Jim's Jottings

Moving is a horrible experience. The later it gets in the day the more frequent the scratches, the more frazzled the nerves, the more senseless it becomes to move various things.

It was late one of the days when I looked into one of the boxes and found I had moved a core of a toilet paper roll. I'm sure it was thrown on top of the box by mistake, someone thinking it was junk, but I moved it.

It was late in the day when I started figuring everything I was moving was junk. I moved one of Hazel's skirts that I swear she hasn't worn since 1952. I moved a string of sea shells I bartered for in Cebu, Philippines, in 1945. And, I moved 47 dolls, 792 pieces of kids clothing, and 12,473 toys... by actual count, of course.

Unlike some people, I found nothing that I'd lost over the past 12 years in that First street house. However, it didn't take long to lose track of some things in the new house. Like my belts. While looking for a nail to hold up my trousers my belts were found.

The house is coming fine, and it's been a joy to watch some of the workmen. I hadn't seen wallboard put up or taped and hardwood floors laid and it's fascinating. Once I tried to put up some plasterboard and tape the joints, and I vowed not to try again. But seeing professionals do it makes it look easy.

When you hear men don't work as hard today as they used to, they weren't talking about the men we've seen lately. They start when they get there and are moving every minute. They don't even stop and chat, nor have I seen them take coffee breaks.

Well, it's football season again. Oxford and Clarkston will meet in the opener on the high school level Friday night in Oxford, then a week later the college boys go at it.

Oxford is going into a new league and will hardly be favored to win it. They have some experience, but in the practices I've seen they lack fundamental training and don't have a big line to give the backfield time to maneuver.

Clarkston has size and experience on the line, and their varsity is filled out by members of their

Probably the most needed thing for survival is air, and the next is water. The latter has been cut off from several homes in the Woodhull-Eagle lake area from the usual ground supply.

No one knows exactly how many are without water, but the number is growing. From the original 30 homes reported last week, the number is now estimated at over 100 in Independence township, and more in Waterford.

Monday night about 25 people attended a meeting at Independence Township Hall to work on the problem. A meeting of over 200 was held Saturday night in McVittie School after the water ceased flowing in several homes.

From the Monday night meeting came the recommendation that anyone without water should contact his township office. Independence residents should call 625-5111. It has been arranged with the county Department of Public Works that water be trucked to needy residents.

Township Clerk Howard Altman said, "We know this is a temporary solution, but for the present it is all we can do."

Cause of the water stoppage is generally agreed to be the sanitary sewer interceptor line for the Clinton-Oakland system. In the Eagle-Woodhull Lake area the cuts for sewer lines are 27 feet. Many of the wells around the lake are 25 feet to 50 feet deep.

Contractors have driven 25 eight to 10 inch wells to try to stop the flow into their trenches. These wells are running 24-hours a day, pouring into Woodhull Lake.

While the digging is in Waterford township, on one side of Woodhull Lake, people on the other side, in Independence township are being affected.

Mrs. Harold Smith and Mrs. John Mulherin, of Lakeview drive, are co-chairmen of the Independence township residents in the newly formed Waterless Homeowners Association. This group was formed only a week ago, but has been very active.

Their early attempts to involve townships failed, according to Mrs. Smith, but now the cooperation is excellent. She said, "We are very pleased with the way Independence Township is showing an interest in our problem."

Altman said he was contacting the state agencies that might be involved like the Health Department, and was calling on Layne Northern, water system supply firm, to see what experience undefeated junior varsity squad from last season. The Wolves seem to be working real hard for their new coach Paul Rakow.

Oxford and Clarkston usually have close games in the opener, and with enthusiasm running high for the first game, this year should be no exception.

Experimenting with our new press has been great fun. Expensive, but fun. Of course, we had to try some printing methods right away that other newspaper people put off until they are very familiar with

Woodhull - Eagle Lake area

Wells cut off

they have in this area.

Consideration is being given to extending the township water lines from Pelton Heights to Woodhull Lake, a distance of a half mile. Mrs. Smith said she had heard people on Oakdale and in Pelton Heights, served by wells, were also experiencing dry faucets.

All suggestions are being given consideration, including one to put 250 gallon storage tanks in each yard.

While many people in the Waterless Homeowners Association are without water, and some have at least a sputtering supply, some who have water now are concerned for the future. They wonder what will happen to their supply when the interceptor nears their home.

There is no answer. Nor is there an answer as to how long it will take for the interceptor to pass this area... or if the water supply will return to the wells now affected.

One guess on the completion of this section of the sewer line is 2 to 3 months.

Mrs. Smith praised state representative Loren D. Anderson (D-Pontiac) for being "the only one to show an interest from the start." She said, "Until he started contacting people nothing was done."

"The representative has contacted the Civil Defense and National Guard in hopes of getting water trucking assistance and asked for Gov. Milliken's help. He also drew the local units of government together with the county drain commission and DPW," Mrs. Smith said.

According to Altman, Drain Commissioner Dan Berry placed the entire responsibility on DPW chairman R. J. Alexander. Berry was at the Saturday night meeting and volunteered to take the problem to the DPW, of which he is a board member.

From that meeting came two resolutions. One was that the people in Waterford Township should be given temporary water service when their home is near a central system.

The second resolution was for water to be trucked to Independence residents.

Mrs. Smith, who attended the DPW meeting, as did Altman, blamed Alexander and the DPW for failing to warn residents of the water shortage possibility. She said, "They had to anticipate this possibility, but we were given no warning."

Prize floats named

"The Labor Day Parade, we in Rotary feel, was the best in many years," said Mr. Ernie Smits, Chairman. "The people and organizations of Clarkston are their units.

I figure our pressman is a good a any, and he is, but I kind of overburden him by not giving him a little more time. It all adds up to late papers and some mistakes. But given the opportunity I'll do it again. I never learn from my own mistakes.

responsible for its tremendous success." The judges, Mrs. Isabel Bullen, Mrs. Donna Fahrner and Mrs. Helene Russell, announced the winners in the float contest.

St. Daniel's Parish, with its float depicting the landing of Father Marquette won the top spot and a check for $15. Pirate, Bob Kraud and his mermaid took second honors and a check for $10, and The Clarkston Rotary Showboat was third for $5.

Honorable mention was accorded to the Jayettes and the Millpond float for their original interpretation of the theme: "Water Wonderland."

Building report

The Independence Township Building Department has issued its report for the month of August.

