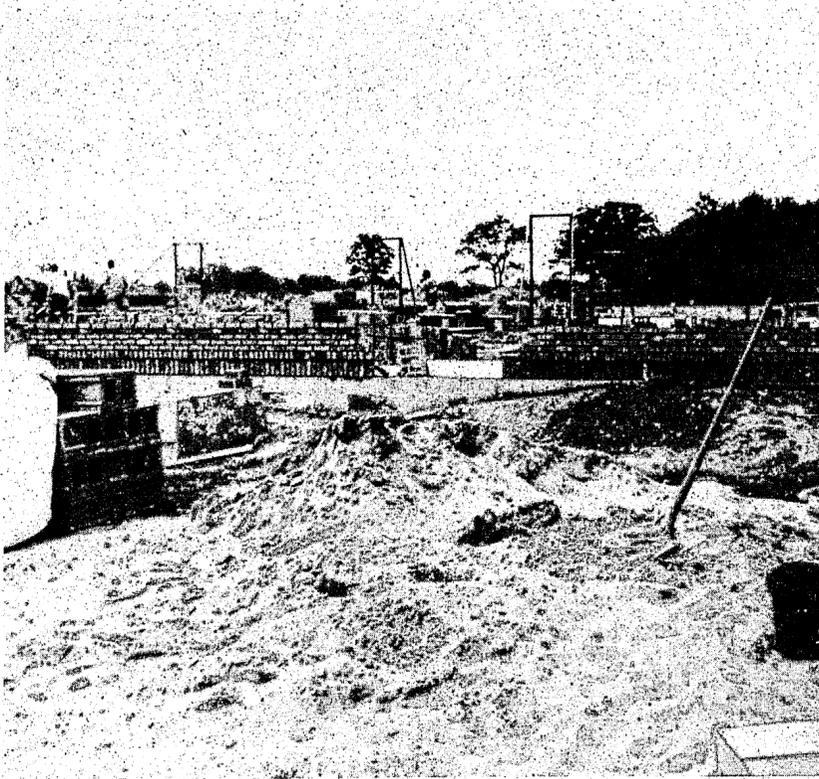

Dear Editor:

The following letter was distributed to workers at Pontiac Motors. It's directed at Wilbur Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee in Washington.

Dear Sir:

Why do you allow me $600 income deduction to raise my child for one year? When you allow $1,200 per year for a Cuban refugee, and if the Cuban boy or girl is going to school, an extra $1,000 per year? You allow $2,300 to keep a man in the federal pen, and he doesn't use the family car; $168 per month for social security for retired persons, but say I need only $50 for a child's monthly costs.

The Vista Training Program costs $3.1 million to train only 202 young people. This costs

Construction of the new Administration Building of the Clarkston Community Schools is getting off the ground, at the site on Orion Road. The building, which was started recently is progressing according to schedule.

Order further study of off-street parking

A feasibility study will be conducted by Billie S. Farnum Associates on the proposed off-street parking plan for Clarkston. The primary area being considered is behind the stores on the east side of Main.

Working with engineer Howard

Kieft and attorney Jack Banyocky, Farnum will check out funding assistance, study parking plans, and report on various financing possibilities.

From this information the Council will base their decision on whether to proceed on a parking program.

Janz & Knight to audit village books

The CPA firm of Janz and Knight of Birmingham has been approved by the village council for auditing Clarkston's books for 1968-69.

A state law, effective this year, requires municipal audits by certified public accountants. These reports have to be turned into the State of Michigan by July 30.

Dom Mauti

To Rochester Adams

Mauti makes move

Dom (Dominic) Mauti, after 17 years in the Clarkston School system, has accepted a position of Assistant Principal at the Adams Senior High School in Rochester. He will assume his new duties on July 1.

Mauti came to Clarkston in 1952 as a mechanical drawing and physical education teacher. He was also the varsity basketball coach. In 1964, he relinquished his coaching responsibilities, leaving an excellent record, and became Assistant Principal. In 1968 he became Athletic Director, in which capacity he has served for the past year.

The Mauti Award, which is presented to the outstanding Senior basketball player each year, was established by the Clarkston Jaycees when he ended his coaching career here.

Born in Rome, New York, Mauti was raised in Rogers City. He was graduated from Eastern Michigan University with a B.S. degree in 1952. In 1962, he was awarded an M.A. degree at Michigan State University.

Mauti, his wife, Louise, and their 3 children, Peggy, 17, Tom 16, and Steven, 13, will continue to live at their Lakeview address.

"Seventeen years is a long time," said Mauti, "I have many happy remembrances that I will never forget. I hope to make Clarkston my home as long as possible. It was a difficult decision to make."

The regret at his loss was expressed by students, ex-students, fellow faculty and members of the administration.

"What else can you say," said Floyd Vincent, Assistant Superintendent. "After working together and being friends for 15 years, I surely hate to see Dom go. He is an educator. His association here has benefited the Clarkston Community. Rochester is very fortunate."

'Any Wednesday' ends June 28

June 27 and 28 will mark the final performances of the adult comedy "Any Wednesday." The Muriel Resnick play is being presented by the Clarkston Village Players at the Depot on White Lake Rd.

Directed by Marlene Sewick and Jim Tyrrell and produced by Fran Stewart and Pat Beach, the cast of 4 includes Pat Thomas, Pat Breidenbaugh, Homer Biondi, and Chris Krueger.

The play concerns the amorous adventures of a corporation president, his girl friend and his wife. A young business man enters the picture and then things get all snarled.