During the month, 40 permits were issued, with a total valuation of $447,737.

Of these permits, 13 were issued for new houses. These houses have a combined value of $372,400. Seven garages will be built, valued at $12,100.

$56,737 will be spent remodeling and making additions to 16 buildings. A storage building valued at $2,000, 1 shed valued at $1,500 and $3,000 in storage tanks completed the total.

One permit was issued for a house inspection.

The 37 permits issued during July had a combined total valuation of $417,098.

Rear end collision involves 3 cars

Two cars, waiting to turn into a parking lot in Ortonville, were damaged when a third car crashed into the back of the second car.

John R. Chisnell, 18, of Ortonville was unable to avoid colliding with the car of James Pipe, 17, who in turn was pushed into the car of James Eichbrecht, 18, of Drayton Plains.

Eichbrecht and Pipe were waiting to turn into a parking lot at Ortonville Road and Washington at 9:45 p.m. on September 4.

No one was seriously injured.

Dennis R. Renke, 23, of 20201 Dresden, Detroit, was taken to Pontiac General Hospital by ambulance when the left hand grip on his motorcycle came loose and he lost control of the machine.

He had been scrambling in the hills near Stickney Hill Road and Pine Knob at 5:52 p.m. on September 7.

Renke was not wearing a helmet.

Board-Teachers await results of hearings

The Clarkston Area Schools Board of Education and the Clarkston Education Association held their fact finding meeting on September 4 at which time representatives from both sides presented the facts to David Heilburn of the State Labor Mediation Board.

Mr. Heilburn has 10 days to respond with his findings.

In the meantime, 255 teachers manned classrooms. This was an increase of 8 teachers over last year. Of these 255 teachers 68 were new to the system.

The school system also has 11 interns. These interns are students in their final year of teacher training from Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant.

Six of these interns are 1st semester interns and will be supervised constantly by experienced teachers. The remaining 5 have experience already and will handle a class with close supervision of the training teacher.

The program at the new Sashabaw Jr. High School was progressing though the building is not completed. Classrooms are available and classes are in session.

Curtailment of gym and industrial arts programs will be necessary until the building is finished.

Study club hears sex ed. recording

Mrs. Joseph Gardner opened her home on East Church street Thursday for the first meeting of the Clarkston Child Study Club.

Co-hostess to the 14 members was Mrs. George Osmond of Hummingbird Drive. Mrs. Robert Gillis of North Holcomb was present as a guest.

The program for the day was a Christopher recording on sex education which covers ages from very young to the early teens. It stresses that God should be present in the thinking. The recording was brought to the club by Mrs. Glenn Brancheau.

New officers, who assumed duties with this meeting, are: Mrs. Gardner, president; Mrs. Ripley Crandell, vice president; Mrs. Jane Ladd, secretary; Mrs. Donald Hamaker, treasurer; and Mrs. David Bickerstaff, historian.

street of Clarkston on Sunday, September 14," said Jerry Bradley, Jaycee president. "That is the day of the Clarkston Area Jaycees annual Chicken Bar-B-Q."

The organization is prepared to serve delicious chicken dinners from 12 until 5 p.m. in Rudy's lot next to the Clarkston News office. Tables will be set up for those who wish to dine right there and carry-out service will also be available.

Potato salad and baked beans will be included in the menu and the Jayettes are busy preparing to make the cakes that will be serving for dessert.

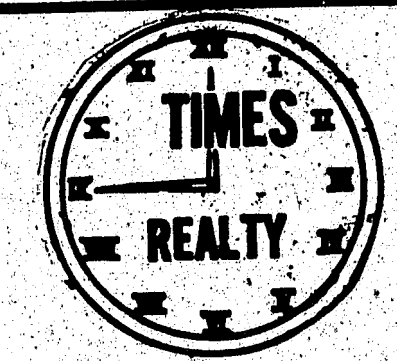

"This project was so popular last year that we decided to repeat it," said chairman, Terry Lopucki.

Tickets are available in advance from Jaycee members or downtown merchants, or may be purchased at the Bar-B-Q. Adults donations will be $1.75 and children will be served for $1.00.

"If It Fitz . . ."

It's hard to keep laughing

By Jim Fitzgerald

I lost 110,000 readers and the editor said sorry, but he wanted a funny column every week and some weeks I'm not funny, in fact I'm pretty sad, and sometimes my adjectives are too rough on the nouns.

Which was obviously something I should worry about. This was an Ohio newspaper which paid good money. It was, in fact, the first customer I'd lost since this column became syndicated 2 years ago.

Golly gee, I thought, there's really no reason I can't be full of laughs every week. Maybe the trouble is that I worry too much. I'll cut that out, I decided. And I started with the rejection from the Ohio newspaper. I refused to worry about it.

Instead, I went out and played golf. And it was one of those golden days when everything went right.

My favorite enemy was my partner and he was lousy. He couldn't make a putt and this gave me splendid opportunities to insult him. Few things are more satisfying than calling a guy a bum and he can't answer you because he really is a bum and everybody knows it, even him. Marvelous.

After golf, there were good drinks and I drank more than I bought. Next came roast beef with tender edges and just the right splash of red in the middle. Followed by euchre at which I again bested my favorite enemy, the bum.

I came home late to step on my youngest child who, for some reason, was sleeping on the porch floor. He woke up healthy. My other kids are healthy too and I even have a brand new granddaughter who gives every sign of continuing my good luck.

On top of all this good fortune, my wife didn't wake up and she still doesn't know what time I got in. And I'd won so much at euchre I didn't even care when I spied her reaching into my wallet the next morning.

Man, this is the life, I thought as I finished my corn flakes and headed for work in my air conditioned car. I really should write that Ohio editor and promise to be funny every week.

But at my desk, I read the daily newspaper. Daniel Moynihan, President Nixon's top poverty fighter, announced that even if the Vietnam war ended, there still wouldn't be enough money to feed all the hungry kids. The demands of the Defense Department for weapons systems and research will eat up whatever is not spent on Vietnam. Without the war, the defense budget could remain the same or even go higher, Moynihan said.

So what the heck, why end the war?

And then I began gathering the local news: 2 more boys I knew had been killed in Vietnam. That makes 17 from my little county alone. Seventeen boys who didn't grow old enough to vote against politicians who calmly send stuffed shirts to Paris, to talk peace, and young boys to war, to talk no more. I keep wondering who will be the last boy to die, bleeding in the mud while his stuttering leaders make half-hearted attempts to get out of a stupid, unjust war we should never have entered in the first place.