Tickets, at $1.75, are being sold by members of the Players or can be purchased in front of the Pontiac State Bank on Friday afternoons or Saturdays mornings. They will also be available at the door of the Depot before each performance.

Ox Roast

Austin Lodge No. 48 of Davisburg will have their annual Ox Roast on Saturday, June 28 at the Masonic Temple in Davisburg.

Serving time will be 4 p.m. 'til 7 p.m. Tickets will be available.

John Reichert, left, third place winner of the last year's Oakland County Soap Box Derby, gives a few tips to this year's entrant, Bill Palace. Bill will be sponsored by the Jaycees, after winning first place in an essay contest.

Need summer help? Call Jaycettes

The Clarkston Jaycettes latest community service project is an attempt to find work for 300 Clarkston girls, ages 12 to 16, for the months of July-August.

Services, such as babysitting, ironing, yard work, window washing, car washing, painting, general cleaning, party help, errands, etc., will be provided.

A list of girls who are interested in employment has been compiled with the cooperation of the Clarkston schools and they are now available for work.

Potential employers may contact the girls by calling the Jaycette member who is assigned to each specific 2-week period. She in turn will put the employer in contact with the girl who is qualified to fulfill the job requirements.

"The Jaycettes will not be responsible for any injuries or problems that may arise," said the co-chairmen, Mrs. Don Hamaker and Mrs. Ron Draper, "but we hope that we can provide this service to benefit both the girls and residents of the Clarkston community."

From June 30 to July 13, call: Mrs. Terry Kelley, 625-4228, Mrs. Tom Osler, 625-3574, Mrs. Mike Thayer, 625-5025

July 14 to July 27, call: Mrs. Jerry Bradley, 625-4993, Mrs. Carl Gusie, 625-2800, Mrs. Art Ripley, 625-2215, Mrs. Dick Wilton, 625-2009.

From July 28 to August 10, call: Mrs. Bob Bennett, 625-5434, Mrs. Vern Erickson, 673-6501, Mrs. John Heald, 625-5407, Mrs. Jerry Powell, 625-2329.

From August 11 to August 24, call: Mrs. Don Colston, 625-1743; Mrs. Jerry Hennig, 625-2268; Mrs. Terry Lopucki, 625-4709.

Courtesy prevents accidents

Many "oldtimers" living in the Detroit metropolitan area will remember the double-decker busses that ran on Jefferson Avenue many years ago. Their safety slogan "Courtesy Prevents Accidents" printed on the side of every bus is as up to date and just as true today as it ever was.

The Greater Detroit Safety Council in presenting its Defensive Driving Course emphasizes courtesy as a very important factor in accident prevention. Courtesy, just like measles, is contagious—wherever it is practiced—socially, or behind the wheel of a car. We all respond to an act of courtesy when driving our cars, just as we are prone to react with a show of temper and irritation when someone cuts in front of us or blows his horn in the instant the light turns green, or acts in any one of a dozen other discourteous ways.

What a wonderful world it would be if everyone would be as courteous when driving as he usually is when attending some social affair. If every driver would practice the golden rule—"do unto others as you would have them do to you" many accidents could be prevented. Courteous driving means:

- * Considering the rights of other motorists—and especially pedestrians.
- * Obeying traffic laws even when others don't.
- * Using common sense at all times.
- * Realizing that all drivers aren't as alert as you.
- * Turning and changing lanes only after proper signal.
- * Entering traffic flow only when the way is clear.
- * Stifling the urge to "get even."
- * Yielding the right of way whenever possible.

Well, What Do You Know?

fun, games and knowledge

by MARTHA GLAUBER SHAPP, Editor, The New Book of Knowledge

Who founded the Girl Scouts of America?
Girl Guiding was brought to the United States in 1912 by Mrs. Juliette Gordon Low. The name was later changed to Girl Scouts.

How does a microphone work?
A microphone can turn sound into electrical energy because certain materials, such as carbon granules, will conduct electricity when they are put under pressure. The more pressure put on these materials, the more electricity they will conduct. The basic parts of a microphone are a diaphragm (a very thin, springy sheet of metal, paper, or plastic) and a capsule, usually containing tiny granules, or grains of carbon. When sound waves hit the diaphragm, it presses the carbon granules together. If the pressure is great, the current flow is strong; if the pressure is weak, the current flow is weak. The amount of current always depends on the amount of pressure, which in turn depends on the volume of sound. When the sound stops, the diaphragm snaps back to its original position and the current stops flowing.

Honeymoon in Ireland

Mrs. James P. Nolan

A double ring ceremony performed by Father Robert Meyers at St. Benedict's Catholic Church in Pontiac on June 21 united Carene Eye Denne and James P. Nolan in marriage.

The bride's floor length gown was fashioned of silk organza with appliques of beads and lace. It featured a scalloped neckline and long tapered sleeves. The train was fastened at the waist and repeated the applique motif. A silk organza rose anchored her illusion, waist length veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Donald Thompson, Clarkston, was the matron-of-honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Fredrick Denne, sister-in-law of the bride, Drayton Plains, Mrs. Daryl Williams, Clarkston, Miss Carol Moore, Troy, and Miss Nancy Thompson, Pontiac.

The bride's attendants were identically gowned in pale pink silk organza. Their gowns had cap sleeves and 'A' line skirts fell from empire waists. Pink daisies to match their bouquets encircled the neckline. Lorie Thompson of Warren was the flower girl. Her dress was a replica of the bride's attendants. She wore a ring of pink daisies in her hair and carried a basket of pink rose petals.

Kevin Williams, Clarkston, carried the rings on a white pillow. Performing the duties of best man was John Moore.

A garden reception for 200 was held at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest F. Denne on Ellis Road following the 1 o'clock ceremony.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Ellen Nolan and the late Mr. Nolan of Mimerick, Ireland.

The newlyweds left for a wedding trip to Ireland. They will make their home in Pontiac on their return.

Both are employed at Pontiac Motor Company.

Receive degrees

Degrees and certificates were granted to 1,658 students at commencement exercises at Ferris State College Sunday, June 15.

The graduates included 3 students from Clarkston.

Stephen K. Parrott, Middle Lake Road, received a B.S. degree in Business Administration; Douglas F. Duvall, Almond, A.A.S. in Industrial Production Technology; and Lynn C. Thompson, a Certificate in Welding.

Giving the commencement address was Dr. William Haber, Special Advisor to the Executive Officers of the University of Michigan. An honorary Doctor of Laws degree was presented to Dr. Russel B. Nye, Distinguished Professor of English at Michigan State University. Approximately 7,000 persons attended the event.

Cracks from the Wedding Belles

June is the month for weddings. Weddings, though solemn and religious in nature, frequently are long remembered by the funny little things that happened at the time.

The Clarkston News called June brides from other years and asked them if there were any humorous memories among their bridal souvenirs.

Here are some of the stories we heard:

Mrs. Frank Muscat was so excited at the time that she had the wrong date engraved on her husband's, Frank's ring.

"I don't know who cried the hardest," said Mrs. Bob Stitt. "But between my father and me practically flooded the church." She sounds happy now though.

Mr. Harold Goyette caused a great deal of confusion. He was stationed at Camp Maryland and couldn't give his bride a definite time that he would arrive for the wedding. She was so upset that the lovely bridal gown that her mother had made for her had to be altered because of the weight she lost with worry.

Mrs. David Bixby was surely overly bashful, even for a bride. When her new husband went to seal their marriage vows with a big kiss, she pushed him away. "I guess that I just didn't think that it was right to be kissed in front of all those people," she said, with a chuckle.

Connie Lektzeian, our Clarkston "historian," didn't always have such a good memory for detail. She and her matron-of-honor worried for days that the best man would forget Connie's ring which was an important part of the double ring ceremony. It all backfired when the best man produced the ring for Connie but the matron-of-honor had left the groom's ring in her husband's pocket.

It all worked out though. Amid the gasps of the bridal party, her husband, who was in the church, just walked up to the altar and handed it to the minister.

Mrs. Larry Zeller couldn't remember anything outstandingly eventful that happened at their wedding but she is sure that if things go according to plan she will have an outstanding memory of her 5th Anniversary. The Zellers are expecting a baby on that date.

Mrs. Bill Richards said, "I was a wreck." She was so terribly shaken that even though it was the church she attended regularly, she drew a complete blank on the location and as a result was late for the ceremony. Apparently Mr. Richards was a good sport. Obviously, he waited.

It was a good thing, too, because the Richards had an eventful evening. First of all they returned to the home of the bride's parents, for her suitcase, only to discover that the house was all locked.

Fortunately, the new Mrs. Richards was very slender (she said "skinny") so they just hoisted her up and pushed her through a window which had fortunately been left unlocked.

As though that were not enough for one evening, they drove to their honeymoon lodge. You guessed it. It, too, was locked up as tight and burglar-proof as possible.

You guessed it again. For the 2nd time the same night, through the window she went.

If you are in the market for a second story lady, obviously, she has the qualifications plus the experience. Happy anniversary to all of you.

Make marriage vows

MRS. GERALD FLANIGAN

Linda Marie Olsen was escorted to the altar of Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church to become the bride of Gerald Flanigan on June 14. Linda's parents are the Fred Olsens of Pear Street. Gerald is the son of Mrs. Joseph Flanigan of Drayton Plains and the late Mr. Flanigan.

The bride was beautifully dressed in a traditional, lace tiered gown. Her shoulder length veil was fastened to a pearl crown. The bridal bouquet was designed of carnations and roses.

Frances Morhet of Drayton Plains was the maid-of-honor, wearing an Empire styled gown of yellow chiffon. Julie Olsen, sister of the bride, and Sue Mathews, both of Clarkston, were the bridesmaids. Their dresses were styled like the honor-maids in green chiffon. All carried bouquets of daisies.

Robert Lewis of Drayton Plains acted as best man. Groomsmen were Ronald Bailey and Dave Allison. The bride's cousins, Dennis Ball and Gary Koop, seated the guests.

Little Nannette Allison and Tommy Humphries were flower girl and ringbearer. Nannette's dress was of yellow chiffon and Tommy was in his first tuxedo.

Mrs. Olsen chose a French blue lace dress which was complemented by a blue and white corsage for her daughter's wedding.

Mrs. Flanigan wore a peach colored ensemble with a white corsage. Linda's grandmother, Mrs. Ben Powell, was dressed in blue and she too, had a white corsage.

A dinner reception was held at the Mountain View Country Club following the service.

The bridal couple are both graduates of Clarkston High School and upon returning from a southern honeymoon will make their home in Pontiac.