I wonder who the dead boy's parents will be, and would President Nixon like to tell them of their loss?

Funny every week? Sometimes I just don't have the guts to laugh.

SDS riot anniversary in Chicago may draw undeserving attention

The Students for Democratic Society have been mailing mimeographed handbills and one came to our desk from the Oxford police chief. With the theme "All power to the people" the SDS has been having regional meetings preparatory to returning to Chicago October 8-11. Following is some of what the handbill says:

"This October 8th through 11th we're bringing it all back to Chicago. But since last year's action we've changed a whole lot, learning from that struggle and the actions we've initiated on the campuses and in the streets all over the country.

"Last year we knew we were against the war and we knew the elections were a jive game being run on us by the rich. This year things are even more clear.

"When you get down to it, this system is nothing but the total economic and military put-down of the oppressed peoples of the world. The baldheaded businessmen who own and control this country and the world use their huge military pig force to carry out the exploitation and brutalization of the people to keep the profits rolling in. To help do this they pacify white Americans with crumbs from the imperialist table—a few more cents an hour, a house in the suburbs, so we won't cause trouble."

The leaflet goes on to give reasons for the Chicago action . . . supporting the Black struggle, pulling pig occupation troupes out of Vietnam, supporting GI rebellions, releasing political prisoners, and more.

It also gives a day by day schedule of their intentions which end with a "militant, mass march through downtown Chicago."

The SDS has had its problems in the past year in not being able to agree on leadership. The move, if it comes, in Chicago may be some chapter's way of bringing attention to the organization, hoping some leadership may evolve.

J. Edgar Hoover says that extra trouble may develop in Chicago since the SDS summer convention saw the group splitting in two. Each may go for bigger outbursts to bring attention to itself.

Whatever develops we expect the news media will draw more attention to the affair than it might deserve.

A SPIRITUAL Message

ST. DANIEL'S CHURCH

Father Francis A. Weingartz

"He then addressed a parable to the guests noticing how they were trying to get the place of honor at table."

Luke 14: 7-8

THE CHURCH HAS ROOM FOR EVERYBODY

When was the last time somebody got ahead of you in a line-up at a show or a restaurant or an expressway? Do you remember how you felt when they pushed you out of the way and you had to wait and wait to get in? I bet you felt like saying: "Hey, take it easy. Stop pushing. There's room for everybody!" That's what Christ was trying to say to all the big men and little men around Him years ago. He saw big men like the Pharisees trying to push sick men away from their tables, because they couldn't stand sickness. He saw other men crawling all over one another to get the best places in the line-up for dinner. Christ thought that all that pushing and crowding might be all right for animals but it was not all right for men and women who called God their Father. Christ came from the Father to assemble all men in one family of salvation. In Christ's family, in Christ's assembly, there would be room for everybody.

Christ still thinks the same way today. Just as He had lots of room in His Father's house for all the people of His time, so He has lots of room for everybody today. Here on earth His Father's house is the Church. And in that Church there is room for everybody who loves God His Father. If only people would stop pushing each other around. If only people would join arms together in true fellowship and prayer, instead of giving each other the "deep freeze." The trouble with some of us Christians today is that we are hypocrites like the Pharisees. We can't stand the sick and the weak and the poor. Sometimes we can't stand the color of their skin. We try to move away, or exclude them from our neighborhood school or church or business—always using "lawful" but not Christian excuses. Christ says: "Stop that! There's room for everybody in the Church of God!"

FRECKLE-FACED BILL STRONG shows the trophy he won for having more freckles than any other boy at the Michigan State Fair. Bill, 12, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Strong, of 4016 Lake Oakland Shores, Drayton Plains, won 1st place in the Pontiac 4-H Fair this year as well. When asked how many freckles he had, Bill admitted, "Geeez, I don't really know," but said he "probably" has had them now for 12 years.

Design contest for high school artists

For the fourth consecutive season the John Fernald Company of the Meadow Brook Theatre is inviting high school art students to enter the Cover Design Competition for all of the eight productions of the 1969-70 season.

The design for the first program cover of the forthcoming season presents an artistic challenge since it must incorporate the mood of two plays. The new season will open on Thursday, October 16 with a bill of two one act plays—Peter Shaffer's BLACK COMEDY and Edward Albee's THE AMERICAN DREAM.

Design entries for the first competition of the Meadow Brook season must be submitted by Friday, September 26. A panel of Meadow Brook Theatre judges will select the winning entry and the artist will be awarded two tickets for the opening night performance on October 16 including a visit backstage.

For further information about the Meadow Brook Theatre Cover Design Competition, please call Mrs. Mosher at 377-2000, Ext. 3095.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Planning Commission of Independence Township, Oakland County, Michigan, will hold a Public Hearing on September 18, 1969, 7:30 p.m. at the Township Hall, 90 North Main Street, Clarkston, Michigan, to consider the following proposed changes to Ordinance No. 51 Independence Township Zoning Ordinance:

Add note (C) under "lot measurements" in Section 22 to read: Width to depth ratio of a lot or parcel in R1A, R1S or A districts shall conform to the requirements contained in Section 5 schedule of district regulations, footnotes 11, 12 & 13.

Add in Section 5: under "width in feet" R1A (11), R1S (12), A (13).

- (11) The width and depth shall conform to a width to depth ratio of 1 to 3 maximum.
- (12) The width and depth shall conform to a width to depth ratio of 1 to 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ maximum.
- (13) The width and depth shall conform to a width to depth ratio of 1 to 4 maximum.

In Section 22 delete: "Transmission or" and "towers."

In Section 3, paragraph (6) delete: "it being the intention hereof to exempt such essential services from the application of this ordinance."

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bailey, III

Speak evening vows

Mary Gwen Morrissey became the bride of William Henry Bailey, III, in an evening ceremony on August 23, at Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church in Waterford. Ann Morrissey was her sister's maid of honor and Ann Davis, Connie Palladino, and Martha Gleghorn were bridesmaids. Jeffrey Werner handled the responsibility of the best man and Ronald Bailey, Richard Palladino and Michael Madison seated the guests. The bride is from Ft. Myers, Florida and the groom lived at 4849 Cecelia Ann.