Automated spade

Instantly planted

TREE SPADE—Opened, a tree spade looks like this, (right). Note that the two spades closest to the camera are swung open so the unit can be backed into a tree. Once in place these 2 spades are returned to place, forming a square of the 4 spades. This unit was purchased recently by Mickelson Corporation on Granger road. The gravel mining company is using the machine to transplant trees both on lots developed and being developed for sale and along roadways for greenbelts. They have purchased some nursery stock and will be starting a nursery of their own for future plantings.

READY FOR THE ROAD—Wayne Mickelson, Jr. works the levers that operate the hydraulic action. In this picture the tree has been removed from the ground, obviously. To do so, Wayne pushed the levers that sent each spade, separately, into the ground on an angle to cut roots and take a big ball of earth with the tree. The tree spade will dig trees up to 4 inches in diameter.

PLANTING—Along Seymour Lake road Mickelson Corporation has several trees transplanted. There are also several on Horner drive. To help the trees get a good start, mulch is packed around some of the trees as they are lowered into the ground.

How bad can you look honorably?

By Jean Sura

Being a second class golfer is nothing new to me. Last week I found out that I'm a BAD, second class golfer. That hurts.

I played in a tournament and proved it.

In the first round of a three-day event, my opponent, being a better player than I, had to give me 4 strokes. This has the same effect as running a race with lead weights tied to your ankles.

In exchange for the strokes, however, I gave her 15 years in age and 6 inches in height, plus the knowledge that she was a better golfer.

"Now Jeannie, girl," I said to myself, "just take it easy. Use psychology. Do the best you can. It doesn't matter if you win, it's how you play the game."

I thought up all kinds of original thoughts like that.

The night before the match I got to bed at a reasonable hour. During the night I kept waking. I would lull myself back to sleep by mentally playing each hole of the course to perfection.

Eighteen holes of golf is a pretty strenuous thing, even in bed, so when the alarm clock rang I was exhausted, and the very thought of playing another 18 holes, actually, left me weak.

A long, hot shower got my poor, aching body unknicked. I stretched my spine and muscles with some vigorous deep knee bends and sit-ups. I threw in a couple of not so vigorous isometrics. I don't eat breakfast but I forced down a piece of toast for strength.

The outdoor thermometer registered 55 degrees. It looked like rain, not a good day for golf.

"I don't think you should wear those long johns with knee sox and Bermudas," said my husband. "Those white waffle knees ruin the image of a successful lady golfer. Anyway, they make your legs look lumpy."

Not swerving in my intention to be warm I dressed in an assortment of shirts, sweaters and army jacket. My crummy old golf hat completed the outfit. With goose pimples playing leap-frog up and down my spine, I headed for the links in the soggy dew.

I got my golf bag which is a thing of beauty. It holds 11 clubs (of which I use 3). It has large, roomy pockets that hold a complete change of clothes, raingear, lemon drops, candy bars, gum, aspirin, band aids, kleenex, a towel, 7 old score cards, 4 broken pencils and 17 damaged golf balls, (rejects from a practice shag bag). It holds 27 cracked tees and a large striped umbrella. It is a home away from home, on wheels.

My opponent's name was Bea. Bea appeared on the tee punctually. She was tall and slender. Her hair was bobbed casually. She had a pretty smile. Her clothes were simple and smart. She carried a small canvas bag of clubs on her shoulder. That's class. She looked like she had been born on a golf course. She was wholesome, polite and pleasant.

By comparison, I felt like a sawed-off Dodie Fields and contemplated doing a fast "Shuffle off to Buffalo." I think I was mentally beaten right there on the first tee. The actual death was a little more agonizing. Like a fish out of water, I kept flopping until the 16th hole.

I concentrated all over the golf course. (I mean all over—in the rough, in the sand traps, in woods and swamps.)

Bea, the queen that she was, just kept swinging and stinging. She was a sportsman. She was fine company. She was a BETTER golfer. Queen Jean is dead. Long live Queen Bea.

It really stung. I hated to play golf as badly as I looked physically. It wasn't honorable. It wasn't much of a battle. I hated to lose TOO much face.

That night I decided that wouldn't be any improvement at the Paris Peace Talks after all. I have the same symptoms as the teams already working at the job. I withdrew my application.

P.S. Dear Bea. Watch out next time, I figured it all out in bed last night. If I just hold my hand over a little farther and if I just get those 12 inch putts to drop and if I just cure that slice I'll be a real "Bee Killer."

Springfield asks resident help in combating vandalism

The application for rezoning the property located south of Davisburg Road between the Dixie Highway and I-75 will be considered by the Springfield Township Board at their regular meeting on July 2.

That application consists of a complex involving a Mobile Home Site, Multiple Dwellings, commercial, and residential requests. A portion has been approved by the Board and another portion denied.

Springfield Township has been subjected to a rash of vandalism and illegal entries recently. In an effort to make all residents of the Township aware of these violations, all citizens are requested to report to the Township office in case they are victimized in any way.

Supervisor VanNatta expressed the opinion that if all citizens were alerted to these violations perhaps they would be more vigilant in their observations. Residents are requested to take advantage of the improved service from the County Sheriff's office in Groveland by reporting anything suspicious or any act of vandalism they may happen to witness.

Supervisor VanNatta stated that all violators of the law will be vigorously prosecuted in the District Court, and only with the cooperation of all law-abiding citizens can this lawlessness be curbed.

All livestock must be owned and shown by the exhibitor and health papers are required for animals that are properly registered in the 4-H office. Animals must be fed and watered daily by exhibitor. Exhibits must be in place before 4:00 p.m. Tuesday, August 5 and remain until Sunday, August 10 between 9:00 a.m. and 12:00 noon. Entry cards and Fairbooks may be picked up at the Cooperative Extension Office, 155 North Saginaw, Pontiac. 4-H members will receive registration instructions from their leaders and non-4-H'ers may come in and sign up under OPEN CLASS if their exhibits conform to all regulations as stated in the 1969 4-H Fairbook. THE CLARKSTON (Mich.) NEWS Thurs., June 26, 1969 7

YOU HAVE THE RESPONSIBILITY—

HAPPY HOLIDAY?

We all look forward to a pleasant Fourth of July weekend. It can be for those who read this editorial carefully and benefit from it.

More than 1.7 million Americans have died in automobile accidents since 1906, when the Federal government started keeping automobile accident records. This represents a higher death toll than that of all of the nation's wars. Since 1930, more than 79 million others have been injured by cars.

This slaughter and maiming of people on our streets and highways is a blight on mankind and his survival.

In 30 years the economic loss from U.S. traffic accidents has reached an astounding $175 billion. Last year the economic loss reached a new high of $14,249,000,000 or an average of approximately $286 for each family in the United States.

More than $50 million annually has been invested by industry to educate the public on traffic safety.

However, the real answer is up to each individual. The tremendous loss of life and property must be reversed. The time to start is on this Fourth of July weekend and continue throughout the year.

We all know the rules of the road—obey them. When we are not in condition to drive—don't. We know what seat belts and shoulder harnesses are for—then use them. Always drive defensively. Be careful!

Fireworks law

Summer is on the wane and the fourth of July has passed; nevertheless, a discussion of the law on fireworks is always pertinent because sound information about these laws is not always readily available.

Since 1883, the use of fireworks in Michigan has been regulated by law. The stringent act currently in force was passed in 1931, and the legislature, acting in the interest of the safety of the state's citizens, has kept the law up to date with periodic amendments.

This law now makes it a misdemeanor for any person to possess, sell, or explode any fireworks including blank cartridge pistols and cartridges, toy cannons, firecrackers, torpedoes, skyrockets, Roman candles, Daygo bombs and any other fireworks containing any explosive or inflammable compound. Also banned are balloons which use fire underneath as a propellant.

The law makes an exception for "cap guns" of a type approved by the Commissioner of the Michigan State Police which use paper caps containing one quarter grain, or less, of explosive. Also exempted are blank cartridge pistols used for theater purposes, for the training or exhibition of dogs, for signaling in athletic events, by railroads, or by military or war veterans' organizations.

While the law prohibits generally the possession and use of fireworks, it does, however, make a provision that the councils or commissions of cities or villages or any township board may grant a permit which exempts the holder from the fireworks law for limited purposes. These permits may be granted for outdoor pest control or agricultural purposes or for public display by municipalities, fair associations, amusement parks or other organizations or groups approved by the local authorities. In addition, these permits are to be granted only when the fireworks are handled by a competent operator. Only after such a permit has been granted is the sale, possession, or use of fireworks in Michigan legal.

Sex education bricked up

By Jim Fitzgerald

There is currently a lot of fuss about whether Junior should get his sex education in school or from the big kid next door. I say he should get it in school because it is getting harder and harder to get it anywhere else.

I speak from bitter experience. Modern architecture has just knocked the foundation from under my sex education. The publisher has bricked up the huge window through which I have watched the girls go by for the past 18 years.

This was an unusually splendid window for girl watching. It was on the ground floor, facing the main street. Most important, it was 10 feet high and probably 30 feet wide. It took a slow moving, hip wiggling girl a full half-minute to get out of view. You could see her coming, then full profile, then going. You could see her from shoes to hairdo. When the right girl walked by, it was a marvelous occasion indeed.

(I should add right here that when I say "girl" I am not necessarily talking about teenagers although they can certainly be lovely things when they comb the hair out of their mouths. Some of the finest looking women in my hometown are over 30, even over 40, and it is a definite pleasure to ogle them).

Anyway, these days I am working harder and enjoying it less. You should see what I have to watch girls through. There are 2 thin slits of glass in the new brick front, widely separated. It's like seeing a doll speed by in a convertible. Before you can decide if you're in love again, she's gone from your life forever. If something promising flits by one skinny window, I must turn my head quickly to catch a second glimpse in the other crack. There's no more sitting back and enjoying the scenery in leisure. I must keep alert, forever flicking my eyes from window to window in fear I'll miss a micro-skirt.

The whole procedure makes me feel sneaky—less like a connoisseur of beauty and more like a dirty old man.

What really hurts is that this brick-blow comes at a particularly bad time. As steady readers will recall, I am a leg man, brought up on Betty Grable. Oh, big bosoms are fine and I never threw rocks at Jane Russell. But they can be faked whereas a shapely leg has got to be legitimate. Wax flowers are nice from a distance, but I wouldn't want my brother to look for bees in one.

So obviously, for me the mini-skirt was the greatest invention since seamless hose. With summer upon us, I was anticipating a marvelous season of trying to distinguish shorts from culottes from skirts. But here I am, bricked away from the world I love. I think my publisher reads too much Edgar Allen Poe.

It was bad enough, a few years ago, when he installed Venetian blinds. I often went home with striped eyeballs. Now I face a blank wall and can barely see a skinny window from the outer corner of each eye. I'll be going home with an eyeball over each ear.

There may be some of you who will claim that girl watching has nothing to do with sex education. You go to your school and I'll go to mine.