The engagement of Bonnie Lou Hess to Gary H. Parrott is announced by her mother. Bonnie is the daughter of Mrs. Gerald Hess and the late Mr. Hess of Flemings Lake Road. Gary is the son of Mrs. Herbert Parrott and the late Mr. Parrott of Hadley Road, Clarkston. The couple have set November 1 as their wedding date.

Around the Town

Vacation time runs out of time

By Rustie Leaf

Three weeks of vacationing was greatly appreciated by the Garvis Mechigian family. The family left their home on Shelley Drive and headed west, to sightsee through states which took them to special visits at Mt. Rushmore, the Yellowstone National Park, and many other places of western interest. All told the motortrip covered over 7,000 miles of travel. While on the road, Debbie reached her tenth birthday, but waited until she was back home to celebrate the occasion with schoolmates. Tentative plans were to treat the invited guests to games of miniature golf on September 6th. Also making the vacationing trip were Greg, 7 and Chuck, 5.

The Mechigian family wished to extend a special September 3rd birthday wish of happiness to their neighbors, on Amy Drive, Mr. Donald Bennett and his one year old son, Donald, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Mickle had as their houseguest, for the past three weeks, Mrs. Mary Braun. The eighty-one year young visitor is the aunt of Mr. Mickle, and had traveled to Michigan by bus, with the intention of returning after a brief visit with relatives in Canada. While here Mrs. Braun was able to attend the Seymour Lake Church Homecomers meeting and the Pioneers Club meeting of senior citizens. High on the list of entertainment was their attendance at the final play of the season in the Musical Tent, a theater in the round, located at Clio, Michigan, sponsored by the Mott Foundation in Flint. The play, "The Wizard of Oz," was the third one attended by the Mickles this summer. They have found them so entertaining that plans have already been set in motion to obtain season tickets for next summer.

The Halls of Ivy welcomed many CHS '69 grads in the past two weeks. Set to begin his college education, was Gary Klann of Pear Street. The Klanns drove Gary to the University of Michigan on September 2nd, while Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fox, of Middle Lake Road, were set to establish a new residency for their daughter Diana, at Central Michigan, on the eleventh of this month.

Also Central Bound were Jim and Barbara Anthony. Barbara will become a junior this year, while Jim begins his first year of college life. The two CHS grads are the son and daughter of Mrs. Robert Anthony of Buffalo Street.

A fishing trip has found one Clarkston family that can brag about the "ones" that didn't get away. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Falardeau, of Phelan Drive, spent three weeks at a cabin on Lake Superior, with the net results tallied as follows: A 43" pike, weighing 20 lbs., caught by Mr. Falardeau. Bob, 22, was next in line with a 41" pike and ten year old Jim experienced the thrill of catching his first big one, 38" of fighting excitement. Not to be overlooked was Billy, 2½, who caught one that was just a perfect little boy size.

On September 6th, Mrs. Max Inman and her two sons, Troy, 3½ and Matthew, 14 months, joined Mr. Inman at their new home in Zeeland. Mr. Inman has accepted a position with the Zeeland High School as assistant varsity coach and head wrestling coach, something he has been very active in during his past five years at the Clarkston High School. While at CHS Mr. Inman was head varsity coach for wrestling and a physical education teacher.

Ann Miller and Mrs. K. Martin took a trip to Denmark. The trip was a graduation gift from Mrs. Martin to her granddaughter who graduated this past June from Clarkston High School. They left Aug. 5 and returned Aug. 26. They visited relatives and toured the country by train while they were there. Ann and Mrs. Martin were very tired when they returned, but had a good trip.

Eastern Star resume meeting

Austin Chapter No. 396 Order of the Eastern Star of Davisburg, will resume their regular meetings on Tuesday night, September 9 at 8 p.m.

On Tuesday night, September 23, at 8 p.m., they will have their Advanced Officers' Night.

"Refreshments will be served after both occasions," said Bonnie DOnofrio, publicity chairman.

Women's Club

hold membership tea

A membership tea will be held by the Clarkston Women's Club at the home of Mrs. William Debnick, 6701 Amy Drive, on Tuesday, September 16.

An invitation is being extended to any woman in the community who is interested in becoming part of this civic minded group.

Mrs. Charles Weichel, membership chairman, is anxious to receive any calls from women desiring further information. They may reach her at 625-3155.

Garden Club

sell rummage

Karen Johnson, a senior at Oakland University and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Johnson of Flemmings Lake Road, is planning to graduate in December.

Karen is this year's recipient of the scholarship provided by the National Farm and Garden Club.

Six to eight students have enjoyed the same privilege in the past.

The women of the Club, each year, select a deserving, local girl and work to provide the funds for the scholarship.

The only project that they use to raise these funds is their annual Rummage Sale.

This year, for about the 18th consecutive year, they will again be holding their sale in the basement of the Community Center on September 19 and 20. The hours on Friday will be from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. and on Saturday, from 9 'til 12.

Co-chairmen of the sale are Mrs. Milton Cooney and Mrs. Frank Lambert.

Beth Anderson, a sixth grader from the Clarkston Elementary school, presented Dr. Harold Ford with a plaque of appreciation and a gift for his many years of assistance and advice in the school sponsored fluoride program. Mrs. Gloria Miller (center), PTA health chairman, was present for the presentation.

PROBABLE STARTING BACKFIELD—At quarterback will be southpaw Mark Swanson and behind him, left to right, it will likely be Tom Gates, Mike Turk and Rick Praisel.

THREE BIG 'UNS—Going over 6 feet and around 200 pounds are these three Wolves. Left to right are Don Brown, tackle, Rocky Jennings, end and Mark Walter, end. Brown was moved to tackle position from end this year to give more line size.

LOOKING 'EM OVER—Varsity assistant coaches, Gary Domanski, Roy Warner and Bill Mackson stand to the right of head coach Paul Rakow watching the Wolves run through plays preparatory to the opening game at Oxford Friday night at 8 p.m.

FIVE LINEMEN—Tight end Rocky Jennings, tackle Scott Robbins, guard Bill Logan, center George Bennett, and guard Pat Rose will start for the Wolves and see a lot of action on both offense and defense.

Wolves vs. Wildcats

Ready for opener

Coach Paul Rakow is hoping his Wolves aren't looking past the opening game against Oxford to the second game, which is at home with Andover. Andover is expected to be one of the tougher teams in the league.

Clarkston came out of their Saturday scrimmage without injury, but Rakow said the films showed a lack of fundamentals, and that is where the emphasis went in the beginning of the week.