Each year it seems to get tougher for a man to proceed Onward and Upward.

Miracle drug

by Haslett Hemmor

Kids today seem bound to throw out the "establishment." Figure they know a better way to run colleges and cities and maybe the whole blamed government.

According to my taxes, we aren't doing too good a job. Most folks I know hold that the more taxes we pay, the less services we get. Not enough teachers or police or firemen. Country roads are in worse shape than forty years ago. Still, the taxes go up—but there's not enough money for schools or churches or cleaning up pollution.

Whole thing's a mess. Old timers try to live now on incomes too small by the standards of twenty years ago. Living costs go up and up, and their incomes after taxes keep going down.

Only group that really seems to be getting a better deal is the crooks. Supreme Court is making it tougher and tougher to convict the lawbreakers. You can't hardly beat having the Supreme Court on your team. Lawmakers, federal and state, go on trying to put out the racial fires by throwing more gasoline on them.

So it's mighty hard to make a case for the kids' being all wrong. Maybe the way they fight is wrong. Maybe they haven't offered anything better. Maybe they're just adding to the wrongs that they're complaining about. It's sure a good bet that they couldn't do any better, but at least they are reacting and it's time somebody did. Wrongs don't seem to get straightened out just by people sitting and complaining mildly to each other.

Now don't get me wrong, nobody hates violence more than I do. You can't set things straight by burning other people's property, and you sure can't get smart by taking drug "trips." It doesn't make too much sense to fight bad government morals by throwing your personal life into the gutter. All this is true, and it's maybe even a fact that the kids don't really know just what it is they're for or against. Still, who can deny that they are calling attention to our state of affairs? Goofs, maybe, they are—but they aren't spineless goofs.

Don't know too much about ancient history, but I sort of remember reading about the fall of the Roman Empire. Can't recall anything about hoods or hippies or hoppers. Guess it was more a case of the Romans getting fat and lazy and just not caring. Maybe if they'd had some crazy mad hippies to wake 'em up, they could've made it.

Fact is, if we ever figure out how to deal fairly with the people who are making the most fuss, our establishment might survive. First problem is to open our eyes wide enough to see that it is OUR establishment instead of THE establishment. Next off, dealing fairly with the squawkers doesn't mean giving the country to them to shut them up, but it does mean honestly trying to find answers.

Mostly, nothing is going to get better until people—lots of people—are willing to get involved. Hold-ups go unsolved because witnesses haven't the time or nerve to testify. Crummy politicians get elected or appointed because good folks are too busy to vote—say nothing of running for the thankless jobs. Stuffed shirts, graft-grabbers and mealy-mouthed nobodies get into office because able people just don't want to get involved. The mobs get stronger; the kids get louder and wilder; the minorities get more violent because most of our solid citizens are silently suffering from the disease that old Doc calls "Roman Squat-itis." Doc says there's a cure, though. Says there's an old time medicine called "Offyourduffus" that works wonders, a real miracle drug.

Dear Mr. Nixon

This is a continuation of the letters that students in the 5th grade in the Clarkston Elementary Schools wrote to President Nixon at the request of the Clarkston News.

These letters dealt primarily with crime and taxes.

VIETNAM

Dear Mr. President,

I would like your opinion on this matter. It is the war in Vietnam. Do you plan to bring the American soldiers home soon? When you have peace talks do you talk about bringing them back? I think we have very brave people in the United States to go and fight for our ideals but Mr. Nixon, hundreds die everyday and if this doesn't stop soon we won't have much of an ideal left, will we? I know you try very hard and I'm not criticizing you, because I think you're doing a very good job.

Yours truly,
Vicki

Dear Mr. Nixon,

I want to talk to you about Vietnam. I've heard that the people just look for a home anywhere, I mean to say that if they found a hole in the ground they'd live in it. My cousin was there and he said that the soldiers are giving 5 and 6 year old children cigarettes and things of that sort. It's not right, so would you do something about this, please?

A young citizen,
John Hawley

Dear Mr. Nixon,

What do you think about the war in Vietnam? Do you think getting our soldiers killed is worth anything? In the peace talks are you talking about our men in Vietnam who are fighting for what they believe in?

Thank you for your time,
Your friend,
Kerri

Dear President Nixon,

I am in the 5th grade and I am 11. I live in a little town named Clarkston and it is in Michigan. There are only 769 people in our town. I wish I could vote because I would have voted for you. In our room at school we voted and you won.

I would like to meet you in person. I see you on TV all the time. I hope you stop the War in Vietnam because my sister's boyfriend was in Vietnam. But he's in the States now because he was shot in the hand.

I have to get back to my school work now.

Yours truly,
Carol

Dear President Nixon,

I think you have made a very wise and intelligent choice about withdrawing the men that are in Vietnam away from the war. Now there will be no more trouble over there.

Also, I think you are a very wise and intelligent person.

Yours truly,
Cheryl

SPACE PROGRAM

Dear Mr. Nixon,
Do you remember the first space flight a couple years ago? Well, what do you think about Apollo 11 and the astronauts landing on the moon? Do you think it would have been better to wait a little longer before they land and walk around?

Yours truly,
Gil

Dear Mr. Nixon,

How would you like to take the next flight to the moon? My opinion is that I would never go around the moon or on it at all.

My opinion for you is "no" because you have to take care of the nation. Sincerely yours,
Cheryl

Letters to the Editor

Misread

June 20, 1969

Dear Editor,

The editorial I am returning in this letter is the biggest insult to American intelligence I have witnessed in 50 years.