Wednesday evening, Sept. 10, at 7:30 the team will gather on the football field for a "meet your team" night. Coach Rakow will introduce the players to the fans who turn out to see the 1969 Clarkston Wolves.

The new head coach is ready to name the starting eleven, but is quick to add a half dozen more names of boys who will see considerable action. Going at the ends will be Rocky Jennings and Mark Walter. Don Brown and Scott Robbins will start at tackle. Both these boys were ends last year, but because of their size Rakow moved them to tackle.

Bill Logan and Pat Rose will go at the guard positions and George Bennett will begin the game at center.

Running the multiple "I" backfield will be Mark Swanson, a left handed passer, at quarterback, Tom Gates and Mike Turk at the half and Rich Prasil at full.

Rakow said John Hux looked good at quarterback Saturday and will get gametime Friday night. Other backfield men who will likely see early substitution are Orson Bullard at tailback, Doug Beadle at full and Tom Lane at full. In the line Lex Denhereder will come in at one of the tackle spots and Bill Vascassino will play some center.

Rakow feels he has two good units and expects both to play quite a bit in the opening game.

Oxford will be going without their starting quarterback Dan Valentine. He went to the hospital early Saturday morning for an appendectomy. Otherwise they are in good physical shape.

The game will be played on Oxford's new football field in back of the high school on Pontiac street in Oxford. Game time is 8 p.m.

'70 Pontiacs Reflect Grand Prix Influence

Front end styling of the big Pontiacs reflects the influence of the pace-setting Grand Prix (top) and its classic vertical center grille as shown on this 1970 Bonneville. The horn grilles between the center grille and headlamps not only serve as outlets for the sound of the horns, but also admit additional engine cooling air. The Bonneville is powered by a new 455 cubic-inch engine that also is offered as an option on the Grand Prix. All 1970 Pontiacs go on sale September 18 at Jack W. Haupt Pontiac Sales and Service, Clarkston.

M.S.U grads

Four students from Clarkston were listed among the graduates who received degrees from Michigan State University at the completion of the summer term.

Joanne L. Kriss, 9720 Sashabaw received a B.S. degree in Home Economics. James B. Rausch of 6875

Cranberry received a B.S. degree in Zoology. Arnold Taylor, 14 S. Main graduated with a B.S. Degree in Advertising and John Wilberg of 9520 Sashabaw was awarded a B.S. degree in Hotel and Restaurant Management.

Michigan State University listed 1,339 students who earned degrees during summer term.

Very selective

by Haslett Hemmor

Yesterday afternoon the draft notice came for our oldest boy Butch.

Guess Eff figured she was being a good mother and a good wife not to say anything to Butch or me until after supper.

Cleared away the dishes like she always does but then told us she just thought she'd set a spell before she washed them. Not like Eff to put off the dishes, so I right out and asked her was she sick. Never sets in the rocker unless she's off her feed.

"No," Eff says kind of slow like, "I'm not sick in body but I am sick at heart."

We don't say anything. Waiting for Eff to explain.

For a couple minutes — seemed like an hour — she just rocked. Then she reached down in her apron pocket and pulled out the letter. Tossed it over to Butch.

"Guess you know what it says without opening it," she tells him. "At least I know, and I'm sure your Dad does, too. I begged you to enroll for college. I begged you. Now this letter from Selective Service."

"I know," says Butch, reading the notice. "I know, but my grades weren't good enough to get in State and the Community College just doesn't have any campus life. Dead. Dead school for dead heads."

"So you'd rather go to Vietnam," shrills Effie. "Real nice place with lots of campus fun and games." She sniffs, "And don't talk about dead anything."

"Doesn't say anything but to report for physical examination," Butch tells her.

"Dandy," Eff snaps, "just Jim-dandy. Do you think they examine men just to check the health of the nation?"

Old Butch just seems to straighten up and kind of puff out like a proud pigeon. This is sure enough the first time he's ever been called a man. At least, it must be the first time he's been called that at home.

"Now, Mom," he says, real solemn, "What if everyone tried to duck his duty? When you're called to serve, you just—"

"Thought it wasn't a call," Eff interrupts, "thought it was just a physical exam. Let me see that letter."

She grabs it away and reads it. "Doesn't say anything about a call. Just to report Friday at 6 a.m. for a physical. Why do you say such things?"

I'm pretty sure they'll turn him down. Boy had rheumatic fever real bad when he was seven. Doctor wouldn't give him an okay for high school sports. Heart murmur and all. Even sent him to a specialist. Heart doctor told us he'd live a normal life but no extreme exertion on any account. Way he said it was that if he ever tried to save anyone from drowning, that there'd be two gone instead of one.

Maybe it's because I feel safe about it, but it sure did remind me of old times to hear a man speak up proud about "being called to serve." Rotten, crumby little war, but we are in it and guess there's no decent way to get out right now.

Too bad for his pride that he's going to be turned down. He'll still be a man, though.

Open bids

for rest area

The Department of State Highway will open bids on September 17 for 23 highway construction and maintenance projects in 17 counties.

Among the bids will be one for the construction of a rest area on southbound Interstate 75, two miles north of US-10 in Springfield Township.

The construction will include a rest area building, sidewalks and sewage disposal facilities.

The estimated cost for the building and sidewalk is $57,000 with completion scheduled for November 1, 1970. The sewage disposal facilities, it is estimated, would cost $70,000 and would be ready by August 31, 1970.

the church. This meeting will feature a guest speaker following a brief business meeting and report by Chairman Vicki Maykowski, regarding the Harvest Bazaar to be held Oct. 11.

The Reverend George Dee, missionary to Rhodesia, Africa, will be guest speaker. He has served for 16 years under the Evangelical Alliance Missions. Most of this time he and his family have spent in the bush country of the Zambezi Valley, working with village people.

Reverend Dee and his wife, who is an R.N., have three children. They are residing on Holcomb Road while on a one year furlough. During this year they are speaking at church and civic meetings across the country. Offerings at these meetings will go toward supporting the family during their next 5 years of missionary work.

All women of the parish are invited to attend this meeting, and to join in the activities for the coming year.

The new charter has been designed to offer interests for everyone. It will encompass recreation, church and community service, fund raising and study among other things.

Donna Paulson, Sophie Bailey, Vicki Maykowski and Carole Rausch, with the support of Bill Rausch and Len

Section 3

THE CLARKSTON (Mich.) NEWS Thurs., Sept. 11, 1969 17

Jr. Golfers end season

Twenty-four golfers, aged 10 to 18 completed successfully a season as members of the Ten Par 3 League which is sponsored by the Waterford Hill Country Club.

A fun day climaxed by a banquet was held on September 2.

At the banquet trophies were presented to the winners in the various flights by George Ferguson, manager of the Waterford Club. Under the supervision of the League advisors, Mrs. Maxine Davis and Mrs. Mary Alice MacDougall, the club met every Tuesday morning during the summer.

League president was Jom Thomson, and the secretary was Tim Thomson. The rules committee was capably handled by Don Short, Kathy Davis and Peggy Colton. Special assistance was given by Foodtown Market who sponsored the league, and by the Club owners, Jim Stevens, Glen Rogers and Gordon Booker.

Plans are already under way for next year's program.

Bridge tourney organized

Bridge players in the Clarkston area are invited to participate in a monthly bridge tournament.

Co-chairmen, Barbara Steele and Olga Anderson are attempting to organize a group of interested women to "play bridge for the library."

The teams will play once a month with a donation of 1 dollar per person. Progressive scoring for prizes at the end of the year will be kept. All excess money will be donated to the library.

Each month hostesses will be designated.

A deadline of September 23, has been set for accepting interested players to enable the chairmen to set up the necessary arrangements. Play is expected to begin in October and continue through May with play-offs in June.

"We are looking forward to an exciting and beneficial season," said Mrs. Anderson. "I hope my phone will be busy accepting the names of interested players. The number is 625-4528."

Seymour Lake News

By Gladys Sherwood

Mrs. Cleve Chamberlain and daughter, Mrs. Lester Howe, both of Waterford, attended the Montgomery-Linderman wedding, at Dearborn Heights, on Saturday evening. Craig, the groom, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Linderman of Detroit, and grandson of Mrs. Calvin Linderman of Roscommon.

Mr. and Mrs. John DeVine of Seattle, Washington, and Mrs. Mary Glass of Sacramento, have been the guests of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. George Miller and Robert and Frederick Beardslee. They also visited their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seelye of Holly.

Word has been received by Mrs. George Miller, that Joe Valliancourt, the 8 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Valliancourt, has returned from the hospital, where he was seriously ill with a kidney infection.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cherwek, and daughters, Laurie and Nancy, returned Sunday morning to their home in Springfield, Va., after spending a week with Mrs. Cherwek's mother, Mrs. Lee MacIntyre, and son, Carl.

Mrs. John Stafford and daughter, Susan, have returned to Beloit, Wisconsin, after spending 10 days with Gladys Sherwood. They were also guests of Mrs. Carl Anthony, who lives on Airport Road in Waterford. Mrs. Anthony is a girlhood friend of Mrs. Stafford.

Arthur Tracey has been enjoying his vacation visiting relatives in Toledo, Ohio.

Ladies are urged to purchase their tickets to the September 23 "Jayne Payne Luncheon Is Served" feast. The luncheon will be held at the Seymour Lake Methodist Church at the corner of Seymour Lake Road and Sashabaw. The Tuesday event will begin at 12:30 p.m.

Co-op nursery

Under the direction of Mrs. Phyllis Johnson, the Clarkston Cooperative Nursery will open its doors for the first time September 15 at the United Methodist Church of Clarkston. Directors of the Co-op were gratified to learn of the overwhelming response given to a licenced pre-school education program in which the parents of those enrolled can participate.

Because of this enthusiasm, both classes of three and four year olds have been filled. One exception is for three year old girls.

"Anyone interested in enrolling their daughter in this age group should contact Mrs. Ruth Vecsei at 625-4460," said Mrs. Michael Burdick, publicity chairman.

The teacher, Mrs. Johnson, of Rochester, was graduated with a B.S. degree and did graduate work at Michigan State. She received her state elementary provisional certificate and subsequently taught grade school in Birmingham. Mrs. Johnson also attended Merrill Palmer and has held the position of nursery school teacher for parent education through Oakland University's continuing adult education program.

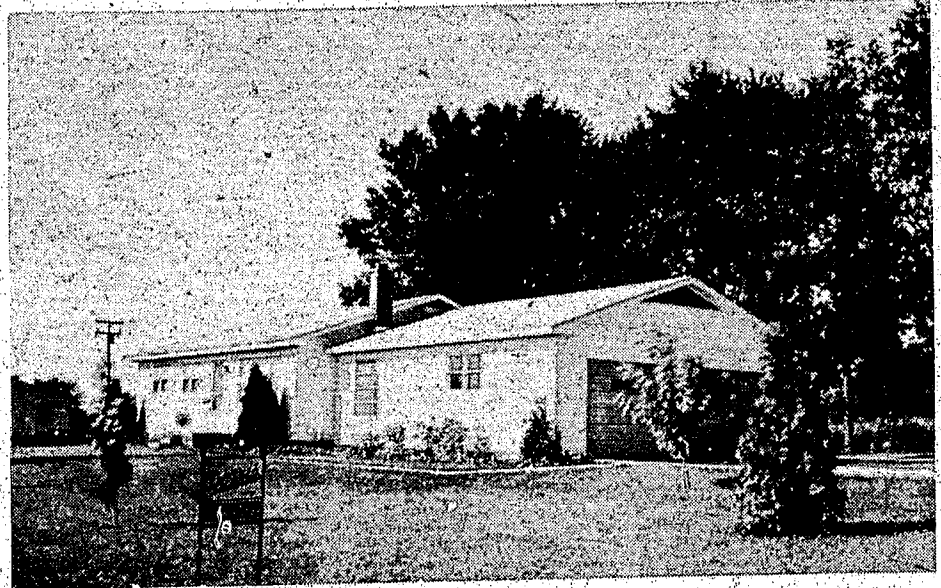

While at Oakland University, she was on the advisory board for the child care center.

The mother of three children, Mrs. Johnson has participated in previous nursery school programs involving her family.

An orientation meeting for those whose children have been accepted in the Co-op will be held this evening, Thursday, at the United Methodist Church, 8 p.m., in the Fellowship Room. A planned program of meetings, including guests speakers, will be held the first Tuesday evening of each month throughout the year for the parents.

Mr. A. C. Girard, Chairman of the Board of Community National Bank announced the appointment of John E. Labadie as Branch Manager of the Clarkston Office. Labadie was employed by Community National Bank as a Management Trainee in June, 1968, and was the Assistant Manager of the Romeo Office before his new assignment. He is 29 years of age, married and resides in Utica. Mr. Labadie will replace Robert Hill, Assistant Cashier, who has been named Manager of the Keego Harbor Office.