The only reason for bureaus to be started is to take citizens' privileges and to make a profit for the political bosses.

The day the federal gun law passes every full blooded American should hang his head in shame and fly old Glory upside down, for we have broken the only remaining freedom in the constitution, the right to bear arms in self defense or defense of the state. I know also figures don't lie, but liars do figure.

Yours respectfully,
Sennate Martin
Clarkston.

Editor's note: The editorial Mr. Martin refers to was titled, "Easy to start bureaus, costly to support them." It said nothing of favoring or not favoring gun laws. High costs of bureaus was the topic. Mr. Martin apparently misread the editorial.

Aids community

Dear Editor:

The Clarkston Youth Assistance Committee would like to express our appreciation to Dr. James O'Neill and to tell the citizens of the area how he contributes time, and service to the children of the community.

Each year our organization sends needy children to a summer camp sponsored by the Oakland County Court. Each year Dr. O'Neill has rendered his services by giving each child his necessary shots and physical, completely free of charge.

This is just one of the many time consuming tasks he has done for our organization and the people of Clarkston.

We are fortunate to have such a dedicated doctor in our area.

Sincerely,
Clarkston Youth Assistance Committee

BEEF TACOS

The basic taco consists of a pancake-like cornmeal tortilla wrapped around a filling of crumbled and browned ground beef, diced tomatoes, lettuce, and grated cheese.

Noticeably these ingredients contain two protein foods (meat and cheese), a bread (the tortilla), and two fresh vegetables (tomatoes and lettuce), making it a nutritionally complete meal to serve as a dinner for your family. But the taco's versatility is also apparent when you see how satisfying it is to serve as a buffet-style snack to a late evening gathering of friends.

Beef Tacos - the Tortilla:

- (Serves 3 to 5)
- 1 1/2 c milk
 - 3/4 c corn starch
 - 2 1/3 c cornmeal
 - 1/2 tsp. salt
 - 2 eggs

Melt on grill or in skillet: 4 tbs.

butter or margarine. Stir excess into batter. Pour batter onto grill to form pancake about 6 inches across. Brown on both sides. Have grill at pancake setting, about 400 degrees.

Filling:
Brown:
 1 lb. ground beef
 1 small onion
 Season to taste.
 In three separate containers have:
 1/2 lb. grated medium cheese
 1 large or 2 small tomatoes (diced)
 1/2 medium-sized head of lettuce, chopped as if for salad.

Use the first taco as a demonstrator to show how you spoon out in a line across the tortilla two or three tbs. of meat, sprinkle grated cheese on it next, and add pieces of lettuce and tomato. Then the taco should be rolled up and held in your hands for eating. Tabasco sauce may be used individually to taste.

CEREAL TOPS THIS BREAKFAST CAKE

Help!

My mother made the best German Potato Salad that I ever tasted. For years I tried to get her to tell me how she did it. She just couldn't. She was a cook that just threw things together, a little of this, a lot of that, etc.

Finally, we got together and I watched her, estimated quantities as she went along. Then, I started to experiment. I know what she means now. You can't tell somebody amounts when you don't know what they are yourself.

Last week I entertained and served my concoction. Yesterday, my sister called from Detroit to ask me how I had done it. I can't answer the question. She doesn't have the time to experiment.

I thought if anyone had a basic recipe for German Potato Salad we might go from there. It would be a help in getting started.

Please call 625-3370 or drop a post card to the Clarkston News. We'll be grateful.

Here is a breakfast cake treat that is just great for a leisurely 4th of July breakfast. I speed the morning operation up by sifting the 5 dry ingredients together the night or day before. I also measure and mix the cereal and nut topping and have them ready to toss with the melted shortening.

BREAKFAST CRUNCH

- 3/4 Cup granulated sugar (1/4 for topping)
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1 egg
- 1/3 cup dairy sour cream
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 1/2 cups all purpose flour (I always sift)
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1/3 cup milk
- 1 1/2 cups anycrunch cereal flakes
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon

Cream 1/2 cup sugar with 1/3 cup butter or margarine until light and fluffy. Thoroughly beat in egg. Stir in sour cream and vanilla extract. Sift together next five ingredients. Alternately stir into creamed mixture with milk. Pour into a greased (9 inch) square baking pan, spreading evenly to sides. Melt remaining butter or margarine; mix with cereal flakes and nuts. Combine remaining sugar and cinnamon; stir thoroughly into cereal mixture. Sprinkle over batter. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for 30 to 35 minutes, or until done. Makes 1 (9 inch) cake.

Sports safety

Swimming is such a natural, happy sport that many swimmers forget they're not unsinkable.

National Safety Council statistics show that drownings are the fifth greatest cause of accidental deaths.

"A good way to keep the fun in swimming is to participate in organized swimming at a supervised beach," advises Gerald E. Montgomery, Executive Director of the Greater Detroit Safety Council.

"Pair off with a buddy. Know where your buddy is at all times. If you or your buddy get into trouble, help can be summoned before it's too late," Montgomery adds.

The following suggestions should provide a happier and safer swimmer:
 *Know and observe your limitations. Do not swim when you are tired, overheated or chilled.

*Limit your swimming in cold water, which exhausts a swimmer more quickly than warm water.

*If you become fatigued, floating, treading water or varying the swimming style will provide temporary relief.

*Cold or tired muscles cramp easily. For relief, assume a face forward float position and massage the cramped area.