Kutting Korners

by Jean Sura

I heard from Mrs. Ruth Young that one way of removing a white ring from my pine coffee table (it was caused by a paper plate full of hot food) was to rub it gently with rubbing alcohol.

"If this doesn't work," she continued, "I suggest that you select a colorful, decorative book and just place it casually over the spot."

Well, the alcohol didn't do the trick, (this works only on laquered or varnished tables I understand) and while I think the book may end up as the solution I would like to at least try some other method.

Can anybody help? Call or write the News, 625-3370.

Cabbage prices are coming down so I assume that the new crop is coming in. It must be the time for Cabbage Rolls. This dish seems to be claimed by every nationality group in creation and that is probably why there are so many variations.

I'm convinced that my recipe is ONE of the best.

Cabbage Rolls

Cut the core out of a large head of cabbage. Drop the head in a kettle of boiling water. Roll the head in the water if possible. When the top leaves begin to soften remove from the water with tongs. Continue rolling and removing outer leaves until they are all removed and semi-boiled. (Easy to bend and fold.)

Here again, I don't have any definite amounts to give, but, I make a concoction of ground beef, egg, tomatoes, onion, and instead of the usual rice, dry spaghetti. Break the spaghetti up into the meat mixture. Add salt and pepper and wrap a handful with a cabbage leaf. Secure it with a toothpick.

Originally this recipe required that you boil a smoked ham and then use the water that you have used on the ham to cook the cabbage rolls.

Since the days of boiling hams are long gone, I just cover the rolls with water and add a generous amount of bacon drippings to the water. Or, if I have a ham I trim off the excess fat and add that to the water. If I am making a washtub full of these rolls for a crowd I get smoked ham hocks and toss a couple in the water. It does the trick nicely. Simmer for several hours. I keep the kettle covered.

One more thing, toward the end of the cooking period I add wedges of cabbage. This satisfies the cabbage lovers in our family. Suit your family.

By the way, how do you make cabbage rolls?

Do you have a tip that can be a help? Write or call the Clarkston News, 625-3370.

Rain dampens Regatta

Buddy Volverding, in his catamaran sail boat took first place and dominated the large boat division of the Labor Day Regatta. Brooke Bennett in his "Super Swift" had no difficulty in crossing the finish line, comfortably ahead of approximately a dozen craft in the small boat division.

Bennett, who has sailed all his life, but who just recently acquired a boat, had his 11-year-old daughter, Anne, as his crew.

Bob Gardner, in "Fleetwind" edged out the Hunt sisters Karen, 20, and Cindy, 12, in their boat, "Mallard" in a tight race for the second spot.

Gusts of rain and wind made the race a test of sailing skill.

Win golf trophies

Waterford Hill Golf Course held a special tournament for the women of their leagues.

The 18 hole par 3 tournament was held on September 5. The women were placed in 3 flights.

Winners of the 1st flight were: Amanda Zachering, 1st; Dee Eggert, 2nd; and Bernice Bishop 3rd.

Second Flight winners were: Opal Johnston, 1st; Opal Miller, 2nd; and Peg Irwin 3rd.

Third Flight winners were: 1st, Donna Philpott; 2nd, Maureen Johnston; and 3rd, Edith Newman.

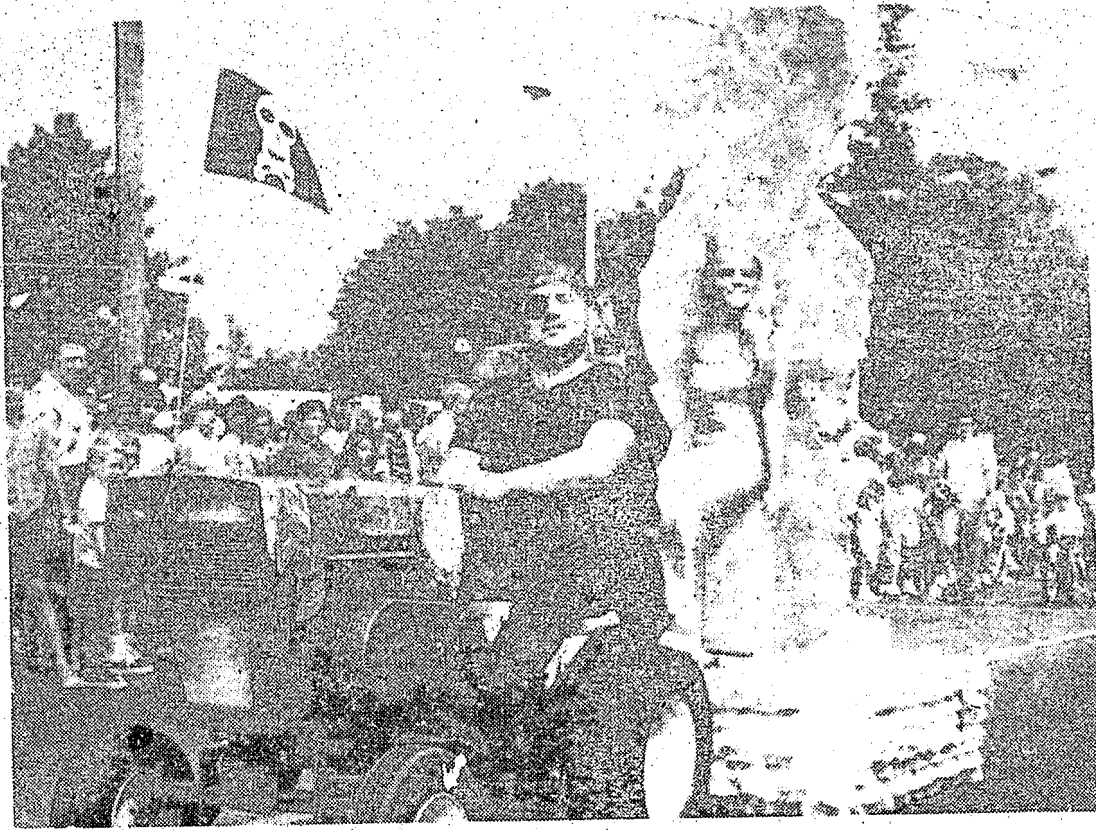

OU graduates

Two Clarkston students were among 182 persons awarded degrees at Oakland University following the 1969 Summer School Session.

John M. Swartout, 8535 Waymegah, and Ruth N. Thomas, 7273 Crosby Lake, both received bachelor's degrees in elementary education - history/social science.

Winners 1st Beautiful floats of all sizes and discriptions carried out the theme of the 1969 Labor Day Parade—Water Wonderland.

2nd Bob Kraud's float was awarded 2nd place in the Labor Day Float contest. The theme of the parade was "Water Wonderland."

The float featuring Fearless Frog and the lovely mermaid won honorable mention in the Labor Day Parade which highlighted the theme "Water Wonderland."

3rd The Clarkston Rotary Showboat float was the third place winner in the Labor Day Parade.

Reminding folks of days gone by is the town pump in the Labor Day Parade.

SLOW-BAKE STEW

Here's a slow-baking stew that's perfect for the working mother or homemaker who likes to have a free afternoon while the evening meal is cooking. Place it in the oven at noon, and it is ready to come out at 5. No water need be added; juice from the tomato and from the slow simmering meat, plus the tapioca combine to make the gravy.

- 1 lb. stew meat
 - 4 medium sized potatoes cut up
 - 3 or 4 carrots sliced lengthwise
 - 2 cut onions
 - 3 stalks celery diced
 - 1 can stewed tomatoes
 - 3 T. tapioca
- Mix together and bake 5 hours in covered casserole at 250 degrees. Serves 3 or 4.

CRANBERRY CAKE

- 1 can (1 lb.) whole cranberry sauce
- 2 T. butter or margerine
- ½ c. sugar
- 4 thin slices lemon
- ½ c. coarsely chopped walnuts, or other nuts
- 1 pkg. spice cake or yellow cake mix

whipping cream (optional)
 Combine cranberry sauce, butter, sugar, and lemon slices in a 9-inch skillet. Cook over low heat until lemon is slightly tender, stirring occasionally. Add nuts; mix. Prepare cake mix batter following package directions. Carefully pour two cups batter over the cranberry mixture. (Bake rest of batter as cupcakes.)

If skillet handle is not heatproof, remove it. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 35 minutes, until done. Let stand on wire rack 5 minutes to cool slightly. Loosen cake around edges and turn out on serving plate. Serve topped with whipped cream, if desired.

"Get on the school bus, Darling"
by Jean Sura

There are two types of mothers. One type has set up a "waiting wall" outside the kindergarten room of every elementary school in the country this week.

While the value of stock in the paper handkerchief companies is high on the market, the stock of paper handkerchiefs is low in local stores.

Engineers have figured a way to stop the flow of Niagara but nobody will ever be able to stem this tide. Each September, the rush of tears reminds me of a flash flood that roars down from the mountains and fills the canyon. (I saw that in a western movie with Gary Cooper.)

I'm not that breed of cat.

My kind of mother is the kind that sit around, furtively, in coffee klatch groups (like the French underground in a World War II movie) and pore over the latest newspaper reports about teacher-school board negotiations.

I am the kind that is the chairman of the pressure group that works diligently to get school started under any circumstances. I pass out folders, knock on doors, make thousands of telephone calls, all for the CAUSE.

When I dropped my kids off at kindergarten I waved "tata" and did the Soupy Shuffle all the way down the hall. I let out a couple of "yeeaaah whoos" at the school door, threw in a few "hey baba rebas," clicked my heels together in the air three times and headed home for the party I had promised myself.

"Happy first day of school for your child," I sang out lustily as I burned the last square of my little darling's security blanket.

"I hope that they have more luck teaching you things than I did," I caroled as I swept the high protein baby food into the garbage.

"I hope you become a genius," I hummed as I made a large pot of coffee.

I poured a cup and spread the morning paper out on the table. Then I proceeded to read it, from front to back, without interruption. I even worked the crossword puzzle.

Boring of this, I got a blanket and stretched out on the couch. I would just rest my eyes.

I was awakened by the feeling that somebody was staring at me. Then I heard a sigh—I opened my eyes.

There stood my child prodigy, my gift to the academic world. Tears had dissolved the neat package that I had dropped off at school into a soggy little wad.

"Good grief," I thought, "I've slept all day and forgotten to pick the poor urchin up from school." I should have known better.

"Mommy," he hiccupped, "I don't think that I will go to school yet. I don't need to learn to read. I

Some changes made from Polly Hanson

Once again school has started. And, amid the usual confusion, some changes can be seen in the high school.

The first change was noticed as soon as the students entered the building because a new trophy-display case has been installed in the common's area. Besides the new display case, there are plants growing in the planter for the first time in months. It remains to be seen how long the plants keep on growing before someone with anti-horticultural ideas uproots them.

For the first time, the high school building houses only grades ten through twelve. Because of this, many new classes have been added to the curriculum. The physical education department has made a complete change-over. They are offering classes such as body building, cheerleading, gymnastics, tennis and golf, basketball, volleyball, softball, track, flag football, and archery. Other new classes have been added in the English and social studies departments also.

The Wolf Cry, the high school newspaper, has made some changes too. There are now two journalism classes instead of one. The Journalism I class is currently learning how to produce a newspaper. In the class are: Carolyn Eaton, Bob Garner, Carolyn Jorgensen, Pat McMillan, Louise Partello, Kirk Peters, and Dave Topolinski. The Journalism II class is producing the Wolf Cry. They are: Editor in Chief—Polly Hanson, Layout Editor—Ellen Fellows, Assignment Editor—Denise Meyers, Sports Editor—Dan Hallman, Photography Editor—Jane Richard, and Photographer—Rich Klein. Both classes are taught by Miss Margaret Best.

Earn degrees

Oakland University has awarded 182 degrees following the close of the 1969 Summer School session. They included 26 master's degrees, 11 bachelor of science degrees, and 145 bachelor of arts degrees.

Bachelor of arts degree or bachelor of science recipients from the Clarkston area were Joan M. Swartout of 8535 Waymegah and Ruth N. Thomas of 7273 Crosby Lake.

Both received their degrees in elementary education majoring in history and social science.

think I am still too little. I had better stay home with you so you won't get lonesome. I can go to school next year."

"Over my dead body," I said, putting both shoes on the same foot in my haste.

So, with childish howls and hairpins flying, back we went to school.

There I found the person who had real reason to cry. It was the kindergarten teacher.