Legion team wins 1 drops 3

Walled Lake is always a tough team to beat but Clarkston made it look easy Wednesday night in their 2-0 victory.

Roy Phillips was the hero as he held the Walled Lake bats to 1 hit while striking out 11, Clarkston collected 12 hits as Ostrom and Lane got 2 apiece and Porritt contributed 3.

Traveling to Berkley Friday night found Clarkston sailing along at the end of the first inning, 2-0. But Berkley came back in the 4th with 4 runs and went on to win 5-2.

Sunday's double header was very disappointing for the Clarkston nine. Defeated in the first game 2-0 they came back strong in the second feature to hold a 4-1 lead after 5 innings. But the powerful bats from Southfield boomed away for 2 runs in the sixth and 1 in the seventh to tie it up.

A home run and 3 singles netted Southfield 2 runs in their half of the eighth.

Clarkston opened up with 2 singles but were fruitless in their effort to

Buying survey taken here

Households in this area will be included in a nationwide survey of consumer buying and home improvement expectations during July, Director Robert A. Yerkey of the Census Bureau's regional office in Detroit announced today.

Householders will be asked whether they expect to buy a house, car or major appliances during the next year and whether they have made recent purchases of these items. Homeowners will be asked about home improvements and repairs during the last three months and any planned for the future.

The survey is taken quarterly throughout the Nation to gather information that will guide Federal agencies and other groups with programs based on consumer spending patterns.

In the most recent survey of the series, taken in April, U.S. families indicated that their plans for buying houses and cars were at about the same level as a year earlier, but on the average they expect to buy more household appliances and furnishings.

Households included in the July survey will not be identified. All answers are kept confidential by the Census Bureau, and information obtained in the survey will be used only for statistical purposes.

Bring them home ending the eight-inning contest 6-4. The team now has a 3-4 league record.

Hold office at Boys' State

The purpose of Wolverine Boy's State was to give 1,250 boys from the state of Michigan a chance to participate in the formation and operation of a democratic government on the city, county, and state levels. It was held in the Brody Complex at Michigan State University.

The 3 Clarkston representatives found the average day began with reveille at 7:00 and flag raising at 7:15. Following breakfast came county and city meeting, and various lectures. They concerned R.O.T.C., college entrance, law enforcement, F.B.I. and a variety of others. The Air Force Academy, Annapolis, and West Point were also represented in these lectures. Law classes were held and were required to obtain a law degree which enabled you to practice law at Boy's State.

In the afternoons came more meetings, time to campaign, and various clinics. Sports activities such as baseball, volley ball, swimming and basketball were interjected into the day's schedule whenever possible. Retreat came at 4:15 p.m. followed by dinner and a general assembly at which honored guests spoke on many varying topics. Quarters were at 10:00 and taps at 10:30 p.m.

Governmental elections were completed by Sunday and government was functioning on Monday. The Clarkston delegation held the following offices: George Bennett was appointed county supervisor, a position which he had to turn down when he was elected circuit court judge of Bagley County. Bob Klann was appointed city attorney of the city of Washington. Lou Lessard was appointed city attorney of Adams City, but resigned when he was elected Prosecuting Attorney of McClelland County.

"We had a good time and found Boy's State a very interesting experience," said Lou.

Lou is the son of Mrs. and Mrs. Louis Lessard of Havelock. Bob is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klann of Pear and George is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bennett of Snow Apple. All 3 of the boys were sent to the Wolverine Boy's State by the Campbell-Richmond Post No. 63 of the American Legion.

AFTER ANGER WHAT?

"Be angry but do not sin; do not let the sun go down on your anger, and give no opportunity to the devil."
 Ephesians 4:26, 27

The Church of the writer has been confronted on the national, state, and local levels by black militants with grievances of exploitation, suppression and neglect and with demands for reparations. Occupation of church office buildings, liberation of properties, upsetting of worship leaves many of us with a slow burn. How dare they!

But when we turn for confirmation of our feeling of outrage to our own black churchmen they say in effect, "You wouldn't listen to us when we spoke politely of our needs. Now you have arrogant men confronting you with force. We reject force, but we understand their bitterness and despair."

One of the highly articulate black pastors with as many degrees behind his name as the writer has, with lifelong service in our churches and a term of missionary service in the Sudan in Africa, tells of a most frustrating meeting in the fifties when incidents at Little Rock were so intense.

At the meeting of his city-wide church body they were wading through all the routine items of business. But at the end one anguished white brother rose and said, "Mr. Chairman, I feel that we should do something about the Little Rock situation, be it ever so small. Can't we at least pray about it?"

The Chairman stammered

something about the time and about the fact that there were many situations requiring prayer, and that he was not able to assess which ones had priority for the prayers of that body. He then adjourned the meeting. After the meeting six of the white ministers from the largest churches of that prominent Ohio city came to the black pastor with great emotion saying, "John, we are broken up over this Little Rock situation. Tell us what to do."

A church of considerable power and affluence could not develop any strategy to deal with a critical problem in America of that day. And the black pastors of our churches testify today as one man, that so very little has been done to include their people in the mainstream of our proud American life that they despair of it ever happening!

So we are still burned up over buildings and services and arrogant demands. But after our anger cools, if it ever does, what good thing can we suggest to deal with the boiling cauldron which produces such illegal behavior and such irrational hysteria from the militants. Certainly many of us feel that any concept of reparations is out of order no matter the evils of the past. But what is very much in order is some honorable dealing with just needs of the present.

When we are done being angry, then what?
